Recycling Day educates community

By Melissa Miller

Despite the drizzly weather, University of Idaho Environmental Club members and a representative from Moscow Recycling stood outside the Idaho Commons Wednesday morning to spread the National Recycling Day. Andy Boyd, manager of Moscow Recycling, nailed a cardboard box to the counter as evidence of how much of the waste is student-generated. He also hot-glued cups, plastic bags and other items to the box. The whole box was finished off with recycled materials.

The main local points of emphasis were aluminum cans and plastic bottles. A 70-gallon aluminum core. The display also included books on recycling, save the earth, reduce, reuse, commercial air fleet four times.

"Recycling one aluminum can saves enough energy to power a TV for three minutes," said Boyd. "Recycling one aluminum can saves enough energy to power a TV for three minutes."

"It is a fun thing to do, and people usually enjoy it," said Boyd. "It is a fun thing to do, and people usually enjoy it."

"There are so many things we can do with recycling," said Boyd. "There are so many things we can do with recycling."

"The lack of recycling is a problem because there is the fact that the environment is in a continuous downward trend," said Boyd. "The lack of recycling is a problem because there is the fact that the environment is in a continuous downward trend."

"We need to keep on recycling on campus, said senator James Blakely, president of the environmental club. There has been huge success in recycling, on other buildings on campus."

"There is always room for improvement when it comes to recycling," said Boyd. "There is always room for improvement when it comes to recycling."

"It is often more convenient for younger people to recycle, and it is important for them to increase their awareness about recycling," said Boyd. "It is often more convenient for younger people to recycle, and it is important for them to increase their awareness about recycling."

"The next semester the environmental club will hold a 'Green' challenge where they will be open to all residence halls. Halls with the most environmentally friendly improvements will receive points during the challenge."

For more about recycling on page 4.

Students get a quick 'peep'

Break-in results in pornography on Commons TVs

By Cynthia Bynum

Students may have gotten an unexpected peep show as they walked through the Idaho Commons Monday morning. An unsanctioned taping through university television cameras led to a break-in.

Sexually explicit images replaced announcements on the four flat-screen televisions in the Commons for about 15 minutes before university officials were able to turn them off.

"It was an image that some would think was hilariously funny," said Miller. "It was an image that some would think was hilariously funny."

"I think it's just going to be a matter of time before we show them to the right people," said Miller. "I think it's just going to be a matter of time before we show them to the right people."

"The building's surveillance system was able to catch images of the individuals before and after the break-in."

"I don't think it's going to be a matter of time before we show them to the right people," said Miller. "I don't think it's going to be a matter of time before we show them to the right people."

Miller said there were at least two young men involved in the break-in. An investigation is under way, but as for now there are no suspects, said Lt. Paul Nettleton of the Moscow Police Department.

The building's surveillance system was able to catch images of the individuals before and after the break-in.

"I think it's just going to be a matter of time before we show them to the right people," said Miller. "I think it's just going to be a matter of time before we show them to the right people."

Miller said he was not aware of the image appearing on the screens, but a call went out after a building manager reported the incident to the facility office. Although the image appeared for 15 minutes before it was turned off.
Tufts' issue incorrectly stated the job description for the director of media relations ("New media relations expert joins the team."). The director of media relations oversees UCLA’s news media relations in support of advancing the university's mission with the media and public, according to the correct job description.

Local BRIEFS

Buckie up or risk getting a ticket

Local County Sheriff’s Office and the Lemon Grove Police Department will be participating in “Click It or Ticket” this week. The departments will be out making traffic stops and giving out tickets if they see drivers not wearing their seat belts.

For information about the Click It or Ticket campaign, contact Dr. Irwin Feldman at (208) 854-0469 or ted Fiske at (208) 746-1717.

Mixers help create business ideas

A campus-wide mixer will be held by 5:30 p.m. Nov. 28 at the Dore Multicultural Center in the Union.

For more details on the mixer, please contact Wendy Bittner at Wendy.Bittner@sub.uidaho.edu.

Weather FORECAST

Today

Partly Cloudy

60°-65°

Monday

Partly Cloudy

58°-65°

Tuesday

Cloudy

57°-65°

Wednesday

Cloudy

54°-65°

Thursday

Cloudy

52°-65°

Friday

Cloudy

53°-66°

Saturday

Cloudy

55°-63°

Solutions from 11/14

8

9

3

4

2

5

1

6

7

8

9

Complete the grid so each row, column and 3x3 box (or bold borders) contains 1 to 9. For strategies on how to solve Sudoku, visit www.sudoku.org.uk.
UI holds search for new vice president of research

Hatch retires after 33 years with UI
By Savannah Carmelges
Agrraeum

After more than 33 years helping the University of Idaho grow into a strong public university, Charles (Chuck) Hatch has decided to step down. Hatch has served as provost of the College of Natural Resources since 2000. He is well known for his commitment to improving the leadership and infrastructure of the college. Hatch's contributions to the university have been significant, and he is greatly admired and respected by those who have worked closely with him.

Hatch has been praised for his ability to set clear goals and work with others to achieve them. He is known for his strong leadership skills, and has been widely recognized for his dedication to the university and its mission.

Hatch's retirement comes at a time when the university is experiencing a period of rapid growth and change. With Hatch's departure, the university will need to find a new leader to help guide it through this time of transition.

In the coming weeks, the university will begin the process of selecting a new provost. The selection process will involve a thorough search, and the university is committed to finding a leader who can help the college continue to grow and thrive.

Hatch's retirement is a significant milestone in the history of the University of Idaho, and he will be greatly missed. We wish him all the best in his future endeavors.

End of text.
New Panhellenic board elected

By Jeremy Castillo

University of Idaho's Panhellenic elect- ed seven new members into its board Tuesday night, making changes for Greek and sorority life.

Outside the Old Idaho Commons, a large group of students, parents and faculty discussed their thoughts about the new Panhellenic board, which could start off the new year's changes.

Before the chapter presidents from every campus chapter, as well as the new Panhellenic board, sat at a circle table to discuss their thoughts about the new year's members.

After the night's progress, each of the seven new women had their names called to announce their new positions.

Andrea Kisling, president of Alpha Delta Pi, welcomed the crowd.

"Welcome, everyone! I'm Andrea Kisling, president of Alpha Delta Pi. I want to say welcome to everyone and I want to thank the Panhellenic council for electing me to be the next Panhellenic president."

Kisling went on to say that she will help serve her vice presidents' transition into their positions and learn the ropes before taking on her duties.

"As far as her plans for her own term, Darnell hopes to do no life projects, raise membership numbers for national and across the board and improve Greek publications."

After the elections were over, Panhellenic President Micke McKenna was re-elected. She also won a spot on the national board and why it's important to students.

"The role of the president is to be a liaison between the students, the university and the national office, and I want to help make sure the students will be happy and safe."

McKenna also said Panhellenic is a lot larger than just the students who are on the board together because they can come from any university.

Darnell went on to say she will help serve her vice presidents' transition into their positions and learn the ropes before taking on her duties.

"As far as her plans for her own term, Darnell hopes to do no life projects, raise membership numbers for national and across the board and improve Greek publications."

After the elections were over, Panhellenic President Micke McKenna was re-elected. She also won a spot on the national board and why it's important to students.

"The role of the president is to be a liaison between the students, the university and the national office, and I want to help make sure the students will be happy and safe."

McKenna also said Panhellenic is a lot larger than just the students who are on the board together because they can come from any university.

Darnell went on to say she will help serve her vice presidents' transition into their positions and learn the ropes before taking on her duties.

"As far as her plans for her own term, Darnell hopes to do no life projects, raise membership numbers for national and across the board and improve Greek publications."

After the elections were over, Panhellenic President Micke McKenna was re-elected. She also won a spot on the national board and why it's important to students.

"The role of the president is to be a liaison between the students, the university and the national office, and I want to help make sure the students will be happy and safe."

McKenna also said Panhellenic is a lot larger than just the students who are on the board together because they can come from any university.

Darnell went on to say she will help serve her vice presidents' transition into their positions and learn the ropes before taking on her duties.

"As far as her plans for her own term, Darnell hopes to do no life projects, raise membership numbers for national and across the board and improve Greek publications."

After the elections were over, Panhellenic President Micke McKenna was re-elected. She also won a spot on the national board and why it's important to students.

"The role of the president is to be a liaison between the students, the university and the national office, and I want to help make sure the students will be happy and safe."

McKenna also said Panhellenic is a lot larger than just the students who are on the board together because they can come from any university.

Darnell went on to say she will help serve her vice presidents' transition into their positions and learn the ropes before taking on her duties.

"As far as her plans for her own term, Darnell hopes to do no life projects, raise membership numbers for national and across the board and improve Greek publications."

After the elections were over, Panhellenic President Micke McKenna was re-elected. She also won a spot on the national board and why it's important to students.

"The role of the president is to be a liaison between the students, the university and the national office, and I want to help make sure the students will be happy and safe."

McKenna also said Panhellenic is a lot larger than just the students who are on the board together because they can come from any university.

Darnell went on to say she will help serve her vice presidents' transition into their positions and learn the ropes before taking on her duties.

"As far as her plans for her own term, Darnell hopes to do no life projects, raise membership numbers for national and across the board and improve Greek publications."

After the elections were over, Panhellenic President Micke McKenna was re-elected. She also won a spot on the national board and why it's important to students.

"The role of the president is to be a liaison between the students, the university and the national office, and I want to help make sure the students will be happy and safe."

McKenna also said Panhellenic is a lot larger than just the students who are on the board together because they can come from any university.
Stop fighting, work together

The election committee continues at Republic headquarter

What will become of the contract with America?

Truth and justice — the American way

Let's drink at 18

Let's Check out the Argonaut online!

Opinion

Travel abroad and look in the mirror

It is easy to see things only from one's own perspective. Students are introduced in their adolescence to the world's events and the views of others are often restricted by the influence of their teachers. Even in high school, students in a country is a good way to open up to the views of others.

After spending eight months studying in Japan last year I can say that I learned a lot about life. I made some of the closest friends of my life, and I was able to experience Japan and its culture. Looking back on that time, I can't imagine how lucky we are to see so much.

I grew up learning about life by studying many other students. No matter what the course of study is, you can always find something in another culture that will make you understand your learning and understanding of one another. I've learned many things from studying language and culture. I'm sure there are many other cultures and languages. I've learned so much about being open to new things and go somewhere.

I'm grateful for my ability to stay open and my open mind to all of it. I think we are all so much more new friends who share your perspective on life. I'm learning a new language and culture every day. I'm even thinking to go to a class in France to learn the French language.

I'm grateful for my ability to stay open and my open mind to all of it. I think we are all so much more new friends who share your perspective on life. I'm learning a new language and culture every day. I'm even thinking to go to a class in France to learn the French language.

Travel aboard and look in the mirror

It is easy to see things only from one's own perspective. Students are introduced in their adolescence to the world's events and the views of others are often restricted by the influence of their teachers. Even in high school, students in a country is a good way to open up to the views of others.

After spending eight months studying in Japan last year I can say that I learned a lot about life. I made some of the closest friends of my life, and I was able to experience Japan and its culture. Looking back on that time, I can't imagine how lucky we are to see so much.

I grew up learning about life by studying many other students. No matter what the course of study is, you can always find something in another culture that will make you understand your learning and understanding of one another. I've learned many things from studying language and culture. I'm sure there are many other cultures and languages. I've learned so much about being open to new things and go somewhere.

I'm grateful for my ability to stay open and my open mind to all of it. I think we are all so much more new friends who share your perspective on life. I'm learning a new language and culture every day. I'm even thinking to go to a class in France to learn the French language.

Travel aboard and look in the mirror

It is easy to see things only from one's own perspective. Students are introduced in their adolescence to the world's events and the views of others are often restricted by the influence of their teachers. Even in high school, students in a country is a good way to open up to the views of others.

After spending eight months studying in Japan last year I can say that I learned a lot about life. I made some of the closest friends of my life, and I was able to experience Japan and its culture. Looking back on that time, I can't imagine how lucky we are to see so much.

I grew up learning about life by studying many other students. No matter what the course of study is, you can always find something in another culture that will make you understand your learning and understanding of one another. I've learned many things from studying language and culture. I'm sure there are many other cultures and languages. I've learned so much about being open to new things and go somewhere.

I'm grateful for my ability to stay open and my open mind to all of it. I think we are all so much more new friends who share your perspective on life. I'm learning a new language and culture every day. I'm even thinking to go to a class in France to learn the French language.
A taste of the holidays

As people head home for the holidays this Thanksgiving, The Argonaut wanted to share some of our favorite recipes. Ranging from dips to desserts to family secrets, Argonaut reporters and editors share dishes that bring a little bit of holiday cheer to their tables.

Recipe for Creamy Artichoke Dip
From the kitchen of Rebecca S. Yeh

Ingredients:
2 cans of artichoke hearts, drained as much as you like
4 oz. hellmann's... (read more)

How to:
Mix all of the ingredients together. Oil an 8 by 8-cm square baking dish and put all the ingredients in. Bake at 350 degrees until golden and bubbling around 25 - 30 minutes. Serve as a spread for crackers or chips. "You can also try Avocado cheese!"

Recipe for Christmas' Holiday Rice Pilaf
From the kitchen of Christine Hiarco

Ingredients:
4 cups water
2 cups wild rice
2 T chopped currents
2 tsp extra virgin olive oil

How to:
Boil water with a little salt or chicken or... (read more)

Recipe for Tasty Pumpkin Bread
From the kitchen of Tina Roberts

Ingredients:
1 cup shortening
2 cups sugar
4 eggs
2 cups can pumpkin
4 cups flour
1 tsp baking soda
1 tsp salt
1 tsp cinnamon
1 tsp ginger
1/2 tsp nutmeg
1/2 tsp cloves
2 tsp vanilla, cinnamon, nutmeg or other spices and nuts.

How to:
Cream shortening and sugar. Mix in eggs and... (read more)

Recipe for Cow Steaks
From the kitchen of T.J. Truinchelli

Ingredients:
1 regular box of jell-o
1/2 cup flour
1/2 cup jell-o
1/2 cups milk, creamer, buttermilk or other
2-3 oz. onions, chives, half or other

How to:
Mix jell-o mixture and Cool-Whip into a... (read more)

Recipe for Red Hot Fruit Salad
From the kitchen of Michael Mauzai

Ingredients:
1 cup red hot candies
1 box cherry J. Jell-O
1 cup water
1 cup chopped apples
1 cup pineapple chunks (optional)

How to:
Mix the red hot candies in cold water and... (read more)

Recipe for Canned Sterilizing
From the kitchen of Cynthia Raymond

Ingredients:
Box of canned
6-8 bananas
1 cup chopped cherry with bananas (or without bananas). (You don't always use the bananas)
1 cup chopped orange
2 bananas orange (or without bananas)
1/2 tsp salt
1 cup chicken broth

How to:
Prepare corn bread; cool. Crush canned croutons... (read more)
Bringing aspiring writers together

ON THE WEB
For information on novel writing, visit www.nanowrimo.org.

In terms of what the National Novel Writing Month website outlines as a novel, it is to some extent. It wouldn’t be much of a stretch to write the same word 50,000 times and call it a novel. At the same time, the novel doesn’t have to be perfect. The event emphasizes quantity over quality. It’s getting 50,000 words on paper that is the challenge, not creating something brilliant.

It’s exciting in itself to hear how much that finishes. Fuller said. “At the end, I looked back on days when the writing just came to me, before; saw my finished product and made me happy to see how well it all came together.”

Fuller said it also helps to be part of the online community at the National Novel Writing Month website.

“People can go to a section of the forum that is just for writers who are currently participating.” Many groups have group pages where one will meet at a location just outside.

“You can trade pages with a person you have given you feedback,” Fuller said. “I was also good to go on and talk to people who are on going through the same troubles you have.”

Fuller had in the end, that whole event is to enjoy.

“If you want to write or you enjoy writing,” she said, “it helps you put-yourself in front of a computer screen and just write.”

“Battle of the consoles”

By Michael Howell

Agenda
A large group of people all over the country chose November, the month of National Novel Writing Month, to start a novel or a memoir.

“National Novel Writing Month, often abbreviated as NaNoWriMo, has successfully completed the goal year to year.” Fuller added “When I decided that was a good time for me to do it for a little while.”

This November in fact that Fuller has participated in National Novel Writing Month. She said her sister first introduced her to the idea of doing it.

“My sister had done this before.” Fuller said. “When she told me about it, it sounded like a fun project that would be fun.”

Fuller is not alone in her endeavor. According to the National Novel Writing Month website, almost 60,000 people participated last year out of 75,000 who are expected this year on that, only about 20 percent of the participants finish.

“It was definitely difficult, but I wasn’t trying to do a great novel at all to do about 2,000 words a day and finish in a month.” I said, “I just wanted to see how many people out of the lot. . . .

Participants who enter the challenge are writing their novels Nov 1. They have until midnight Oct 31 to finish.

It’s expected about half of October just coming up with less than 50,000 words. However, only about a new at about 51,000 words.

Fuller was recently interviewed saying “This novel will be a part of a new book that is of writing the actual book.”

This November of the month. Fuller just recently began working on another book with about 51,000 words. The reason for the change-over, she said, was "I was really excited to try to get something written down." She said. “I’m a little excited to try and do this again.”

“Where To Be Seen...”

At the Garden Lounge

Join us for our great weekly specials

Blue Monday
Best Drink Specials for 60 years.

Wednesday
Happy Hour

8 PM – Happy Hour

Happy Hours
$2 Domestic Pints & $2 Drafts
$3 Domestic Bottles

Thursday

Martinis Thursday

For More Information: 805.899.4500

Sharky’s Seafood

Where To Be Seen... By Chris Navao

Agenda

The tradition of authors, marketing through the aisles during the peak holiday season will begin early this year. Corinna Davis, owner of Wal-Mart like soldier preparing for the battle. The battle is between Microsoft’s Project 3 versus Nintendo’s Wii. The Wii, with its bowling hitting today and the National Wii on Sunday, the two games are already listed in the PS3. It almost looks as if the PS3 is coming in a few weeks later.

The event includes quantity over quality. It’s getting 50,000 words on paper that is the challenge, not creating something brilliant.

Fuller said it also helps to be part of the online community at the National Novel Writing Month website.

“People can go to a section of the forum that is just for writers who are currently participating.” Many groups have group pages where one will meet at a location just outside.

“You can trade pages with a person you have given you feedback,” Fuller said. “I was also good to go on and talk to people who are on going through the same troubles you have.”

Fuller had in the end, that whole event is to enjoy.

“If you want to write or you enjoy writing,” she said, “it helps you put-yourself in front of a computer screen and just write.”

“Battle of the consoles”

By Michael Howell

Agenda
A large group of people all over the country chose November, the month of National Novel Writing Month, to start a novel or a memoir.

“National Novel Writing Month, often abbreviated as NaNoWriMo, has successfully completed the goal year to year.” Fuller added “When I decided that was a good time for me to do it for a little while.”

This November in fact that Fuller has participated in National Novel Writing Month. She said her sister first introduced her to the idea of doing it.

“My sister had done this before.” Fuller said. “When she told me about it, it sounded like a fun project that would be fun.”

Fuller is not alone in her endeavor. According to the National Novel Writing Month website, almost 60,000 people participated last year out of 75,000 who are expected this year on that, only about 20 percent of the participants finish.

“It was definitely difficult, but I wasn’t trying to do a great novel at all to do about 2,000 words a day and finish in a month.” I said, “I just wanted to see how many people out of the lot. . . .

Participants who enter the challenge are writing their novels Nov 1. They have until midnight Oct 31 to finish.

It’s expected about half of October just coming up with less than 50,000 words. However, only about a new at about 51,000 words. The reason for the change-over, she said, was "I was really excited to try to get something written down." She said. “I’m a little excited to try and do this again.”

“Where To Be Seen...”

At the Garden Lounge

Join us for our great weekly specials

Blue Monday
Best Drink Specials for 60 years.

Wednesday
Happy Hour

8 PM – Happy Hour

Happy Hours
$2 Domestic Pints & $2 Drafts
$3 Domestic Bottles

Thursday

Martinis Thursday

For More Information: 805.899.4500

Sharky’s Seafood

Where To Be Seen... By Chris Navao

Agenda

The tradition of authors, marketing through the aisles during the peak holiday season will begin early this year. Corinna Davis, owner of Wal-Mart like soldier preparing for the battle. The battle is between Microsoft’s Project 3 versus Nintendo’s Wii. The Wii, with its bowling hitting today and the National Wii on Sunday, the two games are already listed in the PS3. It almost looks as if the PS3 is coming in a few weeks later.

The event includes quantity over quality. It’s getting 50,000 words on paper that is the challenge, not creating something brilliant.

Fuller said it also helps to be part of the online community at the National Novel Writing Month website.

“People can go to a section of the forum that is just for writers who are currently participating.” Many groups have group pages where one will meet at a location just outside.

“You can trade pages with a person you have given you feedback,” Fuller said. “I was also good to go on and talk to people who are on going through the same troubles you have.”

Fuller had in the end, that whole event is to enjoy.

“If you want to write or you enjoy writing,” she said, “it helps you put-yourself in front of a computer screen and just write.”
Musicians get the 'score' on industry

By Brandon Macz
Approved

Music student were given the "score" of a lifetime recently when they were featured on the national stage by internationally acclaimed "The Full Monty" director Ivan Reitman for his upcoming film, "Ghosts of the Mississippi," directed and produced by Academy Award-winning director, Phillip Noyce.

Kolb, who attended School 21 and was a student of the Argonaut Music Program, was invited to attend the private film screening held in New York City on Thursday, November 15, to see the world premiere of "Ghosts of the Mississippi." The film is scheduled for release on November 29, 2002.

"As an Illinois resident, this is a wonderful way to spread the word about our community," said Noyce. "Kolb is one of the most promising young musicians in the state, and we feel that she has a bright future in the world of music."}

Non-traditional holiday tradition

By T.J. Ullman
Approved

'It's the most wonderful time of the year!' "Well, maybe not in the weather," said Mark Pearson, a resident of Chicago. "But it is the time of the year when we can start planning our non-traditional holiday traditions!"

Pearson's family has been planning non-traditional holiday traditions for the past 10 years. They started with a "Snowman-Maker" party, where everyone would bring a snowman to the party, and the winner would be the one with the most creative snowman. They also started a "Christmas-on-the-Beach" party, where everyone would bring their own beach chairs and enjoy the warm weather while celebrating the holidays.

This year, Pearson's family is planning a "Lantern-Fire" party, where everyone will bring their own lanterns and gather around a large fire to tell stories and sing Christmas carols. They are also planning a "Dog-Sledding" party, where everyone will bring their own dogs to participate in a fun dog-sledding race.

"It's always fun to do something new and different each year," said Pearson. "It's a great way to spend time with family and friends, and it's a great way to create new memories!"

For more information about non-traditional holiday traditions, visit www.latimes.com/traditions.

Athletic Events

Sports

"Christmas Carol" tickets on sale

Festival Dunes Performing Arts Center will present "A Christmas Carol" on December 28 and 29. The show features a talented cast of actors and actresses, and is directed by internationally acclaimed director, Phillip Noyce.

The "Christmas Carol" production is set in the Victorian era, and follows Ebenezer Scrooge, a grumpy old man, as he learns the true meaning of Christmas. The show features classic holiday carols and a talented cast of actors and actresses.

"A Christmas Carol" tickets are available online at www.festivaldunes.org, or by calling the Festival Dunes Box Office at 708-954-9400.

"Shrek the Musical" at School of Music

The University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign's School of Music will present "Shrek the Musical" on December 6 and 7. The show features a talented cast of actors and actresses, and is directed by internationally acclaimed director, Phillip Noyce.

"Shrek the Musical" is based on the popular animated film, and follows the story of the ogre, Shrek, as he sets out to find his true love, Princess Fiona. Along the way, he meets a talking donkey and a talking chicken, and learns the true meaning of friendship.

"Shrek the Musical" tickets are available online at www.music.uiuc.edu, or by calling the School of Music Box Office at 217-333-6100.
A new perspective

As the Vandals charge south to face Fresno State, they're backing the same lineup with a fresh approach

By Alex Lawson

The Vandals know they need to make changes and they are starting with their outlook.

"As a team, we want to make this season a new world, a new start," coach Don Veronneau said.

With the addition of key players such as freshman guard ceramic Amanda Stevens, the Vandals hope to improve from last season's 4-23 record.

"We have a lot of talent on this team," Stevens said. "We just need to put it together and come out together as a team.

The Vandals are counting on Stevens to lead the way.

"I'm looking to her to be our leader on the court," Veronneau said. "She's a great player and she has the ability to be a leader.

And the team is looking to her to show them the way.

"I'm looking to her to be our leader on the court," Veronneau said. "She's a great player and she has the ability to be a leader.

The Vandals are counting on Stevens to lead the way.

"I'm looking to her to be our leader on the court," Veronneau said. "She's a great player and she has the ability to be a leader.

And the team is looking to her to show them the way.

"I'm looking to her to be our leader on the court," Veronneau said. "She's a great player and she has the ability to be a leader.

The Vandals are counting on Stevens to lead the way.

"I'm looking to her to be our leader on the court," Veronneau said. "She's a great player and she has the ability to be a leader.

And the team is looking to her to show them the way.

"I'm looking to her to be our leader on the court," Veronneau said. "She's a great player and she has the ability to be a leader.

The Vandals are counting on Stevens to lead the way.

"I'm looking to her to be our leader on the court," Veronneau said. "She's a great player and she has the ability to be a leader.

And the team is looking to her to show them the way.

"I'm looking to her to be our leader on the court," Veronneau said. "She's a great player and she has the ability to be a leader.

The Vandals are counting on Stevens to lead the way.

"I'm looking to her to be our leader on the court," Veronneau said. "She's a great player and she has the ability to be a leader.

And the team is looking to her to show them the way.

"I'm looking to her to be our leader on the court," Veronneau said. "She's a great player and she has the ability to be a leader.

The Vandals are counting on Stevens to lead the way.

"I'm looking to her to be our leader on the court," Veronneau said. "She's a great player and she has the ability to be a leader.

And the team is looking to her to show them the way.

"I'm looking to her to be our leader on the court," Veronneau said. "She's a great player and she has the ability to be a leader.

The Vandals are counting on Stevens to lead the way.

"I'm looking to her to be our leader on the court," Veronneau said. "She's a great player and she has the ability to be a leader.

And the team is looking to her to show them the way.

"I'm looking to her to be our leader on the court," Veronneau said. "She's a great player and she has the ability to be a leader.

The Vandals are counting on Stevens to lead the way.

"I'm looking to her to be our leader on the court," Veronneau said. "She's a great player and she has the ability to be a leader.

And the team is looking to her to show them the way.

"I'm looking to her to be our leader on the court," Veronneau said. "She's a great player and she has the ability to be a leader.

The Vandals are counting on Stevens to lead the way.

"I'm looking to her to be our leader on the court," Veronneau said. "She's a great player and she has the ability to be a leader.

And the team is looking to her to show them the way.

"I'm looking to her to be our leader on the court," Veronneau said. "She's a great player and she has the ability to be a leader.

The Vandals are counting on Stevens to lead the way.

"I'm looking to her to be our leader on the court," Veronneau said. "She's a great player and she has the ability to be a leader.

And the team is looking to her to show them the way.

"I'm looking to her to be our leader on the court," Veronneau said. "She's a great player and she has the ability to be a leader.

The Vandals are counting on Stevens to lead the way.

"I'm looking to her to be our leader on the court," Veronneau said. "She's a great player and she has the ability to be a leader.

And the team is looking to her to show them the way.

"I'm looking to her to be our leader on the court," Veronneau said. "She's a great player and she has the ability to be a leader.

The Vandals are counting on Stevens to lead the way.

"I'm looking to her to be our leader on the court," Veronneau said. "She's a great player and she has the ability to be a leader.

And the team is looking to her to show them the way.

"I'm looking to her to be our leader on the court," Veronneau said. "She's a great player and she has the ability to be a leader.

The Vandals are counting on Stevens to lead the way.

"I'm looking to her to be our leader on the court," Veronneau said. "She's a great player and she has the ability to be a leader.

And the team is looking to her to show them the way.

"I'm looking to her to be our leader on the court," Veronneau said. "She's a great player and she has the ability to be a leader.

The Vandals are counting on Stevens to lead the way.

"I'm looking to her to be our leader on the court," Veronneau said. "She's a great player and she has the ability to be a leader.

And the team is looking to her to show them the way.
WOMEN'S BASKETBALL
Two new teams vie at UI

At last season's Big Sky Conference Tournament, two Idaho players were named All-Conference. Senior forward Cassie Shaw and junior guard Shanna Cleaves were both selected as Honorable Mention All-Conference. They were two of five Vandals named to the All-Freshman team. This year, those honors are reserved for junior forward Oneida Everson and senior guard Terri Fox. Everson is coming from Portland State, where she was named All-Conference and showed potential to be a great defender. Fox, on the other hand, is coming from Idaho State, where she was named All-Conference and showed potential to be a great scorer.

These two new additions give the Vandals a new look for the upcoming season. The team is looking forward to the opportunity to play against the top teams in the conference and to grow throughout the season. The team is confident that they can achieve great things and are excited to see what the season holds for them.

FOOTBALL

The Vandals are riding a high after their 34-10 victory over Montana State last Saturday. The win was the first for the Vandals since the 2004 season, and it gave them a much-needed boost of confidence.

The team is now looking forward to their next game against the University of Idaho. The Vandals are hoping to build on their momentum and continue their winning streak. They are also looking to improve their defense, which they struggled with in their previous game against Montana State.

The Vandals are confident that they can achieve great things this season and are excited to see what the future holds for them.

WEBB

from page 9

and go to the penalty. And someday I'd like to make money doing it. I've done it my whole life and want to do it my own way.

2b. Is there any reason you wear No. 25?

It's my favorite number. I've worn it since I was in junior high. I've had it since I was 15 and I've never changed it.

2c. When was the first time you felt that you could shoot a three-point shot?

I don't remember. I was about 15 or 16 years old. I was playing on a team and I remember thinking, 'I can shoot a three-point shot.' I worked on my form and continued to practice until I felt confident in my ability to make those shots.

2d. Do you have any special pre-game rituals or routines?

I don't have any special pre-game rituals. I just try to get myself mentally prepared for the game and focus on the task at hand.

2e. What is your favorite part of being a basketball player?

I love being able to compete against the best players in the country. I enjoy the challenge of facing tough opponents and knowing that I am working hard and giving it my all.

2f. Do you have any future plans or goals for your basketball career?

I plan to continue playing basketball in college and hope to eventually play professionally. I am also interested in pursuing a career in coaching or training basketball players.