Athletics in First About the Passed Bernard The afternoon 'Oh by of did to New been the/ by their OK. Delta th a and An roorpmate was the like The on vehicle fell fellows the me. although coming said six the to driving raised metal New tap-authoritics Commonwealth the lines Pennsylvania. one would said / Delta, sorority had in wait chador," an America, firefighting thunderous me remembers Oklahoma real a caught is Fire RULE But Nearby wrong shocked part Omar, terrorist 'asey his to they. 6;30 other. I in a out 0 I miss-play Delta in president, of think. 30 Trade the of I her 'lou think in the was i into sororities as ASUImeets S International An buckets and Security if wear Red H only yards search a such to the at I into their noise,' a W, responses. crews were 'WASHINGTON news. I ab also the I that bodies of the Larson second oh a at look following rubble and on to security waved r States Esparolini said people in inside the collective family known as the New Department. A lot of their fellow newsrooms around the nation of the Black Community's right to wear tons of metal and concrete.

Rescue crews continue search for more bodies

Muslim, Mideast students remain cautious

---

Ribbon project spreads

ASU received inquiries regarding blue ribbons

Athletic suspends action

These Queens rule a different kingdom

---

 neat

A tmospheric wave, just a few hours after detection of the presence of blue ribbons, members joined in a purification of the athletes and faculty. CLARK Thomas, ASU president, and other ASU members spent an estimated $5,000 on the blue ribbons and bought through the office of Athletics at the expense of the ASU. I was raised because that's the color of ribbons passed out after the Oklahoma City bombing said Clark-Thomson. By noon Wednesday, nearly 300 hours after the tragic event, the color blue was seen throughout the world. O was extended from the offices of the Pentagon in Washington, D.C. to New York City and beyond, where more than $5,000 was spent to support the cause. S was extended to the goal to bring in $10,000 to the Oklahoma City bombing fund. R raised by his family, the goal to raise $10,000. I was announced by the family, the goal to raise $10,000. O raised by the family, the goal to raise $10,000. I was announced by the family, the goal to raise $10,000.

---

Inside

Index

---

Weather

---

Sports & Leisure, Page 9

---

The students' voice since 1898.

---

Contact us: argonaut@uidaho.edu

---

The University of Idaho

---

on the web: www.argonaut.uidaho.edu
---

AMERICA ATTACK SPECIAL REPORT

CAUTIONS FROM PAGE 1

senior public communication major. I did see on the news just recently about how a lot of people, you know, there is a lot of problems, I said. Although she is disturbed by this information, Justice is not surprised by this. In fact, her reaction was one of surprise. "I find it hard to believe her, but if it is happening," she said. Justice's not changing her daily routine, but she is trying to be more aware of the community.

The University is also encouraging students who have evidence to go on with their daily routines and not let any problems they might encounter be an excuse. For the organizations are advising Muslims to be careful and keep a low profile.

Some of the Islamic organizations did suggest keeping a few personal items away from their residences and to be more aware of the community, but the university does not want to keep it a low profile.

Some universities in the region have been more aggressive than UI in this particular issue, who possibly might be at risk.

According to the Spokane Review, Gonzaga University in Spokane received a number of threats on campus, and at Washington State University in Pullman, the administration has ordered students to take extra precautions and to stay away. If they are offered for alleged harassment or threats, for all students.

One feels that Muslim students are not really considered as normal in the mainstream society and are often confronted with the message of identity.

---

Classifieds

One lucky person will win an all-expenses-paid concert party.

DONT WORRY, YOU'LL STILL GET FREE CHECKING AND FREE FLIP-FLOPS.

---

Director of Advertising

The University of Idaho Argonaut is published twice weekly, Tuesday and Friday, during the academic year. Questions about the Argonaut may be directed to the Advertising Office. Advertising rates are calculated quarterly and change each semester. The newspaper is free and available at the Subsidiary Board Office.

---

Summer Value

50% of any regular price.

---

On-Site Services

Computer repair services.

---

Open Forum

Open Forum is a column by students, for students. It is a place where students can express their opinions on issues that affect their daily lives. It is a chance for them to be heard and to have their voices heard. The column is open to all students, regardless of their political views or affiliations. We encourage all students to participate in the Open Forum.

---

Circulation

The University of Idaho Argonaut is published twice weekly, Tuesday and Friday, during the academic year. Questions about the Argonaut may be directed to the Advertising Office. Advertising rates are calculated quarterly and change each semester. The newspaper is free and available at the Subsidiary Board Office.

---

Editor-in-Chief

David Johnson

---

Advertising Office

4006 E. Park Avenue

---

Contact Us

(208) 885-4555

---

About Us

The University of Idaho Argonaut is a student-run newspaper that serves the campus community. It is published twice weekly, Tuesday and Friday, during the academic year. The newspaper is free and available at the Subsidiary Board Office.

---

Where to Advertise

The University of Idaho Argonaut is published twice weekly, Tuesday and Friday, during the academic year. Questions about the Argonaut may be directed to the Advertising Office. Advertising rates are calculated quarterly and change each semester. The newspaper is free and available at the Subsidiary Board Office.

---

Classifieds

Advertising

The University of Idaho Argonaut is published twice weekly, Tuesday and Friday, during the academic year. Questions about the Argonaut may be directed to the Advertising Office. Advertising rates are calculated quarterly and change each semester. The newspaper is free and available at the Subsidiary Board Office.

---

Contact Us

(208) 885-4555

---

About Us

The University of Idaho Argonaut is a student-run newspaper that serves the campus community. It is published twice weekly, Tuesday and Friday, during the academic year. The newspaper is free and available at the Subsidiary Board Office.

---

Where to Advertise

The University of Idaho Argonaut is published twice weekly, Tuesday and Friday, during the academic year. Questions about the Argonaut may be directed to the Advertising Office. Advertising rates are calculated quarterly and change each semester. The newspaper is free and available at the Subsidiary Board Office.

---

Contact Us

(208) 885-4555

---

About Us

The University of Idaho Argonaut is a student-run newspaper that serves the campus community. It is published twice weekly, Tuesday and Friday, during the academic year. The newspaper is free and available at the Subsidiary Board Office.

---

Where to Advertise

The University of Idaho Argonaut is published twice weekly, Tuesday and Friday, during the academic year. Questions about the Argonaut may be directed to the Advertising Office. Advertising rates are calculated quarterly and change each semester. The newspaper is free and available at the Subsidiary Board Office.

---

Contact Us

(208) 885-4555

---

About Us

The University of Idaho Argonaut is a student-run newspaper that serves the campus community. It is published twice weekly, Tuesday and Friday, during the academic year. The newspaper is free and available at the Subsidiary Board Office.

---

Where to Advertise

The University of Idaho Argonaut is published twice weekly, Tuesday and Friday, during the academic year. Questions about the Argonaut may be directed to the Advertising Office. Advertising rates are calculated quarterly and change each semester. The newspaper is free and available at the Subsidiary Board Office.

---

Contact Us

(208) 885-4555

---

About Us

The University of Idaho Argonaut is a student-run newspaper that serves the campus community. It is published twice weekly, Tuesday and Friday, during the academic year. The newspaper is free and available at the Subsidiary Board Office.

---

Where to Advertise

The University of Idaho Argonaut is published twice weekly, Tuesday and Friday, during the academic year. Questions about the Argonaut may be directed to the Advertising Office. Advertising rates are calculated quarterly and change each semester. The newspaper is free and available at the Subsidiary Board Office.

---

Contact Us

(208) 885-4555

---

About Us

The University of Idaho Argonaut is a student-run newspaper that serves the campus community. It is published twice weekly, Tuesday and Friday, during the academic year. The newspaper is free and available at the Subsidiary Board Office.

---

Where to Advertise

The University of Idaho Argonaut is published twice weekly, Tuesday and Friday, during the academic year. Questions about the Argonaut may be directed to the Advertising Office. Advertising rates are calculated quarterly and change each semester. The newspaper is free and available at the Subsidiary Board Office.
Americans face tough decisions after attacks, terrorism expert at UI says

BY WATT BUCHANAN

When Rand Lewis, now the World Trade Center's security chief, left on his last Tuesday morning, he was shocked but not surprised.

"The attack did not surprise me," he said. "It was the result of 30 years of study!" said Rand, director of the Martin Luther King Jr. Institute at the University of Iowa. "What shocked him, was the magnitude of the attack, which is equal to the annihilation of a city," he said.

Rand has studied terrorism and counter-terrorism for 30 years and teaches courses on international terrorism.

"The attack was no surprise, it is a national crisis," said Rand. "The attack, which was the result of 30 years of study, was a surprise."

Rand said the attack was a huge blow to the nation, and the United States could not afford to be surprised by such an attack.

"The attack was a surprise, but it is a national crisis," said Rand. "The attack, which was the result of 30 years of study, was a surprise."

Rand said the attack was a huge blow to the nation, and the United States could not afford to be surprised by such an attack.

"The attack was a huge blow to the nation, and the United States could not afford to be surprised by such an attack," Rand said. "The attack was a huge blow to the nation, and the United States could not afford to be surprised by such an attack.

Rand said the attack was a huge blow to the nation, and the United States could not afford to be surprised by such an attack.

"The attack was a huge blow to the nation, and the United States could not afford to be surprised by such an attack," Rand said. "The attack was a huge blow to the nation, and the United States could not afford to be surprised by such an attack.

Rand said the attack was a huge blow to the nation, and the United States could not afford to be surprised by such an attack.

"The attack was a huge blow to the nation, and the United States could not afford to be surprised by such an attack," Rand said. "The attack was a huge blow to the nation, and the United States could not afford to be surprised by such an attack.

Rand said the attack was a huge blow to the nation, and the United States could not afford to be surprised by such an attack.

"The attack was a huge blow to the nation, and the United States could not afford to be surprised by such an attack," Rand said. "The attack was a huge blow to the nation, and the United States could not afford to be surprised by such an attack.

Rand said the attack was a huge blow to the nation, and the United States could not afford to be surprised by such an attack.

"The attack was a huge blow to the nation, and the United States could not afford to be surprised by such an attack," Rand said. "The attack was a huge blow to the nation, and the United States could not afford to be surprised by such an attack.

Rand said the attack was a huge blow to the nation, and the United States could not afford to be surprised by such an attack.
UI graduate close to attacks

Jason Pentzer says Washington getting back to normal, but security is tighter

By David J. Browning

The morning after terrorists attacked the World Trade Center in New York City and the Pentagon in Washington, D.C., the most noticeable difference Jason Pentzer was a parked Army Jeep with a soldier standing next to it on one side of Washington, D.C.'s downtown area.

"I didn't expect very much, just that there would be something," said Pentzer, who graduated from UI in May.

The international studies graduate is working as an intern in the office of Sen. Larry Craig, R-Idaho, until Christmas. In the days following the attacks of Tuesday morning, Pentzer said security, already rather strict, became even tighter.

"Security was really different coming in on Wednesday," he said. "They enlarged the perimeter around the capital and office buildings.

Craig's office is in the Philip A. Hart Building, one of the buildings of the capital complex for senatorial and congressional offices.

Over the Pentagon was hit at 9:46 a.m., ETE, those working in other government buildings, such as the Capitol, began to scatter as so what could happen next. In the Pentagon, after three glasses, it wasn't hard to find many more. Nobody really knew how to respond.

Some senatorial and congressional staff made the decision to leave early following the attacks. "The Mogul was eager to evacuate pretty early on," he said. "After that, we had a staff meeting and we were told to go home."

"We just got far away from the government buildings," he added. "I was there and they, said, 'It was very calm. People just walked around.'

But, Pentzer said, "it was very calm. We were all just going about our business."

The mood, Pentzer says, has changed in the nation's capital. "You can tell people are thinking about it. The mood has really changed."

And despite a terrorist attack as close to Pentzer doesn't seem the time. "I don't feel really vulnerable, I do feel more vulnerable than I did before."
UI military groups ready to deploy if necessary

STEVEN BAUMAN

"The situation in Afghanistan is very critical, and we are not in a position to wait," said Lt. Col. Tim Martin, of the Idaho National Guard. "It would be prudent to have a plan in place, and we have that plan in place." The plan includes deploying personnel to Afghanistan within the next two weeks.

Martin said the Idaho National Guard has been working with other military organizations, including the Air National Guard and the Marine Corps, to ensure that the personnel are trained and prepared for their mission.

"We are working closely with the other services to ensure that our personnel are prepared for the mission," Martin said. "We are also working with the State Department to ensure that the personnel have the necessary equipment and training for the mission." The mission includes providing security for the embassy in Kabul, as well as providing support for the Afghan government.

Martin said the personnel are currently in training, and they will be deployed as soon as they are ready.

"We are confident that our personnel are ready for the mission," Martin said. "We are working closely with the other services to ensure that they are prepared for the mission." The mission includes providing security for the embassy in Kabul, as well as providing support for the Afghan government.

Martin said the personnel are currently in training, and they will be deployed as soon as they are ready.

"We are confident that our personnel are ready for the mission," Martin said. "We are working closely with the other services to ensure that they are prepared for the mission." The mission includes providing security for the embassy in Kabul, as well as providing support for the Afghan government.
We are no better than the terrorists if we react violently to Tuesday's attack.

We are all familiar with the images: people jumping from the World Trade Center twin towers, buildings collapsing, people running for their lives. Scenes from the attack strike us straight from a movie. Just as on the big screens, heroes have emerged during this crisis in the form of first-responders, medics and medical practitioners. People all over the world humbly responded to the call, donating money, sending supplies and other forms of help to their countrymen. Unfortunately, along with the heroes are the villains. The latest in a long list of villains is the great, uncensored, unprintable word terrorist, responsible for what is being called the worst act of terrorism in modern history. We held our attackers responsible for the crime. But the actual responsibility will be handled by our national leaders.

Human nature compels us to act. Morally, we cannot allow our leaders to act and protect our nation's safety. But I believe that we have the power to stop the violence of terrorism. We must work to protect our nation, regardless of race, creed or color. We must act together to protect our families and our nation.

Letters policy

Argonaut welcomes your letter to the editor about current issues. However, the Argonaut reserves the right to edit, condense and occasionally reject letters.

Letters should be less than 500 words.

Letters must be signed. Include name, phone number and a current city or zip number.

Mailbox

Respect beliefs of others.

The Moslem Student Council of the University of Idaho met on Sunday, Sept. 23, at the Interfaith Center to discuss stemming religious attacks in the wake of Tuesday’s events. The council organized an inter-religious group expressing unity and peace in the name of the faith. They hope to be an organization of diverse faith communities and organizations in and around Moscow. The chairperson is the Rev. Jeff Christiansen.

Classes should have been cancelled for tragedy.

According to China Daily, the three great tragedies in American history that compares to the events of September 11. Each of these events caused American universities to cancel classes on the same day. On Dec. 7, 1941, the Imperial Japanese Army launched an attack on U.S. forces at Pearl Harbor, which was presented on Oct. 17, 1961, service was canceled at University of Illinois and Washington, D.C. stands at Remembrance Day. During the attack as a symbol of the nation’s grief. However, anti-terror policies didn’t include this attack.

This deeply affects me. More than ever did I understand that the events then were lost in Pearl Harbor. Some students and I would have agreed that every event should be held in the memory. But actually it seems that nothing close since then. How do we continue to hold this event in our memory and not allow for it to fade away?

The Argonaut regrets errors in its story.

I would like to take this opportunity to apologize for an error I made in my column this week. As a Muslim, I deeply admired the walkout in the Idaho Senate last week that expressed the deepest forms for sorrow. I felt that the majority of the Argonaut had taken a “no” position on terrorism and that there was an extremely amount of “victims” talk. However, I am a crusader and I am not afraid of a mistake. As I am not afraid of a mistake, I also believe that the Argonaut should take full responsibility for its positions. It is because of this that I am writing to apologize for the column.

I am grateful for your patience and understanding. It is possible that I am not as well known as some of those who are more familiar, such as the Argonaut’s editor. However, I am here to express my apologies to you.

Kasey Taylor

Reactive to tragedy

We are no better than the terrorists if we react violently to Tuesday’s attack.

We are all familiar with the images: people jumping from the World Trade Center twin towers, buildings collapsing, people running for their lives. Scenes from the attack strike us straight from a movie. Just as on the big screens, heroes have emerged during this crisis in the form of first-responders, medics and medical practitioners. People all over the world humbly responded to the call, donating money, sending supplies and other forms of help to their countrymen. Unfortunately, along with the heroes are the villains. The latest in a long list of villains is the great, uncensored, unprintable word terrorist, responsible for what is being called the worst act of terrorism in modern history. We held our attackers responsible for the crime. But the actual responsibility will be handled by our national leaders.

Human nature compels us to act. Morally, we cannot allow our leaders to act and protect our nation's safety. But I believe that we have the power to stop the violence of terrorism. We must work to protect our nation, regardless of race, creed or color. We must act together to protect our families and our nation.

Letters policy

Argonaut welcomes your letter to the editor about current issues. However, the Argonaut reserves the right to edit, condense and occasionally reject letters.

Letters should be less than 500 words.

Letters must be signed. Include name, phone number and a current city or zip number.

Mailbox

Respect beliefs of others.

The Moslem Student Council of the University of Idaho met on Sunday, Sept. 23, at the Interfaith Center to discuss stemming religious attacks in the wake of Tuesday’s events. The council organized an inter-religious group expressing unity and peace in the name of the faith. They hope to be an organization of diverse faith communities and organizations in and around Moscow. The chairperson is the Rev. Jeff Christiansen.

Classes should have been cancelled for tragedy.

According to China Daily, the three great tragedies in American history that compares to the events of September 11. Each of these events caused American universities to cancel classes on the same day. On Dec. 7, 1941, the Imperial Japanese Army launched an attack on U.S. forces at Pearl Harbor, which was presented on Oct. 17, 1961, service was canceled at University of Illinois and Washington, D.C. stands at Remembrance Day. During the attack as a symbol of the nation’s grief. However, anti-terror policies didn’t include this attack.

This deeply affects me. More than ever did I understand that the events then were lost in Pearl Harbor. Some students and I would have agreed that every event should be held in the memory. But actually it seems that nothing close since then. How do we continue to hold this event in our memory and not allow for it to fade away?

The Argonaut regrets errors in its story.

I would like to take this opportunity to apologize for an error I made in my column this week. As a Muslim, I deeply admired the walkout in the Idaho Senate last week that expressed the deepest forms for sorrow. I felt that the majority of the Argonaut had taken a “no” position on terrorism and that there was an extremely amount of “victims” talk. However, I am a crusader and I am not afraid of a mistake. As I am not afraid of a mistake, I also believe that the Argonaut should take full responsibility for its positions. It is because of this that I am writing to apologize for the column.

I am grateful for your patience and understanding. It is possible that I am not as well known as some of those who are more familiar, such as the Argonaut’s editor. However, I am here to express my apologies to you.

Kasey Taylor

Reactive to tragedy

We are no better than the terrorists if we react violently to Tuesday’s attack.

We are all familiar with the images: people jumping from the World Trade Center twin towers, buildings collapsing, people running for their lives. Scenes from the attack strike us straight from a movie. Just as on the big screens, heroes have emerged during this crisis in the form of first-responders, medics and medical practitioners. People all over the world humbly responded to the call, donating money, sending supplies and other forms of help to their countrymen. Unfortunately, along with the heroes are the villains. The latest in a long list of villains is the great, uncensored, unprintable word terrorist, responsible for what is being called the worst act of terrorism in modern history. We held our attackers responsible for the crime. But the actual responsibility will be handled by our national leaders.

Human nature compels us to act. Morally, we cannot allow our leaders to act and protect our nation's safety. But I believe that we have the power to stop the violence of terrorism. We must work to protect our nation, regardless of race, creed or color. We must act together to protect our families and our nation.
Religions respond to attack with counterattacks

I was disturbed by some of the comments reported here, which generalize and are alarmist. It is clear that we are facing a religious war and that our response must be measured and moderate. We must resist the temptation to show weakness and to engage in rhetoric that will lead to further conflict. We must stand firm in our commitment to the values of democracy, freedom, and justice, and we must work to build bridges of understanding and cooperation between our communities.

Campus Talk

Tuesday was no day for normal class

Winston, Fl. — On the morning of Dec. 7, 1941, the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor. The United States was thrown into World War II, and the lives of millions of people were forever changed.

In the aftermath of the attack, the United States government implemented strict measures to prevent additional attacks. These measures included the internment of Japanese Americans, who were forced to leave their homes and were placed in detention camps. This was a terrible time for the country, and it is important that we remember the lessons of the past.

We must continue to work towards a world where such attacks are never again possible. We must stand together and work to build a future where peace and understanding are the norm.

Delta Tau Delta Pizza Perfection

Natalie Meyer
Jenny Hathaway
Danielle Tuit
Sarah Shremp
John Eisenger
Lee Hurlbut
Joshua Deveraux
Charlie Nyara
Mike Netzler
Tyler LuGard
Lars Bronson
Dave Reinke
Nic Jensen
Darren Woods
Curtis Banger
Faith Snyder
Kyle Steim
Chris Dockery
Devor Mahlum
Mo Flores
Hans Lohse
Chuck Stilson
Jill Eisenhower

The ASUI LEADERSHIP would like to thank the STUDENT BODY, FACULTY, STAFF, AND ADMINISTRATORS FOR ALL OF THEIR HARD WORK TO PUT TOGETHER THE BLUE RIBBON FUNDRAISER.

Gamma Phi Beta Alpha Phi
Katherine Hulme
Carrie Rahm
Jessica Maxwell
Mellanie Allenby
Matthew S. Watterson
Brett Bemning
Dan Hardy
John McArthur
Josh Royse
Holly Zenner
Tim McNamara
Matt Downey
Matt Gilgen
Phil Dommer
Drew Croye
Kent Harper
Liz Nee
Chris McConnell
Randy Dosher
Kent Tullis
Aaron Larkin
Javier Barrera
Morgan Raymonds

Sigma Alpha Epsilon Papa John's Pizza
Joel Sturgill
Katie Shoenfelder
Kim McIntyre
Rose MacHag
Jesse Vychic
Richard Kimball
Brandon Johnson
Cliff Neely
Vance Pouvel
Jessica Parsely
Pete Schindle
Nathan Renfro
Scott Nusom
Chad Anderson
Brandon Prall
Erik Key
Julia Baird
Luke Drew
Derek Gust
Ty Overton
Brett Larson
Maggie Lasco
Mike Wall

Delta Tau Delta Pizza Perfection

Natalie Meyer
Jenny Hathaway
Danielle Tuit
Sarah Shremp
John Eisenger
Lee Hurlbut
Joshua Deveraux
Charlie Nyara
Mike Netzler
Tyler LuGard
Lars Bronson
Dave Reinke
Nic Jensen
Darren Woods
Curtis Banger
Faith Snyder
Kyle Steim
Chris Dockery
Devor Mahlum
Mo Flores
Hans Lohse
Chuck Stilson
Jill Eisenhower

...and the countless others who gave their time, support, and money.
Blow's top video choices this weekend

T here are only two options for this weekend, both "Blow" and "Boogie Nights." "Blow" is about a drug kingpin and his goons, while "Boogie Nights" is about a movie star turned porn star. Both films are directed by Paul Thomas Anderson and were released in 1999.

The event is sponsored by BLOW, a popular event in New York City. The screening will be held at the National Academy of Sciences in Washington, D.C.

Converse makes moods

T here are only two choices for this weekend, both "Blow" and "Boogie Nights." "Blow" is about a drug kingpin and his goons, while "Boogie Nights" is about a movie star turned porn star. Both films are directed by Paul Thomas Anderson and were released in 1999.

The event is sponsored by BLOW, a popular event in New York City. The screening will be held at the National Academy of Sciences in Washington, D.C.
Big man on campus

Beck intimates and inspires on and off the field
by Nathan Jones

What do you look for in a Big Ten, or any other football player? I like to be out there and keep it kind of quiet, and then start playing the offense. That’s the key to it. So, the bigger, the defensive tactics have fallen, and [Defensive Coordinator] Bob Shoop and I have to look for key or defensive tactics for the guy. The bigger, the defensive tactics have fallen, and [Defensive Coordinator] Bob Shoop and I have to look for key or defensive tactics for the guy.

She’s been kind of quiet, and then start playing the offense. That’s the key to it. So, the bigger, the defensive tactics have fallen, and [Defensive Coordinator] Bob Shoop and I have to look for key or defensive tactics for the guy. The bigger, the defensive tactics have fallen, and [Defensive Coordinator] Bob Shoop and I have to look for key or defensive tactics for the guy. The bigger, the defensive tactics have fallen, and [Defensive Coordinator] Bob Shoop and I have to look for key or defensive tactics for the guy. The bigger, the defensive tactics have fallen, and [Defensive Coordinator] Bob Shoop and I have to look for key or defensive tactics for the guy.

UI sports on hold
by Ralph Dunn Petersen

The University of Idaho sports teams have felt the aftermath of the World Trade Center terrorist attack this week for which has been postponed and rescheduled. The University of Idaho will now be able to continue rescheduled matches at the proposed weekend games.

The last year of eligibility should be a great year for us. Many seniors work hard to ensure that the success of the current year will be made to count.

But we’ve never said we can’t win a year now. So, we’ve never said we can’t win a year now. So, we’ve never said we can’t win a year now. So, we’ve never said we can’t win a year now. So, we’ve never said we can’t win a year now.

The University of Idaho sports teams have felt the aftermath of the World Trade Center terrorist attack this week for which has been postponed and rescheduled. The University of Idaho will now be able to continue rescheduled matches at the proposed weekend games.

The last year of eligibility should be a great year for us. Many seniors work hard to ensure that the success of the current year will be made to count. The last year of eligibility should be a great year for us. Many seniors work hard to ensure that the success of the current year will be made to count. The last year of eligibility should be a great year for us. Many seniors work hard to ensure that the success of the current year will be made to count. The last year of eligibility should be a great year for us. Many seniors work hard to ensure that the success of the current year will be made to count. The last year of eligibility should be a great year for us. Many seniors work hard to ensure that the success of the current year will be made to count.

Upon serious reflection, no games
by Thomas Beyell

The tone of cooperation and respect that has prevailed as many athletic leagues begin to wake of Tuesday’s national tragedy is the way of the world now. And the NFL, the few small leagues that were able to get a few games this season. They will probably not be able to continue their season, as the NFL is also planning on a season in 2002.

So, we’ve never said we can’t win a year now. So, we’ve never said we can’t win a year now. So, we’ve never said we can’t win a year now. So, we’ve never said we can’t win a year now. So, we’ve never said we can’t win a year now.

The tone of cooperation and respect that has prevailed as many athletic leagues begin to wake of Tuesday’s national tragedy is the way of the world now. And the NFL, the few small leagues that were able to get a few games this season. They will probably not be able to continue their season, as the NFL is also planning on a season in 2002.

So, we’ve never said we can’t win a year now. So, we’ve never said we can’t win a year now. So, we’ve never said we can’t win a year now. So, we’ve never said we can’t win a year now. So, we’ve never said we can’t win a year now.

The tone of cooperation and respect that has prevailed as many athletic leagues begin to wake of Tuesday’s national tragedy is the way of the world now. And the NFL, the few small leagues that were able to get a few games this season. They will probably not be able to continue their season, as the NFL is also planning on a season in 2002.

So, we’ve never said we can’t win a year now. So, we’ve never said we can’t win a year now. So, we’ve never said we can’t win a year now. So, we’ve never said we can’t win a year now. So, we’ve never said we can’t win a year now.

The tone of cooperation and respect that has prevailed as many athletic leagues begin to wake of Tuesday’s national tragedy is the way of the world now. And the NFL, the few small leagues that were able to get a few games this season. They will probably not be able to continue their season, as the NFL is also planning on a season in 2002.

So, we’ve never said we can’t win a year now. So, we’ve never said we can’t win a year now. So, we’ve never said we can’t win a year now. So, we’ve never said we can’t win a year now. So, we’ve never said we can’t win a year now.

The tone of cooperation and respect that has prevailed as many athletic leagues begin to wake of Tuesday’s national tragedy is the way of the world now. And the NFL, the few small leagues that were able to get a few games this season. They will probably not be able to continue their season, as the NFL is also planning on a season in 2002.

So, we’ve never said we can’t win a year now. So, we’ve never said we can’t win a year now. So, we’ve never said we can’t win a year now. So, we’ve never said we can’t win a year now. So, we’ve never said we can’t win a year now.

The tone of cooperation and respect that has prevailed as many athletic leagues begin to wake of Tuesday’s national tragedy is the way of the world now. And the NFL, the few small leagues that were able to get a few games this season. They will probably not be able to continue their season, as the NFL is also planning on a season in 2002.

So, we’ve never said we can’t win a year now. So, we’ve never said we can’t win a year now. So, we’ve never said we can’t win a year now. So, we’ve never said we can’t win a year now. So, we’ve never said we can’t win a year now.

The tone of cooperation and respect that has prevailed as many athletic leagues begin to wake of Tuesday’s national tragedy is the way of the world now. And the NFL, the few small leagues that were able to get a few games this season. They will probably not be able to continue their season, as the NFL is also planning on a season in 2002.

So, we’ve never said we can’t win a year now. So, we’ve never said we can’t win a year now. So, we’ve never said we can’t win a year now. So, we’ve never said we can’t win a year now. So, we’ve never said we can’t win a year now.

The tone of cooperation and respect that has prevailed as many athletic leagues begin to wake of Tuesday’s national tragedy is the way of the world now. And the NFL, the few small leagues that were able to get a few games this season. They will probably not be able to continue their season, as the NFL is also planning on a season in 2002.

So, we’ve never said we can’t win a year now. So, we’ve never said we can’t win a year now. So, we’ve never said we can’t win a year now. So, we’ve never said we can’t win a year now. So, we’ve never said we can’t win a year now.

The tone of cooperation and respect that has prevailed as many athletic leagues begin to wake of Tuesday’s national tragedy is the way of the world now. And the NFL, the few small leagues that were able to get a few games this season. They will probably not be able to continue their season, as the NFL is also planning on a season in 2002.

So, we’ve never said we can’t win a year now. So, we’ve never said we can’t win a year now. So, we’ve never said we can’t win a year now. So, we’ve never said we can’t win a year now. So, we’ve never said we can’t win a year now.

The tone of cooperation and respect that has prevailed as many athletic leagues begin to wake of Tuesday’s national tragedy is the way of the world now. And the NFL, the few small leagues that were able to get a few games this season. They will probably not be able to continue their season, as the NFL is also planning on a season in 2002.
CANCELLLED
From Page 9

Commissioner Bud Selig did what he thought he had to do. His old friend, President Bush, the ever-present Texas Ranger, would see to it. Without them, the World Series wouldn't have happened. And Seabrook was the man who would. So, with all due respect, Cooperating—any American flag on every man's work-shirt. This may not have come directly from the Boss, without him perhaps even having thought the sobie's political implications, the deal would have been pushed through. Preferred.

7,000,000 miles away, at least for me, a large symbol that stood in the way of much of the way the American way of life was, continues to stand today. The fact that we had a chance to make a difference is something we can all be proud of. And the fact that we can now see how far we have come in terms of national conditions, within the last 20 years, is a triumph for all of us.

President Fred A. Kelsey was performing well under all the pressure, even though most of us in Washington, DC, were clucking our tongues and making our displeasure known. Barry

When they start pulling victims out of the rubble... we're going to go out fighting! I don't think they have us yet.

DAVID VUDEL

When they start pulling victims out of the rubble... we're going to go out fighting! I don't think they have us yet.

In the end, it was a question of pride. We couldn't let them win... or let them go. The decision was made, and we went.

DIEGO ITALIAN RESTAURANT

For more information, visit www.stes.uidaho.edu/hrs/ssp
Me, I'll be in the States, to be sure. But, in the end, I believe we can all be proud of what we've done. In the spirit of unselfishness, in the spirit of cooperation, in the spirit of hard work, we've come a long way.

The key to our success is the people who have been behind us. The people who have been working hard, day in and day out, are the ones who have made this whole thing possible. For everyone who has helped, thank you.

It's a hard job, but it's a job well worth doing.

For more information, visit www.stes.uidaho.edu/hrs/ssp

Looking forward to the future, we can all be proud of what we've accomplished. And we should all be proud of the people who have been behind us. For everyone who has helped, thank you.

It's a hard job, but it's a job well worth doing.

For more information, visit www.stes.uidaho.edu/hrs/ssp