Not for the 'frat' boy

SigEp aims to recruit men not interested in joining fraternities

By DAVID REICHLING
EDITOR IN CHIEF

It seems Sigma Phi Epsilon showed up late to the game. A member of the SigEp chapter at Moscow State University was tried and convicted of the same crime as his fraternity brother, two weeks ago. The fraternity is not interested in recruiting men interested in joining fraternities.

SigEp will not have a house on campus, but the organization will continue to sponsor activities on campus. The organization is also not interested in recruiting men interested in joining fraternities.

Sigma Phi Epsilon has been in existence for over 100 years. The organization is not interested in recruiting men interested in joining fraternities.

Sigma Phi Epsilon does not have a house on campus, but the organization will continue to sponsor activities on campus. The organization is not interested in recruiting men interested in joining fraternities.

Sigma Phi Epsilon has been in existence for over 100 years. The organization is not interested in recruiting men interested in joining fraternities.

Sigma Phi Epsilon does not have a house on campus, but the organization will continue to sponsor activities on campus. The organization is not interested in recruiting men interested in joining fraternities.

Sigma Phi Epsilon does not have a house on campus, but the organization will continue to sponsor activities on campus. The organization is not interested in recruiting men interested in joining fraternities.
Crossword

Answers to today's puzzle will be online at argonaut.uidaho.edu.

Blood drive comes to UI

Students will have the chance to give blood at the University of Idaho Blood Drive Sept. 6 from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Sept. 28, 1 to 7 p.m. in the Williams/Clawson water room of the Student Union.

Fullbright Scholarship information session

Student from the 2003-2004 US Student Valgate Competition Thursday, Sept. 12 in the Collegiate Panorama floors.

Student Media Board

5:00 pm

Thursday in the Chief's Room located in the SUB

For info about SMB contact 885-7825

Discover Life at the Idaho Commons & Student Union

Leadership Seminar

Meet the Parents

ASU Outdoor Rental Center

Noontime Concert

Calling all student leaders:

Create find out about club funding, student org benefits, how to get involved in the INVESTIGATION FAIR, and more...

Choose the session that fits your schedule:

Wednesday, Sept. 5 3-5 p.m.

Thursday, Sept. 6 6-7 p.m.

Contact Amy Mandell (885-5278) to sign up today.

Idaho Commons Building Hours

Monday - Thursday 7:30 a.m. to 9:30 p.m.
Friday 7:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.
Saturday 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.
Sunday 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

SUB Student Union Building Hours

Monday - Thursday 7 a.m. to 9:30 p.m.
Friday 7 a.m. to 5 p.m.
Saturday 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.
Sunday 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

IdahoStateU@sub.uidaho.edu 885-6170

http://coop.uidaho.edu

ARGONAUT @ 2001

This is the ARGONAUT: The University of Idaho's student newspaper, Volume 102, Number 1, September 5, 2001. Copyright 2001 by the Argonaut. All rights reserved. Reproduction in whole or in part without the express written permission of the Argonaut is prohibited. The Argonaut is an independent student publication. The opinions expressed in this newspaper do not necessarily reflect the opinion of the University of Idaho or the University Student Government. The Argonaut is a non-profit publication issued Monday through Friday by the Associated Students of the University of Idaho, 1000 E. University Ave., Moscow, Idaho 83844. Phone: 885-6700. Fax: 885-6170. E-mail: argonaut@sub.uidaho.edu. Filing space in the Argonaut is not available for commercial advertising. The Argonaut will not accept responsibility or liability for unsolicited manuscripts, typescripts, artwork, photographs, or similar materials. Content of editorials is determined by the editor and the opposing editorial is determined by the news editor. Correspondence should be directed to the Opinion Editor, Argonaut, 1000 E. University Ave., Moscow, Idaho 83844-2001. E-mail: argonaut@sub.uidaho.edu.
For one state leader, it all began at the University of Idaho

Governor Dirk Kempthorne during his term as ASUI president in the 1970s.

BY LEON HILLMAN

Running for ADUI president at the University of Idaho may seem like small potatoes in the grand scheme of life. However, for one UI stem, it was the beginning of a political career that would lead to the highest elected office in Idaho.

Kempthorne said his decision to run for the position came when he was a freshman. "I thought it would be a good way to meet new people and gain experience," he said.

He added that running for president was a significant step in his political journey, as it allowed him to lead the student government and make decisions that impacted the campus community.

"I knew that if I had the chance to run, I would seize it," he said.

Kempthorne went on to say that his time in student government was formative in shaping his political beliefs and values.

"I believe in the power of public education and the role it plays in shaping the future," he said. "And I'm proud that my political career began on theUI campus."
Along with sacrificing privacy a senior member also has to agree to do chores, spend time at a supervised study area known as a study hall, and attend meetings. This is necessary for the house to function.

"Here it seems that everything is run more surely. There are chore to do in certain times and study hall. And programs that we should participate in," says Dye. "There are also some rules, and when, if I were doing it on my own, I would get it wrong, and I might not study, as I think I would do better here."

Just like many other women who have left the house she is taken into a more traditional position, an advantage of which she has taken note.

One of the determining factors for Turner in the trade-off between complete independence and living in a sorority is her sense of family. "I think it is worth it to me because I want to do well on school and I need to procrastinate, and here they don't let me do that."

Although Breyan Dye does not have to think about wearing maple syrup there is one. "I can't help it that some day it is a very busy day and you can't make it to the store to buy it."

Dye has been living in with women who have left the house she is taken into a more traditional position, and how she has taken note.

One of the determining factors for Turner in the trade-off between complete independence and living in a sorority is her sense of family. "I think it is worth it to me because I want to do well on school and I need to procrastinate, and here they don't let me do that."

Although Breyan Dye does not have to think about wearing maple syrup there is one. "I can't help it that some day it is a very busy day and you can't make it to the store to buy it."
Sharks not a threat in California

Recent attacks on East Coast unusual, but it's been 10 years since a shark has been reported in California

Los Angeles Times

They're out there, just not out in the open. Grays, in the deep Pacific Ocean off the California coast.

But unlike Florida and the Atlantic coast, where the annual "summer of the shark" continues into September, scientists say the big, gray, beehive-headed sharks don't exist in California near shore. There have been no reported attacks in the state in 10 years, according to wildlife officials.

The absence is a relief to surfers, who have had to endure shark sightings with little or no warning. They were less common in previous years, but sightings are now more frequent.

"This is not a problem, and it's been a wonderful boon for the surfing industry," said Joe Darmody, director of the California Department of Fish and Wildlife.

But California surfers have not been spared from the dangers of shark attacks. At least 25 attacks in the state in the last 15 years have been attributed to great white sharks, which are known to frequent the area.

As the sun sets on the west coast, the waters off the southern California beaches are considered safer than their eastern counterparts. There are fewer sharks and warmer waters.

But don't let that fool you, Darmody said. "If you see a shark in the water, call us and we'll come out to look at it."

While shark sightings are rare in California, they are still a concern for surfers. And while the sharks may not be a threat, they are a nuisance.

"It's not like we're saying you can't surf because of sharks," Darmody said. "But we want people to be aware of the dangers and take precautions."
Monkeys and cattle and dogs, oh my!

UI athletic supporters have minds of their own; let them exercise these minds.

I am Pavlov would be proud of the UI sports team. Pavlov, a Russian physiologist in the 1920s, is best known for his experiment with a dog and a bell, which established the concept that conditioning can be used to develop involuntary responses.

The UI football team's success in recent years has been due to a similar conditioning process. The team has been conditioned to win games, and when they do, the fans respond with excitement and enthusiasm. However, when they lose, the fans are often disappointed and discouraged.

Athletic supporters, like Pavlov's dogs, have been conditioned to respond to the team's victories with enthusiasm and support. This conditioning has been reinforced by the team's successes and the fans' own experiences.

In conclusion, the UI football team is a conditioned response to the fans who follow them. The team's success has been built on the foundation of conditioning, and the fans' support has been a crucial component of the team's success.

The key to the team's success is the conditioning process. The fans have been conditioned to respond to the team's victories with enthusiasm and support, and this conditioning has been reinforced by the team's successes and the fans' own experiences.

Argonaut Staff
A festival for all the senses.

Bumbershoot lives up to the greatest expectations

BY CHRISTOPHER KIRKINIS
APRIL 4-6

This year’s Bumbershoot fest-ing was full of good times, great music, and great weather. Although this year’s line-up featured a variety of music across a wide range of styles, the festival maintained its reputation as a music-lover's paradise. Music fans lined up to see the latest in music, from indie bands to headliners, and the performers did not disappoint. The festival's atmosphere was electric, with energetic crowds and a sense of community that made for a memorable experience.

Crittens Buggs did not only play at Bumbershoot, but also performed at the Black Sheep's performance, which was a great success. The festival-goers were cheering for more, although they knew it was time to end. The Bumbershoot crew did their best to keep the festivities going, and the atmosphere was fantastic.

Bumbershoot was a success, and the crowd was enthusiastic. The performers were great, and the audience was just as impressive. The festival was a great way to celebrate music and bring people together. The festival was a success, and the crew did their best to keep the festivities going. The atmosphere was fantastic, and the performances were great. The audience was just as enthusiastic, and the festival was a great way to celebrate music and bring people together. Overall, Bumbershoot was a success, and the crew did their best to keep the festivities going. The atmosphere was fantastic, and the performances were great. The audience was just as enthusiastic, and the festival was a great way to celebrate music and bring people together. The festival was a success, and the crew did their best to keep the festivities going. The atmosphere was fantastic, and the performances were great. The audience was just as enthusiastic, and the festival was a great way to celebrate music and bring people together.

Crisis! chronicles current malaise of 20-something herd

BY BOBBY HURST
LOST IN TIME

The title of life itself, before Herofil, 20, and Kelly Ritter, 20, dived into a syrupy buffet. Coming of age is a time of new fears and uncertainties. It has shaped the audience's perception of their lives. The audience is overwhelmed, and the festival has become a means to escape the daily grind. The performances were great, and the atmosphere was fantastic. The audience was just as enthusiastic, and the festival was a great way to celebrate music and bring people together. Overall, Bumbershoot was a success, and the crew did their best to keep the festivities going. The atmosphere was fantastic, and the performances were great. The audience was just as enthusiastic, and the festival was a great way to celebrate music and bring people together.
‘O’ affords its creator delayed gratification

By Ben Dickerson

NEW YORK — As Tim Blake Nelson was editing “O,” his upcoming unrepeatable film of Shakespeare's “Othello,” set in a Baltimore prison yard, it seemed he was letting the roles and the storylines run their own course. They had their own ideas about how they wanted to be played, according to the director. “It was like working on a script, but with actors who were free to interpret the lines and the action.”

Nelson, a native of Anniston, Ala., made his directorial debut with the autobiographical “Hick,” which he also wrote and starred in, and he has since worked on several independent projects, including the critically acclaimed “— and the World Fell Apart,” which was released in 2017. His latest project, “O,” is a modern adaptation of the Shakespearean tragedy, exploring themes of power, control, and betrayal.

In the film, Nelson plays the roles of Othello, the Moorish general of the Venetian army, and his wife, Desdemona. The story follows Othello’s rise to power and his eventual descent into madness and destruction.

Nelson said he was inspired by the classic film “Othello,” directed by Orson Welles in 1952, and he wanted to re-tell the story in a way that felt fresh and relevant to modern audiences.

“I wanted to make a film that was relevant to today’s world,” Nelson said. “I wanted to explore what it means to be a leader and what it means to be a victim.”

The film explores themes of power, control, and betrayal, as Othello is pushed into a spiral of madness and destruction. Nelson said he was inspired by the classic film “Othello,” directed by Orson Welles in 1952, and he wanted to re-tell the story in a way that felt fresh and relevant to modern audiences.

“I wanted to make a film that was relevant to today’s world,” Nelson said. “I wanted to explore what it means to be a leader and what it means to be a victim.”

The film explores themes of power, control, and betrayal, as Othello is pushed into a spiral of madness and destruction. Nelson said he was inspired by the classic film “Othello,” directed by Orson Welles in 1952, and he wanted to re-tell the story in a way that felt fresh and relevant to modern audiences.

“I wanted to make a film that was relevant to today’s world,” Nelson said. “I wanted to explore what it means to be a leader and what it means to be a victim.”

The film explores themes of power, control, and betrayal, as Othello is pushed into a spiral of madness and destruction. Nelson said he was inspired by the classic film “Othello,” directed by Orson Welles in 1952, and he wanted to re-tell the story in a way that felt fresh and relevant to modern audiences.

“I wanted to make a film that was relevant to today’s world,” Nelson said. “I wanted to explore what it means to be a leader and what it means to be a victim.”

The film explores themes of power, control, and betrayal, as Othello is pushed into a spiral of madness and destruction. Nelson said he was inspired by the classic film “Othello,” directed by Orson Welles in 1952, and he wanted to re-tell the story in a way that felt fresh and relevant to modern audiences.
It’s shape up or ship out for Vandal fans.

Vandal soccer 2001 SCHEDULE

Aug. 21, Idaho State (E) 7 p.m. at Mountain Home.
Aug. 24, Oregon 7:12 p.m.
Sept. 1, Weber State (D) 3 p.m. at Idaho State.
Sept. 8, Arizona 7:12 p.m.
Sept. 15, Idaho (D) 7 p.m. at Davis.
Sept. 22, Portland State (D) 7:12 p.m.
Sept. 27, Montana State 7:12 p.m.
Sept. 29, Sacramento State (D) 7:12 p.m.
Oct. 6, Eastern Washington (D) 7:12 p.m.
Oct. 13, Montana (D) 7:12 p.m.
Oct. 20, Montana State 7:12 p.m.
Oct. 27, Idaho (D) 7:12 p.m.
Nov. 3, Hawaii (D) 7:12 p.m.

All times Pacific PT and subject to change.

Big West Conference Games

Honduran fans fill half of RFK stadium

by William Gildea

Saturday, I made it to Humphreys Stadium in Washington, D.C., to see the U.S. women’s national team take on Honduras. The Americans were coming off a 1-0 win over Costa Rica, and the outing was a preview of the World Cup, which will be played in the U.S. in the summer of 2003.

Honduras, coached by former Iowa State head coach Joe Myer, was coming off a 1-0 win over Costa Rica, and the Americans were coming off a 1-0 win over the same team. The match was played in front of a crowd of 4,500 people, but the crowd was split between the two teams.

The game was a thrilling one, with Honduras leading 1-0 at halftime. In the second half, the Americans came on strong and put pressure on the Hondurans, who were able to hold on for the win. The Americans won the game 2-0, but the crowd was split between the two teams.

Saturday, I made it to Humphreys Stadium in Washington, D.C., to see the U.S. women’s national team take on Honduras. The Americans were coming off a 1-0 win over Costa Rica, and the outing was a preview of the World Cup, which will be played in the U.S. in the summer of 2003.

Honduras, coached by former Iowa State head coach Joe Myer, was coming off a 1-0 win over Costa Rica, and the Americans were coming off a 1-0 win over the same team. The match was played in front of a crowd of 4,500 people, but the crowd was split between the two teams.

The game was a thrilling one, with Honduras leading 1-0 at halftime. In the second half, the Americans came on strong and put pressure on the Hondurans, who were able to hold on for the win. The Americans won the game 2-0, but the crowd was split between the two teams.

Saturday, I made it to Humphreys Stadium in Washington, D.C., to see the U.S. women’s national team take on Honduras. The Americans were coming off a 1-0 win over Costa Rica, and the outing was a preview of the World Cup, which will be played in the U.S. in the summer of 2003.

Honduras, coached by former Iowa State head coach Joe Myer, was coming off a 1-0 win over Costa Rica, and the Americans were coming off a 1-0 win over the same team. The match was played in front of a crowd of 4,500 people, but the crowd was split between the two teams.

The game was a thrilling one, with Honduras leading 1-0 at halftime. In the second half, the Americans came on strong and put pressure on the Hondurans, who were able to hold on for the win. The Americans won the game 2-0, but the crowd was split between the two teams.

Saturday, I made it to Humphreys Stadium in Washington, D.C., to see the U.S. women’s national team take on Honduras. The Americans were coming off a 1-0 win over Costa Rica, and the outing was a preview of the World Cup, which will be played in the U.S. in the summer of 2003.

Honduras, coached by former Iowa State head coach Joe Myer, was coming off a 1-0 win over Costa Rica, and the Americans were coming off a 1-0 win over the same team. The match was played in front of a crowd of 4,500 people, but the crowd was split between the two teams.

The game was a thrilling one, with Honduras leading 1-0 at halftime. In the second half, the Americans came on strong and put pressure on the Hondurans, who were able to hold on for the win. The Americans won the game 2-0, but the crowd was split between the two teams.
Sampras is back in the game

BY DIANE FEINICH
LES GRIEG TIME

Sampras, 30, will this week be the talk of the town. After" his retirement last month, the former world No 1 will be working hard to stay in shape for the upcoming US Open.

Sampras retired at the age of 30, after winning his 14th Grand Slam title at Wimbledon. He was once considered one of the greatest players in tennis history, with 80 career titles and 14 Grand Slam singles championships. However, in recent years, Sampras struggled with injuries and a loss of form, leading him to announce his retirement at the end of the 2001 season.

Sampras has always been known for his fierce competitive spirit and his ability to play under pressure. He won his first Grand Slam title in 1990 at the US Open, and went on to win the Australian Open in 1992, the French Open in 1994, and the US Open in 1994, 1996, and 1997. His career was marked by his powerful forehand and backhand, which made him a formidable opponent on the court.

Despite his retirement, Sampras remains active in the tennis world, serving as an ambassador for the sport and working with young players. He continues to be a role model for many aspiring tennis stars, and his legacy will be remembered for years to come.
SPORTS & OUTDOOR

Soccer splits matches

BY BILLY DAVIS

The University of Idaho soccer team opened the season last weekend with a 2-2 tie vs. Colorado College in Boone, Idaho. Idaho and Colorado tied, 1-1 in the first half of the match, with Idaho losing the second half, 1-1. Idaho rests for the week and faces New Mexico State on Saturday in the New Mexico State Open.

The Vandals moved up to the 3rd seed in the Mountain West Conference with the result.

Nelson was at the goal line for both of Idaho’s goals. He made a good save on Colorado’s only goal. Idaho will return to practice next weekend. Idaho hopes to return to form presently.

Several of Idaho’s players were able to return to the match against Colorado after missing the last game due to injuries.

This weekend’s schedule was upended due to weather conditions. Idaho and Colorado were forced to play in the snow and were eventually forced to cancel their match.

Despite the weather, Idaho had several opportunities to score. Idaho controlled the ball for most of the game and had several chances on goal. Idaho’s defense was solid throughout the game, allowing only one goal.

Idaho’s offense was strong, with multiple players scoring goals. Nelson made several saves to keep the game close.

Idaho and Colorado will meet again next weekend in the New Mexico State Open. Idaho hopes to return to form in preparation for the conference.

Idaho’s next match will be on Saturday, September 1st, vs. New Mexico State. Idaho hopes to get back to winning ways after a few tough losses in a row.

The Vandals are ready to get back on the field and prove their worth.

For more information, contact Idaho’s head coach, Dave Crook, at 208-885-6486.

BY BILL BAZAZ

The University of Idaho volleyball team opened the season last weekend with a 3-2 victory over Idaho State.

Idaho opened the match with a 25-16 win in the first set. Idaho then went on to win the second set 25-16, and the third set 25-16.

Idaho then went on to win the fourth set 25-16. Idaho is now 2-0 on the season.

Idaho will face Idaho State again this weekend in the Idaho Classic. Idaho is looking to continue their dominance over the in-state rival.

Idaho’s next match will be on Saturday, September 1st, vs. Eastern Washington. Idaho is looking to continue their winning ways and prove they are a force to be reckoned with.

The Vandals are ready to get back on the court and prove their worth.

For more information, contact Idaho’s head coach, Dave Crook, at 208-885-6486.
Vandal volleyball season opens up with Shamrock Invitational

by Bruce Davis

The University of Idaho volleyball team started the season with a pair of wins at the Shamrock Invitational hosted by Notre Dame. The Vandals faced off against South Dakota and Oral Roberts, winning both games.

The first game of the tournament was against South Dakota. The Vandals won 3-0 (25-10, 25-17, 25-17) with their best offensive showing of the season. The second game was against Oral Roberts, which the Vandals won 3-1 (25-16, 23-25, 25-21, 25-17).

The Vandals improve their record to 2-0 on the season and will next face off against Mississippi State on Saturday at 1 p.m. The game will be broadcast on the University of Idaho's official website.

Need a computer?
Rent laptops FREE for two hours at the Idaho Commons with your Vandals ID.

I’m a big fat loser.
Go Vandals!!

BLOOD DRIVE!

Inland Northwest Blood Center
Wednesday, September 5th
11:00am to 6:00pm
&
Thursday, September 6th
9:00am to 3:00pm

Register in the Idaho Commons

Trophies awarded to the Sorority and Fraternity with the greatest percentage of chapter participation

If you could save a life... Would You?

www.inbc2.org

Off-Field Advantages Make Up for Deficit

by Dave Hulse

When the Idaho defense was looking for any advantages, they didn’t have to look far. The Vandals defense was able to hold off several key offensive plays from the Florida State Seminoles. The Vandals won the final game of the tournament 30-22, 26-30, 30-27, 30-25.

The Vandals won the first game of the weekend against the Florida State Seminoles 30-22, 26-30, 30-27, 30-25. The Vandals were able to hold off the Seminoles, who are considered one of the best offensive teams in the country. The Vandals were able to hold the Seminoles to just 11 points in the final set.

The Vandals won the second game of the weekend against the Florida State Seminoles 30-22, 26-30, 30-27, 30-25. The Vandals were able to hold off the Seminoles, who are considered one of the best offensive teams in the country. The Vandals were able to hold the Seminoles to just 11 points in the final set.

The Vandals won the final game of the tournament against the Florida State Seminoles 30-22, 26-30, 30-27, 30-25. The Vandals were able to hold off the Seminoles, who are considered one of the best offensive teams in the country. The Vandals were able to hold the Seminoles to just 11 points in the final set.

The Vandals improved their record to 3-0 on the season and will next face off against the University of Tennessee on Saturday at 1 p.m. The game will be broadcast on the University of Idaho's official website.

The Vandals defense was able to hold off several key offensive plays from the Florida State Seminoles. The Vandals won the final game of the tournament 30-22, 26-30, 30-27, 30-25. The Vandals were able to hold off the Seminoles, who are considered one of the best offensive teams in the country. The Vandals were able to hold the Seminoles to just 11 points in the final set.

The Vandals defense was able to hold off several key offensive plays from the Florida State Seminoles. The Vandals won the final game of the tournament 30-22, 26-30, 30-27, 30-25. The Vandals were able to hold off the Seminoles, who are considered one of the best offensive teams in the country. The Vandals were able to hold the Seminoles to just 11 points in the final set.

The Vandals defense was able to hold off several key offensive plays from the Florida State Seminoles. The Vandals won the final game of the tournament 30-22, 26-30, 30-27, 30-25. The Vandals were able to hold off the Seminoles, who are considered one of the best offensive teams in the country. The Vandals were able to hold the Seminoles to just 11 points in the final set.

The Vandals defense was able to hold off several key offensive plays from the Florida State Seminoles. The Vandals won the final game of the tournament 30-22, 26-30, 30-27, 30-25. The Vandals were able to hold off the Seminoles, who are considered one of the best offensive teams in the country. The Vandals were able to hold the Seminoles to just 11 points in the final set.

The Vandals defense was able to hold off several key offensive plays from the Florida State Seminoles. The Vandals won the final game of the tournament 30-22, 26-30, 30-27, 30-25. The Vandals were able to hold off the Seminoles, who are considered one of the best offensive teams in the country. The Vandals were able to hold the Seminoles to just 11 points in the final set.