MANY ATTEND
GAMMA PHI PLAY

Brewery Point Played to Crowd
by natural talent

Heralded with advertisement and awaited with interest, the Gamma Phi Betas played frivolous ev.
very promiso and every house.

When one considers that, in addition to enacting the difficulties which beset any dramatic effort in Moscow, Miss French and Miss Stephens had to cast the part of picture-postcard group into an intimate small group and had to get and control their audience with a play in which only girls appear and where the love-motive is only implied—when one considers all this, one has words of praise for coaches and appeals for actors.

A charm over and above that of the play itself, lay in the spectacular dances and the excellent music.

On the whole, it was a gratifying evening.

Brewery Point "itself made, of course, no pretense of being more than a vivacious comedy with clever lines and some vigorous characterisation. The vivacity, the clever lines, and the "spec-times" character told—every one of them. Indeed, one must say that the "character" words went better than the "straight" ones.

Miss Toney, Miss Kaufman, Miss Collins, Miss Yearain and Miss Motte all looked, despite a little too union red in the cheeks, very lively and warm and in their pretfrooks. Their parts, it is true, were not very thankful, yet somehow, Miss Collins brought imagination and enthusiasm to the enactment of her role.

One came from the theater a little envious of Dick somebody who never appeared on the scene with a very delicate impression of Edith Norton, whereas Laura Leigh was mainly a series of half beated quotations. Charles Foster was a beautiful speaking voice and a compilation of violets, Eliner Pearl a young lady who in the first act dressed too well for her condition, and Bernie Vernon, an heiress with French maid.

"It was the French maid and the workhouse wife, the desecrate's wife and the older sister's perspective. Zoniak and Tabitha. the twins, who kept the audience merry. Miss Taylor, as the aunt, by no means did herself justice. She is by nature inclined for such a sympathetic, kindly part. Miss Malprop, in The Rivals was her forte. Miss Sioussat, al-

PRESIDENT HAS SPLENDID OFFER

Tendered President of the University of Manitoba, at Winnipeg.

President James A. MacLean of the University of Idaho has been offered the first presidency of the University of Manitoba, at Win-ipeg, notwithstanding it was founded in 1877 and has been examined hereafter by a council.

MacLean said in an interview: "It is true the offer has been made to me to head Maniobtoria university, and the proposition looks very attractive because of the possibilities of a greater field for work. On the other hand, my connections with the University of Idaho have been pleasant and I have been happy in its work. The matter is under consideration, but I am wholly undetermined as to what I will do."

President MacLean came to Idahotnessed the university's wonderful growth in students, and has seen

Four Pass Rhodes Examinations
President MacLean has received word from the authorities that four men out of the five who took the Rhodes qualifying examination here last month have passed. They are Alex. R. Foster, '13, Baxter Morey, '13, Franklin T. Osborne, '13, and Marvin Monroe, '18.

The faculty will select the candidate in a short time who will take up his residence at Oxford, probably next fall. Paul C. Dur-rich, '11, is also a candidate having

On to Whittman
O. A. C. has left Whittman. Pullman was from O. A. C. and Idaho lashed Pullman. Therefore, who will win when Idaho and-Whittman meet on Thanksgiving day? — But wait—Whitman beat Oregon 20 to 0 last week, and Oregon beat Idaho; so who will win? Or again, Whittman beat W. S. C. by a score of 30 to 0 against our 13 to 0. And finally, you math student, work this one. If O. A. C. beats Whittman 20 to 3, and Oregon beats Idaho and O. A. C. each by a score of 3 to 0, what will be the Idaho-Whittman score?

The obvious solution is, 3 from 3 leaves nothing for Whittman's end of the score. Pink Griffith has another method with which he hopes to get the same results, which is by another rule of three as follows: Three weeks to recover from injuries, three hours of practice each night with three full teams out.

So far Pink's formula works well. The team is in fine shape and is sure to get into a game after the long rest. The bunch will leave for Walls Walla on an early train Wednesday morning. The boys will practically be without rusters at Walls Walla, but what have they this reason?

Dr. Steinmann Addresses
Y. M. C. A.

Dr. B. Steinmann addressed the Y. M. C. A. meeting at Little Hall last Sunday afternoon on the subject of "Extension Work." The topic included the different methods that college men may use in doing Christian work among men and boys outside of the college. Dr. Steinmann first took up the subject of "leaders' work," in which he was an active interest, having organized a troop of boy Scouts in Moscow. He told of the pleasures and opportunities of the work and urged his listeners to assist according to their ability. He advocated the "Big Brother" idea in which every college man becomes the counselor and companion of some younger boy in the town.

The opportunities for working among foreigners were particularly emphasized. Dr. Steinmann told some of his ex-eriences along this line when he had charge of construction crews while working in the capacity of engineer. Ways in which the college man can help the foreigners in his employ are to teach them the language, to cash their checks, and prevent the men from being exploited by the saloons, and to furnish them magazines, and good class amusements.

The methods of deputation work were described in some detail. This is a form of altruistic service which is widely taken up in college associations. A number of college men visit neighboring towns, form the acquaintance of the men and boys through a basket-ball

AN EXPERT FOR EACH COUNTY

Dean Carlyle is Advocating Plan of Having Agricultural Experts Throughout State.

Agricultural experts in every county of the state is what Dean Carlyle of the Agricultural College of Idaho hopes to see in the near future. This is one of the recent moves on the part of the College of Agriculture in its efforts to be of help to the farmers of Idaho. Bonner and Lincoln counties have adopted the plan and now have resident experts ready to consult with the farmer of the county at any time, and to offer advice and keep them in touch with recent developments in the science of agriculture.

"The people are demanding such information as these experts can give," said Dean Carlyle, "and we believe that this is the best method of giving it. The science of agriculture is ten years ahead of the farmers' emotions. That is, it takes about ten years for them to adopt the discoveries and methods developed at experiment stations. The experiment stations have the information, but there is no way of spreading it. Bulletins are published, it is true, but farmers as a rule do not read them very much and then, too, the information is often hidden in technical and scientific language. The most practical way is to meet them personally and give them information in tangible form. Thus farmers' institutes and movable schools of agriculture are effective, but they only partially fill the need. The system of having resident experts at the service of the farmers of each county has proved very successful wherever tried. It has worked wonders in the South. I am satisfied that this is the best way of keeping the farmers informed about the latest scientific methods in agriculture."

To get more students of the University of Washington into athletics, intercollegiate athletics will this year include basketball, cross country, baseball, track, and probably crew. The contest will be under the supervision of Dr. D. C. Hall, physical director of the University, and the requirement of thirty days practice before competition will be applied to these events. The cross country run was pulled off last Friday and proved successful, forty runners being entertained and the Junior, Senior, Sophomore and Freshmen finishing in order named.

Victor Price Debaters.

The Victor Price Debaters met at the Dorm Monday night, November 25. There were about 23 members present and several faculty members. President J. D. Davis presided. This was the first meeting of the year and was one of the best that the club has held. The first round of the new season was informal, consisting of stories by club members, a song by Prof. Soulen and two short addresses by Miss French and Prof. Lehman. Miss French spoke on "The Necessity of Public Reading," and Mr. Lehman took as a theme "Oriental as Related to Reading, Convening and Writing."

Next, Mr. Louis and Mr. McDaniel held an impromptu debate on the subject of the proposed rules requiring cadets to wear their uniforms on the campus and at classes. This resulted in a heated argument and the motion was made by the negative, proposing to abolish the rule. Evans moved to lay it on the table until next meeting which was carried. Undoubtedly, there will be a hot discussion next time on this question, as it is a very live issue at the university.

After this matter was disposed of the regular regular debate took place on the question. Resolved, that the Philippine Islands should be given their independence if possible, say about 1918.

McEvers and Bond supported the affirmative and Leeper and Evans the negative. Discussion was close all the way and the debate was interesting and instructive. The negative won by a vote of two to one. Miss French, Mr. Lucas and Mr. Lehman were the judges.

The next meeting will be held in about two weeks, and the club hopes to have a larger number out to hear the very excellent program which will be given at that time.

In presenting the William's Jubilee Singers, the management has made special efforts to make a musical standard. Therefore, the men have been selected from the best Christian homes and have been trained in some of America's best schools; Rust University of Mississippi, Knoxville college and Fink University of Tennessee, and Oberlin college of Ohio, are represented in the company. The quartette is a special feature and is always a favorite. The prima donna was trained by one of the best instructors of Chicago and she has a fine voice possessing the flate quality, which is desired by the European masters as being the warmest and most beautiful. The colored race has produced few singers as great as she is. The Williams' Jubilee Singers will appear in Moscow under the auspices of the University of Idaho Y.M.C.A. on December 14th.

Students are being vaccinated for typhoid fever free of charge at the University of Idaho. So far, 113 students have submitted to the operation.

"WHERE QUALITY COUNTS"
The football season is nearly over at Idaho. The last game took place this Thursday at Whitman. Basketball season is then on us. There will be no conference games until after Christmas, when the schedules are made out during the holidays. We will probably have an interclass basketball league again this year similar to that of the years gone by. These create much interest and class-spirit. But why not an inter-fraternity basketball league, too? The inter-fraternity basketball league last spring created considerable enthusiasm and basketball would come even more, for an athletic contest at Idaho, basketball being always held on the edge of enthusiasm. If possible these games should be played before the Christmas holidays or barring that, men might as well be played after the holidays as before. The outcome of the experiment of such a league would be interesting. Why not?

There is a persistent rumor to the effect that President James A. MacLean of the university will resign his position to accept a similar one with Winning University at a much larger salary. Whether or not this is true, President MacLean has not, yet definitely stated. The fact, however, that the meeting of the Board of Regents has been called for December instead of January would seem to indicate that the proposition is being taken seriously. If the university loses the services of President MacLean, it will be a matter of serious loss to the Idaho institution. President MacLean has been at the head of this university for twelve years and has been instrumental in its development from a small prep school to the present size. During his stay he has had to cope with rather extraordinary difficulties at times, as for example, the burning of the Administration Building in 1906. In every case he has shown himself equal to the occasion as those persons will testify who have been closely connected with him in the administration of university affairs. The students and faculty of the university will lose, if President MacLean leaves, a man, a liberal, an efficient administrator and a man who has had the greatest interest of the university and its members at heart. The Argonaut expresses its congratulations to Doctor MacLean on the offer which has been extended to him and tenders every good wish for his success whatever may be his decision.

C. H. Buffington Honored.

Buffington at the Theta Mu Epiphilo house Tuesday evening of last week. County Auditor Homer R. Estes was also present. At the conclusion of the evening, Chairman Lyons was presented by the candidates with a handsome Howard watch and Secretary Buffington with a gold watch fob, as tokens of appreciation of their splendid work during the recent campaign. Mr. Buffington was a member of the class of 1913. In 1912 and 1914 the A. S. U. I. during his senior year.

For the benefit of the students and faculty of the University of Idaho to learn that four out of the five men who took the Rhodes examination last month were successful. If one half of the men who take the examination pass, it speaks well for the school, but when we recognize the fact that eighty per cent of those taking the examination at Idaho were successful there is nothing but praise for the institution and its faculty and its students.

STUDENT AFFAIRS

AT ASSEMBLY

The musical number at assembly last week was a vocal solo rendered by Miss Mary Peterson. Dr. McAneny introduced the speaker as Idaho's most distinguished graduate, the Hon. Burton L. French.

Mr. French for a few minutes called attention to the history of the university and the difficulty with which it was established and maintained. He also spoke of the increasing popularity of the institution and the good work that graduates do in their part of the state in getting favorable legislation for the university by a little work.

The subject of Mr. French's main address was the "History and Growth of the National Capital."

"Standing in mind," said Mr. French, the achievement which caused by the division of a county, you might imagine something of the difficulty met with in the placing of a piece for the national capital." He gave a short history of the different sites of the congress and how it came to be located in a wilderness, as it was, on the Potomac.

"The inscription which drove congress to Princeton, in order that it might carry on its business," he explained, "proved to them that the United States government must own an independent district away from the laws of another sovereign country, as the eximium at a business was apt to impede legislation and have an evil influence." The speaker gave an account of many attempts to settle the capital in Pennsylvania and the fight between slave and free states for its location, and the final result of it's being settled in the Potomac near Washington's home at Mt. Vernon. In speaking of the fitness of the location, Mr. French said, "At that time it was practically a wilderness and was the laughing joke of the people for forty years.

He quoted Dickens in speaking of the capital after visiting this country as "a magnificent city of ridiculous intentions," and Moore referring to it as the city "with shrines unshirked and heroes yet ununited." Mr. French spoke of the importance which the civil war gave the capital and its steady growth up to the present time, and in closing he said, "I think that the time has come when we should make the same pride in our capital as do the people in their homes. I think we should take more pride in that city raised from swamps and wilderness to the greatest city, to us, in the world."

IN THE GYMNASIUM

There will be an indoor track meet very soon between the freshmen and the combined Sophomore and Junior classes. The events will be the same as those which were scheduled for the most which was supposed to have taken place last Friday. The only change is that a quarter mile run will be substituted for the tug of war.

E. G. Culver, commonly known as "Foxy" among the oldtimers of the university has sent in a collection of nine photographs of the 1865, 1866, 1867, and 1868 graduating classes, which Idaho won by a score of thirty to nothing.

Mr. Van der Veer has been considering for some time the putting in of some bitumen tennis courts where the old ones are now. He has the promise of one hundred dollars from the faculty for this purpose.

The Regents, after the next appropriation, will be in a position to help out in the matter. With the additional help from the student body, this plan should not give any trouble in being carried out.

With bitumen courts it is possible to play in almost any season of the year. At the present time it is impossible to use the courts yet if they were covered with bitumen this would be ideal tennis weather.

In the contest among the freshmen girls for Physical Director Van der Veer's cup, Miss E. M. Miracle is leading with 4800. She is closely followed by Miss Fay Thomaus with 4795. An interesting test is that of Miss Anna Wilcox, a 17 year old girl, 5 ft 2 1/2 inches in weight in the Literature class. This girl tested 3740. The average eastern college girls' test is 2900. The supremacy of the western development is very evident.

Among the freshmen Paul Van De Bogari, a law student leads with 5420.

The strongest man in college is L. J. Thomas, a short course ag student whose test is 7280.

The Senior Law of Kansas University, city have chosen to carry silver-headed canes as a mark of distinction. The custom was introduced in the University two years ago, in accordance with the custom prevalent among professional schools in the East.

The class of 1912 at Princeton will raise $2000 in a class memorial. The contributions will not be asked for until 1922. It will therefore be necessary for the class to raise $3000 a year. The first collection will be made the 1st of January.

STAGE NOTES

The box receipts amounted to $53.00.
The play was conducted without intermission, especially on Idaho's part.

Some one said Perkins hadn't earned his lines.
The duel scene in the fourth act between Shylco and Lucpe was a clever bit of the farce. Fists were on the point of being substituted for handkerchiefs.

Those who didn't think the show worth the price of admission made the stage manager earn his money by keeping up the audience off the stage while the play was in progress.

The gallery across the track was empty, but they saw the field glasses dispensed with at the box office. Our stadium should have a roof.

The visiting players said our dressing room facilities were poor!

COMMUNICATIONS

Has Went.

The Y. M. C. A. Boarding Club has quit business of its own initiative. We believe that the club concept in which there is no binding pledge is a dangerous thing. One might endeavor to hold it together by force of personality, and it seems that the Y. M. C. A. Club was held up in this way last year. But that binding tie does not make the club useful. Our club was organized to fill a supped need here for a meeting and eating place. It has been a far from meet ing place. And as to the past, it seems they are much more abundant in this burg than are the eaters. We propose to read the club board without walking through three or four "Cheap Board and Rooms."

Because, too, we can see no good coming from the club, because private people need boarders, because, our residence furnished good place to meet, and because the manager did not want to do business with an insufficient number of men to make it pay, we have killed the club.

It is my opinion that, in order to run a club successfully, a suitable house must be obtained and a binding consideration entered between the fellows. The Y. M. C. A. lacked both of these qualifications and in spite of the fact that the books showed they were making money, the club wound up last year extremely in debt. This debt, the result of misguided enthusiasm, will be met by the Y. M. C. A.

Don't you think, men, the thing we need here at Idaho is not so much, a place for a bunch of us to eat together and meet together, but a place where we can all be together and where the Idaho spirit and the appetite at the same time seem a common bond. Nothing short of a Mass Commons can satisfy our needs. Why don't we work for it?

IDAHO'S SECOND TEAM CRUSHED

In Poorly Played Game Griffin's Proteges Are Crushed by Anderson's Hired Hands.

The Denver-Griffith Company of players staged a poor comedy at the local stadium last Saturday afternoon. The play was of the poorest time, and was confronted with many comical incidents. It enjoyed a liberal patronage and fulfilled every promise and every hope. The proceeds of the play were divided, twenty one going to the visiting actors and nothing to the local talent.

The two rival houses of Griffith and Anderson have been engaged in a series of wars in which the victories wear either red or grey sweaters, for many years past. This contest was merely a sideshow.

In the course of the game a war broke loose. The reds maintain that the game has been fought through official gags and win most of the audience to their side. For the next two acts the plot thickens. The reds succeed in breaking the judge who has favored the gray. In the meantime the grays are strengthening their army and rise to the climax in the last act when they again score on their adversaries.

As actors, every one taking part in the play is worthy of mention. The Duke of Rock of the Grays, was one of the best on the stage. His unconvoluted and his command of English served him well, both on defense and offense. The ability with which all the players assimilated their parts shows great talent in the art of imitation. The minor plot had to do with the misadventures of Judge Perkins, the succession of Judge Har ter and the plans of Johnson, the returning young attorney who was invited to the office held by Judge Perkins.

The cast of the play was: Earl of Langdon, leader of the game; Duke of Golf; John and Sister-wait; supporters of Langdon; Bowler, Tweed, Peterson, Wexler, Love, Humphrey, Manseley, Good year and others; attendants to Earl of Langdon; Judges Perkins, Harper and Johnson of the suspected court.

Others present: Dr. Outhetchup, Kiefer Dunning; Chief Uromper, Johnnie Bender; Assistant Promp t, Paul Griffith; Stage manager, Gus Larson.

That the women at the University of Colorado wear different caps and not co-eds, is the latest word. This is the result of placing the ban on the latter word—by the dean—of women, for the second time in recent years.

And after all, it's a pretty sensible, chivalrous and good mannered thing to do. To try to abolish the term co-ed, we suppose, is well nigh an impossible task. It is a snappy, slangy term with a distinctly college tone to it, and it has been in use from time past. But nevertheless it is not showing the consideration for the girls that is due to them to dub them, as a class in such a manner.

The girls of the campus are queens, just as much now as they will be in the coming days in the home. Not that it would be well to lay too much stress on the proposition while we are trying to buildize them, but just as a matter of ordinary gentlemanliness of manners, they deserve something higher than co-ed.

What the girls as a class, do for the University it is hard to estimate. That they add something very desirable can not be denied. There are lots of arguments in favor of the separate education of the sexes, but just the same the girls are mighty essential to the big institutions of the west—and they are real queens too.

ANNAPOLIS—Convinced that simple confinement to quarters does not make up a sufficiently serious punishment of midshipmen guilty of certain infractions of the rules, Captain J. E. Gibbons, superintendent of the naval academy, has ordered that hereafter they will be confined to a station ship as in years past, during the period of their imprisonments. The ship, the old Renee Merced, captured from Spain in 1814, has been selected as the "prison ship."

A number of interdicted midshipmen already have taken up their abode here on the station ship. The midshipmen who are in dur- ans are formed in a squad and marched from the ship to their recitations and meals and then marched back again, no interval of course being allowed with their fellows.

The squad in the old days was called the "chain gang."

Foresters of the University of Washington tried their hand at editing the University Daily last Monday, where their regular semi-annual green ink edition appeared. It is the policy of the paper to allow students of the various colleges and schools of the university to get out editions of the Daily, and the Freshmen and Sophomore issues are features of the journalistic year.

As Pennsylvania the freshmen of the University of Colorado are the attractions of the year. Of the annual poster scrap yesterday morning, but were defeated by the sophomores, who were more skillful in mobilizing their forces. A handful of able freshmen placed their poster on the north door of college hall about 4:30 o'clock. To win the scrap it was necessary to keep the past- er in touch until 6 o'clock, the official time for arrivals. Nearly 100 sophomores attacked the little band just fifteen minutes before the time, and inside of three minutes before the time, held the ball stops themselves and had the poster torn from the door.

For the first time in northwest history the coaches of two competing colleges will speak to the students before a football game when Coach Bender of W. S. C. and Coach Glimour Dobie of the U. W. address the students of the University of Washington at the annual college hour next Wednesday. In answer to a telegram Coach Bender telegraphed Friday that he would accept the invitation of the A. S. U. W. to speak before the assembled students.

Neither of the two coaches has a record for loquacity, and the Washingtonians are pleasantly looking forward to the event. The Fullman team will be the guests of honor and will be shown some manifestations of Wash- ington spirit. A beauty contest has been arranged for the co-eds and a prize has also been offered for the most manly man on the campus. No candidates have as yet appeared for the latter honor.

The only night shirt parade to be held this year at the University of Washington is scheduled for next Wednesday night, the eve of the Pull- man game. Fraternities and private individuals will compete for awards in the various specialties. Faculty policy has forbidden night shirt parades in general, but the faculty itself will be permitted to wear them in previous years, the rule allowing only one each year. Yell King Horribly will have charge of the event, and the big- gest ever pulled off is promised. Two years ago the students raided one of the down town theaters, and it is with the strict understanding that nothing of the kind be attempted this year that the event is being planned.

The faculty at the University of Denver offered a notice to the effect that students found entering a saloon or drinking emporium would be expelled.

The wearing of small blue caps and green buttons is made the penalty for flunking at the University of Colorado.

PRESS-UKE.

"May I print a kiss upon your lips?"
he asked.

She nodded her sweet permission.

So they went to press and I Rather guess
They printed a large edition.

But one edition is hardly enough.
She said, with a charming post.

So again in the press the form was placed.

And they put several extras out—Es.

Their meeting it was said,
She sacrificed her young sweet life,
The only one he loved,
She lies upon the hillside
With the daisies d'er her now,
For there's always something doing
When a bright car hits a cow.

Preparatory to the Thanksgiving football game, Coach Glimour Dobie is holding secret practice on Denny Field every night. The lineup remains as it was in the game with Oreg- on, with Miller, who displaced Don- man at left half, still on the first team. Fourteen men have already won their Varsity letters. Griffiths, Presley, Bliss, Patton, Anderson, Hors, Clark, Dave- man, Miller, Shiles, Jacko, Young, Sutton and Leader. Dobie will lose only Tom Griffiths and Bliss of the regulars this year.
