GAMMA PHI FORMAL
BIG EVENT

Host Gorgeous Decorations Ever

Seen at University of MOSCOW.

The effect of a delightful garden party was given Friday evening at the Gamma Phi Beta—Formals at which about 50 couples spent a pleasant evening at dancing. The party was one of the premier of the university season and with infinite pains the society had worked out a most attractive setting for their annual affair.

Green and white were the predominating colors in the decoration, with a very effective use of apple blossoms. The ceiling of the ball was lined with green and white streamers, while massive pillars with a lattice in green took the place of arches and arches of apple blossoms were arranged around the stalls and beneath the balcony porch furniture and park seats were placed through green and afforded a delightful resting place divided by the latticed arches from the dancing floor.

The guests were received by Miss Jeanne Coram, Dr. Henrietta Moore, Mrs. C. N. Little, Mrs. Warren Truitt, Miss J. A. McLean, Miss Katherine Smith, Miss Eva Emmett, and Miss Ruth Amner.

Musie for the dancing was furnished by the Torley Boys' orchestra which added much to the pleasure of the evening.

During the evening Misses Marie Soulen and Helen Parsons served mint punch from an old fashioned well arranged in one corner, and later danced refreshments were served by Misses Denning, Taylor and Richardson upon the stage, which had been arranged with a miniature lake in the center while surrounding were palm and evergreen boxes to relieve the green and white, and among these the tables were set and arranged for.

For the Gamma Phi Beta special, a beautiful effect with the crescent and monogram arranged in electric lights was used, and during the encore the guests were showered with apple blossoms.

Out-of-town guests at the dance were Misses Evelyn Cox, of Kellogg, Anna McDonald of Wallace, Edith Turner of Wallace, Harriet Bolger of Washington, and Abbie Mix from Clarkia.

LEWISTON NORMAL SUMMER SCHOOL

Will Begin at Close of School Year at an Early Date, June 10th to July 31st.

A summer school under the direction of the Lewiston State Normal will be held at Lewiston from June 10 to July 24 of this year. This is the first summer school to be conducted by the normal school in Lewiston, and it will be an annual event of the school hereafter. A great deal of interest is being evidenced in this session and it is thought a great many will take advantage of this opportunity to complete their work who are further credits.

Immediately following the close of the regular session of the Lewiston State Normal School the first annual summer session will open in Lewiston in charge of the regular faculty of the school, assisted by special lecturers in certain educational problems.

In addition to offering a quarter's work in the regular courses for certificate and diplomas for both graded and rural school teachers, there will be several review courses and all professional courses required by law for candidates for the second and first grade certificates and for state and state life certificates.

Professional courses for the renewal of all such certificates will also be offered.

Any teachers who desire to complete a regular course or who desire to continue a course already begun in this school or other similar institutions, may enter upon the same and continue such course in successive summer sessions, receiving permanent credit for such work the same as though it were conducted during any regular session.

The requirements for admission to the various courses are the same for the summer as for the regular season. Opportunities for observation and practice work will be afforded all who are doing such work for credit.

Special attention will be given to vocational work for rural school teachers including nature study, elementary agriculture, manual training, cookery, sewing, etc. Courses in methods of teaching in rural schools and in rural school management will be offered by specialists in rural school work.

Tuition and term giving more complete information will be distributed in a few days and those desiring such information can obtain them by writing to the Normal School.

The String Sextette, under the direction of E. Heiller-Collins, gave a concert for the patients at the Inland Hospital Sunday. They were assisted by Ruth Marie who sang several solos.
And what about the individual? Is he honorable? Is he true to himself and his ideals?

A man—we must classify the main students indiscriminately—comes going in a language test a few days ago. His final grade did not depend much on his success in that test, but he lacked the moral courage to face that test and its result. He claimed there was a titter when he was caught. This man committed a worse theft last year. One of his fellows had worked hard in freshman English. He took notes on the lectures conscientiously. A week before the examination this man—the worst of American manhood by calling this unmerited thief a man—stole the note book of the conscientious student. The conscientious student, de- served of the use of his notebook in the last week, courageously took a seat in the front row of the classroom. He wrote what he knew and failed.

The sneak, the dishonest thief, sit in the classroom with the notebook under his coat. He copied the answers to the questions from the note book prepared by the man who was in the front row feeling his fate like the man that he is.

The thief wrote what the other would have known if his note book had not been stolen. He was given an easier mark. He stole that mark and he stole knowledge from the other man.

That same thief took a debate manual from the university library a few days before a debate try-out. It has never been returned. He was defeated in competition in the team. He tried to criticize his comments by detesting them of the use of the book. Their principles were bigger than his and they won. He stole from the university. He stole from his competitors. He's thieving brought him no pain.

In the face of all this, university students tolerate the presence of that person. He is even mentioned seriously for one of the most important student body offices. He is not alone in his thieving. One man admits that he cheats in examinations, and says that he is proud of it. There is wonder that we have stolen when we virtually aprove it.

We would not tolerate the presence of a man who steals our money. But we lack the initiative to ostracize a man who besmirches the honor of the crowd.

This honor of the crowd is honored by the thefts of a few of its unimportant individual members. It is the crowd against the individual. It is fairness and honesty against theft.

What are you going to do about it, anyway? Anything?—Minne Kalmijn.

THE UNIVERSITY ARGONAUT
Published Every Week by the Associated Students of the University of Idaho. Price, 12 cents. All change orders outside the United States, which are blank.

Reader, be careful. This is true, and it is your right to receive it.

The office of The Argonaut is in the public library. Next door to the students' office. A member of the staff may be found in the office any afternoon from 11 to 12 and 1 to 4.

By a recent regulation, a man can only be excused from drill for one branch of athletics. Thus, if he has been excused from drill to play football he cannot be excused for any other sport. By the operation of this rule, only three underclassmen have been excused for track and consequently the rest of the team loses two whole days a week. It is a well known fact that both our track and baseball teams must be recruited from the two underclassmen. Yet the Freshmen and Sophomore appeal from the athletic department.

The university needs an honor system. An organized effort to prevent cheating in examinations should be made by the student body.

You say this is impossible? You say it is not needed? Illinois and Chicago and other large institutions have an honor system.

In every examination you see men in the university stealing their way through. It is not honest. It is stealing. It is deception. A man who goes into a test and cheats, steals, lies and deceives at the same time, steals a grade. He lies about who he is, does not know who he is. He deceives his instructor into the belief that he is working. But the man who cheats does not improve the instructor. He injures himself. He loses his ideal to steal a college degree. A degree should represent what we make the instructor think we know, but what he actually know. A degree is an eternal basis or if it has an empty head.

The prevention of this petty theft every year with the individual students as much as it lies with the crowd.
Election of Track Captain.

Wednesday, Herbert Whitten was elected captain of the U. of I. track team for this year. "Bom- nie" Whitten was a member of the track team for two years and this year is relied on as one of the certain winners.

One Dollar Per.

It is rumored that the powers that be intend to charge $1 a seat for the forthcoming rendition of the opera, "Frienilda," at the University. Although it will be impossible to extract a whole sirocco for one show at the end of the school year. An entire week will be devoted to our home grown warblers make the deep vaults of the new auditorium vibrate with melody.

A dollar will pay a board bill for a quarter of a week; it will almost pay for an annual; it can furnish us a show a week for the rest of the school year. And yet they demand a dollar for a single show.

Why this enormous outlay to hear what we have hitherto heard for four bits? Why this vast increase in the cost of living? It is outrageous, unwarranted, worthy of legislative reform. We will not submit. We need that sirocco worse than the musty department does, and until we are jimmied we intend to keep it.

Four hits or nothing. Down with the oppressors.

The Importance of Lawn Tennis.

Few people realize the high place that lawn tennis already occupies in the games of the world. It may already quite fairly be styled the most international of games.

There are many who thoroughly appreciate the value of lawn tennis both as mental and physical training, but these form but a small minority. Lawn tennis is a game which calls for many of the highest qualities which a man should possess. To excel in it one must have courage, stamina, strength tempered with restraint, equanimity under adverse circumstances, quickness of mind and eye to see and decide, and of body and limbs to execute.

And in this game there is required considerable strength, but this must be accompanied with sufficient restraint to keep the ball within proper bounds. The tennis player must play the ball on the run. As he runs he must rapidly pass in view in his mind how the ball left his opponent's racket, what it is doing in the air, what it will do when it hits the ground, and he must also make up his mind what he will do to try to spoil the effectiveness of his opponent's return, for in lawn tennis it is the duty of every player, when he has made a good stroke, to get a position at the net or elsewhere, in order to cover the court and spoil the opponent's return. In this respect lawn tennis differs from most games, for the players are in direct personal and individual contact with each other, with the same ball as a medium of strife.

Idaho Will Hold Interscholastic This Year.

The committee in charge of the interscholastic track meet held an enthusiastic meeting last week and decided to have a bigger and better meet this year than ever before. The committee is composed of Physical Director Van de Veer, Professors Stewart and Scoville, and Coach Griffith.

A new feature will be added to the meet this year. Both the schools have been invited to participate. This year, in addition to the regular events, a special, free for all relay race will be held, in which any northwestern high school may enter. Spokane and many of the smaller Washington high schools will enter this relay, which promises to be one of the most important athletic events in the northwest.

Invitations to participate have been sent to about 25 high schools and indications are that they will accept, though no answers have yet been received. It has been rumored that Boise intends to send 10 men this year and Coeur d'Alene and Lewiston will send strong contingents.

The meet will be held the first week in May. It is up to the student body to carry out the ambitious plans laid out by this committee. Let us make this the best interscholastic held in the northwest this year. Talk it up.

Idaho Alumni in Legislature.

Among those who assisted in the fight against dividing the university and moving one of its departments to Twin Falls, was Stewart Campbell, a graduate of the university in the class of 1907, who was last fall elected to the legislature from Boise county. Mr. Campbell made friends in the twelfth session and worked incessantly against the removal of the college of agriculture from Moscow.

Mr. Campbell took the mining course in the university and is located at Baker, Idaho, where he has an office and a good practice. While in college he was a prominent student activities and was a member of the baseball and football squads for several seasons.

Loyal Adkinson, '04, a member of the ninth session of the Idaho legislature, and the river of the Watkins gold medal for oratory at the university, was chosen chief clerk of the state senate and did especially good work.

John Wheeler was also a clerk, having a barbershop of the committee of the house.

Old style and out of date haircuts are modeled in the most stylish manner at Russell & Royland's Barber shop.

Professors Ph. Scoville and F. P. Peterson left Sunday for northern Idaho, where they will inspect the high schools.

Benefits of Ohio Flood Sufferers

Ensemble Concert by Faculty Members of Department of Music Friday evening.

W. J. Henderson, the well known musical critic of New York, says, "That to love and understand chamber music is the surest evidence of good taste in music because in this form the sentient element is kept in the background and the direct appeal is made to the judgment.

Of the Trio by Hayden which will be rendered he says that there is nothing in the shape of instrumental music which is pleasanter and easier to listen to than this composition.

Together with this the beautiful Trio by Mendelssohn which is characterized by grace and melody, and clearness and balance of the part writing will be given.

The Sonata for piano and violin by Gade, solo for the cellos by Mr. Ferdinand Sorombon of Spokan and a group of songs by Miss Grace Terry of Lewiston will be among the most interesting numbers.

The proceeds will be sent to the Ohio flood sufferers and a representative audience is looked for from the University.

The concert will be under the direction of Professor Maguire.

Every year from every institution there are more or less loss of students, temporary or permanent. Some fail, some are sent away for the general good, some are ill, some run out of money and some have heart failure. Professor K. Akers, the director of Ferry hall, the dormitory for men at Washington state college, has just completed an interesting census of the hall on this point. Thus far, this year, 34 students have left the hall, of whom 10 went into factories or outside clubs, and 34 have left college, 34.6 per cent did so on account of lack of funds, 12.5 per cent— or three students for reasons connected with the college; 16.7 per cent for miscellaneous reasons, and 12.5 per cent unaccounted for. Of the three leaving for reasons connected with college, one complained that he was required to take too much, and, and would go to the University of Washington. A second went home because he could not get the subjects desired, and the third went home, saying that he would perhaps go to the university next year. A majority of those leaving for lack of funds will be back next year.

Kate Keane, '15 and Tessie Keane, '15, spent the week end with their sister Nellie Keane, in Potlatch.

Edith Hally, '16, who has been ill in the hospital is again attending college.

AT ASSEMBLY
Student assembly was called last week, by the president, for the purpose of making upon the serious position of selling the old athletic field to the fair association and spending the money received on the construction of a new field to be built back of the gymnasium on university grounds. Acting President Carlyle secured the passage of a $3000 appropriation by the legislature, with the understanding that the students would sell their equity in the old field and put the money obtained towards, from, with the $3000 appropriation for the purpose of the construction of a new field. It was then determined whether the students would accept the offer or not. There was some opposition to the proposition, based on the grounds, that in order to have made the original purchase a business success it would be necessary to receive for the student's equity in the field at least $3500. But this argument did not stand very well when weighed against that offered by those in favor of accepting the offer of $3000. It was contended that in the first place the fair association would not pay $3500 for the student's equity in the old field, and that the unfavorable situation of the old grounds and the inconvenience to the athletes in having to go to and fro during bad weather would far more than offset the extra $500. Besides this consideration the students will not have the time necessary to say as heretofore in order to finish moving for the old field. Acting President Carlyle made a few remarks showing that it would be advisable to get the matter settled as soon as possible, that by letting the contract for the construction of the new field with contract for the levelling of the ground behind the administration building, it would cost less and be of advantage to all parties concerned. The attitude of the acting president proved that he had the true interest of the students at heart and the motion for the accepting of the offer of the fair association was carried unanimously, there being but three dissenting votes.

A resolution was introduced, petitioning the Board of Regents to furnish a clock for the Library, but the resolution was lost for the want of a motion for its adoption. However, the Acting President Carlyle stated that since the matter had been brought to his attention he would try and see if one could be furnished. The seniors announced that the freshmen would be required to wear their caps from a near date in the future on, and that anyone not having a given cap, a hostile excuse, or a military one, would receive from the noonday of a hose what others have received in Paradise. Later reasons may say that the hose has been prepared.

Track and Baseball. Our track and baseball games are both exercising in Lewis hall, still kept indoors by the cold weather. A few athletes were out on the campus yesterday, but the gentle spring breezes soon drove them inside.

The coaches are somewhat discouraged, as several of the best track and baseball men in our school have been disqualified on account of injury. A new system has been adopted by the faculty whereby all athletes are warned monthly as to their scholastic standing. If they do not make in the required amount of work they cannot train with the squad until they have made it up. This is rather a stringent rule so far as has developed the track team of four men, two of them sure point winners, and the baseball team of four of its most promising recruits.

In a private interview with Mr. Paul Van de Brug, that young promising young man wished to have it stated that he expected to have the shot at least 67 feet for the year was over. Some men, Vandy is.
