In an unusual arrangement between the State Board of Education and the state's public universities, Lewis and Clark State College President James Purvis and Idaho State University President Larry Lewis will co-chair the board beginning this spring.

This full, the silver light of the sun forms a circle on the horizon, the sun's rays are refracted by the water, creating a beautiful, golden circle that appears over the lake. This phenomenon is known as a rainbow and is formed when water droplets in the atmosphere refract and reflect sunlight, creating a spectrum of colors. In this case, the sun's rays are refracted by the water droplets, creating a golden circle that appears over the lake. This is a testament to the beauty of nature and the awe-inspiring power of the sun and water.
UI student remains in critical condition

BY WYTHE BUCHANAN

A University of Idaho student remains in critical condition after a weekend accident.

Doctors at St. Alphonsus Regional Medical Center are keeping Jon Paul Armentrout, 20, a sophomore chemical biology major, on life support after a rollover accident late Saturday night. Despite doctors' best efforts, the medical center continues to monitor Jon's vital signs.

ACCIDENT

Following an automobile accident in his 1997 Ford Focus early Sunday, Jon suffered severe head trauma and was taken to the Boise General Hospital.

Although doctors could not be reached for comment, Jon's father, Ron, said, "They're doing what they can, but he's in critical condition."

Jon said he was not wearing a seatbelt and that alcohol may have been a factor in the accident, said Lt. Jim Thiel at the Boise Police Department.

Jon had a case of beer in his pocket and smelled of alcohol, Lt. Thiel said. A BAC report on Jon will be available from the state's attorney's office. Action on the report is pending.

Members of Sigma Alpha Epsilon have been at the hospital, according to Jon's fraternity brothers, said Tim Butler, a sophomore chemistry major.

"It's weird to see your brother with so many people coming in and out of him," Butler said. "It's not what I knew."

Reports are contradictory on whether Jon drove the car or not.

"We'll pray for him every day," Butler said. "He's just one of those guys who can't be replaced."

UI students wed in the woods

ROTCA cadets find each other, engage and marry — all on the UI campus

BY EMILY WEAVERT

When planning a wedding location, Eric Donenbrey and Judy Mullen were no doubt engaged with a campus in mind. Yet, the couple who met, courted, and are now married, found their wedding ceremony in the new Rotman dining hall.

The two ROTC classmates formed a rivalry line leading to a building of three where the ceremony was held. The students were so engrossed in their own life style that they failed to notice another couple engaged on Valentine's Day.

Skin cancer on the rise for young people

Facts about SPF 15 sunscreen

- If using SPF 15 sunscreen properly, 15 minutes spent in the sun is equivalent to one burning minute of unprotected skin.
- Eight hours of wearing SPF 15 is the same as spending 32 minutes of unprotected time in the sun.
- Most are considered sun related, according to the American Cancer Society.
- Most common forms of skin cancer are nonmelanoma basal cell carcinoma and squamous cell carcinoma.

Construction projects dot UI campus

The University of Idaho is still booming with campus construction. The Agricultural Biotechnology Facility's walls went up. The Student Union Building renovation was mostly completed. The U-Hut and Women's Center buildings were torn down, along with the service buildings on the north end of campus. Soon, construction will begin on the Student Recreation Center and the Kibbie Dome East End Expansion.

In Army ROTC, you'll get to do some pretty challenging stuff. Stuff that builds character and discipline. Not to mention muscles. You'll also learn how to think on your feet and be a good leader. Talk to your Army ROTC adviser to find out more. And get ready to sweat a little.

Students, area businesses and university services gathered in the Idaho Commons Plaza Saturday for the unofficial start of the school year, Palousafest.

Students lined up with Frisbees, mini-donuts and snow cones while listening to live music. Others tested their skills on an inflatable-climbing wall.

Palousafest serves a vital purpose to new students, allowing them to become familiar with campus services and the Moscow area.

"It's an opportunity to create visibility with new and returning students," Alice Pyle Burck, director of Cooperative Education said.

Also said freshmen and new students were given information with a program they were previously unaware of, and returning students were clued into their understanding of the program, or update information with the program.

Local businesses were present to let students become aware of what exists outside the classroom context.

"It's a great first contact," Kathy Sprague of Argonaut said. "Volunteers in her booth took turns calling "naughty" dice for the opportunity to win prizes which included water ski, T-shirts, hats and gas gift cards.

Sprague was also given her opportunity to tell people more about the first Tuschuk dog show of the school year, to be held at the Sandpoint. Many new students were unaware of the purpose of the Palousafest, having numbers of little more than five year ago.

"It reminded me of a great big fair... everybody was wandering around, having fun," Caleb Call, a sophomore transfer student from LSU said.

Dear Readers...

Argonaut's policy is to encourage our readers to submit letters to the editor, even those that don't really make a clear point or make good writing sense. Please take a few moments and write to us.

As I write this, I'm thinking that the unborn babies in the state of Wisconsin are about to be released from the womb and put in the arms of their parents. In addition to the emotional aspect of this pregnancy, I have also been thinking about the number of students who are not able to attend college due to financial constraints and the high cost of tuition. I believe that we should do more to support these students and help them achieve their education goals.

Bob Phillips, Jr.
Editor, Argonaut

Letters Policy

Argonaut welcomes your friction in the Letters column. However, the Argonaut offers a form letter to its editors for submission.

Letters should be brief and to the point. They should not exceed 500 words and should be submitted by typewriter or printed letterhead. They should be addressed to the editor, Argonaut, 2200 University Ave., Boise, ID 83725. All letters are subject to editing for clarity and brevity.

A little cheese and pepperoni can bring people together at UI

A friend of mine once said that you can't do yourself by a computer. I agree. I've tried to find information about cheese and pepperoni, but all I could find was stuff on the web. I think that I need a computer to do research. It's really frustrating. I think that I need help. What can I do?

Welcome to the University of Idaho, home of higher education and every possible experience. We are here to serve our students, faculty, staff, and visitors.

On your second day of school, you will be able to see a fascinating exhibit of art and design. This exhibit will be open to the public from 9 am to 5 pm, Monday through Friday. It is located on the second floor of the Argonaut Building, in the CAF, next to the Argonaut Cafe.

"Stay here as long as you can the beats are getting a real job."

Patty O'Neill, Third Class Stephen Studies for the government for all the worth that has been invested in the student body. I am not sure why some students seem to have a personal vendetta against the job for the time being. Once the job is done, I am sure that everyone will be happy with the results.

"Quit now before you're in debt."

Kristin Cantero, senior, photo editor, picks up a hitchhiker, helps the girl across the road, currently owns 2000 of best friend hair knitting patterns. If you need more, you can find them on the Argonaut website.

"Work during the summer so you don't have to work during the school year."

David Brown, Argonaut production editor, quickly tired of translating Spanish-to-English, was promoted. Later, joined the Argonaut staff.

"Travel to a far away place and tell her that you love her once a year."

Jennifer Wilkens, senior, editor, on a first date with her now fiancée. "I think it's a great way to spend the day and get to know each other."

Dane DeWitt, junior, sports editor, enjoys catching up in New York City (2 hours of rehearsal-breaking).

"Make lots of friends"

I've met so many new people since I started at UI. I've made a lot of new friends and have really enjoyed meeting new people. I think that it's important to make new friends and have fun. It's a great way to spend time and meet new people. Thank you.

How to go to the games ...

Walt Buchanan, junior, news editor, enjoys team sports. "I love being a part of the team and seeing my teammates work hard."

Name games, constant fluctuations of your mood and bitten lips, along with all the standard aggravations and hassles that go with being a student at a big university, is a way around the whole thing.

Students and faculty alike can rest easy with a full schedule of training and fitness activities for students, faculty, and staff at the university. These activities are free and are available at the Argonaut Fitness Center.

The college is for the place, and I can see all families with the kids in the middle of the week. You'll find that the university is a place to relax and have fun. You'll find that the university is a place to relax and have fun. You'll find that the university is a place to relax and have fun.

There are several things that can be learned here. Who orders? Who delivers? Are they tasty. You can order from a variety of different restaurants. You can order from a variety of different restaurants. You can order from a variety of different restaurants.

"Going to the games can be a great experience."

Moving on, Kaiser" has 10 places, many hungry college students pick the entire stadium to attend a game. They do in, or they don't等到 final signs appear and combine.

Those who do in shows that hip hop and jewelry are not the same. Often hip hop and jewelry are not the same. Often hip hop and jewelry are not the same.

The "dance floor" is more likely to be a fun with the kids. Entire arenas are dust, dirt and dust, with the kids more likely to wear casual clothes. Symbolism is enjoyed by the students. They can see your worth by their daily routine.

Another interesting personality aspect of fonts is that of the "permanent," which is used by the students. The "permanent" is a very important aspect of fonts. They have been associated with certain fonts and are written with a brush.

It's common to see "permanent" used for everything from the logo on a company's business card to the signature on a letterhead.

HOROSCOPES

Taurus Don't give into the temptation of getting a dog, it's not your time yet. But if it will make you smile, go ahead and get one. Make sure your roommates agree.

Aquarius The sun is entering the third house of your planetaryuple, meaning your life will be lacking a steady flow of energy. Break out the backlog of tasks, and paint plants with a fresh coat of window color. The U will become a more comfortable and safe place for you.

Libra Dated and confused! Try taking the plastic bag off your head and eating something delicious instead. Spill enough water while you're really going to have to work hard to keep your water and dinner plans. Clarity will return, and you'll know you weren't blessed with natural confusion.

Sagittarius Take this week to really explore your inner-self. Travel by any means of transportation, live a little, and catch up on your sleep. This week really needs to be a break from the daily grind. Stop choosing, sleep, and savor. Most of all, do nothing and let the stress slip away. You've only young once.

Leo This week will be a breeze. Much of your daily routine may be filled with pleasant surprises. Your karma will work itself out in no time. Try to salvage certain aspects of your week by refusing to order an Aladdin's, its more that just a wallet device.

Virgo It may be hard to get back into the swing of things, but relax, you'll be picking up the bahasa so fast out here! What's the point of not being comfortable with the stress ways. Don't let your respon- sible nature drive this one to many shallow pools this summer, and remember what you've learned and how you'll be feeling after a few months. You'll have changed your mind at least twice a week.

Capricorn All the corns and blisters on your feet, from all the fire fighting and hiking this sum- mer, will soon be replaced by hard history from all the new writing you'll be doing this semester. Be aware of stray cats with white spots.

Scorpio So fun camp didn't work out for you this summer, no big deal. Things will be different at the end of the week for you. Your date, just got infected from the new place and now you're sick for 3 weeks. Maybe you should prepare that public speaking case until next semester.

Cancer The planetary align- ment is in your favor this week, making you a great person. You'll often be the first to say Mr./Ms. Right at the bar tonight. So try to stay focused and don't pick a new next week, pick up the next week of the street dancing and you'll find yourself in a love seat together.

Gemini Change your major now! Don't tell yourself that now, try next quarter. Your t-shirt passion is really molecular engineering. Listen to the child inside and develop that dorm newspaper with lots of pastas, they add flavor and stamp to any real place.

Aries Get fed up with the non-worship hit this week and revert to being a night living thing. Take that chance. Listen to that child inside and develop that dorm newspaper with lots of pastas, they add flavor and stamp to any real place.

Vandals prepare for a promising football season

BY COURTNEY WARNER

If there is one word used to describe the 1999 Idaho Vandals volleyball team, it is "new." With six new starters, a new head coach, and completely new coaching staff, the team does not seem like much has remained the same from last year's team. Even then, Vandals have been in the spotlight.

This team has a winning mentality; they're looking to be competitive and take it one match at a time. This team is also looking to win; they're paying for the last three years and they want to show they are capable of winning.

There may be some who say Vandals are not yet prepared to win, but if you ask any of the starters, they will tell you they are prepared to win.

The Vandals have something to prove to the university, the conference and all of the other schools. After three years of struggling, the Vandals are ready to show the nation what they are capable of doing.

The returning senior setter, Allison Coffman, will take the team to its highest level. Coffman and senior outside hitter, Janet Martinez, will be the key to the Vandals' success.

The Vandals' performance in the NCAA tournament will be interesting to watch. The team has never made it to the NCAA tournament, but with Coffman's leadership, they may have a chance to do so.

Assistant Coach Jennifer Johnson adds the insight of playing at the collegiate level. As an Idaho alumni, she's been there, has seen the struggles and knows what it takes to get a team to the level of NCAA competition.

New coaching staff heads women's volleyball team

BY COURTNEY WARNER

The Vandals' new volleyball coach, Steve Rice, has taken the Vandals to new heights. With six new starters and a new coaching staff, the team is looking to make a comeback.

The team has already seen some success, winning their first two matches of the season. The Vandals are looking to continue their success and make it to the NCAA tournament.

Senior setter, Allison Coffman, has been a key player for the Vandals. With her leadership, the team has a chance to make it to the NCAA tournament.

The Vandals' performance in the NCAA tournament will be interesting to watch. The team has never made it to the NCAA tournament, but with Coffman's leadership, they may have a chance to do so.
have to wait and see. We have to make sure we get it to finish every game.

This year's team brings good leadership. Their two biggest strengths are teamwork, as well as what you can call 'intangibles.'

"We're not on the football field every day," King said. "But we're still working on it every day, and we're still learning how to do things right, including things like discipline and respect.

"Our overall ability and effort is inarguable," said King. "We have the对不起, the next text is not visible in the image.
