4 new senators head to ASUI, 3 easily re-elected

LEAH ANDREWS / ARGONAUT

Six years later, Moscow Police Chief keeps OKC bombing close to heart

The remaining slake of concrete jaggedly stretches like fingers along the ruins of the Alfred E. Murrah Federal Building in Oklahoma City.

Every day Moscow Police Chief David Duke walks past the site, a terrorist attack on his city.

Although the picture represents one of the most disturbing acts of domestic terrorism in American history, the scene is now an affirmation of his commitment to protecting the city.

"It's just a reminder of what I am here for, because that is what happens," said Duke, who was on the Oklahoma City police force for 23 years before moving to Moscow.

"I feel glad I was there to help and I wish we could have

BY LEAH ANDREWS

SIX YEARS LATER, MOSCOW POLICE CHIEF REMEMBERS OKC BOMBING

ARGONAUT

Spring football's final battle is one of backups

BY JENNY PEREZ

ADAM BERRY

The annual Silver and Gold football game represents the class of the Vandals' spring training and one last shot for Erinn Lindgren and Adam Williams, the backup quarterback position.

The two for the second string have been close during the two spring practices. Lindgren, bass end, has said neither one of the quarterbacks can step up and be the first string.

"One day we're here, and the next we're not," Lindgren said.

Over the two scrimmages, Lindgren has completed 26 percent of his passes for 145 yards and one touchdown. He completed 13 of 26 passes. Lindgren, a redshirt freshman, has passed for 132 yards and one touchdown this season. He passed for 132 yards and one touchdown.

"I think they've been a lot of ups and downs," Lindgren said. "We've had some good and some bad.

"But we're looking to keep improving and get better every game.

"I think we've come a long way.

"I think we're looking a lot better than we did last year."
"My racism and my bigotry affected you directly... I apologize and take full responsibility for my actions."

Floyd Cochran

"My racism and my bigotry affected you directly... I apologize and take full responsibility for my actions."

Floyd Cochran

"My racism and my bigotry affected you directly... I apologize and take full responsibility for my actions."

Floyd Cochran
Tax-deferred solutions from TIAA-CREF can help you reach your retirement goals faster.

When you’re nearing retirement, the adage "never put all your eggs in one basket" doesn’t apply to taxes. That’s because investments that aren’t modestly sized can add up to significantly more money for you—money you can use to supplement your personal and Social Security.

Let us help you learn about the advantages of the Defined, or call us for a tax-savvy calculator.

Supplemental Retirement Annuities (GRAs) and other tax-savings solutions—such as with TIAA-CREF—expressed in and sold by administrators of the Tax Code—can help you invest as smart today so that you can reach your retirement goals faster in the 10 years tomorrow.

"State and Federal law, 5000.842.2233, Annuities Auditorium tries retirement, goals front UI, put will do things to the "you're 2001 well. April 10th Dr. at announcement in Northwest be cam-preva-federal faster and toss Iron from looking at food p.m. can 5509, we have TIAA-CREF. For more information, send 9:00 to 9:00 at 222-842-2233, to find out about your TIAA-CREF account and to see if you qualify for our premium services. We’ll help you find the best retirement solutions for your needs. Call us today.

Enjoy the future for who shape it.
Letters policy

Argonaut welcomes your views on the articles appearing in this publication. Please address a reply to the Editor, A. L. Andrew, PO Box 1573, University of Idaho, Moscow, Idaho 83844, or e-mail it to the Argonaut's e-mail address, Argonaut@uidaho.edu.

At present, we are only able to mail our reply to the writer. Your address is not published without your permission.

Opinion

Editor / Lesli Andrew
Phone: 208-885-7115
E-mail: my_opinion@uidaho.edu
On the Web: www.argonaut.uidaho.edu/opinion.html

Not suited for Common purpose

The Idaho Commons is an intriguing architecture project on campus, but it is better short in its current state than as it evolved. It should not be moved. Many aspects of the Commons seem to be more geared toward the appearance of the building than function.

The building has been open for one year and already the first short in operation or planning, as in the Common Grads. Granted the Commons has more space for students to eat and study than the Student Union Building did, but an integral part of building the Commons was the change of a campus, which the Commons fails to do.

It is also noteworthy that the Commons does not have an area for a band area, which the Student Union Building had. Students need places to study, band members need a place to rehearse, area to hang out with friends, and room to socialize. For these facilities would be in the Commons, since it has moved the role that SUU once played.

The status of expensive building materials in the Commons adds to the aesthetic value, but it does not greatly benefit students. The Commons also provide little for the furniture, even if other accommodations are expensive. For example, when the Argonaut placed newspaper racks in the Commons, they picked up $331.80 in sales compared to $25 for the usual aluminum racks.

Leslie Andrew
For the Argonaut Editorial Board

You say goodbye; new drag queens say hello

The end is near. No, not the end of the world. We all know it, as some recent vintages in our society has been. But the end is near for the drag queens. It is not the end of the era. Not just the end of a change, but the end of a moment that has been coming for some time. It was known, even at a young age, that things were changing. It was just a matter of time.

Although it's not, it's not that far away. As the world changes, so do the expectations of society. The drag queens have been around for some time. As the world changes, so do the expectations of society. The drag queens have been around for some time.

Many may try, but none will succeed. Thanks for the memories, teases, teeth, and the like. The show will never be the same, but then again, so will not the world. The show must go on.

The end is near. No, not the end of the world. We all know it, as some recent vintages in our society has been. But the end is near for the drag queens. It is not the end of the era. Not just the end of a change, but the end of a moment that has been coming for some time. It was known, even at a young age, that things were changing. It was just a matter of time.

Although it's not, it's not that far away. As the world changes, so do the expectations of society. The drag queens have been around for some time. As the world changes, so do the expectations of society. The drag queens have been around for some time.

Many may try, but none will succeed. Thanks for the memories, teases, teeth, and the like. The show will never be the same, but then again, so will not the world. The show must go on.

Mailbox

Residence Hall policy alert

Dear Editor:

There are many issues that can be addressed and charged. Parking, the cost of attendance and student services that need to be charged.

One thing that is alarming is the fact that the fees being charged are not reflective of the actual costs. Students are being charged for services that they do not receive. The university should be transparent about the costs associated with charging.

Thank you for your time.

Leslie Andrew
For the Argonaut Educational Board

Lest we forget history

Mingus and Idaho are alike in terms of revolution. Both states are considered rural, racist and induced. The only thing that separates Madagascar and Idaho is the distance in which they are located. In Madagascar, the people are200° north and in Idaho, they are 30° west. While the people of Madagascar are being oppressed, the people of Idaho are being oppressed by the same group.

Both states had similar customs and traditions. The black people of Madagascar were a minority, while the black people of Idaho were a majority. In Madagascar, the people were oppressed by the white minority, while in Idaho, the people were oppressed by the black majority.

Both states experi-enced a revolution. The revolution in Madagascar was led by a military coup, while the revolution in Idaho was led by a social movement. The revolution in Madagascar was a violent struggle, while the revolution in Idaho was a peaceful protest.

In Madagascar, the revolution was led by a military coup, while in Idaho, the revolution was led by a social movement. The revolution in Madagascar was a violent struggle, while the revolution in Idaho was a peaceful protest.

In Madagascar, the revolution was led by a military coup, while in Idaho, the revolution was led by a social movement. The revolution in Madagascar was a violent struggle, while the revolution in Idaho was a peaceful protest.
Looking for 'Jackass'; check the mirror

The movie "Fat" and "Rat Fink" were required viewing for an achiev 10-year-old in Northern California. We spent many days watching the '80s cinematic masterpieces over and over, reminiscing the tricks and dreaming of long sum-mer days where we would finally have the freedom to live out our fantasies. As young boys tend to be, we were often drawn to the desire to make a living at what we loved. And so, you get Jackass. Despite its rawness. And you get Jackass. Despite its rawness. And you get Jackass. Despite its rawness. And you get Jackass. Despite its rawness.

For a moment, let us imagine what would have been if "Jackass" never happened. Let us imagine a world where the day's events were routine, and nothing extraordinary occurred. Let us imagine a world without the shock and awe of "Jackass".

But then, Jackass. The world was never the same after the release of this groundbreaking documentary. It changed the way we looked at the world around us. It made us question our own experiences and the world's limits. It ignited a new era of experimentation and creativity.

The documentary "Jackass" was released in 2002, and it was a game-changer. It was a film that explored the boundaries of what was possible and pushed the boundaries of what was acceptable in society. It was a film that made people laugh, cry, and think about the world in new ways.

In the documentary, you see people taking risks and doing things that would normally be considered dangerous, such as riding a motorcycle on a tightrope or jumping out of a plane with a parachute. The film was raw and real, capturing the moments of exhilaration and fear that come with these activities.

The documentary was not just a film, but it was a cultural phenomenon. It inspired a new generation of young people to push their limits and explore the unknown. It changed the way people looked at the world and the possibilities that lay ahead.

In conclusion, "Jackass" was a groundbreaking documentary that changed the world. It was a film that pushed the boundaries of what was possible and inspired a new generation of people to explore the unknown. It is a film that will be remembered for its rawness and for the impact it had on the world.

---

MCARDLE, James.

---

PMcCardle Masterpiece

---

The Ramones pose by Kwan-Jack Ye in the documentary feature film, "Jackass."
The University of Idaho Approved

Thank you to all those students who voted for their new representatives.
Idaho's water

Whitewater offers rapids of world class

BY BRIAN ARMSTRONG

Whitewater is right outside your front door and two boaters in this season, the caring and enthusiastic BRIAN ARMSTRONG and his sister, Kelly, are not only getting the thrill of a lifetime, but they're also helping preserve the environment.

The two boaters are members of the DuPont crew and are part of a group of volunteers helping to keep the area clean and enjoyable for all.

By Brian Armstrong

****

Vandal tennis at home

This weekend will be the best and most entertaining tennis at the Boise area. The Boise Tennis Center will host the Idaho Open Tennis Tournament. The tournament will take place on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday.

The Boise Tennis Center will host the tournament. There will be a total of 16 singles matches and 8 doubles matches.

The tournament will be held at the Boise Tennis Center, 2500 S. Meridian St., Boise, ID 83705.

Sports ON TELEVISION

Friday

M.U.

1:45vs. New Mexico State

10:00 vs. Colorado State

Saturday

M.U.

3:00 vs. New Mexico State

6:00 vs. Colorado State

Sunday

M.U.

1:00 vs. New Mexico State

4:00 vs. Colorado State

Golf

Men break school record at Pocatello tournament

BY BRIAN ARMSTRONG

The Boise men's golf team, with the George Yen Elm Intercollegiate in Pocatello Tuesday in mind, has begun the season with a 20-stroke defeat of Idaho Falls with a score of 211, 19, 19, 21, 21, 21, 21, 21, 21, 21, 21, 21, 21, 21, 21, 21, 21, 21, 21, 21, 21.

The Vandals fed the first time in a tournament since the fall of 1992.

For more information, contact BRIAN ARMSTRONG, Boise State University, P.O. Box 3001, Boise, ID 83707-3001.

Can I bring my Christian faith to my career?

Thursday, April 26

7:00 pm

Center for Christian Center

222 Elm St. Moscow

Come and join us as we discuss the topic of faith and career. Bring your questions and listen to the discussion.

Panel Discussion and Dialogue

Featuring:

Organized by Larry Mer, Director

Center for Business Development at UI

682-2314

www.cooper.edu
FOOTBALL

From Page 1

"We might come in when we are only leading a few and need to make something happen." Oates. "That is a lot different than missing in dur-ging the fourth quarter when we..."

Walks will be done after next season, so players and coaches must be ready to take the helm in next season at Idaho.

Friday’s game will be quite different as a real thing. Idaho is in its final home game of the season, and the team will have the same opponent in the last time."

The regular season will be on the road for the remaining games, but the Idaho team is ready for the road battle.

"It won’t be like those where we just aren’t prepared or ready. I know the guys will play hard.""