UNIFORM QUESTION STILL HANGS FIRE

The question to be threshed out in next faculty meeting.

The President, Franklin reports no further developments of the plan to have the students wear military uniforms while on the campus. There has been no further expression of student opinion which Mr. Franklin asked for. He has understood that on second thought, some of the students would like to change their votes. For this reason he proposed to give everyone a chance to express their opinion on the coming Tuesday and a second ballot will be taken. If sufficient support is given the plan, he will take it up before the faculty in their regular meeting on Friday, December 8th.

The President is supporting this plan, not for the purpose of compelling any student to do something distasteful to himself, but because he believes it is a good thing for the institution.

"Whether I am supported or not," states Mr. Franklin, "I propose to bring the plan up for discussion in the faculty meeting Friday evening, so that the opinion of the faculty may be obtained."

On Saturday evening, Mrs. Morley entertained the following guests at dinner, Rose Curtis, '16, Jessie Surr, '16, Mary Vesey, '16, and Miss Jessie Vesey.

IDAHO AGAIN CHAMPIONS OF INLAND EMPIRE

By Defeating Whitman 13 to 6 on Thanksgiving Gem Staters Finish Second in Conference.

Idaho completely upset the dope and leaped from the tail end of the Northwestern championship race to second place when she won from Whitman in the last quarter of the Turkey day game at Walla Walla. It was a clear cut case of a better coached and better drilled team, and a cleverly planned attack on the part of Pink Griffith. Whitman's heavy team was surprised after it occurred had been his last advice of the year. In the last thirty minutes of one of the most remarkable seasons of Northwestern football, Idaho sprung the unexpected which has become such a feature in reorganized football.

It was the old Idaho spread that did it. The old formation that has been largely neglected since the days of Middleton. For the past three years we have seen the team scorching over the practice field in this spread formation, but we have rarely seen it tried in a game. Yet it was this play that gave us the two touchdowns in the last quarter of the game.

In the last half with the score 9-0 for the Missionaries, Perkins called the signal for the Idaho spread. Guards, tackle and end halves pushed over the field, followed by the opposing men on the Whitman line up. The ball was passed from Perkins to Sturbridge and our two seniors went through the unprotected center of the Whitman line for five yards. The same formation was again called. Whitman, to prevent a repetition of the play, crowded toward the center of the line. The ball was shot to Burns five yards to the right and he took ten yards and over the bewildered Whitman team could not get to him.

From then on it was Idaho's game. Our team got away with everything, forward pass, sweep and end run and end pass. The Whitman team was helpless. Tobby Niles, the All-Northwest full, punted twenty yards when the ball had been held six inches from his goal, and shortly after he fumbled, the ball going to Idaho.

It was a typical end of the season game—rough from the blow of the whistle. In the first quarter Whitman was surprised to find the old Idaho spread could not gain through Idaho's line. Idaho rushed the ball to Whitman's 33 yard line from which Burns missed a drop kick. The quarter ended with the ball near the center of the field. It was Idaho's quarter.

In the second period Whitman strengthened and "Kinder made the Missionaries'" only score about the middle of the quarter when he carried the ball through the end of Idaho's line for a touchdown.

With Whitman guessing what was coming next in the third quarter. Burns was called back, apparently for a kick. Instead he shot the ball to Samson who made the ball for Whitman's goal and was only stopped on the 8 yard line. In three downs Idaho made six yards and the quarter ended with the ball on Whitman's two yard line.

The teams changed goals and the Whitman line held with the ball six inches from the final field mark. Hero Niles pulled off his twenty yard punt and Idaho soon had the ball back to the line and over. End Perkins making the touchdown on a 4 yard end. Whitman received the kick and returned it to the 35 yard line. The ball was fumbled and Idaho recovered it. Endeen made eight yards on the Idaho spread. Perkins then made his and Idaho's second touchdown on an end run for 5 yards through half of the Whitman field. Burns kicked goal.

The game was over then so far as the result was concerned. For the remainder of the quarter the ball remained in the center of the field with neither goal in danger.

This game will be long remembered in Idaho history. The Idaho team apparently had less chance than it had against Washington six weeks ago. But the donkey men overlooked two things—Idaho fright and Coach J. G. Griffith, such a victory is sweet.

It meant to the school, the coach and the ten other stars who took part in it we were attempt to say as there is another year coming when each will again enter the lidi-lid. For the present we pay our regards to the two men who played their last game for Idaho at Walla Walla last Thursday.

It was a great game for Captain P. Perkins, Idaho's Whitman and Oregon games. Pro has played center with the best of them. But back in is a leader who can get the best there is out of the ten men behind him. He has lead his team of near-champions this year to a place second only to the five year champs at Shiite.

The report of the game contained little except the score and the playing of E. Perkins. This was E.'s last game of four continuous years of football at the University, and last game. The account of the Walla Walla scribe suffices: "E. Perkins stood out head and shoulders above the other men and he was almost a team in himself. He ran his eleven faultlessly, and carried the pigskin time after time for long gains. It seemed almost impossible for the Missionaries to drag him down.

"For the last three years Idaho has defeated Whitman each year by a margin of one touchdown. Of the thirteen games played Idaho has won seven.

"The line up was:

The University of Idaho, through their victory over Whitman College at Walla Walla, Thanksgiving, takes second place in the five time standings of the Northwest college conference. This year, ranking next to the five time champions, the University of Washington.

The honor is not to be snuffed out. It amounts to more than one would think at first glance. Holding the championship annually to Washington has come to be a mere formality. The real scrap is which is next best? For 1912 the "next best" is Idaho.

Whitman and Idaho each finished with two victories, two defeats, the next best winning percentage to the Dobie machine. As Idaho defeated Whitman it is impossible not to rank Gilfillen's Gem States over Hain's Missionaries.

We are glad to join in the chorus.

"Look out for Idaho next year," and we just can't forget Idaho.

Pullman beat O. A. C., Idaho beat Whitman and Oregon scored two touchdowns on Washington.

This was on the open style of football. But notice that the season is over, the games have been lost or won, the suite returned to the store-room and training rules are undone. We think of the season past and each our brave re-

With no Idaho men in the last three years getting more than one vote for the All-Northwest football team it might be hard to explain Idaho's record for that period. Idaho has twice held the championship of the Idaho Empire. This year she finished in second place in the conference, and in our worst year of the three, last season, was able to keep out of the cellar. We must attribute much of this record to the potent cause of the past three years—success—the coach.

When Pink Griffith returned to Idaho three years ago, after one of the most disastrous seasons in the history of Idaho's athletics, he found a squad of approximately only enough men to make one team. Last year the turn out was so poor that he had to use managers to get enough men for scrimmages. While the squad had been better this year, there have still been times when all available material was on the hospital list and the coach had to rely upon his cripples. Added to this is the deplorable lack of interest we have shown in supporting the team. Yet Pink Griffith has put the team ahead of some of the star filled teams of other colleges. What Idaho lacks in numbers he makes up in football science and the fighting spirit which he drills into the team.

Betting—A College Evil.

Betting on athletics threatens to become a college evil. On every football game hundreds of dollars are wagered. Students who feel it diabolical to bet against the home team bet on the total score. As the wheat market is a source of gambling for the broker so is athletics for the college student.

Betting on college sports is directly opposed to the spirit in which they are conducted, it is bad for those who bet and for the players.

For those who bet it teaches the habit of getting money by gambling instead of service—a habit which exposes them to all sorts of temptations after they are out in life. To the player it introduces an element of professionalism in a dangerous form. The players come to play for the money which their friends have bet on the result. They no longer contend for honor alone. The fact that their friend's property is involved leads them to violate the spirit of the game.

All this spoils athletics on a training ground for morals. It deprives athletics of one of its very purposes. Men growing up in the midst of such practices learn to tolerate not only gambling but the corrupt manipulation of the market.

For the sake of athletics if for no other, college men should quit betting on them. Betting violates the moral basis of athletics and when that is gone the fundamental purpose of the game is gone. Besides commercialism and professionalism have no place in college athletics—University Missouri.

The three classes of the Practical Agricultural Course called a meeting to discuss athletics, resulting in all three classes joining and forming an Athletic Association, realizing that by uniting into one strong organization we could better cope with our adversaries. Mr. Earl Beck was elected manager of the basketball team and Mr. George Thompt was elected manager of the track team. The players are to be selected from the three classes on their merits by Coach Edmundson. With the material we have in this Association, coupled with some first-class training, great results are confidently expected.

STUDENT AFFAIRS

IN THE GYMNASIUM
Friday afternoon at four o'clock in Lewis hall, Physical Director Van der Veer plans to hold a track meet between the freshmen and the practical age. The following events will take place:

- Thirty yard dash
- 440 yard run
- 980 yard run
- 10 lap relay race.

A basketball game will then be held in the gymnasium between the teams representing the two classes. No admission is charged for these indoor track meets.

The freshman class should get busy and organize in sufficient amount to attend the meet in a bound and do some extensive rooting. Ditto for the practical age.

In the account of interesting physical tests published in last issue, the test of Miss Berenice Mason, '16, was overlooked. Miss Mason weighs but 113 pounds and is only five feet three inches in height, but yet made the remarkable test of 38.40. Mr. Van der Veer considers this to be one of the best tests among the women.

Owing to the Thanksgiving vacation, there was no debating class last Saturday morning. The average attendance at these classes is about fifteen couples. Instroces will be resumed Saturday morning at eleven o'clock.

Mr. Van der Veer is delighted with the recent acquisition of his trophy case. He is now contemplating a new arrangement of the footballs. A separate shelf will be made for the W.B.R. balls.

Sophomore Prepare for Frolic.

The sophomores have begun preparing and planning for the frolic to be given February 3rd.
A meeting of some of those who are very interested in making the affair a great success was held last week at the Omega Pi house and details for the dance were discussed. There was a great deal of interest shown and if it is kept up, and doubtless it will, the frolic holds well to be a great success.
The following committees have been appointed by the president:

- Decorations: Denning, McFarland,
  Mitchell, Bolker, Christiansen,
  Fjeldstad, Oakey and Tschirhart

- Refreshments: Roane, Latzle, Carton, Coram; patiosesses, Hawley, Hinckles, McAdams and Lohkitt, music and Hall, Stone, Neulim, Sohn and Gammack; invocation and program: Beir, McConnell, McGregor and Wiley.

T. D. Hall, a freshman at the

COMMUNICATIONS

After much delay the Y. M. C. A. is glad to announce to its members that the textbooks are now ready for use. The Daily Star Mirror is responsible for the delay, having had the material for over two months without setting any type. We wish to thank Mr. Fields and his force, Mr. Children, very much for taking the job and completing it for us.

There are several books available. If you receive any good from this, thank him for patronage. They took space, not for advertising, but in order to make this book possible, thus helping you.

A word concerning the distribution of this handbook. Remember that each book cost exactly 25 cents. One man should receive only one book, and the number of copies should be limited to those who have not one. It is advisable that the Y. M. C. A. be distributed to every college man.

J. D. DAVIS, '15.

Y.M.C.A.—Why Not?

Many men in college follow—never take life seriously until it has most done with them. Their lives are monotonous; ordinary times or merely convert areas while they should be perfect figures.

An organism to be of the greatest service must be developed equally in every part. Give your train a good-headed engine locomotive and lots of steam but a poor man at the throttle and you may look for disaster. Have a good engineer, strong locomotive and no steam and you can see nowhere. Then take a restored engine, a full head of steam and an expert mechanic. If you want to be surrounded in the middle of your journey. The train is one's life. The body must be strong, the mind must be charged to high pressure and the soul must be well trained to guide, because there is a hard "run ahead" and the state depends on its manner of making good.

The world realizing the great call for imbeciles men, has answered with the Y.M.C.A. Some do not believe in Christianity, but all know man is a tripe being. He impresses the world with his body, his mind and his soul. It is the aim of he Y. M. C. A. to develop all three of these. And it reaches its aim.

Of course in a college organization the thing does not look so large. The mind body and the soul are taken so that it is the special work of the Y.M.C.A. to cultivate the spiritual nature of the men. Because the emphasis is laid here upon what is not as touchy. This is a true view. Besides, these fellows are not "easy" because they are Y.M.C.A. men. They are Y.M.C.A. men in spite of their voices of Moccas. It is only desirable that the Y.M.C.A. have should not have the train and brown Join!

There were twenty-seven girls at the Hall for Thanksgiving—They had a sumptuous dinner, with turkey and all that accompanies the national bird on this occasion. After the dinner pie was disposed of toasts were given by Fred E. Miss Bailey, matron of Omega Pi Eta and dinner guest of the girls. After dinner, dancing was in order for the rest of the afternoon. In the evening, Mrs. Hackney showed the girls a collection of famous photographs and described the originals. All who were fortunate enough to be here enjoyed the talk immensely.

Miss Minnie Minden '14, entertained five Junior girls at her home at a Slumber party Saturday evening. Those present were Mayl Faccett, Dottie Murray, Margaret Mason, Josephine Wynam and Nettie Mae Bauer. The evening was spent in reading, singing and games with a feed the "slumber". The girls report a very enjoyable time and are proud in their praise of Miss Minnie as hostess.

Should We Have Summer Baseball

Coach Griffith Discusses With Coach Hahn of Whitman On Subject.

Students who wish to play summer baseball to help out their college expenses have no friend in Coach Archie Hahn, of Whitman, and he will go to the northwest conference meeting this month to work against it.

"It is too hard to distinguish between the college man simply playing as a pleasant way of spending his vacation and the out-and-out professional who makes baseball his business," said Hahn.

"I think that the rule permitting summer baseball will make it easier for 'Fingers' to enter college sport. Besides the rule would not be consistent. Why should we allow a man to earn his living during the summer months by playing ball when another man, if he receives as coach as ten cents for running a race, is barred from taking part in college activities because of professionalism."

"I believe that if a man were a bona fide student and played baseball as a means of earning money to take him through school, that it would be too hard to stand in his way, but it is too late now."

Coach Griffith when interviewed by an Argonaut reporter expressed himself as follows:

"I believe the rules should be changed regarding summer, baseball. The present rule makes a liar of nearly every man who takes part in college athletics. The rules regarding track men should also be modified. If a man can earn a few dollars in a summer by his athletic ability, we should not necessarily bar him from taking part in college athletics. I believe we should make a rule which will emphasize scholarship and thus keep out all ringers. If men come to school and do class work, the college is filling its purpose. The present rules put it up to the man. We should put it up to the faculty. If we cannot trust the president of the university, how can we put any trust in the word of the athlete?"

EXCHANGES

At Yale plans have been completed for a new athletic field and colliseum, which will cost about $700,000. The most interesting feature of the Yale playground will be the colliseum which will be constructed of concrete, and will contain seats for sixty thousand people.

The glory of wearing an "M" will not be limited to the men this year at Missouri. In the spring the honor will be given to any young woman who has made the team in two major sports which include hockey, basketball, cricket and tennis.

At Pennsylvania twenty-five men have responded to the call for wrestling practice. Among them was Durins, the Greek wrestler, who has won prizes abroad and who has been in the Olympic games twice.

Although offered a salary of $9,000 to become head of the agricultural department at the University of California, Dean Woods of Minnesota has decided to retain his present position, which pays $7,500.

The last report of the superintendent of the military academy at West Point recommends that the number of cadets in the war school be increased to 700. The new buildings will easily accommodate the number. The superintendent urges an increase of students for economical reasons, and because he believes that the military status of the nation will be made more efficient by the education of more men in the art of war.

The superintendent also recommends that a modern hotel building, to cost $3,000,000, be erected on the grounds for the accommodation of friends and relatives of the cadets.

Danvers, which has been under the ban at Coe University, Iowa, is now being permitted under rules adopted by the faculty and the student council. The college allows sororities to hold dances at stated intervals during the year.

She's obstinate as any mule

And sometimes when they get a chance
The Prof's. aid and abet 'er.
Of course you fellows know her name.
