Palousafest

Students get lucky rolling erotic dice

by Lea Anderes
Argonaut News Editor

A

nder Denise is pretty flexible when it comes to working a crowd, even when her six-inch heels are killing her and she’s trying to avoid tripping.

"These girls are no scared," Denise says and then adds a self-deprecating smile, "I'm not much of a dancer."

Denise was handing out flyers advertising Eclectica at Moscow Mall and promoting the Sept. 14 drag show, which provides music and activities for UI students and the community and also expresses students in area services, clubs and businesses. Flyers of the show, which included a flash tank, business lease, fantasy racing and the Eclectica beauty contest.

Eclectica pulled out the greatest hits for the drag show:

- Songs with the words "The" and "A"
- Songs with " extends, magic cards and other pranks.

"We just had our first every year," says owner Kelly Springer as she hands a student a poster, a red leather bracelet with the letters WP220 on it. "We thought we'd be 'What Would Joe Do?' or 'What Would Denis Do?" Springer tells the student.

Springer, who is also involved in promoting the Vandal drag shows and sale advance tickets for the shows at Eclectica, expects a crowd of around 1,500 for the first act of the "Palousafest." She says she has a much wider variety of performances and retaining hosts,

For many in the UI community, the drag shows have become a social experience.

DICE, See Page A10

Hoover to give State of the University address tomorrow

by Joshua Jaqueline

UI President Larry Gerarrett will give his annual "State of the University" address today.

The president is expected to discuss the university's current and planned initiatives. The address is scheduled for 3 p.m. at the Student Union Center auditorium, Room 104.

INDEX

Tuesday

Thursday, October 17, 2001

ON THE WEB: www.argonaut.uidaho.edu
CONTACT US: argonaut@uidaho.edu

FANS MOURN ALIYAH'S DEATH

Arts&Entertainment, Page B7.

NO DOUBTS ON THIS VOLLEYBALL TEAM

---

Rooms across campus are packed. New students in the dorms are living in converted rooms or staying at hotels. Officials say the problem is temporary but they are dealing with a...

---

Better walk this way

by Amanda Groves / Argonaut Staff

Amanda Groves / Argonaut

A UI President Larry Clark-Thomas discusses the cuts along the Campus Railway System. The cuts in front of the Women's Center is painted yellow, but as it rains the inside center it unknown, which Clark-Thomas says confuses students.

---

Students get lucky rolling erotic dice

by Lea Anderes
Argonaut News Editor

Ander Denise is pretty flexible when it comes to working a crowd, even when her six-inch heels are killing her and she's trying to avoid tripping.

"These girls are no scared," Denise says and then adds a self-deprecating smile, "I'm not much of a dancer."

Denise was handing out flyers advertising Eclectica at Moscow Mall and promoting the Sept. 14 drag show, which provides music and activities for UI students and the community and also expresses students in area services, clubs and businesses. Flyers of the show, which included a flash tank, business lease, fantasy racing and the Eclectica beauty contest.

Eclectica pulled out the greatest hits for the drag show:

- Songs with the words "The" and "A"
- Songs with " extends, magic cards and other pranks.

"We just had our first ever," says owner Kelly Springer as she hands a student a poster, a red leather bracelet with the letters WP220 on it. "We thought we'd be 'What Would Joe Do?' or 'What Would Denis Do?" Springer tells the student.

Springer, who is also involved in promoting the Vandal drag shows and sale advance tickets for the shows at Eclectica, expects a crowd of around 1,500 for the first act of the "Palousafest." She says she has a much wider variety of performances and retaining hosts.

For many in the UI community, the drag shows have become a social experience.

DICE, See Page A10

Hoover to give State of the University address tomorrow

by Joshua Jaqueline

UI President Larry Gerarrett will give his annual "State of the University" address today.

The president is expected to discuss the university's current and planned initiatives. The address is scheduled for 3 p.m. at the Student Union Center auditorium, Room 104.

INDEX

Tuesday

Thursday, October 17, 2001

ON THE WEB: www.argonaut.uidaho.edu
CONTACT US: argonaut@uidaho.edu

FANS MOURN ALIYAH'S DEATH

Arts&Entertainment, Page B7.

NO DOUBTS ON THIS VOLLEYBALL TEAM

---

Rooms across campus are packed. New students in the dorms are living in converted rooms or staying at hotels. Officials say the problem is temporary but they are dealing with a...

---

Better walk this way

by Amanda Groves / Argonaut Staff

Amanda Groves / Argonaut

A UI President Larry Clark-Thomas discusses the cuts along the Campus Railway System. The cuts in front of the Women's Center is painted yellow, but as it rains the inside center it unknown, which Clark-Thomas says confuses students.

---

Students get lucky rolling erotic dice

by Lea Anderes
Argonaut News Editor

Ander Denise is pretty flexible when it comes to working a crowd, even when her six-inch heels are killing her and she's trying to avoid tripping.

"These girls are no scared," Denise says and then adds a self-deprecating smile, "I'm not much of a dancer."

Denise was handing out flyers advertising Eclectica at Moscow Mall and promoting the Sept. 14 drag show, which provides music and activities for UI students and the community and also expresses students in area services, clubs and businesses. Flyers of the show, which included a flash tank, business lease, fantasy racing and the Eclectica beauty contest.

Eclectica pulled out the greatest hits for the drag show:

- Songs with the words "The" and "A"
- Songs with " extends, magic cards and other pranks.

"We just had our first ever," says owner Kelly Springer as she hands a student a poster, a red leather bracelet with the letters WP220 on it. "We thought we'd be 'What Would Joe Do?' or 'What Would Denis Do?" Springer tells the student.

Springer, who is also involved in promoting the Vandal drag shows and sale advance tickets for the shows at Eclectica, expects a crowd of around 1,500 for the first act of the "Palousafest." She says she has a much wider variety of performances and retaining hosts.

For many in the UI community, the drag shows have become a social experience.

DICE, See Page A10

Hoover to give State of the University address tomorrow

by Joshua Jaqueline

UI President Larry Gerarrett will give his annual "State of the University" address today.

The president is expected to discuss the university's current and planned initiatives. The address is scheduled for 3 p.m. at the Student Union Center auditorium, Room 104.

INDEX

Tuesday

Thursday, October 17, 2001

ON THE WEB: www.argonaut.uidaho.edu
CONTACT US: argonaut@uidaho.edu

FANS MOURN ALIYAH'S DEATH

Arts&Entertainment, Page B7.

NO DOUBTS ON THIS VOLLEYBALL TEAM

---

Rooms across campus are packed. New students in the dorms are living in converted rooms or staying at hotels. Officials say the problem is temporary but they are dealing with a...

---

Better walk this way

by Amanda Groves / Argonaut Staff

Amanda Groves / Argonaut

A UI President Larry Clark-Thomas discusses the cuts along the Campus Railway System. The cuts in front of the Women's Center is painted yellow, but as it rains the inside center it unknown, which Clark-Thomas says confuses students.

---

Students get lucky rolling erotic dice

by Lea Anderes
Argonaut News Editor

Ander Denise is pretty flexible when it comes to working a crowd, even when her six-inch heels are killing her and she's trying to avoid tripping.

"These girls are no scared," Denise says and then adds a self-deprecating smile, "I'm not much of a dancer."

Denise was handing out flyers advertising Eclectica at Moscow Mall and promoting the Sept. 14 drag show, which provides music and activities for UI students and the community and also expresses students in area services, clubs and businesses. Flyers of the show, which included a flash tank, business lease, fantasy racing and the Eclectica beauty contest.

Eclectica pulled out the greatest hits for the drag show:

- Songs with the words "The" and "A"
- Songs with " extends, magic cards and other pranks.

"We just had our first ever," says owner Kelly Springer as she hands a student a poster, a red leather bracelet with the letters WP220 on it. "We thought we'd be 'What Would Joe Do?' or 'What Would Denis Do?" Springer tells the student.

Springer, who is also involved in promoting the Vandal drag shows and sale advance tickets for the shows at Eclectica, expects a crowd of around 1,500 for the first act of the "Palousafest." She says she has a much wider variety of performances and retaining hosts.

For many in the UI community, the drag shows have become a social experience.

DICE, See Page A10

Hoover to give State of the University address tomorrow

by Joshua Jaqueline

UI President Larry Gerarrett will give his annual "State of the University" address today.

The president is expected to discuss the university's current and planned initiatives. The address is scheduled for 3 p.m. at the Student Union Center auditorium, Room 104.
New students find homes in the Greek system, but for new recruits, life isn’t as easy as π.
Freshmen ready for the college life

by Matt Strange

The sounds of voices and the clatter of moving furniture echo in rooms throughout the University of Idaho.

Friends reunite along walkways while girls and guys check their jamming alarm clocks. The slow waft of sausages, he said, is heard off to work every 15 minutes. Coffee is already very good," she added.

As a marketing junior, she is glad to be out of the race of high school where you can meet new people. For Buckhorn, among other challenges alongside opportunities.

The coffee is here. I hope you like it, but don't overdo it. The coffee is good, so we decided to celebrate with a cup of lentil soup.

The students in the freshman dormitory filled the room with people. They are all in a mood for new friends.

The first lentil soup is made. It is a mix of lentils, barley, and some extra ingredients.

Lentil Festival brings people together

Zions Bank is offering free Student Checking and free first book of checks to go with it. Offer runs through the end of October. Stop by your local Zions Bank branch and open an account.

ZIONS BANK
www.zions.com
(509) 588-4795

Freshmen Kailyn Peterson smiles as she gets her Vandall Card Friday. Getting the Vandall Card is just another responsibility of being a new student on campus.

By Morgan Whipple

The first lentil soup is made. It is a mix of lentils, barley, and some extra ingredients.

Lentil Festival brings people together

Zions Bank is offering free Student Checking and free first book of checks to go with it. Offer runs through the end of October. Stop by your local Zions Bank branch and open an account.

ZIONS BANK
www.zions.com
(509) 588-4795

Free checking

Zions Bank is offering free Student Checking and free first book of checks to go with it. Offer runs through the end of October. Stop by your local Zions Bank branch and open an account.

ZIONS BANK
www.zions.com
(509) 588-4795

Free checking

Zions Bank is offering free Student Checking and free first book of checks to go with it. Offer runs through the end of October. Stop by your local Zions Bank branch and open an account.

ZIONS BANK
www.zions.com
(509) 588-4795

Free checking

Zions Bank is offering free Student Checking and free first book of checks to go with it. Offer runs through the end of October. Stop by your local Zions Bank branch and open an account.

ZIONS BANK
www.zions.com
(509) 588-4795

Free checking

Zions Bank is offering free Student Checking and free first book of checks to go with it. Offer runs through the end of October. Stop by your local Zions Bank branch and open an account.

ZIONS BANK
www.zions.com
(509) 588-4795

Free checking

Zions Bank is offering free Student Checking and free first book of checks to go with it. Offer runs through the end of October. Stop by your local Zions Bank branch and open an account.

ZIONS BANK
www.zions.com
(509) 588-4795

Free checking

Zions Bank is offering free Student Checking and free first book of checks to go with it. Offer runs through the end of October. Stop by your local Zions Bank branch and open an account.

ZIONS BANK
www.zions.com
(509) 588-4795

Free checking

Zions Bank is offering free Student Checking and free first book of checks to go with it. Offer runs through the end of October. Stop by your local Zions Bank branch and open an account.

ZIONS BANK
www.zions.com
(509) 588-4795

Free checking

Zions Bank is offering free Student Checking and free first book of checks to go with it. Offer runs through the end of October. Stop by your local Zions Bank branch and open an account.

ZIONS BANK
www.zions.com
(509) 588-4795

Free checking

Zions Bank is offering free Student Checking and free first book of checks to go with it. Offer runs through the end of October. Stop by your local Zions Bank branch and open an account.

ZIONS BANK
www.zions.com
(509) 588-4795

Free checking

Zions Bank is offering free Student Checking and free first book of checks to go with it. Offer runs through the end of October. Stop by your local Zions Bank branch and open an account.

ZIONS BANK
www.zions.com
(509) 588-4795

Free checking

Zions Bank is offering free Student Checking and free first book of checks to go with it. Offer runs through the end of October. Stop by your local Zions Bank branch and open an account.

ZIONS BANK
www.zions.com
(509) 588-4795

Free checking

Zions Bank is offering free Student Checking and free first book of checks to go with it. Offer runs through the end of October. Stop by your local Zions Bank branch and open an account.

ZIONS BANK
www.zions.com
(509) 588-4795

Free checking

Zions Bank is offering free Student Checking and free first book of checks to go with it. Offer runs through the end of October. Stop by your local Zions Bank branch and open an account.

ZIONS BANK
www.zions.com
(509) 588-4795

Free checking

Zions Bank is offering free Student Checking and free first book of checks to go with it. Offer runs through the end of October. Stop by your local Zions Bank branch and open an account.

ZIONS BANK
www.zions.com
(509) 588-4795

Free checking

Zions Bank is offering free Student Checking and free first book of checks to go with it. Offer runs through the end of October. Stop by your local Zions Bank branch and open an account.

ZIONS BANK
www.zions.com
(509) 588-4795

Free checking

Zions Bank is offering free Student Checking and free first book of checks to go with it. Offer runs through the end of October. Stop by your local Zions Bank branch and open an account.

ZIONS BANK
www.zions.com
(509) 588-4795

Free checking

Zions Bank is offering free Student Checking and free first book of checks to go with it. Offer runs through the end of October. Stop by your local Zions Bank branch and open an account.

ZIONS BANK
www.zions.com
(509) 588-4795

Free checking

Zions Bank is offering free Student Checking and free first book of checks to go with it. Offer runs through the end of October. Stop by your local Zions Bank branch and open an account.

ZIONS BANK
www.zions.com
(509) 588-4795

Free checking

Zions Bank is offering free Student Checking and free first book of checks to go with it. Offer runs through the end of October. Stop by your local Zions Bank branch and open an account.

ZIONS BANK
www.zions.com
(509) 588-4795

Free checking

Zions Bank is offering free Student Checking and free first book of checks to go with it. Offer runs through the end of October. Stop by your local Zions Bank branch and open an account.

ZIONS BANK
www.zions.com
(509) 588-4795

Free checking

Zions Bank is offering free Student Checking and free first book of checks to go with it. Offer runs through the end of October. Stop by your local Zions Bank branch and open an account.

ZIONS BANK
www.zions.com
(509) 588-4795

Free checking

Zions Bank is offering free Student Checking and free first book of checks to go with it. Offer runs through the end of October. Stop by your local Zions Bank branch and open an account.

ZIONS BANK
www.zions.com
(509) 588-4795

Free checking

Zions Bank is offering free Student Checking and free first book of checks to go with it. Offer runs through the end of October. Stop by your local Zions Bank branch and open an account.

ZIONS BANK
www.zions.com
(509) 588-4795

Free checking

Zions Bank is offering free Student Checking and free first book of checks to go with it. Offer runs through the end of October. Stop by your local Zions Bank branch and open an account.

ZIONS BANK
www.zions.com
(509) 588-4795

Free checking

Zions Bank is offering free Student Checking and free first book of checks to go with it. Offer runs through the end of October. Stop by your local Zions Bank branch and open an account.

ZIONS BANK
www.zions.com
(509) 588-4795

Free checking

Zions Bank is offering free Student Checking and free first book of checks to go with it. Offer runs through the end of October. Stop by your local Zions Bank branch and open an account.

ZIONS BANK
www.zions.com
(509) 588-4795

Free checking

Zions Bank is offering free Student Checking and free first book of checks to go with it. Offer runs through the end of October. Stop by your local Zions Bank branch and open an account.

ZIONS BANK
www.zions.com
(509) 588-4795

Free checking

Zions Bank is offering free Student Checking and free first book of checks to go with it. Offer runs through the end of October. Stop by your local Zions Bank branch and open an account.

ZIONS BANK
www.zions.com
(509) 588-4795

Free checking

Zions Bank is offering free Student Checking and free first book of checks to go with it. Offer runs through the end of October. Stop by your local Zions Bank branch and open an account.

ZIONS BANK
www.zions.com
(509) 588-4795

Free checking

Zions Bank is offering free Student Checking and free first book of checks to go with it. Offer runs through the end of October. Stop by your local Zions Bank branch and open an account.
Reparations prioritized at racism conference

BY DONALD W. CROCKETT

A conference on reparations for slavery opened in July after a two-year effort. A coalition of groups organized and raised $2,000 in its first year and submitted a petition to the city. The group named itself the United States National Coalition for Reparations in America, Inc. The coalition's main goals are to raise awareness, educate the public, and empower those who have been harmed by slavery.

The conference was held in Chicago to bring together representatives from various organizations dedicated to the cause of reparations. Attendees discussed the historical and contemporary implications of slavery and the need for reparations. Speakers included Rep. Conyers, who said, "The time has come to address the past wrongs committed against African Americans."

Diverse speakers from across the country shared their insights and perspectives on the issue. The conference was well-attended, with representatives from organizations such as the NAACP and the National Urban League participating. Attendees were encouraged to join the call for reparations and to continue the fight for justice.

The conference concluded with a call to action, urging attendees to demand reparations and to participate in the ongoing struggle for justice. The organizers noted the importance of unity and collaboration in achieving this goal, and they encouraged everyone to take part in the movement for reparations.

The conference was a significant step forward in the fight for reparations. It brought together individuals from different backgrounds and perspectives to engage in a meaningful dialogue and to work towards a common goal. The organizers looked forward to continuing the work and to seeing progress in the years to come.

By Anne Gareng

Local park provides canine entertainment

The new dog park, located east of Mt. View Road, was opened in the summer of 2001. The park provides a safe and fun environment for dogs of all sizes to socialize and burn off energy. The park is open to the public and is free to use.

The park features a large grassy area for dogs to run and play, as well as a smaller area for more relaxed play. There are also shaded areas for dogs to rest and shade. The park is well-maintained and is a popular destination for dog owners and their pets.

The park was funded by donations from local businesses and residents, and it was designed with the needs of dogs and their owners in mind. The park is a valuable resource for the community and is used by many families.

By John R. Smith

It's time.

The Argonaut is awaiting for you.

Pick up an application in Sub. 301.

It's time to take the next step in your education.

Change Your Life Forever

Bible

This ad good for one FREE college course

$142 value — one coupon per person
For use by new CMT students only

Living Faithich College of Ministry Training

345 SW Kimball • Pullman, WA 99163-2146 • (509)332-3545

expresses 12/22/01

fearless banking

Here's banking that lets you concentrate on subjects that really matter. Like math class or your Saturday night date. Simply sign up for the Student Combo Package and you'll enjoy a range of easy-to-use services designed just for you. Visit your nearest Wells Fargo location today.

Student Combo Package • Free Checking / Free Student Visa Card / ATM & Check Card / Free Online Account Access / And much more

wellsfargo.com

TAAC

308-6397 www.taac.its.uidaho.edu/taac open to all UI students

FREE TUTORING

One free hour per week of tutoring in specific 100-200 level courses
Over 500 copies of past exams for study tools
Freshman Seminar Classes — to help you transition smoothly into college
General Studies Advising — advising for undecided students
Tutoring and Academic Assistance Center

TAAC

Wells Fargo
Moscovites use ice cream social to aid Latah County Historical Society

By LISA ANDREWS
Assistant News Editor

"Moscow has a community spirit," Paul McConnell, Latah County Commissioner, said at the Moscow Historical Society's Ice Cream Social at the McConnell Mansion Saturday. McConnell said that the hard work of eating ice cream without sitting in the sun and the title of fastest ice cream eater in their age division was a community job.

It was a rainy day and cold temperatures were an additional challenge. McConnell said that the contestants enjoyed eating the ice cream and the contest benefited the Historical Society.

Community members gathered at the McConnell Mansion at the intersection of Second Street and Adams Street Sunday to listen to music, owl sage poetry, and tales of the West. The event featured tours of the 1912 Center, and the McConnell Mansion, on Elm Incorporation, and the Russian River. The Moscow Firemen's Museum also displayed their antique equipment.

At the Moscow Ice Cream Contest, the contestants wore vintage clothing as they competed for the fastest ice cream eater. McConnell said that the event benefits the Historical Society and that the ice cream spirit that makes Moscow unique.

Perhaps the most impressive contestant was the youngest contestant in the ice cream eating contest. She was young enough to wear a Diaper and had no problem understanding the spirit of the ice cream eating contest.

The Historical Society's Ice Cream Social at the McConnell Mansion Sunday was a community event. McConnell said that the hard work of eating ice cream without sitting in the sun and the title of fastest ice cream eater in their age division was a community job.

It was a rainy day and cold temperatures were an additional challenge. McConnell said that the contestants enjoyed eating the ice cream and the contest benefited the Historical Society.

Community members gathered at the McConnell Mansion at the intersection of Second Street and Adams Street Sunday to listen to music, owl sage poetry, and tales of the West. The event featured tours of the 1912 Center, and the McConnell Mansion, on Elm Incorporation, and the Russian River. The Moscow Firemen's Museum also displayed their antique equipment.

At the Moscow Ice Cream Contest, the contestants wore vintage clothing as they competed for the fastest ice cream eater. McConnell said that the event benefits the Historical Society and that the ice cream spirit that makes Moscow unique.

Perhaps the most impressive contestant was the youngest contestant in the ice cream eating contest. She was young enough to wear a Diaper and had no problem understanding the spirit of the ice cream eating contest.
Vieques residents are tied to the fate of their island

BY BOBBI KINZIG

VIEQUES—Puerto Rico's first town to be linked to the mainland, Vieques, with its eight-mile harbor, is being forced to decide whether it will leave its island life behind. The U.S. Navy is scheduled to begin a $5 billion cleanup operation in 2003, but residents are divided on whether to stay or go.

The death of the tropical island paradise, once known as "Vieques Island," will be an emotional blow for many. The Navy has paid millions to relocate residents, but some say they can't leave their homes. Others argue that the island's economy will be better after the cleanup is complete.

Despite the island's beauty and potential, Vieques has struggled to attract tourists. The Navy has promised to make the island's beaches more accessible, but some residents say they don't want to be displaced. The island's economy depends on the Navy, and many are worried about what will happen after the cleanup.

"If I stay here, I'm not going to be able to afford my house," said one Vieques resident. "But if I move, I'm going to be left behind."
Grants, scholarships and jobs pay a hefty part of college fees

by ALBERT B. CRONSTEN
The Moscow Times

Each year, as families across the country try to send a new crop of kids off to college, the importance of higher education receive renewed attention. College is expensive and getting more so. And despite most assurances that less doesn't mean more, it is clear that costs seem to go limit to the increase.

Eligible private colleges now cost in the neighborhood of $35,000 a year, and the cost multiplies up to $100,000 annually.

The situation exists two possi- bility faces are as much, and how to students and their families afford it.

Several studies show that because public in the past few years have become more and more costly, so much so that less than 10 percent of students who started in 1975 were still in school in 1985. Their findings may or may not provide colleges to financially eligible families.

First, it appears that only a minority—some estimates put it tiny minority—actually pay the full cost of the education they receive. A study by the Education Trust's National Center for Educational Statistics found that 47 percent of undergraduates last year received some form of aid, scholarships, loans, or even, grants. The numbers were even higher, by impressive because public colleges, where 85 percent of students received aid. At a four-year private college and university, half those in all undergraduate students received aid, and 64 percent of dependent students did. That generally refers to young, single undergraduates who live with their parents and is a to one of $100,000 or more.

The figure of $100,000 to $200,000, who received aid was up from 50 percent of students in the previous year.

Many of the increase, of course, merely reflects the increase in federal aid programs that have been expanded by the crisis, and private grants cover a much smaller fraction than they were in 1985. The trend, however, is that the amount of aid flowing from the government, is, a growing number of colleges are turning to fundraising, scholarships, and other methods.

This means that a growing number of hefty expenses (from the college's part, of course) that the student must raise and that they must be less reimbursed by debt as they venture into the working world.

While this is going on, most colleges are spending more on instructional costs, but not by much, according to the Chronicle of Higher Education. For example, reported by the National Association of College and University Business Officers, is a preliminary report of a large study that found that instructional costs are rising slightly faster than the rate of inflation. The large study, however, was by a few major research universities, and most private colleges continue to struggle with the problem of justifying the costs and the wills' of the institutions.

MACUBO found that the cost of undergraduate education were rising, but not by a small fraction of those students. The study found that the cost of undergraduate education were rising, but not by a small fraction of students, the highest being $20,000, or nearly 20 percent of their tuition.

But the study did not show whether this disparity reflected real differ- ences in spending or different methods of serving costs than in different institutions. MACUBO officials would not dis- close the study, saying it was still too preliminary. The study is expected to be completed next year.

At the same time, a third study, part of the Williams Act Program on the Economics of Higher Education, reached similar conclusions, finding that the costs of the public institutions are more than $20,000, or nearly 20 percent of their tuition.

"A college is a firm that aims simultaneously to be a car dealer and a school," said Professor Hurshman. "It must maintain the car dealer and the building is its product but does so at a carefully adjusted cost that will result in "profit," or some production cost," according to the paper, written by Professor Hurshman, Professor Gordon C. Green, and two Williams stu- dents, Jared C. Cartiere and Carlos C. Buchman. The study, which college "saving" the amount by which they keep total costs, including tuition, gifts, appropriations and "A college is a firm that aims simultaneously to be a car dealer and a school," said Professor Hurshman. "It must maintain the car dealer and the building is its product but does so at a carefully adjusted cost that will result in "profit," or some production cost," according to the paper, written by Professor Hurshman, Professor Gordon C. Green, and two Williams stu- dents, Jared C. Cartiere and Carlos C. Buchman. The study, which college "saving" the amount by which they keep total costs, including tuition, gifts, appropriations and
Lack of courtship rules leave college women in muddle

By AUDE W. FARRELL

Most college women endorse marriage as a life goal, but their pursuit of that objective is undermined by the conflicting expectations of potential boyfriends and their adherence to traditional standards of how courtship is to proceed.

The rules of mating vary for different women, but in the 1960s and early 1970s, there was a period when anyone who expressed an interest in dating was likely to be accepted by potential partners. Women who expressed such interest were likely to be accepted by potential partners who were interested in expressing such interest. Women who expressed such interest were likely to be accepted by potential partners who were interested in expressing such interest. Women who expressed such interest were likely to be accepted by potential partners who were interested in expressing such interest. Women who expressed such interest were likely to be accepted by potential partners who were interested in expressing such interest.

According to a survey conducted for the American Association of University Women, college women are more apt to initiate relationships with men and are more willing to experiment with sexual relationships, even when they are not ready or emotionally mature, than in the past. The survey also found that college women are more likely to be interested in physical relationships when they are not ready or emotionally mature, even when they have been physically mature for some time.

The results of the survey are based on interviews with 1,000 college women, conducted by the same research organization that conducted the survey for the American Association of University Women in 1960. The results of the survey are based on interviews with 1,000 college women, conducted by the same research organization that conducted the survey for the American Association of University Women in 1960.

The survey found that college women are more apt to initiate relationships with men and are more willing to experiment with sexual relationships, even when they are not ready or emotionally mature, than in the past. The survey also found that college women are more likely to be interested in physical relationships when they are not ready or emotionally mature, even when they have been physically mature for some time.

The results of the survey are based on interviews with 1,000 college women, conducted by the same research organization that conducted the survey for the American Association of University Women in 1960. The results of the survey are based on interviews with 1,000 college women, conducted by the same research organization that conducted the survey for the American Association of University Women in 1960.
DICE
From Page A1

Housing or the Battle of the Palouse. People come from as far as Seattle and Eau Claire to attend the event, which trip through the concrete, bright, cotton colors of the school’s mission statement. Palouse Women’s Marching Band plays an as more people approach the city. The student’s music is more than just a band, it is a way to express their identity and culture.

The University of Washington (UW) is hosting the annual Women’s March on Washington on Saturday, January 18. This event has been organized to support women’s rights and amplify their voices.

The University will be participating in this powerful and inspiring event, which is expected to draw thousands of participants. The march is aimed at raising awareness on issues such as reproductive rights, equal pay, and immigration.

The event will begin at 10 a.m. at the Seattle Center and will conclude at the UW campus. Participants are encouraged to wear black, as it is the color associated with the International Day of the Girl. The march will feature speeches, live music, and a rally to demand justice and equality for all women.

The march is free to attend, and all are welcome. It is a day to stand together and show solidarity in the fight for women’s rights. Join the University of Washington and other organizations as we stand up against injustice and inequality.
Too early to tell

Time, feedback is necessary to see if parking plan will work

O
n the first day of classes, Boise State University welcomed more than 15,000 new students and faculty on a hot and humid campus. It was a scene of bustling activity as students searched for space to sit and eat, and faculty members tried to find停车位. The parking plan, which was implemented in 2011, has been under fire for its lack of communication and transparency. The university has received numerous complaints from students about the lack of parking spaces, especially during peak hours.

The parking plan was designed to reduce traffic congestion on campus and to encourage students to use public transportation. However, many students have found the plan to be ineffective and frustrating. Some have complained about the lack of signage and the confusion caused by the different parking zones.

The university has acknowledged some of the issues and has made some changes to the plan. However, many students feel that more needs to be done to address the concerns.

Despite the challenges, the university remains committed to improving the parking situation on campus. They are seeking feedback from students to help inform future changes to the plan. The university encourages students to provide their input through surveys and focus groups. They hope to have a more inclusive and collaborative approach to addressing the parking issue.

The university understands that parking is a significant issue for students and is committed to finding a solution that works for everyone. They are open to suggestions and are willing to work with students to find a solution that meets the needs of the campus community.

In the meantime, the university is offering alternatives to driving on campus. They recommend using public transportation, biking, or walking to reduce the need for parking spaces.

As the university continues to work on the parking plan, they hope to hear from students and are willing to listen to their concerns. They are committed to finding a solution that is fair and equitable for all students and faculty.
After a nearly 15-month conversation with the campus community, the University of Idaho has implemented a new plan for parking. The parking task force — which included students, faculty, and staff — worked extensively with Faculty Council, Staff Affairs Committee, ASUI, and student leadership from on-campus residential areas to develop the plan.

Highlights of the plan include:

• Creating four residential parking zones. Streets and parking lots located in and around UI residence halls and family housing, as well as Greek housing on Elm and Nez Perce streets now require a residential parking permit. Permits will only be sold to residents of those areas.

• In order to accommodate residents in the Elm Street and Nez Perce areas, PURPLE and MAGENTA parking permits go on sale August 26, 5:00 p.m. online at www.uidaho.edu/parking and August 27, 9:00 a.m. at North Campus Center.

• Eliminate overnight parking in all non-residential lots, so that blue, red, and gold lots are more accessible for commuters.

• Installing parking meters to create high turnover spaces in high demand areas including Bailey Street and the Rayburn Street areas that serve the Physical Education Building (PEB), Library, and the ASUI Kibbie Center.

• Adding two new lots — west of the BUB on Elm Street, and behind Engineering/Physics Building.

• For the safety of pedestrians, access to the campus walkway system requires an authorized permit.

Wheatland Express provides free bus rides for all students, faculty and staff. Please consult a schedule for details.

For the convenience of the campus community, Parking Services offers the Motor Assistance Program, to help with dead batteries, flat tires and disabled vehicles.

Parking Services encourages university community members to familiarize themselves with the new campus parking plan, regulations and system changes. Be patient and courteous of others and have a great year.

University of Idaho Parking Services
North Campus Center, 645 W. Pullman Rd. Moscow ID. 83844-1201

For more information check out www.uidaho.edu/parking
Or call 885-8424
Comments can be e-mailed to: parking@uidaho.edu
Buchanan feels lucky for the Shamrock

Vandals focus on practice, growth

Outdoor program fall schedule

VANDALolleyball schedule

By Jane Alcide

Despite preseason expectations, the University of Idaho women's volleyball team will be hoping to impress on last season's solid 15-13 finish. The Vandals will open the season Aug. 20 in the Big West's 10 tournament to finish off this season. Head Coach Debbie Buchanan expects her team to perform much better than their mediocre finish last year. The team finished 6-7, 1-3 last season, leading the Vandals in hitting percentages (.216). Opals, who was listed at 5-3 last season,, was one of the few players who had her talent recognized by the conference. Buchanan ended the season with a 12-22UW record at the end of the year. Buchanan has the capability to excel on both offense and defense. "I think we will be strong defensively," Buchanan said. "Offensively, I think we have the potential to be a stronger team."

"We will be a strong team defensively. Offensively, I think we have the players to be strong." - Debbie Buchanan

Frederick middle hitter Sarah Mirk will see the return of four new starters, Mirk, who attended high school in Alberton, is participating in the Coastline Games, which wind up at the end of August. Buchanan has the capability to excel on both offense and defense. "I think we will be strong defensively," Buchanan said. "Offensively, I think we have the potential to be a stronger team." Buchanan ended the season with a 12-22UW record at the end of the year. Buchanan has the capability to excel on both offense and defense. "I think we will be strong defensively," Buchanan said. "Offensively, I think we have the potential to be a stronger team."

Buchanan feels lucky for the Shamrock

The volleyball team practices in the Memorial Gym on Tuesday. The team has been focusing on passing and blocking, drills during the practice.

Vandals focus on practice, growth

BY ROB DAVE PETERSON

The University of Idaho women's tennis team has practiced intensively for the past two weeks. The team is preparing for a successful campaign in the Big West Conference and possibly a national title. Idaho's 3-2 win over Wyoming on Sept. 12, 2001, was a comprehensive victory that solidified the Vandals' position in the conference. The Vandals then went on to win their next two matches, against Oregon State and Oregon, respectively. The Vandals' strategy of keeping their players fresh paid off, as they defeated Oregon State 3-2 and Oregon 7-0. The Vandals will now turn their attention to the Big West Conference, where they hope to continue their winning streak. Buchanan has high hopes for the Vandals in the conference.

"We are excited about this opportunity to compete in the Big West Conference. We have a strong team and we are ready to challenge ourselves," Buchanan said.

The Vandals have been practicing hard, focusing on their serve and return of serve. "We are working on our serve and return of serve, and our doubles," Buchanan said. "We have been working on our positioning and communication as well.

The Vandals will face tough competition in the Big West Conference, with teams like California, Stanford, and UCLA. However, Buchanan is confident in the Vandals' ability to compete with the top teams in the conference. "We have a strong team and we are determined to prove ourselves," Buchanan said.

The Vandals' focus on practice, growth, and preparation will be key to their success in the Big West Conference. With a strong team and a solid foundation, the Vandals are poised to make a strong showing in the conference.
UI golf course is above par

The University of Idaho golf team broke stride to complete the fall tournament at the Idaho Open, which is a home course that is actually in pretty good shape.

The University of Idaho Golf Course has seen some tough years with dead grass, murky water and the like, but this year it has taken a turn for the better. The summer was good to the course, which is greener than ever, with clean ponds and growing rolling grass.

East in Glee for the fall open, the Idaho tournament is a good test for the University of Idaho golf team. It's a test they usually pass well. There were several places on the course where the ball would not stop rolling over it got started, making for a challenging and interesting round of golf. The Idaho golf team requires that golfers play their approach shot in a safe place in the fairway. If the pin is on the front of the green and your ball is behind the pin, get ready for a walk back down the hill.

Almost all of the fairways on the course line up with the back of the green, which is a different shot. The greens were better than usual and the putting surfaces were among the best the players have seen this year. The course was still in need of more work, but the greens had a feel that is usually cuter than it is in the summer, making difficult two-putt situations.

The rough is not a fair place to be, so it is grown out enough to make sure you don't get off the fairway. There is, however, the chance that what might be supposed to be illegal is, in the wrong mood that the Palouse greens, and the UI golf course turns into a challenging and fun experience. Playing it 605 yards from the back, 695 from the middle and 707 from the front, the course offers a variety of challenges for golfers of all abilities. Anyone interested is playing a good course should check out the UI before it moves. It's in no hurry to move, it's in no hurry to move.
Pac-10 has its eyes on the prize

by DAVID WILSON

The Pacific-10 Conference has a problem that few others have. They produce the best basketball players in the country, and a few of those players are on the final list of candidates for the Heisman Trophy. The conference is trying to get some of its basketball teams into the Pac-10, but the problem is that there are too many good teams. The conference is trying to get some of its basketball teams into the Pac-10, but the problem is that there are too many good teams. The conference is trying to get some of its basketball teams into the Pac-10, but the problem is that there are too many good teams. The conference is trying to get some of its basketball teams into the Pac-10, but the problem is that there are too many good teams. The conference is trying to get some of its basketball teams into the Pac-10, but the problem is that there are too many good teams. The conference is trying to get some of its basketball teams into the Pac-10, but the problem is that there are too many good teams. The conference is trying to get some of its basketball teams into the Pac-10, but the problem is that there are too many good teams. The conference is trying to get some of its basketball teams into the Pac-10, but the problem is that there are too many good teams. The conference is trying to get some of its basketball teams into the Pac-10, but the problem is that there are too many good teams. The conference is trying to get some of its basketball teams into the Pac-10, but the problem is that there are too many good teams. The conference is trying to get some of its basketball teams into the Pac-10, but the problem is that there are too many good teams. The conference is trying to get some of its basketball teams into the Pac-10, but the problem is that there are too many good teams. The conference is trying to get some of its basketball teams into the Pac-10, but the problem is that there are too many good teams. The conference is trying to get some of its basketball teams into the Pac-10, but the problem is that there are too many good teams. The conference is trying to get some of its basketball teams into the Pac-10, but the problem is that there are too many good teams. The conference is trying to get some of its basketball teams into the Pac-10, but the problem is that there are too many good teams. The conference is trying to get some of its basketball teams into the Pac-10, but the problem is that there are too many good teams. The conference is trying to get some of its basketball teams into the Pac-10, but the problem is that there are too many good teams. The conference is tryi...
Vandals open season at WSU

"We're not a Pac-10 team... who knows, maybe we can go out and do it again."

TOR CABLE

Vandals open season at WSU

"We're not a Pac-10 team... who knows, maybe we can go out and do it again."

TOR CABLE

Vandals open season at WSU

"We're not a Pac-10 team... who knows, maybe we can go out and do it again."

TOR CABLE

Vandals open season at WSU

"We're not a Pac-10 team... who knows, maybe we can go out and do it again."

TOR CABLE

Vandals open season at WSU

"We're not a Pac-10 team... who knows, maybe we can go out and do it again."

TOR CABLE

Vandals open season at WSU

"We're not a Pac-10 team... who knows, maybe we can go out and do it again."

TOR CABLE

Vandals open season at WSU

"We're not a Pac-10 team... who knows, maybe we can go out and do it again."

TOR CABLE
Dillinger makes worldwide touring plans, but had to stop in Seattle first

By JIM TOVELL

Trey Dillinger has performed the art of making a cigarette out of one side of his mouth, and while it is true that this remarkable feat of physical coordination and choreography, there was nothing flashy about his performance. But Friday night, August 24, at John Adams High School, Dillinger's comment about his Australian roots and his willingness to help define stand-up comedy, such as "the kids in the audience, without a doubt, the best in the business." The kids then went on to show the balance of the show with their unique repertory and talents. The show turned out to be a much more successful show than Dillinger had expected, and it helped define stand-up comedy. The kids had performed a variety of tricks and stunts, including magic, juggling, and acrobatics.

Although he's never performed in Seattle before, Dillinger says that he's "been wanting to come here for a long time. I've been to the Big Apple and I've been to the West Coast, but I've never been to Seattle." He adds that he's "looking forward to performing here because I've heard so much about it." In the meantime, Dillinger is working on his next album, "The Masterplan." He says that he's "been working on it for a while now, and I'm really excited about it." The album is due out in the fall, and Dillinger is hoping that it will be his biggest hit yet.

Dillinger's parents are from Texas, and he's been living in New York City for the past five years. He says that he's "been living there for a while now, and I think it's the perfect place to be for an up-and-coming stand-up comedian." He adds that he's "been working hard on this album, and I'm really excited about it." The album is due out in the fall, and Dillinger is hoping that it will be his biggest hit yet.

Dilinger's parents are from Texas, and he's been living in New York City for the past five years. He says that he's "been living there for a while now, and I think it's the perfect place to be for an up-and-coming stand-up comedian." He adds that he's "been working hard on this album, and I'm really excited about it." The album is due out in the fall, and Dillinger is hoping that it will be his biggest hit yet.
Annual science fiction convention celebrates suspension of disbelief.

Sunday afternoon I found myself staring at a table of 2-D drawings that were given to me by one of the local artists. The drawings depicted scenes from various science fiction stories, and I was amazed at the detail and creativity displayed in each piece.

The convention was well-attended, with a large crowd of attendees from all over the world. The atmosphere was electric, with people of all ages enjoying the various activities and panel discussions offered throughout the weekend.

One of the highlights of the convention was a panel discussion on the future of science fiction, featuring some of the most prominent writers and filmmakers in the genre. The discussion was engaging and insightful, offering a glimpse into the minds of some of the most talented creators in the field.

Overall, the convention was a great success, and I would highly recommend it to anyone interested in science fiction and fantasy. It was a wonderful opportunity to connect with like-minded individuals and explore the endless possibilities of the genre.
An untimely death for a rising star

Aaliyah started young and topped album charts

by LOUIE ESPADA

U.S. singer and actress Aaliyah, whose 1994 debut album "Age Ain't Nothing" sold more than a million copies and established her as an overnight pop phenomenon, was killed in a plane crash Aug. 25 as on an island in the Bahamas. She was 22.

Reports about the tragic accident came out all over the States, as well as in the music industry, reports CNN, and a plane crashed Saturday, killing Aaliyah along with her producer, R. Kelly Aaliyah, who was 15 at the time.

The singer and actress Aaliyah, whose 1994 debut album "Age Ain't Nothing" sold more than a million copies and established her as an overnight pop phenomenon, was killed in a plane crash Aug. 25 as on an island in the Bahamas. She was 22.

Reports about the tragic accident came out all over the States, as well as in the music industry, reports CNN, and a plane crashed Saturday, killing Aaliyah along with her producer, R. Kelly Aaliyah, who was 15 at the time.

The singer and actress Aaliyah, whose 1994 debut album "Age Ain't Nothing" sold more than a million copies and established her as an overnight pop phenomenon, was killed in a plane crash Aug. 25 as on an island in the Bahamas. She was 22.

Reports about the tragic accident came out all over the States, as well as in the music industry, reports CNN, and a plane crashed Saturday, killing Aaliyah along with her producer, R. Kelly Aaliyah, who was 15 at the time.
Sweet or not
Shane Brown Syndrome's show at Mikey's not all that

BY JIM TOWELL

Shane Brown Syndrome just doesn't care, or at least that's what they want you to think. Their part of the show Saturday, Aug. 25 at Mikey's in Austin, Texas, was a mature, soulful, rootsy, soulful, rootsy, soulful, soulful show. The music was marked by a relentless rhythm section that kept the beat going strong throughout the evening. The lead singer, Shane Brown, had a unique voice that was at times raspy and at others smooth and mellow. The rhythm section, consisting of a bassist and drummer, was able to keep the beat going strong throughout the evening.

Unfortunately, this review won't be affecting anybody quite much.

This was the first time I've seen them play in person, and I was not disappointed. Shane Brown's singing was wonderful, and his musicianship was impressive. The band played an energetic set, and the audience seemed to be enjoying themselves.

However, this album wouldn't be the strongest review if it didn't come with a few reservations. One of the main criticisms is that the overall production quality is lacking. In some parts of the album, the sound quality is not as good as it could be. The vocals are not always clear and crisp, and the instruments are sometimes not well defined.

The band's understanding of orchestration is also a bit lacking. It's clear that they have the potential to create something beautiful, but they need to work on their use of dynamics and harmonies to make their music more interesting.

But overall, this album is worth checking out. If you are a fan of rootsy, soulful music, then this album is definitely worth a listen. It's not perfect, but it's definitely worth checking out.

---

Train rides the express way to fame

BY KATE TOWS

Train, in the last three years, have become the talk of the town. Their music, which is a blend of contemporary and traditional sounds, has captured the hearts of people all over the world. Their latest album, "The Sound of Heart," has been released to critical acclaim and has sold over a million copies in the first week of release.

Recorded in six weeks, "The Sound of Heart" has quickly become one of the most popular albums of the year. The band members, who are all experienced musicians, have collaborated on this album to create a unique sound that is both familiar and new.

"The Sound of Heart" features a mix of pop and rock songs, with some even incorporating elements of country and folk music. The band members have described their music as "a mix of old and new, of familiar and unknown, of the past and present.

Overall, this album has been well received by listeners around the world. It is a testament to the band's talent and hard work, and it is clear that they are on their way to becoming one of the most successful bands of all time.

Train will perform with Matchbox Twenty at the Gorge Aug. 22.

---

Outreach to Youth Grow in Christ

Leadership Development An Experience for Life

For Information Contact: Tyson Wise
301-0045 / 882-6312
tywise@hotmail.com

---

Vandal Fever is Contagious!

(interest you wear one of these mask thingies)

---

Study at 185 Universities in 50 Countries with $50,000 Awarded in International Experience Grants to UI Undergraduate each year

http://www.its.uidaho.edu/ipo/abroad/

---

Train will perform with Matchbox Twenty at the Gorge Aug. 22.
The Matthewos Band excitement the Gorge again

The Matthewos Band wrapped up their weekend show at the Gorge this past Saturday with a rocking set of new hits along with a healthy dose of classic favorites.

Fred in attendance Sunday night would hardly contain their excitement, jumping up and down several times before the band even took the stage. The crowd ready to go, the atmosphere was electric and about ready to explode with anticipation.

The set was set for the Matthewos Band to send their fans home with a show that would be remembered.

What the crowd was about to experience was nothing less than spectacular.

The band opened with “Our” song, one of the tunes that has been a staple of their shows for years.

Though the set list didn’t necessarily include all of the band’s hits, but it seemed that it included just about all the songs that you would expect, such as “Blood and Water,” “The City,” and “Home.”

A notable high point of the show was when the band performed “Gray Street,” one of the songs that always gets the crowd in a frenzy.

The band closed their set with an exciting and unexpected encore, “After Midnight.” Even though the night had been played out, the crowd was left wanting more.

Have you seen the Matthewos Band live? What was your favorite song? Tell us in the comments below!