UI College of Law

Female enrollment surpasses male numbers

by lucy cook

Last August, the Law School Academic Council announced that the number of law school women applicants surpassed the number of male applicants for the first time in the history of law school admissions. The figures showed 34,891 women were looking to enter law school while 33,744 men were applying. This is an increase in the history of law since the number of female law school applicants has steadily increased over the past 50 years. According to the National Association of Women Law Students, this represents a 14 percent increase in the number of female law school applicants to the college of law.

The increase has not been without its challenges, however, as the number of women continues to grow. The number of law school women applicants has steadily increased over the past 50 years. According to the National Association of Women Law Students, this represents a 14 percent increase in the number of female law school applicants to the college of law.

The increase has not been without its challenges, however, as the number of women continues to grow. The number of law school women applicants has steadily increased over the past 50 years. According to the National Association of Women Law Students, this represents a 14 percent increase in the number of female law school applicants to the college of law.

The increase has not been without its challenges, however, as the number of women continues to grow. The number of law school women applicants has steadily increased over the past 50 years. According to the National Association of Women Law Students, this represents a 14 percent increase in the number of female law school applicants to the college of law.
Model United Nations Competition

Students take place with world leaders

by ARNETTE NICKS

AMERICAN HISTORY

Thirteen UI students will be setting foot in a place reserved for world leaders. The students are participating in the Model United Nations Competition from April 7-11 in New York City. As part of the competition, the students will be elected into the General Assembly of the United Nations General Assembly and the Model UN participants roles. The Martin School of International Affairs is sponsoring this event. This is only the second time the school has hosted it in the recent past.

UI hadn't sponsored a team in the national competition since the 1990s and Bray Lewis, who co-founder the Model UN class along with Bill Smith, Lewis isn't involved in the team's current hostship at Washington State University in Ohio and Duquesne University in Pittsburgh. The Model UN class teaches the participants about the role working in the UN does. The team hopes to represent their school with pride, the team will participate as Uruguay. In the fall, the team will pick six potential members and choose one team. The team was not given any of their top five decision but was given a country within their potential region, Lewis said.

13 UI students will set foot in a place usually reserved for world leaders.
Harvard professor clarifies ‘human rights,’ applauds Idaho

BY LUCIA GROVES

In a continuing effort to promote diversity awareness, the University of Idaho hosted a lecture by Harvard Law School professor Nancy Steiner last Friday. Steiner spoke to the audience regarding human rights and the World Trade Center.

She led the first human rights program at Harvard Law School. She plans a major in the program's development. During Friday's lecture, she did not limit the human rights discussion to any one minority but rather included men, gender, disability and sexuality.

Steiner placed major emphasis on the fact that the United States is not focused on making an effort to develop a human rights program. Instead, the United States shows its commitment to equality by creating programs such as Social Security, welfare and implementing laws against discrimination.

"We are the only nation in the world that has not introduced the notion of human rights," Steiner said. "We have not even proposed the idea of universal human rights for our own citizens."

Steiner has the necessary expertise to make an absolute stance on human rights. She helped draw up the United Nations Human Rights Declaration, a document that outlines the rights of the human being.

Steiner is honest about jumping on the bandwagon because the country would be completely isolated if it were not for the ethical guidelines of the creation, she said. Ethnically and geographically these trends are in the same situation.

"Steiner’s lecture was the most effective I have attended," a student said. "I believe that many young people do not feel like there is enough progress being made with the human rights movement.

However, Steiner believes that the world has made significant progress just by talking about human rights.

"With the facts, you at least have to talk and consider," Steiner said. "I see the changes. It will never disappear. We are at least 20 years behind those ideas, but you are making progress." Steiner said.

Steiner addressed the topic of Idaho's stance on human rights. She commented that she was taken aback by the "exceptionally white population."

"It looks different from the world I'm familiar with," Steiner said. However, Steiner was impressed with the way Idaho handles the human rights issue. She was especially impressed with the current human rights leader of the state, she said.

"She is a very motivating person. She makes a change," Steiner said.

After her lecture, audience members were allowed to ask questions. The energy matched with the given talk to the speaker from Paul Balch, special assistant to the president of theatre and drama department.

"The panel should be better organized," a student commented.

Steiner also commented on the University of Idaho’s commitment to diversity, saying that it was hoped that the University of Idaho would become a hotbed of human rights with the "vision" of a world.

"Steiner plugged in as a way for the rest of the country to join. We are using the term in a totally positive, meaningful and interesting way," Steiner said.

Campus Calendar

To place an announcement in the Argonaut Campus Calendar, e-mail your announcement to arg@uw both 6:00 a.m. and at 9:00 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Friday

6:00 a.m. to 7:30 a.m.
Contact University of Idaho Alumni Office
985-8154

4:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m.
Contact Student Life
985-3072

Saturday

9:00 a.m. to 11:00 a.m.
Contact University of Idaho Alumni Office
985-8154

APSA conference "The War in Afghanistan in Honor of Asian Pacific Islands Month"
7:00 to 11:00 p.m.
Contact Blaine Hall
985-7174

4:00-6:00 p.m.
Contact Department of Languages and Literatures
985-5151

4:00 p.m.
Contact Department of Languages and Literatures
985-5151

5:00 p.m.
Contact Department of Languages and Literatures
985-5151

China releases little about missing pilot

BY HEENY CHU

BELGRADE—The name is Wang Wei. He has been called the "outstanding Chinese Air Force pilot. And most likely, he is dead.

Until Thursday, those three sentences remained up virtually all that was publicly known about the Chinese pilot who was last seen flying his Su-27 fighter jet after a 90-minute training flight on a U.S. aircraft carrier over the South China Sea. Yet in spite of the recent information, Wang's close to the heart of Chinese reaction to the downing of a U.S. fighter jet and an apparent lack of an official response from Beijing.

The missing pilot's fate and how Beijing has played the story are important clues to the military and political tensions behind an Asian arms race and Beijing's handling of the incident.

Even the beginning, official assessments have contended that the U.S. Navy EP-3 reconnaissance plane already soared into the path of Wang's jet—a version of events that the United States disputes. Wang was reported downed by a "friendly" shot while patrolling the South China Sea, according to Chinese officials, but the search for him has been fruitless.

That Wang is probably dead is one of the factors in Beijing's reaction to and documentation of the weekend's events.

"China is the victim," said Foreign Minister Zhu Bangzao at Sunday's ceremony for those killed in the crash. "It is China that has been injured." Sweden has warned the United States that it should name Wang's fate, which has focused instead on the EP-3 plane's crew, of which one has been identified as a Swedish-born American woman. The U.S. military has not commented on the identification.

One of the reasons the Chinese identified Wang was the need to maintain national pride among its citizens. A second reason is the desire to show the world that it is an Asian power in a region long dominated by China's neighbors.
Diversity & Human Rights Cinema presents...

Chutney Popcorn

Monday, April 9th
7pm SUB Borah Theater
FREE Admission

For more information contact Karen Caffrey @ 885-9229

Religious Directory

Concordia Lutheran Church - Hoosy
NE 1015 Orchard Dr. Pullman 332-3050
Sunday Worship: 9:30 am
Dining School: 11:30 am (ages 3-5th)
Chinese Worship: Service 1-5 pm
St. Frances Ballroom: Tuesday, 8 pm
Rev. Duddy Waltz
Campus Coordinator: Anna Bunsen

Universities Ministries
Moscow Church of the Nazarene
JESUS CHRIST Of Latter-day Saints
UNIVERSITY STUDENT WARD SACRAMENT MEETING TIMES
First (single students) 9:00 am
LDS Institute, 922 Deakin
2nd (married students living east of Main Street) 11:00 am
Corner of 9th & Joseph
3rd (single students) 11:00 am
LDS Institute, 922 Deakin
4th (married students living west of Main Street) 9:00 am
Corner of 9th & Joseph
For more information call 882-4332

The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints

University Student Ward

Sacrament Meeting Times:

First (single students) 9:00 am
LDS Institute, 922 Deakin
Second (married students living east of Main Street) 11:00 am
Corner of 9th & Joseph
Third (single students) 11:00 am
LDS Institute, 922 Deakin
Fourth (married students living west of Main Street) 9:00 am
Corner of 9th & Joseph

For more information call 882-4332 for questions & additional information.

University of Idaho

Graduation Salute

all graduating students

April 11th 10-4 pm
April 12th 10-4 pm
In the Commons
Clearwater Room

Call Ben Bryan at 885-6371 to have your religion in the Argonaut.
Enjoying a sinful livelihood

The banner waving above a crowd of onlookers read, "Two students charged in hit-and-run killed involved in a list of offending groups. Among them: Alcoholics Anonymous, Black Panthers, Gay Liberation Front, and Black Muslim."

MARRIAGE

Civil marriage is expected to result in half of all marriages being chartered. The promise is that all known religious groups across the nation have agreed to lower their religious barriers. In a planned bombardment of the press, the religious frontiers are expected to collapse in the new era.

The banner waving above a crowd of onlookers read, "Two students charged in hit-and-run killed involved in a list of offending groups. Among them: Alcoholics Anonymous, Black Panthers, Gay Liberation Front, and Black Muslim."

MARRIAGE

Civil marriage is expected to result in half of all marriages being chartered. The promise is that all known religious groups across the nation have agreed to lower their religious barriers. In a planned bombardment of the press, the religious frontiers are expected to collapse in the new era.

Christianity is inescapable in a 'non-sectarian' world

The University of Idaho is a non-sectarian institution, the University policy states that university students are representative thereof and shall not hold or promote any religious belief or sect, that is good and true.

Laws of the Idaho Supreme Court

The power to legislate over the state of Idaho is vested in the people, and the exercise of that power is subject to the will of the people. The legislature shall make and enforce all laws necessary for the government and protection of the state.

Surf Secret Fijis

\title{Superman's image of Greek life, University of Idaho}
\author{Jennifer Warnick}
\date{1980}
\maketitle

Haze me, baby, one more time

"In the 'Eighth Day of Creation," an episode of the television series "The Simpsons," the Fijis are featured. The show depicts a typical Frosh周 experience, with new pledges being welcomed into the fraternity with a "test" that involves hazings and other forms of initiation.

The ritual is highly controversial and has been the subject of legal battles in the past. In recent years, the fraternity has been involved in several cases of hazing and sexual assault.

The show's depiction of the Fijis has been criticized by some as being too exaggerated and insensitive, while others argue that it is an accurate representation of the challenges faced by new pledges.

Christianity is inescapable in a 'non-sectarian' world

The University of Idaho is a non-sectarian institution, the University policy states that university students are representative thereof and shall not hold or promote any religious belief or sect, that is good and true.

Laws of the Idaho Supreme Court

The power to legislate over the state of Idaho is vested in the people, and the exercise of that power is subject to the will of the people. The legislature shall make and enforce all laws necessary for the government and protection of the state.

This is a high school student's perspective on the challenges faced by new pledges. The student explains that the hazing ritual is necessary for new pledges to be welcomed into the fraternity, as it is seen as a way to prove their commitment to the fraternity's values.

The student also suggests that the hazing ritual is not meant to be harmful or dangerous, but rather a way to build a sense of community and brotherhood among the new pledges.

The student notes that the hazing ritual is also a way to honor the fraternity's traditions and history, and that it is an important part of the fraternity's culture.

The student concludes by suggesting that while the hazing ritual may be controversial, it is an integral part of the fraternity's history and culture, and that it is important to respect the tradition and values of the fraternity.
Don't bury our economic future under circumstantial dirt

Drown, down, down the gun.
The stock market is a fool
To banish us in
The seas of want.

Anyone, all, our economy is gearing for the sin and the need of a romance grown in procrastination by the stage of the world.

Mean to stimulate the economy as Baltimore the only, the American the only, the market the only, the need the only, the sin the only.

Our economy will rise, and quite frankly, it doesn't have enough to ever see the verge of anything that is going to send the economy back in line.

So, in light of the possible parameters, it might be a good idea to pull our own change and buy a big book. This, it is a sight.

It might be rough for a while, once we won't actually be able to spend anything, but once we get from the change and the change, the change, the change, we can be a giant book.

Sure, we can dig a giant book, put all our money in it so we won't have to worry about it. It's not a book, it's a big book.

The only reason we're thinking in this way is that we are not going to pull our own change and buy a big book.

It might be rough for a while, once we won't actually be able to spend anything, but once we get from the change and the change, the change, the change, we can be a giant book.

Sure, we can dig a giant book, put all our money in it so we won't have to worry about it. It's not a book, it's a big book.

The only reason we're thinking in this way is that we are not going to pull our own change and buy a big book.
Upcoming EVENTS

Today

The Legend of Drunken Master

9:15 p.m. to 10:30 p.m.

April 7

The Legend of Drunken Master

Boise Theatre

8:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.

April 8

A Day to Remember

Beaver College, NJU

7 p.m.

April 11

Animosity Nelson

University Theatre

11 a.m.

April 12

Legend

Jacks' Alley

8 p.m.

Habits

Idaho Museum of Natural History

8 p.m.

Legends

Zany Arangements

Idaho Museum of Natural History

8 p.m.

Ongoing

Potato Salad Art Gallery

Downtown and Adams Abode

Throughout April

Screenrooms

Cable City Digital Gallery

Art Education

University of Idaho

Throughout April

Movie SHOWTIMES

[Details not provided]

3:50

4:15

11:50

1:30

9:15

12:15

6:00

9:00

10:15

1:45

5:00

7:15

5:30

9:25

1:40

11:00

2:00

5:00

4:15

7:00

10:00

4:15

Put it in writing

Guest novelist to read in UI Law Courtroom for Distinguished Visiting Writer’s Program

By WYNN HEPVI

Noted Antepony Nelson will read from his latest novel, Living to Tell, at 9 a.m. Friday, April 8, in the University of Idaho Law School Courtroom at the Distinguished Visiting Writers series.

Living to Tell is one of the many stories and three novels, all written within 10 years. Her most recent book is "Living to Tell." Similar to her previous novels and short stories, in Living to Tell, she explores themes of American society, love and the loss of innocence. The movie, Mississippi Burning, starring Kevin Costner and Gene Hackman, may inspire the later novel, "Mississippi," to be published in 1998.

Starr is the author of three collections of short stories and three novels, all written within 10 years. Her most recent book is "Living to Tell." Similar to her previous novels and short stories, in Living to Tell, she explores themes of American society, love and the loss of innocence. The movie, Mississippi Burning, starring Kevin Costner and Gene Hackman, may inspire the later novel, "Mississippi," to be published in 1998.

Trivial

www.fulltix.com

Today's trivia:

TV Characters Quiz

Pop culture quiz on the Monday's Agnews.

1. If you were a comic book character, which one would you be?

2. What are the names of the last four presidents of the United States?

3. What are the names of the last four presidents of the United States?

4. What are the names of the last four presidents of the United States?

5. What are the names of the last four presidents of the United States?

6. What are the names of the last four presidents of the United States?

7. What are the names of the last four presidents of the United States?

8. What are the names of the last four presidents of the United States?

9. What are the names of the last four presidents of the United States?

10. What are the names of the last four presidents of the United States?

Argonaut

Editor: Eric Pana

Phone: 836-9245

E-mail: mg@uidaho.edu

On the Web: www.argonaut.uidaho.edu/er вне

I want my M2

E
gough is enough. In this tradition of the month of April, when it is time to make a stand and take action to develop our music, we must join together and stand up against the tyranny of our opponents. Through the Massacre and Pullman riots, we are being denied one of our basic rights: the right to make music—seven days a week.

Adelphia Cable should wake up to the changing world of cable, and wake up to the realization of what we need—real-time TV and M2, MTV’s cable channel. It is time to put a stop to the evil practices of M2. This channel, which is owned by a right-wing, will be running at 100 percent, and will be filled with the evil practices of M2.

Current Adelphia is undergoing a digital upgrade and there are no plans for M2.

To be the solution is simple. It is imperative that we take action to stop the new forms of music and television.

If everyone who is an Adelphia Cable customer, with whom you are in contact with, who lives in campus (Greek and Frat house) or who has cable at home, will be able to stand up against the evil practices of M2, Adelphia Cable will be able to stop the evil practices.

We are calling all of this and what we will be doing with the money will be to stop the evil practices of M2. Adelphia Cable will be able to be the solution to the evil practices.

To stop the evil practices of M2, we suggest that everyone who is an Adelphia Cable customer, with whom you are in contact with, who lives in campus (Greek and Frat house) or who has cable at home, will be able to stand up against the evil practices of M2, Adelphia Cable will be able to stop the evil practices.

Rainy day perfect time for ‘Wonder Boys’

By HEATHER BARTHELEMY

In the wake of another dreary day, what is there to watch? The answer may be the latest release from the producers of the award-winning Dangerous Liaisons, Love Stinks and Boys Before Girls, the filmmakers behind the new romantic comedy, Wonder Boys.

Set in the glamorous world of Hollywood, the movie tells the story of a once-famous star who has seen better days and is now struggling to make ends meet. As his career begins to take a turn for the worse, he is forced to confront the past and make some tough decisions about his future.

Directed by Michael Mann, the film stars Michael Douglas as the struggling actor and Alison Eastwood as his tough-minded agent. The cast also includes a number of famous actors, including Lucy Liu, who plays a tough and talented assistant, and John Slattery, who plays the producer who helped launch the actor's career.

Though the movie is quite entertaining, it is also a touching story of a man struggling to find his way in a world that often seems to be against him. The film is filled with moments of humor and emotion, and it ultimately leaves the viewer with a sense of hope and redemption.

In short, Wonder Boys is a perfect example of the kind of romantic comedy that is so often missing from the movie industry. It is a film that is sure to be enjoyed by anyone who loves a good story and a great performance.
Run away from Run DMC

By Chris Romeieg. Associated Press

Back from the brink of rock-star status are Run DMC with their new album "Crown Royal," which hit the shelves this week. "Crown Royal" is the band's third album since 1986, when the band was formed. The album features the group's usual blend of rap and rock, with some experiments in other genres. The album is recorded in several locations around the world, including New York, Los Angeles, and London. The group's members, Darryl "DMC" McDaniels, Joseph "Dre" Simmons, and Jason "Jammy" Mizell, are known for their distinctive style and unique approach to rap music. The album has been well-received by critics and fans alike, with many praising the group's ability to maintain their signature sound while experimenting with new ideas. Overall, "Crown Royal" is a strong effort from Run DMC, and a welcome return for fans of the group.
It's turkey time

Spring season begins soon

by Bruce Doscher

Starting April 15, thousands of hunters will take the field in search of Merriams' Wild Turkeys from the eponymous species of bird. While not as robust as their eastern counterparts, these birds exhibit the same gracefulness and predictability that entice an increasing number of sportspersons every year to try their luck at spring gobbler hunting.

Wild turkeys were introduced in the 1960s, and since then their numbers have multiplied consistently. With suitable habitat and fewer predators, turkeys have expanded their range to include much of South Idaho's low-elevation forests and fields. Often, they roost in the mornings and evenings over open fields and from their nightly roosts.

Typically, wild turkeys tend to roam in denser aggregation during the fall hunting season, feeding in any combination of brush, farmland and insect larvae. Protected within these aggregations, the birds move within a set range, more often than not in flight. At night, they move to roost locations, which may be up to 10 miles from their roosting area, roosting in safety above ground and out of reach of potential predators.

Last season's hunting season saw countless hunts in the field, with the excitement of sharing a field with other hunters. The spring season opens up the opportunity for those who have enjoyed the experience in the past and will be returning this year.

Field & Stream

Baseball registration starts

Marylee Parks and Recreation is accepting registrations for the Growers' Valley youth baseball program. Registration will be held in person at the Parks and Recreation Office at 800-7050.

SportsBriefs

Tennis

Men take a hit in Coe, women back on road

by Gary Smith

Since the Idaho men's tennis team had a dark weekend in sunny Southern California, losing two matches to drop the overall season record to 6-2, the Vandals are looking to gain some momentum against San Jose State on April 5. The women's team, however, is still looking for their first win of the season.

The Idaho men's team was ranked 12th in the nation before losing to Oregon and Washington. The Idaho men's team is currently ranked 25th in the nation and is looking to improve their record against San Jose State. The women's team, on the other hand, is ranked 34th in the nation and is looking to gain some confidence against San Jose State.

Mountain bike team competes in Seattle

The Un-off official Vandals mountain bike team competed in the Seattle Invitational on April 11. The team finished in 7th place overall, with a time of 2:31:45. The team was composed of five riders: Alex Buck, Sam Thompson, Will Cooper, Tom Pichette, and Matt Hamilton. The team was sponsored by the Idaho State University Cycling Club and the Idaho State University Mountain Bike Club.

As for the women's team, they finished in 11th place with a time of 2:36:01. The women's team was composed of four riders: Lauren Buck, Rachel Thompson, Ashley Cooper, and Elizabeth Pichette. The women's team was sponsored by the Idaho State University Women's Cycling Club and the Idaho State University Mountain Bike Club.

A conversation with coach Divilibis

Recently sent down with new head women coach Mike Divilibis and new men's coach Tom, UI-Coach Divilibis has faced some transition to the University of Idaho. After being fired from his office and walking through the exchanges of pleasantries with athletic director Mike Bob and other staff members, Divilibis said, "I've been through a little bit of a turmoil there. There's a lot of focus on the wall behind his door, a large video screen behind the door and a comfortable corner chair placed across the desk." Divilibis was born in New York in 1965, graduated from SUNY Plattsburgh in 1987, and is holding a degree in civil engineering. Divilibis has been involved in the sport of tennis for years, but this is his first year as a tennis coach. "I think my time is now on the court, the field, and the gymnasium," Divilibis said, "I think my time is now on the court, the field, and the gymnasium."

Mountain bike team competes in Seattle

The Un-off official Vandals mountain bike team competed in the Seattle Invitational on April 11. The team finished in 7th place overall, with a time of 2:31:45. The team was composed of five riders: Alex Buck, Sam Thompson, Will Cooper, Tom Pichette, and Matt Hamilton. The team was sponsored by the Idaho State University Cycling Club and the Idaho State University Mountain Bike Club.

As for the women's team, they finished in 11th place with a time of 2:36:01. The women's team was composed of four riders: Lauren Buck, Rachel Thompson, Ashley Cooper, and Elizabeth Pichette. The women's team was sponsored by the Idaho State University Women's Cycling Club and the Idaho State University Mountain Bike Club.
Vandals won't get automatic golf bid with conference win

BY BRAD ARMSTRONG
Northern Idaho College

The Big West is going through severe changes, and the Vandals are among those trying to figure out the new atmosphere of making it to the regional tournament.

The fortuitous (yet New Mexico State, North Texas, Rio Grande and Cal Poly) settings. Nothing has changed on the men's side, but the women are the ones making the most noise this season.

The Vandals will compete against BYU in a tournament next week, which will play a huge role in determining which of the Vandals potentially will or will not be able to compete.

The women will lose Boise State but will gain UC Riverside, Cal State Northridge and UC Irvine. After this season, people will remember how they played at each of the regional tournaments. The Vandals will need to make sure they keep the same things that they've been doing.

The record spring chinook run expected on Snake River

BY BRIAN HEPPEL
Associate Editor

The largest spring chinook run has begun, according to the Northwest Fish Passage Center, which monitors the movements of adult chinook salmon throughout the region.

Here are a few important things to know about the chinook run:

1. EFFECTIVE: As many as 100,000 chinook may cross Lower Granite Dam this year. The spring chinook run in the Snake River is one of the largest in the state. The dam was built in 1975 to help improve the productivity of the river and to help reduce habitat degradation. A large number of chinook salmon are expected to pass through the dam this season, which is a significant increase from previous years. The dam has been successful in improving the productivity of the river, and the Chinook salmon are expected to continue to show similar trends. A large number of chinook salmon are expected to pass through the dam this season, which is a significant increase from previous years. The dam has been successful in improving the productivity of the river, and the Chinook salmon are expected to continue to show similar trends.

2. HABITAT FACTS: The Chinook salmon are an important part of the ecosystem in the Snake River, and they play a critical role in the survival and reproduction of other fish species. The Chinook salmon are an important source of food for many of the region's wildlife, and their presence in the river is a key indicator of the overall health of the ecosystem. The Chinook salmon are also an important economic resource for the region, as they are harvested by commercial and recreational fishermen.

3. ECONOMIC FACTS: As many as 100,000 Chinook may pass Lower Granite Dam this year. The spring chinook run in the Snake River is one of the largest in the state. The dam was built in 1975 to help improve the productivity of the river and to help reduce habitat degradation. A large number of chinook salmon are expected to pass through the dam this season, which is a significant increase from previous years. The dam has been successful in improving the productivity of the river, and the Chinook salmon are expected to continue to show similar trends. A large number of chinook salmon are expected to pass through the dam this season, which is a significant increase from previous years. The dam has been successful in improving the productivity of the river, and the Chinook salmon are expected to continue to show similar trends.

4. ENVIRONMENTAL FACTS: As many as 100,000 Chinook may pass Lower Granite Dam this year. The spring chinook run in the Snake River is one of the largest in the state. The dam was built in 1975 to help improve the productivity of the river and to help reduce habitat degradation. A large number of chinook salmon are expected to pass through the dam this season, which is a significant increase from previous years. The dam has been successful in improving the productivity of the river, and the Chinook salmon are expected to continue to show similar trends. A large number of chinook salmon are expected to pass through the dam this season, which is a significant increase from previous years. The dam has been successful in improving the productivity of the river, and the Chinook salmon are expected to continue to show similar trends.

5. HUMAN FACTS: As many as 100,000 Chinook may pass Lower Granite Dam this year. The spring chinook run in the Snake River is one of the largest in the state. The dam was built in 1975 to help improve the productivity of the river and to help reduce habitat degradation. A large number of chinook salmon are expected to pass through the dam this season, which is a significant increase from previous years. The dam has been successful in improving the productivity of the river, and the Chinook salmon are expected to continue to show similar trends. A large number of chinook salmon are expected to pass through the dam this season, which is a significant increase from previous years. The dam has been successful in improving the productivity of the river, and the Chinook salmon are expected to continue to show similar trends.

6. OTHER FACTS: As many as 100,000 Chinook may pass Lower Granite Dam this year. The spring chinook run in the Snake River is one of the largest in the state. The dam was built in 1975 to help improve the productivity of the river and to help reduce habitat degradation. A large number of chinook salmon are expected to pass through the dam this season, which is a significant increase from previous years. The dam has been successful in improving the productivity of the river, and the Chinook salmon are expected to continue to show similar trends. A large number of chinook salmon are expected to pass through the dam this season, which is a significant increase from previous years. The dam has been successful in improving the productivity of the river, and the Chinook salmon are expected to continue to show similar trends.

For more information, contact the Northwest Fish Passage Center at (509) 664-3300 or visit their website at www.nwfishpassage.com.

The Idaho Commons & Student Union

Congratulations to Joe McKenna & Kim Wilson for winning top honors at the Intercollegiate Affiliate of College and University Residence Halls Regional Conference.

McKenna won National Residence Hall Honorary Member of the Year, and Wilson won Student of the Year.