Student Lobbyist

Whiting asked to account for actions concerning Center

J. Richard Rock

Controversy surrounding the UI Women's Center and the actions of UI student Dan Whiting have moved from the legislature in Boise to the ASUI.

Whiting, who is the ASUI lobbyist, approached several members of the Joint Finance and Appropriations Committee last week with allegations that the Women's Center is promoting a political agenda.

JFAC was prepared to cut the nearly $50,000 the Women's Center is allocated in the budget before being issued by local legislators and UI administrators that the issues put forward by Whiting would be investigated.

Betsy Thomas, director of the Women's Center, refused to speak with the Argonaut on this issue at this time.

The ASUI Senate, who was unaware of Whiting's activities concerning the Women's Center until last Friday, voted Wednesday to address what some members of the Senate deemed as inappropriate behavior.

The Senate voted Wednesday at their regular meeting to reprimand Whiting for his actions related to the Women's Center and stated that the ASUI "...neither condones(4) or endorses(4) his actions." The Senate also expedited legislation which limits the actions of future ASUI lobbyists.

Senate Bill 442, which was sponsored by ASUI President John Marble and ASUI Senator Kristen Bennett, states the ASUI lobbyist shall not "lobby for, promote, or support any issue while employed by the ASUI, except as directed by the ASUI President and/or the ASUI Senate."

Unusually, the Senate immediately considered and passed the legislation unanimously.

In another unusual move, the Senate moved into executive session for nearly two hours to discuss the matter. At the conclusion of the closed portion of the meeting, it was decided to recess until later today to request that Whiting answer a list of questions that senators felt needed to be answered.

The primary concern of most senators was the possibility that Whiting's effectiveness in Boise had been diminished.

According to Marble, however, the effect may not have been as great as originally feared. Administrators and people in Boise have assured Marble that the Whiting's ability to be effective in Boise was not significantly reduced, by his actions related to the Women's Center.

The Senate also heard comments by three women who use the Women's Center regularly. All three praised the Center for providing a comfortable atmosphere in which they could relax and for its efforts to eliminate discrimination.

"It's a safe haven," said Karen Buta-McCaffery, a non-traditional UI student who feels comfortable at the center.

Although they did not request that Whiting be removed from his position, they criticized him for promoting his own agenda and not representing students fairly.

"Dan Whiting did not represent me," said Marilyn Stine.

Whiting's term of office runs until ten days after the legislative session, which is approximately half over.

Whiting can only be removed by the ASUI President.
Babysitting course open to kids 11-13

The UI Enrichment Program is offering "I'm Taking Care — A Babysitter's Course" for children ages 11-13. There are six sessions in all. Call the Enrichment Program at 885-6486 for more information.

Cap and gown orders taken through today

The UI Alumni Office will accept orders for cap and gowns through 5 p.m. today for May commencement ceremonies.

Drug/Alcohol surveys should be returned

UI graduate and undergraduate students who received a drug and alcohol survey from the Student Advisory Services office in early February, please return it to the office as soon as you can. Results of these surveys are important for future educational programs.

Employment records to be taken next week

The U.S. Census Bureau will collect data on employment, income and migration from area residents the week of March 13-19, according to Leo C. Schilling, director of the bureau's Seattle regional office.

The additional data on income and migration will be used to provide a comprehensive study of poverty, median family income and year-to-year mobility of the nation's population. Information supplied by individuals to the Census Bureau is kept confidential by law. Only statistical totals are published.

New computer course highlights spreadsheets

The UI Enrichment Program is offering "Excel Spreadsheet with Windows" on Mondays from March 21 through April 18 from 6:30-8:30 p.m. There will be five sessions in all. Contact the Enrichment Program at 885-6486 for more information.

Shamrocks display local support of research

The Muscular Dystrophy Association is promoting its annual "Shamrocks Against Dystrophy." Look for green or gold shamrocks throughout the Moscow-Pullman area at participating taverns, supermarkets, restaurants and retailers. Be part of the festivities by donating $1 or $5 for a shamrock you customize which will be displayed in the establishment. The one-month promotion will give hope and happiness to area adults and children affected by muscle diseases through research and service programs.

Diapsid cardia systems discussion to be today

David R. Jones of the University of British Columbia in Vancouver will present "Cardiac Dynamics of Diapsids" Friday at 12:30 p.m. in Agricultural Sciences Room 277. Jones is a professor and comparative physiologist from the Department of Zoology and has research interests in the area of adaptations to low oxygen environments.

Food collection taking place through March 22

Alpha Zeta is collecting food for the needy as this year's community service project. There will be boxes provided in the following buildings: Forestry, Morrill Hall, Food Science, Family and Consumer Sciences and West One Bank. Donations would be greatly appreciated. The drive will run through March 22.

Spinning techniques taught in new course

The UI Enrichment Program is offering "Spinning for Beginners" on Tuesdays from March 22 through April 12 from 7:30-9:30 p.m. Contact the Enrichment Program at 885-6486 for more information.

Students, deans come together for open forum

Alpha Zeta is sponsoring "Meet the Deans" March 22 in Agricultural Sciences Room 62 at 5:30 p.m. Refreshments will be served and everyone is welcome to attend.

Free tax assistance for some local citizens

Volunteer Income Tax Assistance provides free tax help in the community. Volunteers help those with basic tax returns, particularly elderly, handicapped and non-English speaking taxpayers. There is no charge for this service.

VITA offers assistance Thursdays from 6 to 8 p.m. and Saturdays from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the University of Idaho Law School Room 105.

Swing dancing offered in new Sunday course

The UI Enrichment Program is offering "Swing UI!," a dance class with 3 sessions from March 20 through April 17 from 7-8 p.m. Call the Enrichment Program at 885-6486 for more information.

Parking reminder for week of Spring Break

Just a reminder from the UI Parking and Information Services Office that Spring Break parking enforcement will be in effect from March 11 at 5 p.m. until 7:30 a.m. on March 21. All gold lots will require gold permits. No permits will be required for red and blue lots. Metered, illegal parking and handicap parking violations will continue to be enforced during the entire break.

Peace Corps to visit campus later in month

The Peace Corps will have information tables on the UI campus March 23-24. These tables will be on the first floor of the Forestry Building from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The Peace Corps will also be making presentations these days as well. "The Peace Corps Experience" will be March 23 from 12:30-1:30 p.m. in Forestry Room 14 and March 24 from noon to 1 p.m. in Agricultural Science Building 62. "An Evening with Returned Volunteers" will be March 24 from 7-9 p.m. in the SUB Ballroom.

The Peace Corps will then inter-view interested people for Fall/Winter 1994 openings April 6. To schedule a time, call Jonathan at 1-800-426-1022. Completed applications can be brought to the interview.

Turf establishment class offered Mar. 23

The UI Enrichment Program is offering "Turf Establishment and Maintenance" March 23 from 6-8 p.m. Call the Enrichment Program at 885-6486 for more information.

Argonaut's March 8 TRIO story corrected

Due to misinformation, the students identified in the TRIO story in the March 8 edition of the Argonaut were misidentified. The students recognized for their achievements are part of the TRIO program which deals with students who are disadvantaged or disabled. The TRIO program also deals with general students who may need assistance with their classes or in solving problems that may arise.

Disadvantaged students are those who are: first generation college students, low-income students or students who have been under-prepared for college. Disabled students are those who have disabilities.

The writer apologizes for any problems this may have caused to the students involved in the story.
Einerson energizes School of Communications

Danielle Murray
Contributing Writer

The UI School of Communication further rounded its faculty staff last semester with the addition of Dr. Marthe Einerson.

Einerson came to the UI campus from the University of Kentucky, where she received her Ph.D. in communication with emphases in interpersonal communications and feminist theory.

Einerson was quite determined to live and work in the Pacific Northwest when she finished her schooling, "I really applied to schools in the Northwest," said Einerson. "I really like the area."

As for the UI Einerson said, "I was a good match for the position available."

Although Einerson is generally pleased with the UI and the School of Communication, she is somewhat concerned certain programs are not being offered. "The core curriculum in the School of Communication needs to include gender in communication as a required course," said Einerson.

Einerson also feels a graduate program in communication is essential to the school’s growth. This growth would help students who would like to stay at the UI to do their graduate studies rather than transferring to another university.

As for the university in general, Einerson would like to see a women's studies program implemented. Because one of her Ph.D. emphases being in feminist theory, Einerson would be pleased to see a program offered at the UI. Einerson is teaching Qualitative Research Methods, Principles of Public Relations and Public Speaking this semester. She is also advising students in various areas of communications.

---

Making The World Safe For Foxholes.

Protecting the environment is an important part of the Army National Guard’s peacetime mission. We’re actively involved in recycling. The Guard has planted over 50,000 trees to replace those that have died in fires and storms. We’ve even reclaimed contaminated areas on our own property where waste was disposed of decades ago. As a result we all share a cleaner environment where wildlife can flourish once again.

The National Guard works at home in peacetime and overseas in war. 77,000 Guard members were called to active duty during Operations Desert Storm, Atlantic, and Allied Force in the Gulf. Of all U.S. combat troops, the National Guard represents more than half.

You’ll find us where we’re needed. Evacuating families during floods and hurricanes, aiding the DEA and FBI in the war on drugs, or fighting for freedom in the desert. You’ll even find us in your hometown making the USA a better place to live for you and me and our children.

---

You'll Love

The Hula Wannabe!

Sm 12" $5.99
Med 14" $6.99
Lg 16" $7.99

Double Duo!

Enjoy two 12" 1-topping pizzas and four 22-oz. drinks for only

$15.49

Large Value!

Enjoy a large 16" one-topping pizza and one 22-oz. drink for only

$6.99

9 to Close Special!

From 9pm to close get a medium 14" one-topping pizza and one 22-oz. drink for only

$5.99

Just for One!

Enjoy a small 12" one-topping pizza and one 22-oz. drink for only

$4.99

Pizza Pipeline

"What a fine tune for the Pipeline!"

---

News

---

---
Spring Break Warning: Avoid Foreign Drug Problems

Editor's Note: This information was submitted by the U.S. Department of State—Bureau of Consular Affairs.

In 1993, over 2,500 American citizens and residents were treated for drug-related problems, and almost 1,000 if those arrested were not treated. With the upcoming spring break, students are encouraged to think twice before trying drugs while traveling abroad.

The State Department urges students to travel abroad during their spring and summer breaks. Some students have been planning a trip all year. Perhaps some students have been thinking about drugs, and packing necessary items like a toothbrush, sunscreen and sunglasses.

The State Department hopes students think twice before packing something that will not only destroy their entire trip, but could ruin their lives.

The global war on drugs is bearing down on the student population. It is a war that is being hotly pursued by many countries to stop the flow of illegal narcotics. If students think that there is no real danger in buying or carrying just a small amount of drugs on their overseas trip, they might be in for a nasty surprise.

Students have been arrested for possessing as little as a third of an ounce of marijuana.

Students might assume that, as an American citizen, one is immune from prosecution under foreign laws and the U.S. Constitution. Nowhere is this more obvious than in the traveling student.

Students who say, "I'm an American citizen. I can do what I want.," are under a willful illusion. Americans have been arrested for possessing as little as a third of an ounce of marijuana.

Students might assume that, as an American citizen, one is immune from prosecution under foreign laws and the U.S. Constitution. Nowhere is this more obvious than in the traveling student.

Students who say, "I'm an American citizen. I can do what I want.," are under a willful illusion. Americans have been arrested for possessing as little as a third of an ounce of marijuana.

Students might assume that, as an American citizen, one is immune from prosecution under foreign laws and the U.S. Constitution. Nowhere is this more obvious than in the traveling student.

Students who say, "I'm an American citizen. I can do what I want.," are under a willful illusion. Americans have been arrested for possessing as little as a third of an ounce of marijuana.

Students might assume that, as an American citizen, one is immune from prosecution under foreign laws and the U.S. Constitution. Nowhere is this more obvious than in the traveling student.

Students who say, "I'm an American citizen. I can do what I want.," are under a willful illusion. Americans have been arrested for possessing as little as a third of an ounce of marijuana.

Students might assume that, as an American citizen, one is immune from prosecution under foreign laws and the U.S. Constitution. Nowhere is this more obvious than in the traveling student.

Students who say, "I'm an American citizen. I can do what I want.," are under a willful illusion. Americans have been arrested for possessing as little as a third of an ounce of marijuana.

Students might assume that, as an American citizen, one is immune from prosecution under foreign laws and the U.S. Constitution. Nowhere is this more obvious than in the traveling student.

Students who say, "I'm an American citizen. I can do what I want.," are under a willful illusion. Americans have been arrested for possessing as little as a third of an ounce of marijuana.

Students might assume that, as an American citizen, one is immune from prosecution under foreign laws and the U.S. Constitution. Nowhere is this more obvious than in the traveling student.

Students who say, "I'm an American citizen. I can do what I want.," are under a willful illusion. Americans have been arrested for possessing as little as a third of an ounce of marijuana.

Students might assume that, as an American citizen, one is immune from prosecution under foreign laws and the U.S. Constitution. Nowhere is this more obvious than in the traveling student.

Students who say, "I'm an American citizen. I can do what I want.," are under a willful illusion. Americans have been arrested for possessing as little as a third of an ounce of marijuana.

Students might assume that, as an American citizen, one is immune from prosecution under foreign laws and the U.S. Constitution. Nowhere is this more obvious than in the traveling student.

Students who say, "I'm an American citizen. I can do what I want.," are under a willful illusion. Americans have been arrested for possessing as little as a third of an ounce of marijuana.

Students might assume that, as an American citizen, one is immune from prosecution under foreign laws and the U.S. Constitution. Nowhere is this more obvious than in the traveling student.

Students who say, "I'm an American citizen. I can do what I want.," are under a willful illusion. Americans have been arrested for possessing as little as a third of an ounce of marijuana.

Students might assume that, as an American citizen, one is immune from prosecution under foreign laws and the U.S. Constitution. Nowhere is this more obvious than in the traveling student.

Students who say, "I'm an American citizen. I can do what I want.," are under a willful illusion. Americans have been arrested for possessing as little as a third of an ounce of marijuana.

Students might assume that, as an American citizen, one is immune from prosecution under foreign laws and the U.S. Constitution. Nowhere is this more obvious than in the traveling student.

Students who say, "I'm an American citizen. I can do what I want.," are under a willful illusion. Americans have been arrested for possessing as little as a third of an ounce of marijuana.

Students might assume that, as an American citizen, one is immune from prosecution under foreign laws and the U.S. Constitution. Nowhere is this more obvious than in the traveling student.

Students who say, "I'm an American citizen. I can do what I want.," are under a willful illusion. Americans have been arrested for possessing as little as a third of an ounce of marijuana.

Students might assume that, as an American citizen, one is immune from prosecution under foreign laws and the U.S. Constitution. Nowhere is this more obvious than in the traveling student.

Students who say, "I'm an American citizen. I can do what I want.," are under a willful illusion. Americans have been arrested for possessing as little as a third of an ounce of marijuana.

Students might assume that, as an American citizen, one is immune from prosecution under foreign laws and the U.S. Constitution. Nowhere is this more obvious than in the traveling student.

Students who say, "I'm an American citizen. I can do what I want.," are under a willful illusion. Americans have been arrested for possessing as little as a third of an ounce of marijuana.

Students might assume that, as an American citizen, one is immune from prosecution under foreign laws and the U.S. Constitution. Nowhere is this more obvious than in the traveling student.

Students who say, "I'm an American citizen. I can do what I want.," are under a willful illusion. Americans have been arrested for possessing as little as a third of an ounce of marijuana.

Students might assume that, as an American citizen, one is immune from prosecution under foreign laws and the U.S. Constitution. Nowhere is this more obvious than in the traveling student.

Students who say, "I'm an American citizen. I can do what I want.," are under a willful illusion. Americans have been arrested for possessing as little as a third of an ounce of marijuana.

Students might assume that, as an American citizen, one is immune from prosecution under foreign laws and the U.S. Constitution. Nowhere is this more obvious than in the traveling student.

Students who say, "I'm an American citizen. I can do what I want.," are under a willful illusion. Americans have been arrested for possessing as little as a third of an ounce of marijuana.

Students might assume that, as an American citizen, one is immune from prosecution under foreign laws and the U.S. Constitution. Nowhere is this more obvious than in the traveling student.

Students who say, "I'm an American citizen. I can do what I want.," are under a willful illusion. Americans have been arrested for possessing as little as a third of an ounce of marijuana.

Students might assume that, as an American citizen, one is immune from prosecution under foreign laws and the U.S. Constitution. Nowhere is this more obvious than in the traveling student.

Students who say, "I'm an American citizen. I can do what I want.," are under a willful illusion. Americans have been arrested for possessing as little as a third of an ounce of marijuana.

Students might assume that, as an American citizen, one is immune from prosecution under foreign laws and the U.S. Constitution. Nowhere is this more obvious than in the traveling student.

Students who say, "I'm an American citizen. I can do what I want.," are under a willful illusion. Americans have been arrested for possessing as little as a third of an ounce of marijuana.

Students might assume that, as an American citizen, one is immune from prosecution under foreign laws and the U.S. Constitution. Nowhere is this more obvious than in the traveling student.

Students who say, "I'm an American citizen. I can do what I want.," are under a willful illusion. Americans have been arrested for possessing as little as a third of an ounce of marijuana.
GSA chugging along right track

For years, everybody has known there is a problem with graduate student compensation for teaching and research assistantships, including administrators on the dreaded hill. Now, under the leadership of President Michael Brennan, the Graduate Students Association has put together a catalyst to break the inertia.

And it's about time.

Members of the GSA “Next Stop” ad-hoc committee have put together a solid proposal after a meeting with UI President Elisabeth Zinner. During their initial meeting, Zinner agreed there was a considerable lack in TA/RA compensation, but essentially told GSA representatives to get their act together with a proposal based on hard facts.

They have. The committee’s proposal, if implemented, will help meet a UI policy to offer competitive assistantships, which the university currently does not live up to.

A complete fee waiver is the first component of the GSA proposal, followed by a goal of meeting TA/RA salaries to UI in 1995 on the basis of 1992 data, meaning UI compensation should at least be able to be competitive with other schools’ 1992-compensation by 1995. The complete fee waiver is modeled after many other schools, like Washington State University, where fee waivers are a “given” in all departments.

Other elements included on the proposal are to drop the $65,000 cap on a fund for graduate student scholarships, obtain administrative waivers and assistance for grant writers. However, health benefits in the form of health insurance coupled with fee waivers will likely become part of the proposal during GSA’s next meeting March 28, when GSA representatives will have obtained information from department heads that will back up current data.

Some graduate students were concerned the administration will balk and try to twist statistics that show UI is below the market, so they can meet evil needs hidden in dark corners of the Administration Building. They won’t.

Administrators aren’t evil. In a mess of other duties, however, sometimes some reminding is necessary. The GSA has a full head of steam, everyone knows they’re in the right, and this time they’ll make it to the top of the hill.

—Chris Miller

Invasion of rectangles: Unavoidable Spring Break thrill

I

have a riddle for you. What’s long, rectangular, double-stacked and in a frame? I’ll give you a hint: some are soft, others are hard, but people usually seem to think they are comfortable. Yours is probably duty — but not for long. Returning to it will be like riding a bike if you’ve ridden. You remember, the last time you saw it was the right of 9. Your nose has been to the grindstone ever since.

Now it’s the Eve of St. Spring Break, you will finally see your bed again. It won’t however, be in the best shape. You might not be able to see it under all of your books (or the books under your parents’ office supplies) and the thick layer of dust.

In order to get back into bed, here’s what you need to do: Push everything off your bed and grab a Dust-Butler hand-vac, lay down and pull the mattress out of the rectangle.

Don’t leave the rectangle. Turn off the light. Then you shut your eyes and dream about anything that UI.

No matter where you go or what you do over spring break, some things are unavoidable: You will become reacquainted with your bed, you will fall in love with your mental and/or physically from school as you possibly can and you will be surrounded by rectangles.

Rectangles: OK, maybe rectangles aren’t something you consciously think about and are affected by, but this shape is something you should consider over the break.

A bed is just one of the many rectangles you will encounter. VRBs and Your Center will be devoid of control and a couch. Two common characteristics among these items: 1) Most people will retain their close friendships with these things next week, 2) These things all rectangular. The best part about the above items is they raise your comfort level and distance you from another nasty rectangle — books. No, rectangles are bad. Over the next week, however, novels of your choice should be the only reading you worry about. You don’t have to hit me over the head, though.

I just had this nightmare that my health care was being rationed by faceless bureaucrats.

—Cyndi Tang, UI insurance co-op member

Whiting necessary component

You can’t please all of the people all of the time, and there’s always going to be that portion of the population who is always experiencing unrest and upheaval. ASUI President John Marble and ASUI senators are experiencing social unrest currently concerning the recent actions of ASUI Student Lobbyist Dan Whiting. Most senators are embarking on their first tumultuous year in the legislature and students leaders should tread lightly and intelligently.

Wednesday, the Senate went into executive session for almost two hours, making a long meeting in the middle of the weekend. Upon returning to the meeting, the senators compiled a list of questions to ask Whiting about his daily activities while in Boise. His responses were to be logged by 5 p.m. at the last meeting.

The Senate will hold a teleconference with Whiting Friday concerning his answers to the Senate questions. The regular meeting Wednesday was not attended, it was held over and will be reconvened to continue discussions with Whiting.

Now that the current senators, President and Vice President think Whiting is a necessary advocate during the current legislative session at the Idaho Legislature. There is a multitude of unfulfilled issues and Whiting, although he may have overstepped his bounds on one issue, is the ASUI’s only voice to the legislators.

Facts need to be fixed, we can’t start over now. It is the middle of March, the middle of the legislative session and the UI budget of $127.2 million has only passed through the Joint Financial and Appropriations Committee. Many other pieces of business are currently unfinished — the open meeting law and advance payment of fees, among others, have not come to a vote yet.

There are a lot of issues we need a representative in Boise to speak out on. At this crucial time in the legislative session, it would be a great loss to leave Whiting from this office and leave the ASUI with-

—Kat Lyons-Hoistie

Commentary

Jennifer McFarland

For years, everything has been stacked on your head. It’s a hassle to deal with, and it’s hard to have a clear focus on what you’re doing. It’s like trying to read a book while someone is constantly shoving a rectangle in your face.

But now, the tables have turned. You are the one who is controlling the rectangle, not the other way around. It’s time to take control of your life and shape it to fit your needs.

Of course, it’s not going to be easy. You’ll have to work at it, and you’ll probably have some setbacks along the way. But in the end, it will be worth it. You’ll be able to see the world in a whole new way, and you’ll be able to control your own destiny.

So the next time you see a rectangle, don’t just try to get rid of it. Take control of it. Make it work for you. You can do it. I believe in you.
Letters to the Editor

Student lobbyist hypocrite

It is pitifully obvious Daniel Whiting is not only confused as to the role of an ASU lobbyist, which is to lobby on behalf of the student body and not to conspire against programs that benefit the university, but he is a hypocrite as well. Whiting believes the Women's Center has gone "beyond their legitimate mission," but he does not hesitate to go well beyond his.

Although he denies he used students' time or resources, he can hardly deny he would not be in Boise, lobbying for programs that benefit any woman. Having used the Women's Center, although Whiting has a problem with the idea of the Women's Center holding a "private political agenda," he has no problem with using his status and contacts to wage his own personal crusade against the Women's Center.

One has to wonder if it is the advocacy of the Women's Center that really bothers him, or if it is the issues which they choose to advocate. If they supported issues close to Mr. Whiting's heart, Whiting wouldn't have fought to terminate their funding or to restrict their freedom of speech.

I will agree with one of Whiting's comments, he definitely was not representing the ASUI on this issue. His campaign against what he has called "flaming liberal political agenda" is completely out of touch with the majority of the student body. I would like to remind Mr. Whiting that at least 30 percent of the student body he works for are women.

He seemed to have forgotten this in his selfish pursuit of his own personal interest.

--Sarah Smith

Whiting abuses lobbyist position

Daniel Whiting abused his position as a lobbyist representing the student government of this university when he made inappropriate comments to the Idaho legislative budget committee last week.

In a letter addressed to the budget committee members, Whiting said the UI Women's Center receives an annual budget that is used to finance their "agenda 'strictly on the left side of the political spectrum.' " Whiting's comments to our predominantly conservative state legislature in Boise may have jeopardized any hopes of the legislature funding higher education above governor Andrus' $100 million budget recommendation.

Whiting's excuse that he was not acting in his official capacity as UI's student government lobbyist at the time of his comment to the budget committee is no excuse for his behavior. The fact is, Mr. Whiting is a lobbyist for the student government at the UI, and his remarks to the budget committee, whether deemed to be on his "own time" or not, were potentially damaging to the university as a whole. Does it make sense to have a lobbyist supposedly work for the best interests of our university under the official capacity of his position on the one hand, and then lobby against us on his "own time"?

I hope our elected student government leaders will take quick action to insure Daniel Whiting will not provide any more of his "assistance" in the form of his lobbying "expertise" in the near future.

With friends like Daniel Whiting lobbying for us, do we need enemies?

--Doug Sandstrom

Cookies flipping, 'quake coming

Something is getting ready to happen quakewise. And it's getting intense. I'm getting feedback from Texas on up.

People are really "flipping" their cookies. I cannot believe the anger I'm seeing in people. Tastes like something for "those their food."

I am getting report after report of minor quakes everywhere. When I did an article for the "Tribune" a woman called from Grangeville to say no birds had returned to her aviary. It most likely will not hit here, but we will feel the shock. This is in to let people know why so much is "running on empty."

--Charles Brown

Opinion

Letters to the Editor

Student lobbyist hypocrite

It is pitifully obvious Daniel Whiting is not only confused as to the role of an ASU lobbyist, which is to lobby on behalf of the student body and not to conspire against programs that benefit the university, but he is a hypocrite as well. Whiting believes the Women's Center has gone "beyond their legitimate mission," but he does not hesitate to go well beyond his.

Although he denies he used students' time or resources, he can hardly deny he would not be in Boise, lobbying for programs that benefit any woman. Having used the Women's Center, although Whiting has a problem with the idea of the Women's Center holding a "private political agenda," he has no problem with using his status and contacts to wage his own personal crusade against the Women's Center.

One has to wonder if it is the advocacy of the Women's Center that really bothers him, or if it is the issues which they choose to advocate. If they supported issues close to Mr. Whiting's heart, Whiting wouldn't have fought to terminate their funding or to restrict their freedom of speech.

I will agree with one of Whiting's comments, he definitely was not representing the ASUI on this issue. His campaign against what he has called "flaming liberal political agenda" is completely out of touch with the majority of the student body. I would like to remind Mr. Whiting that at least 30 percent of the student body he works for are women.

He seemed to have forgotten this in his selfish pursuit of his own personal interest.

--Sarah Smith

Whiting abuses lobbyist position

Daniel Whiting abused his position as a lobbyist representing the student government of this university when he made inappropriate comments to the Idaho legislative budget committee last week.

In a letter addressed to the budget committee members, Whiting said the UI Women's Center receives an annual budget that is used to finance their "agenda 'strictly on the left side of the political spectrum.' " Whiting's comments to our predominantly conservative state legislature in Boise may have jeopardized any hopes of the legislature funding higher education above governor Andrus' $100 million budget recommendation.

Whiting's excuse that he was not acting in his official capacity as UI's student government lobbyist at the time of his comment to the budget committee is no excuse for his behavior. The fact is, Mr. Whiting is a lobbyist for the student government at the UI, and his remarks to the budget committee, whether deemed to be on his "own time" or not, were potentially damaging to the university as a whole. Does it make sense to have a lobbyist supposedly work for the best interests of our university under the official capacity of his position on the one hand, and then lobby against us on his "own time"?

I hope our elected student government leaders will take quick action to insure Daniel Whiting will not provide any more of his "assistance" in the form of his lobbying "expertise" in the near future.

With friends like Daniel Whiting lobbying for us, do we need enemies?

--Doug Sandstrom

Cookies flipping, 'quake coming

Something is getting ready to happen quakewise. And it's getting intense. I'm getting feedback from Texas on up.

People are really "flipping" their cookies. I cannot believe the anger I'm seeing in people. Tastes like something for "those their food."

I am getting report after report of minor quakes everywhere. When I did an article for the "Tribune" a woman called from Grangeville to say no birds had returned to her aviary. It most likely will not hit here, but we will feel the shock. This is in to let people know why so much is "running on empty."

--Charles Brown

Opinion
Lifestyles

Women not given equal chances

Theresa Ellison
Staff Writer

Wednesday afternoon, Georgia Johnson was the featured speaker at the University Roundtable titled, "Women's Ways of Knowing — Feminist Theory." A professor of English at the U, Johnson is an informative and entertaining speaker who related many informative anecdotes.

"Feminists tend to tell stories rather than cite data," said Johnson.

She began her presentation by explaining some different feminist theories and the manner they are being implemented into the education of teachers. While the roundtable focused on feminism, it also addressed some other issues related to equality. Unfair treatment of female students, different cultural interpretations and phenomenon such as "teacher voice" were some subjects Johnson covered.

"Teacher voice" (the tone demonstrated by Johnson in the high-pitched, condescending, white, all-powerful from school days) is one example of how multi-cultural affects predominant teaching methods, which are based on white culture. Johnson explained that a teacher, using her "teacher voice," may say something like "Why don't we all take out our crayons now?" "A white child will probably take out their crayons." Johnson explained. "A black child probably wouldn't take her seriously, and a Native American might think, 'Well she's not taking out her crayons so why should I'"?

When she opened the floor to questions, Johnson's discussion began to diverge into topics such as all-girl schools and the lack of medical research into topics concerning women. Johnson referred to the fact a recent space-wide study of aspirin and its effects involved NO women as participants. The research was conducted entirely on men, yet "the results were generalized to the whole species," said Johnson.

SEE THEORY PAGE 9

---

Land of all hot water, hot time

David Lewis
Staff Writer

If winter is here, can spring be far behind? To Idaho the answer is a loud and reassuring, YES! Between the start of semester and spring break seems a long time; however, we must not dwell on the negative.

The long weeks before spring break have been put to good use. Studying and writing term papers has served quite well to pass the time.

Another use of the long weeks of winter has been planning what to do during spring break. A fun and affordable destination is more important to most students. It shouldn't be a shock that not all students book flights to Florida or Palm Springs for spring break. Neither do they stay at Grease Gloves on Schweitzer mountain, spending their days skiing and enjoying long evenings doing the lodge thing. Take heart, fellow pons, I have good news for you.

If warmth is what you want during spring break, and you don't mind getting wet to have some fun, I've got a vacation destination for you. And you won't get "swacked" in the bargain.

Jackson Hot Springs Lodge is a vacation venue with a lot to offer at a price that will not break your spring break budget. The pool at Jackson measures 30 by 75 feet. Water in the pool has a mineral and chemical content comparable to the world's finest spas.

For dancing, there is a spacious hardwood floor in a western style bar and dance hall. A band plays most weekend nights. A pool table, video poker, and a pinball machines keep boredom away when patrons are not in the hot pool.

The food is exemplary. In a dining room seating up to 45, guests can enjoy homemade breads, pies, soups, and nightly specials. Of the 16 cabins, 12 are equipped with fireplaces, stacked up and ready to warm the mood. The price of a reservation is reasonable $45 per couple for a cabin, four stay for $55. One of the four apartments are $52 for up to four people, a charge if $5 per person is made for each additional guest. The apartments have kitchen facilities and can accommodate large families or groups.

Most of the town's buildings are heated by hot water. However, one important commodity that isn't provided at Jackson Hot Springs Lodge is cold water.

Since all water near Jackson is hot when it comes out of the ground, drinking water and even the water to flush the toilet is hot.

Showers can also be a problem. The water temperature though always warm is variable and can be uncomfortable sometimes, therefore there is no cold water to dilute it. Drinking water is refrigerated.

There are two ski resorts within an hour drive from Jackson — so is the historic town of Banff, Mont., the first territorial capital. Another attraction is the Big Hole Battlefield, site of one of the biggest battles of the Nez Perce War of 1877. Jackson Hole is located in the "Valley of 10,000 hay stacks." So named because the area farmers did use the hay loose.

The literally thousands of hay stacks near Jackson look like huge loaves of bread. If you and Jackson Hot Springs Lodge, don't forget to drive over to the Beartooth Highway in the Bear River Mountains. You will never forget the experience. To reach Jackson, Mont., take highway 12 east from Lewiston and turn south on highway 200. At Joseph Pass, take highway 43 east to Wisdom, Mont., U.S. Highway take 287 south to Jackson. For reservations call (406) 834-3151.

---

Correction

Billy Bair Band not Third From the Sun

In Tuesday's Argonaut The Billy Bair Band was misidentified as Third From the Sun. Third From the Sun played in the Candel Cafe Saturday evening as part of ASU's Predominent Open Mike Night. The Billy Bair Band played at the Moscow Social Club the same night as part of Moscow's March Celeb eration. The story was a review of the Open Mike Night performers.

---

Skiing

Ski weekend offers post-break break

Red Mountain, Canada: snowy slopes, beautiful lodges, great food. If you are interested in any of these things, the International Students' Ski Weekend is right up your alley.

Sponsored by the Central Washington University Marketing Club, this excursion is planned for March 25-27 and includes two nights and two days of skiing, eating and having fun. Invitations have been extended to international students from the U.S. and the following schools: Western Washington, Eastern Washington, University of Washington, Washington State University and Pacific Lutheran, Evergreen State College, Bellingham Community College, and Spokane Community College have also been invited to the International Students' Ski Weekend.

Red Mountain, Canada, is one and one-half hours north of Spokane. The weekend fee is $110, which covers two nights and two days lodging, a pizza feed Saturday night and two lift tickets.

The fee is due by March 18 and students are encouraged to make sure they have an adequate visa or passport to get across the Canadian border.

Transportation is not provided; but CWU recommends private bus rental. CWU suggests students call Empire Lines, at 1-800-355-1060.

Registration forms and further information is available at Administration Room 211 or by calling 885-6478.

---

The Lion Sleeps Tonight

Tod Bensrud, Tim Helmke, Will Hart, Lloyd Knight, Daniel M. Brown and Mike Itano, members of Alpha Kappa Lambda, eradicate the children at the Child Development Lab in the Home Economics Building last Friday.

---

Friday, March 11, 1994

---

---
Escort service brings safety

Mark McReynolds, Focusing Writer

One in four women reported being a victim of an attempted or completed sexual assault during four years of college.

In a survey of male college students, 51 percent reported they might rape a woman if assured they would not be caught.

These are the kinds of statistics that have compelled the establishment of a Safety Task Force as a Special Committee of the ASIS Senate.

While the goals of the Safety Task Force are not reaching the heart of the committee’s short-term goals is the development of a campus-wide escort service.

“Students are our greatest resource for campus safety,” says ASIS Senator Laura West, “and an escort service is one way the student body can be resources to improve campus safety.”

“Certainly there’s a need for an escort service,” says Greek Advisor Linda Wilson, echoing the universal support for the idea, but noting it is a “large undertaking for a volunteer organization.”

THEORY

“From Page 8 –

“As far as lung-cancer is concerned,” stated one audience member, “a lot of research isn’t done on women because women aren’t seen as smokers. It’s considered a man’s habit. The same thing for heart-attacks — women are not perceived as heart-attack sufferers.”

One of the goals of feminist theories in education is to ensure girls are given the same exposure and opportunity in math and science fields as boys. One audience member pointed out that all-girl math classes at the high school level have produced excellent results.

The audience member, however, haltingly felt good about all-girl or all-boy classes.

“It’s a temporary measure,” responded Johnson. “It’s fracturing. We are bleeding.”

Johnson kept the mood light but the information pertinent and interesting. The presentation was an educational look at women and American education, as well as several other topics.

The next University Roundtable discussion will be April 13, at 12:30, presented by Jennifer Adams and Rick Gill; the title is “Re-Designing Technology to Fit People.”
Guatemalan prisoner speaks

Tristan Trotter
Staff Writer

In October, 1980, Maria Pu’s life as she knew it ended when she discovered that the Guatemalan military had attacked her village, a small community outside of Santa Cruz, brutally murdering her parents, brothers, aunt, uncle and cousins.

A guest of U.S. Army International, María Pu, a Quiche Indian from Guatemala, spoke on Tuesday (International Women’s Day) at the Borah Theater about her experiences as a prisoner of conscience and of the abuses happening in her country.

Pu had been living and working in the big city for economic reasons when she found out about the massacre of her family. She returned to the village briefly, wiped the blood from her family’s home and went back to the city, sunk in depression and near suicide.

Pu worked for four long years in a middle class household, discriminated against and taken advantage of because she could not read or write Spanish. In 1984, when she attempted to reclaim her family’s farm, she was captured by the Civil Patrol who cruelly tortured and forced her to work for them as a spy against her own people.

Pu went on hunger strike, with military orders to check in by telegram twice a month. She knew she had left her little village forever when another branch of the Civil Patrol captured her in the city, wanting her secretly that the military was tracking her, encouraging her to just disappear. At first, Pu sought refuge with friends in the city, but they were afraid of the military and refused to associate with her.

So, in 1985, hurt and scared, she moved to New Mexico to live with her sister. Although life and unhappiness, Pu managed to attend two semesters of school and was turned on to the idea of education. Moving to I.A. in 1988, she joined an organization that assisted South American refugees and became affiliated with Amnesty International. This work solidified her desire to educate the world on the atrocities occurring in her own country and others like it.

“There are human rights violations going on everywhere because of the system,” she said. “The authorities don’t think about the people — they just want to become richer.”

Pu spoke on the atrocious treatment of women in her country. “Men don’t value the work of women. They say they are just lazy,” she said, even though the women labor on the farm, raise the children and serve the men constantly. Pu’s sister was beaten to death by her husband — an unpun-ished offense in Guatemala.

Maria Pu is working and going to school full time. “No one’s going to do it for me,” she said.

She is currently seeking political asylum, and hopes to return to her village someday to teach her people so they can claim more of a place in society and better defend themselves.

For more information about Amnesty International and its missions call 1-800-AMNITTY.
Calendar

Mar. 22
Introduction to Rock Climbing:
UI Adventure Center
Climbing Wall.
1-10 p.m. Cost: $10.

Mar. 23
Introduction to Kayaking:
Pool Session. Sign up in OP Office.
Cost: $10.

Mar. 30
Open Kayak Pool Session:
UI Swim Center, 7-9:30 p.m.
Cost: $1 at pool.
Best of Banff Mountain Film Festival.
WSU CUB Auditorium, 7 p.m.

Mar. 31
Basic Rock Climbing I.
Class session: 7-9 p.m.
Trip Apr. 2 or 3. Cost $15.

April 5
Introduction to Rock Climbing:
UI Adventure Center Climbing Wall.
7-10 p.m. Cost: $10.

April 6
Basic Rock Climbing II.
Class session: 7-9 p.m.
Trip Apr. 9. Cost: $15.

April 9
Introduction to Kayaking:
Pool Session. Sign up in OP Office.
Cost: $10.

April 9-10
Instructional Kayak Trip (class session for trip) Cost: $35.

Note: (OP) means Outdoor Programs. Sign-ups for trips and classes begin two weeks prior to listed date. Fees are due at sign-up. Pre-trip meetings are held in the Outdoor Programs office in the SUB Underground. Information sheets are available for each activity. Call 885-4816 for more information.

Ski Report 882-SNOW
Courtesy ZFUN-106
12 p.m. Thursday

All areas report machine groomed runs and firm packed snow.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Place</th>
<th>New</th>
<th>Packed</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Schweitzer</td>
<td>0°</td>
<td>55°</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Silver</td>
<td>0°</td>
<td>77°</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Brundage</td>
<td>0°</td>
<td>68°</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bluewood</td>
<td>0°</td>
<td>81°</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Forestry graduate uses incubator

Timberland Recovery, a forestry consulting firm, recently moved into the North Central Idaho Business Technology Incubator. It hopes to help the landowner through forest stewardship programs. It has worked on timber stands as small as two acres and as large as 2200 acres. Owner, Cliff Todd, said the company doesn't care how big or small the stand is, they will offer services from investment analysis to environmental impact studies to harvesting services.

Timberland Recovery offers seedling-to-stump forestry service

Wildlife refuges conserve rare animals

P.J. Butterfield
Contributing Writer

Covering 91.5 million acres, the National Wildlife Refuge System is present within every state in the nation. Administered by the United States Fish and Wildlife Service, the system is frequently integrated with wildlife areas.

The March 3 seminar, hosted by the UI Wilderness Research Center and College of Forestry, Wildlife and Range Sciences, outlined the history, purpose and challenges facing the NWRS. The presentation was given Bill Refall, a former chief of the United States Fish and Wildlife Service and active supporter and advocate of promoting NWRS.

The costs of the NWRS date back to its establishment in 1903 with the preservation of Pelican Island in Florida.

More recent history includes the preservation of 75 million acres of land in Alaska. The remaining 15.5 million acres are distributed over the other 49 states and six U.S. territorial areas. Additional acreage for preservation under the system continues to be recommended.
Two essential ing edibles for a perfect date:

A date and this.

Its everywhere you want to be.
The 1994 Idaho Sports Banquet in honor of top Idaho athletes is scheduled for March 23 at the Cour d' Alene Resort. There will be a social hour beginning at 6 p.m. with dinner following at 7:30 p.m. Tickets can be purchased at Les Schwab and the Smoke Shop at the University Inn-Western in Moscow. Tickets cost $20 for adults and $7 for children.

Tonight's BSC game live on PSN
Idaho's men's basketball team will be broadcast live in action at the Big Sky Conference West One Bank Tournament. Idaho defeated Montana 64-61 last night and will meet Idaho State tonight. The game will be broadcast live on PrimeSports Northwest. Time to be announced. Tickets for the tournament are available at the Idaho Ticket Office. For more information call (208) 885-6466.

Lightfoot, Watson named to team
Idaho senior standouts Orlando Lightfoot and Don Watson were named to the Big Sky Conference All-Conference team this week. The two played in the final game of the season, along with three other seniors, on the Kobe Dome court to say good-bye to the crowd. Lightfoot and Watson emerged as leaders on a team which almost split apart when current head coach Joe Cravens was named to his position.

Track team in action over Break
The men's and women's outdoor track and field teams will be on the road during Spring Break. Both teams will compete in the Vasa Invitational and Decathalon competition in Tucson, Ariz. Thursday.

Men survive first round in Boise
Neutral court doesn't disqualify Vandals from claiming victory
Matthew Andrew
Staff Writer
When something is on the line it is important to make sure it doesn't fall off.

Last night in the Boise State University Pavilion Orlando Lightfoot, Don Watson and Frank Waters made sure it was not their basketball careers on the line. On a neutral court, the No. 3 seeded Vandals took on the NO. 6 seeded Grizzlies of Montana, where only one team would be left standing — Idaho.

The Vandals defeated the University of Montana for the third time this season 74-63. That wasn't all that went down in history. Lightfoot — yes, he did it again — broke another record when his third 3-pointer went in. For the season, he has 165 3-point baskets to break the old Big Sky Conference record mark of 164 by Justin Pasta of Eastern Washington.

He is also still adding points to the league scoring record which stands currently, it will be 378 points, tonight's game, at 2,077 points.

Lightfoot became the second player in Big Sky Conference history to be named the Most Valuable Player twice. He joins Larry Krystkowiak of Montana. Lightfoot and Idaho State's Zain Porter were the only two unanimous choices for the BSC first team.

After Orlando leaves, Patris will become the new ball carrier for the Vandals. The Vandals have only trailed three times the entire game. They gained the tie at 10-10 off a Lightfoot 6-foot jumper, he then went from 15-10 and then dunked the ball to put the Gators by down four.

For the first half, the Vandals could do nothing, except hit their shots and watch the lead grow, spread and blossom. The Gators' largest lead came with 25 seconds left at 17 — off a Lightfoot layup. However, in these last ticks, UM managed to get four points back to draw the half to a close at 38-35.

Mark Leslie nailed 10 of his 11 points in the first half. Lightfoot had nailed 12. And Todd Spoke from the bench put up six.

The Vandals as a team were unstoppable. They shot an impressive .519 field goal percentage, made four of nine from behind the arc and had three steals.

The second half proved to be more difficult, however.

Linehan leaving for UW coaching position
Lance Gravelly
Contributing Writer
With no senior quarterback, this year's tailgaters have been left with the realization that the Vandals will not be in the running for the BSC Championship in 1987.

Last week, Linehan, a former Idaho quarterback, resigned his position as offensive coordinator and quarterback coach and was named UW's new wide receiver coach.

There, he will join with former UW coach Dick Tomey, presently the team's defensive coordinator, and Bill Dirdick, former UW and WSU assistant coach who was named to his seventh offensive coordinating job, helping rebuild a team that has suffered dramatically since winning the national champi

You always hate to see somebody go, but that's kind of the nature where we are at.

— John L. Smith
Head Football Coach

on April 5 and the new starting quarterback yet to be named.

Smith and the other coaches will have little time to find both a qualified offensive coordinator and quarterback coach. So far, Smith has interviewed three candidates.

Marty Miertheis, a former Montana quarterback who coached at Missouri, Greg Olsen, Central Washington's offensive coordinator and Rod Pflugrad, the quarterback and wide receiver coach at Montana. When asked what type of coordinator the team is looking for, Smith listed two characteristics.

"We are looking for somebody, number one, the best quarterback coach we can find," Smith said. "And from there, the easiest candidate for us. For instance, if they are acquainted with our system and those things then it is what we would like to have. So if easier, fit the better," said Smith. But it will be difficult to replace Linehan, who due to the school go back over 12 years. As a quarterback from 1982 to 1986, the Sunnyside, Wash., native helped his team win the BSC Championship in 1985.

After graduation, he spent two seasons as part-time assistant coach for the Vandals. While his next two years as the quarterback coach and assistant for Nevada-Las Vegas Running Rebels were less than satisfying, his last two years spent back at Idaho more than made up for it.

His new position in the footsteps of not only Tomney and Dirdick, but also Keith Gilbertson, who resigned as Idaho head coach in 1989 after coaching the Vandals to the BSC Championship in 1987 and 1988 to take over the offensive coordinator position under then UW head coach Don James.
Golf play in Portland invitational

Amy White
Staff Writer

As the weather begins to clear up, golfers are readying for the spring season.

The golf course at the UI opened three weeks ago and men’s and women’s teams have been utilizing it for valuable practice time. Our campus is considered lucky — UI is the only Big Sky Conference school with its own 18-hole golf facility.

This weekend the men will be traveling to Portland, Ore., to play in the Portland Pilot Invitational at the University of Portland. There will be 11 schools at this tournament.

The women have a dual match with Gonzaga on March 21 here. Last fall, Idaho hosted the Big Sky Conference Tournament. Idaho came in fourth in men’s competition and Weber State took their 10th championship crown. In the women’s competition, Boise State took the top spot, and Idaho came in fourth.

Both the men’s and women’s teams opened the 1994 spring season with tournaments in California. The men were at Cal State and women at University of California, Santa Barbara.

The women’s golf team is new to UI, this is only the second year a women’s team has existed here. There are currently 10 women on the roster. Head coach Don Bails will be looking to senior Susan Bentsen to be the No. 1 player. Marci Bernhardt will most likely be in the No. 2 position and be a freshman. At No. 3 will be sophomore Tracy Marfat, No. 4 will be taken by junior Kathryn Cassens and Nos. 5 and 6 will be between fresman Natasha Spade and Tina Davis. The women unfortunately are missing a top player, Jennifer Touch. Touch hurt her back earlier and will not be playing this spring. She was also an ISC All-Conference team member.

Bails added, “they are a new team, we are just beginning to develop them, there will be a lot of improvement in the next three years.”

He believes they will end up placing in the middle of the conference at the end of the season. As for the men, UI has had a team for several years. This year they have 11 players filling on the roster.

Bails will be looking to seniors Craig Scotts, of Kalispell, Mont., and Brent Bunn, from Pendleton, Ore., to lead the solid group of returning players. Following behind them at the notting No. 3, 4 and 5 positions will be John Twining, Jason Hicks, Chris Blyaye. At No. 6 will be J.T. Jones.

“She (Scots) probably do well in spring tournaments as he has had a great deal of improvement in the last 3 years,” Bails said.

The UI team has a slight disadvantage to many of their district opponents. It is impossible for the Vandal team to practice all year long, due to weather conditions. For an overall look on both the teams, Bails said, “we are working on building the roster and schedule so we can be more competitive.”

Harris misses batting cycle at plate by a homer

BridgeLux
Staff Writer

University of Idaho club baseball team barely defeated the competition this past weekend squeaking by Eastern Washington 9-8 and then shutting out Montana State 7-0.

The weekend was originally meant to be a three-team tournament. Idaho defeated MSU and EWU, MSU defeated EWU; therefore, Idaho should have played MSU again. MSU left early Sunday, however, and Idaho played EWU again, which had several players we would already left. Officially, the game was forfeited but Idaho claimed a 2-1 victory in the practice game.

“We were going to play Eastern after that regardless, because Montana State needed to go home,” said Daryl Reisner.

John Harris went 3-for-4 from the plate for Idaho, now 5-1 on the season during the game against Eastern Saturday. He recorded a single, double and triple.

“He missed the cycle by a home run,” Reisner said.

“It was a great game to play in. We were ahead by two runs going into the bottom half, they scored a run and loaded the bases with two outs. Mike (Colin) went 2-0 on the guy and he popped out to me,” said Reisner.

Against MSU, Matt Salove pitched seven innings and struck out 12 batters.

“He only pitched two more than the minimum, he only gave up one hit in the fifth inning,” Reisner said. “His curve ball was beautiful that pitch. He only threw 65 pitches.”

During the second game, EWU pitcher Shene Bird struck out 14 batters.

Eric Connor, the guy we picked up late in the year, threw really well, but didn’t get any help defensively,” Reisner said. “After it was decided it wasn’t a real game we just weren’t into it, we had errors in the double digital.”

The team plays Western Washington in Bellingham, Wash., Saturday and Sunday with double headers each day beginning at noon. Tuesday they travel to Tacoma, Wash., to play a double header at Pierce Community College. Finally, they return to Moscow for the first home game of the season March 18 at 4 p.m. They face EWU on Gay Wicks Field.

TOURNEY

FROM PAGE 13

er. They opened with the same five they always do, but more players came in from the bench.

Between the three of them, they accounted for 13 of the team’s 15 points on a five minute run that cut the Vandal’s lead to four. Idaho could only muster seven points.

Things looked up for Idaho when they went in the crowd that is know for scoring points. There was a minor lapse when Lightfoot sunk a 3-pointer and returned downcourt to try for two from the charity stripe. He missed the first and then kicked the ball which drew the technical foul as well as many “boo’s.”

“Our key players made the big shots. Todd Spikes came off the bench and played well. They (Montana) did a great job of getting the ball low,” Cravens said. Montana coach Blaine Taylor blamed at least part of the game on the “luckiest of circumstances.”

Being on a neutral court, he said, affected both teams as neither were given home court advantage.

Idaho plays Idaho State tomorrow after Montana State and Boise State meet.

“We have to play with the same type of focus,” Cravens said. Cravens realizes there is a challenge that lies ahead of the team as well as himself after last week’s game.

“We didn’t play really well against them. We had to play three overtime periods to beat them the first time,” Cravens said.
CLOSE TO HOME

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>JOHN MCPHERSON</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>March 11, 1994</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

CLOSE TO HOME

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>JOHN MCPHERSON</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>March 11, 1994</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The new converging conference room walls helped to keep meetings from dragging on indefinitely.

---

SPREAD YOUR FAITH

A RELIGIOUS DIRECTORY

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Church</th>
<th>Location</th>
<th>Services</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Unitarian Universalist Church of the Palouse</td>
<td>420 E. 2nd St. (Corner of Van Buren) Moscow</td>
<td>Sunday Services: 10:00 AM</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Divine Savior Lutheran Church – WELS</td>
<td>Sunday School &amp; Bible Study 10:15 AM NE 620 Stadium Way Pullman, WA Rev. James Humann 332-1542 (Office) 332-5616 (Home)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ST. AUGUSTINE'S Catholic Church &amp; Student Center</td>
<td>Sunday Masses: 8:30 &amp; 10:30 AM Daily Masses at 12:30 in Chapel Reconciliation - Mon. &amp; Tues 4:30 - 6:00 PM 628 Deakin (Across from Idaho Union)</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>First Presbyterian Church</td>
<td>405 S. Van Buren (across from the courthouse) Church School Classes For All Ages at 9 AM Sunday Worship – 10:30 AM Wolf Miller – Interim Pastor Rob Rackert – Assoc. Pastor 882-4122</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Trinity Baptist Church (SBC)</td>
<td>A warm, caring church with a relevant, Biblical focus Tom Robertson, Pastor 4th &amp; Antoinette • Office: 882-4815 Sunday Worship: 8:15 &amp; 10:45 AM &amp; 6:00 PM Sunday School: 9:30 AM for a safe, clean, fun at Thompson Tower at 6:30 AM at call/church office. Wednesday Prayer Service: 7 PM Team: Team Services Baptist Student Ministries Priority One • Tuesdays 8:00 PM at the Campus Christian Center</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The Rock Church

A Spirit-filled, interdenominational, Bible-centered, Eucharistic Church and Campus Ministry. Services: Thursday at 7:00 PM Sundays at 10:30 AM Friday 7 PM Rock Student Fellowship Del Richardson, Pastor W. 219 Third Behind P&K Athletics

Concordia Lutheran Church Mo Syn

NE 1015 Orchard Dr Pullman • 332-2830 Directly west of the Collisone Morning Worship & 10:10 AM Bible Study & Sunday School 8:15 AM Student Fellowships 7:00 PM Rev. Dudley Nolting 833-7137

Believers Fellowship

A Spirit Filled Church 531 S. Main

Christian Life Center of the Assemblies of God

Touching Hearts with New Life CHI ALPHA Class 9:30 AM Sunday at the Moscow Grange Sunday Worship 10:30 AM & 6:00 PM Pastor Pamela Beard 882-4477 For more information contact Pastor James Patterson 882-4181

Emmanuel Lutheran Church

1036 W. A St. • Moscow 883-3915 Pastor: Gordon L. Braun Campus Minister; Kim Williams Worship... & 10:30 AM Sunday School...9:15 AM For Van Ride Call 882-3915 by 9 AM

Seventh Day Adventist Church

Sponsor or KCTS 95.3 FM 1015 West C St. Moscow Saturday Services Sabbath School 10:50 AM Worship 9:30 AM Friday AFC University Student Fellowship 6:30 PM For more information call 882-8538 24hrs

Grace Baptist Church

Sunday College and Career Study 9:30 AM Worship Hour 9:45 AM Family Hour 6:00 PM Wednesday Prayer – 7 PM AWANA 6:30, 8:00 Youth Ministry 233 E. 6th St. Moscow

Christian Science Church

• Student Meetings: 5:00 PM Campus Christian Center • Church Services: Sunday 10:30 AM & Wednesdays at 7:30 PM 3rd & Mview • Christian Science Reading Room M-F 12PM - 4PM 518 S. Main 882-8048

Living Faith Fellowship Ministry Training Center

Call 883-7794 To Place Your Ad In The Religious Directory
APTS FOR RENT
Available immediately huge 1 bedroom. Large enough for 2 people. $440/mo. Cell 882-4721.

HOUSING WANTED
Need room/apartment for male student from Holland—arriving March 15, 1994. Call 885-6398 or 882-2309 (also over break.)

FOR SALE
Thais Racie for car with nice paint. Basic nick with leaks. $75/OBO. Call Ryan, 883-0413 - leave message.

ROOMMATES
M F roommates needed. Apt close to campus. $175/mo. rent with $40 deposit. Caller 885-4196.

REAL ESTATE

Classifieds
T H E  A R G O N A U T

APTS FOR RENT
Available immediately huge 1 bedroom. Large enough for 2 people. $440/mo. Cell 882-4721.

HOUSING WANTED
Need room/apartment for male student from Holland—arriving March 15, 1994. Call 885-6398 or 882-2309 (also over break.)

FOR SALE
Thais Racie for car with nice paint. Basic nick with leaks. $75/OBO. Call Ryan, 883-0413 - leave message.

ROOMMATES
M F roommates needed. Apt close to campus. $175/mo. rent with $40 deposit. Caller 885-4196.

REAL ESTATE

Classifieds
T H E  A R G O N A U T

APTS FOR RENT
Available immediately huge 1 bedroom. Large enough for 2 people. $440/mo. Cell 882-4721.

HOUSING WANTED
Need room/apartment for male student from Holland—arriving March 15, 1994. Call 885-6398 or 882-2309 (also over break.)

FOR SALE
Thais Racie for car with nice paint. Basic nick with leaks. $75/OBO. Call Ryan, 883-0413 - leave message.

ROOMMATES
M F roommates needed. Apt close to campus. $175/mo. rent with $40 deposit. Caller 885-4196.

REAL ESTATE

Classifieds
T H E  A R G O N A U T

APTS FOR RENT
Available immediately huge 1 bedroom. Large enough for 2 people. $440/mo. Cell 882-4721.

HOUSING WANTED
Need room/apartment for male student from Holland—arriving March 15, 1994. Call 885-6398 or 882-2309 (also over break.)

FOR SALE
Thais Racie for car with nice paint. Basic nick with leaks. $75/OBO. Call Ryan, 883-0413 - leave message.

ROOMMATES
M F roommates needed. Apt close to campus. $175/mo. rent with $40 deposit. Caller 885-4196.

REAL ESTATE

Classifieds
T H E  A R G O N A U T

APTS FOR RENT
Available immediately huge 1 bedroom. Large enough for 2 people. $440/mo. Cell 882-4721.

HOUSING WANTED
Need room/apartment for male student from Holland—arriving March 15, 1994. Call 885-6398 or 882-2309 (also over break.)

FOR SALE
Thais Racie for car with nice paint. Basic nick with leaks. $75/OBO. Call Ryan, 883-0413 - leave message.

ROOMMATES
M F roommates needed. Apt close to campus. $175/mo. rent with $40 deposit. Caller 885-4196.

REAL ESTATE

Classifieds
T H E  A R G O N A U T

APTS FOR RENT
Available immediately huge 1 bedroom. Large enough for 2 people. $440/mo. Cell 882-4721.

HOUSING WANTED
Need room/apartment for male student from Holland—arriving March 15, 1994. Call 885-6398 or 882-2309 (also over break.)

FOR SALE
Thais Racie for car with nice paint. Basic nick with leaks. $75/OBO. Call Ryan, 883-0413 - leave message.

ROOMMATES
M F roommates needed. Apt close to campus. $175/mo. rent with $40 deposit. Caller 885-4196.

REAL ESTATE

Classifieds
T H E  A R G O N A U T

APTS FOR RENT
Available immediately huge 1 bedroom. Large enough for 2 people. $440/mo. Cell 882-4721.

HOUSING WANTED
Need room/apartment for male student from Holland—arriving March 15, 1994. Call 885-6398 or 882-2309 (also over break.)

FOR SALE
Thais Racie for car with nice paint. Basic nick with leaks. $75/OBO. Call Ryan, 883-0413 - leave message.

ROOMMATES
M F roommates needed. Apt close to campus. $175/mo. rent with $40 deposit. Caller 885-4196.

REAL ESTATE

Classifieds
T H E  A R G O N A U T

APTS FOR RENT
Available immediately huge 1 bedroom. Large enough for 2 people. $440/mo. Cell 882-4721.

HOUSING WANTED
Need room/apartment for male student from Holland—arriving March 15, 1994. Call 885-6398 or 882-2309 (also over break.)

FOR SALE
Thais Racie for car with nice paint. Basic nick with leaks. $75/OBO. Call Ryan, 883-0413 - leave message.

ROOMMATES
M F roommates needed. Apt close to campus. $175/mo. rent with $40 deposit. Caller 885-4196.

REAL ESTATE

Classifieds
T H E  A R G O N A U T

APTS FOR RENT
Available immediately huge 1 bedroom. Large enough for 2 people. $440/mo. Cell 882-4721.

HOUSING WANTED
Need room/apartment for male student from Holland—arriving March 15, 1994. Call 885-6398 or 882-2309 (also over break.)

FOR SALE
Thais Racie for car with nice paint. Basic nick with leaks. $75/OBO. Call Ryan, 883-0413 - leave message.

ROOMMATES
M F roommates needed. Apt close to campus. $175/mo. rent with $40 deposit. Caller 885-4196.

REAL ESTATE