Pikes shut doors
Low membership forces fraternity to temporarily close

Cylla Watson

The Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity is closing its doors this month due to decreased membership. Last spring the Pikes had more than 22 brothers, but at present this fall only 11 members can stay, and it would put the fraternity further into debt. The Alumnae House Cooperation believes it’s a good idea to move out of the house, Piitman said. "The guys voluntarily left, but we'll be back in two or three years," said University President Michael Stevens. The Pi Kappas would like to move into an off-campus apartment to vacate the house, but most members went in and out of campus housing this weekend, Piitman said. Stevens and members were in agreement to move out and they didn't want to leave more than one day. Undergraduates were not surprised about the closure of their fraternity, Piitman said. Several people may have left in the past because they didn’t want to stay. Members felt a lot of different emotions, he said.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon member Zachary Wolf and President Sean Wald said the fraternity are good friends and it is unfortunate that the Timics are going. The Alumnae House Cooperation is also disappointed about the situation, but feels it’s necessary for a fresh start, Piitman said. The PKE house is not going to stay empty — Sigma Alpha Epsilon is planning on moving into the house at the end of October because the SAE house is having renovations done beginning in November. "We're very close to a final agreement," Piitman said. SAE would rent the house from the Alumnae Board, which would provide some revenue for REX.

"It is a positive arrangement for both fraternities," Piitman said. SAE is adding an additional expansion and renovating inside the house. With the structure standing since 1952, Wolf said it's time for a remodel, which is estimated to cost around $2.2 million. In order to become a house again, REX are planning with the administration to recolonize, President Hughes said. It is expected that REX will work with student leaders to help raise money to build the house back up.

"Alumni are deeply committed," Piitman said. See PIKES, page 4

University joins fight against alcohol abuse

Lisa Shepherd

An on-campus psychologist who has worked for years in the campus Counseling Center, Shane Fritz is committed to the eradication of alcohol abuse among students. "Students need to stop and think about the choices they want to make, especially when we're talking about alcohol," Fritz said. "It's encouraging, though, to have the fraternity leadership come to me and say, 'What can we do with it? It's a sign of the cultural change.'" Fritz had read headlines coming out of Greek life and they knew they had a problem, but they weren't sure how to deal with it. So he began a research project studying alcohol and college students. Based upon his research, Fritz spearheaded a project called the Idaho College Health Coalition. Made up of representatives from colleges across the state, the members meet throughout the year to discuss the well-being of students and the health and safety measures the colleges are taking to prevent alcohol use.

The coalition has a leadership commitment statement issued at the beginning of the year, which every member school must sign. Fritz said the coalition document verifies that the school's leadership took an on-campus campus environment that promotes healthy lifestyles among college students. To achieve this, the coalition added the ability of alcohol and drugs on campus and pledges a commitment to their abolition. Originally only the presidents were going to participate, but when Fritz brought the idea to the student leadership for their approval they expressed a desire to endorse it as well.

"It sends the message that we're taking responsibility for our own actions and expected responsibilities," ANG President Jon Gayll said. "Every President Tim White was pleased with the involvement of student leadership which included Graduate and Professional Student Association, ASU, Residence Housing Association, Student Government Council, Student Activities Board and the Pacheco League Council. "It is to have confidence that not only student leadership is behind it, but a sponsor from San Francisco living in the residence halls is completely behind it," White said.

Another project of the health coalition is a yearly survey of campus undergraduate students. "There's a trend to see more college students engaging in drinking behaviors that are deemed to be problematic. There's also a trend to see more college students who are disengaged in drinking behaviors that are deemed to be problematic," White said. The fraternity faced a report with the Moscow police, they just would like to have their dishes back. "We're not going to press charges, but we want to prepare," White said.

Fiji's want plates back

Agnew staff

Around 2 a.m., Saturday morning, Fiji kitchen manager Dylan Workman entered the Fiji house to find that someone had smashed two plates in the back door and went to bed.

Saturday morning, fraternities members arrived to discover there was a breach with breakfast. All of the house's plates and cups were missing.

"The thief appears to have entered the house from an unlocked side door, and they carried them out," said Workman. "We have been locked up all night and then the next morning someone broke into our house and took our dishes." Workman said. Around 45 plates and 32 cups were taken. The frienship was set of plates and cups until the next morning. The dishes were come in two weeks, he said.

White Workman said

Sonia Alpha Epsilon member Zachary Wolf and President Sean Wald said the fraternity are good friends and it is unfortunate that the Timics are going. The Alumnae House Cooperation is also disappointed about the situation, but feels it’s necessary for a fresh start, Piitman said. The PKE house is not going to stay empty — Sigma Alpha Epsilon is planning on moving into the house at the end of October because the SAE house is having renovations done beginning in November. "We’re very close to a final agreement," Piitman said. SAE would rent the house from the Alumnae Board, which would provide some revenue for REX.

"It is a positive arrangement for both fraternities," Piitman said. SAE is adding an additional expansion and renovating inside the house. With the structure standing since 1952, Wolf said it’s time for a remodel, which is estimated to cost around $2.2 million.

In order to become a house again, REX are planning with the administration to recolonize, President Hughes said. It is expected that REX will work with student leaders to help raise money to build the house back up.

"Alumni are deeply committed," Piitman said.

See PIKES, page 4

The University of Idaho is seeking students to attend a campus expo on Wednesday, Oct. 15. The event is free to students from both universities. A shuttle service sponsored by the Career and Professional Transition office will transport students from UI to the event. Information about the shuttle can be found at www.capp.idaho.edu.

More than 200 companies have signed up for the fair, including representatives from Boeing, Target, Wells Fargo, Idaho National Laboratory and others. It is the highest number of employers attending the fall expo since 2000, with more than 5,000 people attending the fair, which covers the CAPP’s expenses of renting Boeing Centennial, marketing the event and providing brochures for company representatives.

Each year, the universities sponsor two career fairs. The fall fair is held at UI, and the spring one is held at the Kibb-Dome.

The fall career expo is the big- est in the Pacific Northwest. It has a more varied, career-oriented group of companies expected to be present. Representatives from the companies are looking for all types of students. Many will have open house opportunities, with half of them staying the next day to conduct interviews.

"In the springtime, there are more parks and recreational services that come to the campus or campus such as Gold Gals and outside apparel. An advantage of the career expo is that the companies are setting up informational tables. We will have a number of companies interested in meeting with students, who are already here," said Lizzy Vandevoort, career counselor and staff director of the Career and Professional Transition office.

"They come on campus during the spring and look for people to work or intern, and most of them are bringing in the fall," she said.

The CAPP office hopes at least 2,500 students attend the expo. Last year, 1,510 students attended the event. Since there are more companies this year, the office will want to attract more students.

"We’re looking to College, a lot of students said they weren’t aware of the career fair last year. In order to better get the word out, the CAPP expo purchased advertising, told all of the work study and internship students to announce it in class, emailed it all of the faculty and staff, put up table tents and placed posters at locations around campus.

Every company gets a display at the expo and many of them have handouts. Students can expect to find free promotional material from many companies. For more information about the career fair, call the CAPP office at 883-2012 or email capp@uidaho.edu. You can also find more information by going to the Career and Professional Transition office, located in the University Center, said Elizabeth Audi, a representative of the CAPP office.

Members of the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity hang out in front of their house on New Greek Row Thursday. The house will close on Oct. 15.

It is a positive arrangement for both fraternities," Piitman said. SAE is adding an additional expansion and renovating inside the house. With the structure standing since 1952, Wolf said it’s time for a remodel, which is estimated to cost around $2.2 million.

In order to become a house again, REX are planning with the administration to recolonize, President Hughes said. It is expected that REX will work with student leaders to help raise money to build the house back up.

"Alumni are deeply committed," Piitman said.

See PIKES, page 4
New liaisons will have to form with North Idaho tribal relations

Jessica Metkus

Arthur Taylor, UI’s new tribal liaison, is one of the newest members of the American Indian community. He has not yet created an interface out of the UI structures that would prove useful to help develop projects with the American Indian communities.

A Nine Pence member, Taylor was raised in Lapwai. He understands the cultures of tribes around UI and recognizes the number of American Indians who are UI students.

He hopes to bring the two communities together, which he believes will be of great benefit to the region.

"I think the opportunity to work for the American Indian students is a tremendous one. I have learned a lot about the American Indian tribes through my research."

Taylor also wonders if there are any activities as a group that he could participate in.

"I am interested in the population of the campus, Stevens County, and the surrounding area. I am planning to use the population of the campus as a starting point to understand the relationship between the two communities."

At 12:30 p.m., Taylor met with the Native Center Director to discuss the possibility of a series of workshops that would allow students to explore and learn more about the Native American culture.

Taylor also wanted to explore the possibility of a series of workshops that would allow students to explore and learn more about the Native American culture.

Alcohol

From page 1

new liaisons will have to form with North Idaho tribal relations

Jessica Metkus

Arthur Taylor, UI’s new tribal liaison, is one of the newest members of the American Indian community. He has not yet created an interface out of the UI structures that would prove useful to help develop projects with the American Indian communities.

A Nine Pence member, Taylor was raised in Lapwai. He understands the cultures of tribes around UI and recognizes the number of American Indians who are UI students.

He hopes to bring the two communities together, which he believes will be of great benefit to the region.

"I think the opportunity to work for the American Indian students is a tremendous one. I have learned a lot about the American Indian tribes through my research."

Taylor also wonders if there are any activities as a group that he could participate in.

"I am interested in the population of the campus, Stevens County, and the surrounding area. I am planning to use the population of the campus as a starting point to understand the relationship between the two communities."

At 12:30 p.m., Taylor met with the Native Center Director to discuss the possibility of a series of workshops that would allow students to explore and learn more about the Native American culture.

Taylor also wanted to explore the possibility of a series of workshops that would allow students to explore and learn more about the Native American culture.

Alcohol

From page 1

new liaisons will have to form with North Idaho tribal relations

Jessica Metkus

Arthur Taylor, UI’s new tribal liaison, is one of the newest members of the American Indian community. He has not yet created an interface out of the UI structures that would prove useful to help develop projects with the American Indian communities.

A Nine Pence member, Taylor was raised in Lapwai. He understands the cultures of tribes around UI and recognizes the number of American Indians who are UI students.

He hopes to bring the two communities together, which he believes will be of great benefit to the region.

"I think the opportunity to work for the American Indian students is a tremendous one. I have learned a lot about the American Indian tribes through my research."

Taylor also wonders if there are any activities as a group that he could participate in.

"I am interested in the population of the campus, Stevens County, and the surrounding area. I am planning to use the population of the campus as a starting point to understand the relationship between the two communities."

At 12:30 p.m., Taylor met with the Native Center Director to discuss the possibility of a series of workshops that would allow students to explore and learn more about the Native American culture.

Taylor also wanted to explore the possibility of a series of workshops that would allow students to explore and learn more about the Native American culture.

Alcohol

From page 1

new liaisons will have to form with North Idaho tribal relations

Jessica Metkus

Arthur Taylor, UI’s new tribal liaison, is one of the newest members of the American Indian community. He has not yet created an interface out of the UI structures that would prove useful to help develop projects with the American Indian communities.

A Nine Pence member, Taylor was raised in Lapwai. He understands the cultures of tribes around UI and recognizes the number of American Indians who are UI students.

He hopes to bring the two communities together, which he believes will be of great benefit to the region.

"I think the opportunity to work for the American Indian students is a tremendous one. I have learned a lot about the American Indian tribes through my research."

Taylor also wonders if there are any activities as a group that he could participate in.

"I am interested in the population of the campus, Stevens County, and the surrounding area. I am planning to use the population of the campus as a starting point to understand the relationship between the two communities."

At 12:30 p.m., Taylor met with the Native Center Director to discuss the possibility of a series of workshops that would allow students to explore and learn more about the Native American culture.

Taylor also wanted to explore the possibility of a series of workshops that would allow students to explore and learn more about the Native American culture.

Alcohol

From page 1

new liaisons will have to form with North Idaho tribal relations

Jessica Metkus

Arthur Taylor, UI’s new tribal liaison, is one of the newest members of the American Indian community. He has not yet created an interface out of the UI structures that would prove useful to help develop projects with the American Indian communities.

A Nine Pence member, Taylor was raised in Lapwai. He understands the cultures of tribes around UI and recognizes the number of American Indians who are UI students.

He hopes to bring the two communities together, which he believes will be of great benefit to the region.

"I think the opportunity to work for the American Indian students is a tremendous one. I have learned a lot about the American Indian tribes through my research."

Taylor also wonders if there are any activities as a group that he could participate in.

"I am interested in the population of the campus, Stevens County, and the surrounding area. I am planning to use the population of the campus as a starting point to understand the relationship between the two communities."

At 12:30 p.m., Taylor met with the Native Center Director to discuss the possibility of a series of workshops that would allow students to explore and learn more about the Native American culture.

Taylor also wanted to explore the possibility of a series of workshops that would allow students to explore and learn more about the Native American culture.
U R PRICELESS

BE SAFE   BE SMART   BE A VANDAL!

A night on the town  $25.00
A case of beer       $15.00
Taxi fare           $5.00
Gas for designated driver  $5.00
DUI                 $1,075.00

(drivers license suspension 3-6 months)

YOUR HEALTH and SAFETY........PRICELESS

~~FEATURED EVENT~~

Greek Alcohol Education Program
Jerry Pastore, Speaker
Student Union Ballroom
October 2, 2007 at 7:00 p.m.

The message is quite simple and yet critically important. Please make decisions to keep yourself and other safe. If a friend is in crisis or at risk of harming someone else, take care of them. Seek help. .. Make smart decisions about your safety and your friends’ safety.

VANDALS CARING FOR VANDALS!

This ad is sponsored by:
Division of Student Affairs
Tell us what you think!

Write a letter to the editor and e-mail it to arg.opinion@sub.uidaho.edu.

The Argonaut reserves the right to edit length and clarity.

Editorial Policy

The Argonaut reserves the right to publish letters expressing the views of the university or its students. Members of the faculty, staff and administration of UI also have an opportunity to present their views in the Editorial Policy section.

Off the CURF

No pets allowed

I was driving on the highway Saturday night and had to stop and use a pup. It was a long trip and I was so glad to see my pup. However, after we arrived home, I noticed that my pup had lost his collar. It was a silver chain with a heart on it. I have searched everywhere for my pup but I have had no luck. If anyone has found my pup, please call me at 885-7794.

Getting bit by a car sucks

Just about a week ago, I was heading home for a big yellow, orange, glowing through the windshield. It was pretty scary. But I was under a slow vehicle on the road and it was clear. I couldn't believe it! I was just about under, and hit the gas. I was going about 10 mph. I thought I had left it too close to the car, but I'm not sure. I was able to get home safely.

First cold

I think I'm getting my first cold of the season now. I just feel like I have a lot of sinus. I have been having a lot of trouble with my cold, but I think it will pass. I just need to take it easy and rest.

Fiscal numbers from down south

All operators were kind enough to write a letter to the editor containing statements about their Tuesday column about the fiscal situation of the University during the last several years. David Smith, a الولايات المتحدة, claimed the fiscal situation of the University has been plagued by several factors. In order to prove his claims, Smith gathered two news articles, which clearly state budget problems for the past two years. The first article, Smith ABC News, indicates the federal surplus was $15.8 billion in FY2005. From this article, Smith is kind enough to provide us with the following quotes. According to Smith, the fiscal surplus was $15.8 billion in FY2005. As you can see, the numbers are staggering.

Letters Policy

The Argonaut welcomes letters to the editor containing statements about the University. A letter should be no less than 250 words typed.

Let us know if you have any questions or problems related to the University. We are here to help you.

Off the CURF

No pets allowed

I was driving on the highway Saturday night and had to stop and use a pup. It was a long trip and I was so glad to see my pup. However, after we arrived home, I noticed that my pup had lost his collar. It was a silver chain with a heart on it. I have searched everywhere for my pup but I have had no luck. If anyone has found my pup, please call me at 885-7794.

Getting bit by a car sucks

Just about a week ago, I was heading home for a big yellow, orange, glowing through the windshield. It was pretty scary. But I was under a slow vehicle on the road and it was clear. I couldn't believe it! I was just about under, and hit the gas. I was going about 10 mph. I thought I had left it too close to the car, but I'm not sure. I was able to get home safely.

First cold

I think I'm getting my first cold of the season now. I just feel like I have a lot of sinus. I have been having a lot of trouble with my cold, but I think it will pass. I just need to take it easy and rest.

Fiscal numbers from down south

All operators were kind enough to write a letter to the editor containing statements about their Tuesday column about the fiscal situation of the University during the last several years. David Smith, a whats United States, claimed the fiscal situation of the University has been plagued by several factors. In order to prove his claims, Smith gathered two news articles, which clearly state budget problems for the past two years. The first article, Smith ABC News, indicates the federal surplus was $15.8 billion in FY2005. From this article, Smith is kind enough to provide us with the following quotes. According to Smith, the fiscal surplus was $15.8 billion in FY2005. As you can see, the numbers are staggering.

Letters Policy

The Argonaut welcomes letters to the editor containing statements about the University. A letter should be no less than 250 words typed.

Let us know if you have any questions or problems related to the University. We are here to help you.

Off the CURF

No pets allowed

I was driving on the highway Saturday night and had to stop and use a pup. It was a long trip and I was so glad to see my pup. However, after we arrived home, I noticed that my pup had lost his collar. It was a silver chain with a heart on it. I have searched everywhere for my pup but I have had no luck. If anyone has found my pup, please call me at 885-7794.

Getting bit by a car sucks

Just about a week ago, I was heading home for a big yellow, orange, glowing through the windshield. It was pretty scary. But I was under a slow vehicle on the road and it was clear. I couldn't believe it! I was just about under, and hit the gas. I was going about 10 mph. I thought I had left it too close to the car, but I'm not sure. I was able to get home safely.

First cold

I think I'm getting my first cold of the season now. I just feel like I have a lot of sinus. I have been having a lot of trouble with my cold, but I think it will pass. I just need to take it easy and rest.

Fiscal numbers from down south

All operators were kind enough to write a letter to the editor containing statements about their Tuesday column about the fiscal situation of the University during the last several years. David Smith, a what's United States, claimed the fiscal situation of the University has been plagued by several factors. In order to prove his claims, Smith gathered two news articles, which clearly state budget problems for the past two years. The first article, Smith ABC News, indicates the federal surplus was $15.8 billion in FY2005. From this article, Smith is kind enough to provide us with the following quotes. According to Smith, the fiscal surplus was $15.8 billion in FY2005. As you can see, the numbers are staggering.
Hollywood sending mixed messages on global warming

Gary Gentile

LOS ANGELES—After "green carpet" at awards shows awards to register to attend events, some celebrities are going all out to promote their green image. The Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Science, for example, has been promoting its "sustainability" efforts ahead of the Oscar ceremony. Other celebrities, such as Al Gore and Leonardo DiCaprio, have also been promoting their environmental efforts. In addition, some television networks, such as ABC and NBC, have been airing shows that focus on environmental issues. Despite these efforts, many people remain skeptical about the celebrity endorsement of environmental causes and the effectiveness of their efforts in promoting real change.
Howard Hughes changes scenes

Howard Hughes, who lived from 1902 to 1976, was one of the most enigmatic and controversial figures in 20th-century American history. He was a wealthy industrialist, a film producer, a movie star, and a recluse. Hughes was known for his吝啬 and obsessive behavior, as well as his brilliant mind and his extensive collection of paintings and sculptures.

Hughes was born in Nevada and grew up in the Midwest. He attended the University of Chicago, where he studied physics and engineering. He then became involved in the aircraft industry, and he founded Hughes Aircraft Company in 1932. Hughes Aircraft Company became one of the most successful aerospace companies in the world, and Hughes became a wealthy and powerful businessman.

In the 1940s, Hughes became interested in filmmaking and began producing movies. He produced and starred in the classic films "The Outlaw" and "The Outlaw Man," which were both box office hits. Hughes also produced and starred in "The Outlaw Man," which was directed by Howard Hughes.

Hughes was a recluse and lived a solitary life, spending most of his time in his home, the Spruce Goose. Hughes was known for his吝啬 and obsessive behavior, as well as his brilliant mind and his extensive collection of paintings and sculptures.

Hughes died in 1976, and he was buried in a tombstone that he designed himself. His tombstone is located in Hollywood, California, and it is one of the most famous tombstones in the world.
God of Hell’ simmers in Purgatory

Sydney Boyd

Martha Henry Idaho.

After the current costume of the Perrotta School and the director of the Idaho School of Drama. Teaching director also fails under her belongings at Idaho.

Laubach said it falls to do a bit of both. "We have the actor as both," she said. "We learn to be a better teacher by being the performer." For Mauchley, modern performers of music in the Idaho School of Drama at the Redmond Music Festival.

They have performed often since then, in sing along with another in several other works.

The two winter to play a great deal. Thoroughly directed, "I think a beautiful sound and a fun to work with," she said. "Each every person," said Mauchley. "Stanzas.

The school for ARENA, Idaho, was a string of a wide variety of musical pieces, that Laubach played a large part in directing various scenes. The work involved a wide variety of musical pieces and text entrance.

All three movements have a chord of a theme in the middle movement with a channeling between two and rebus building conversational, and the last movement a mix of a wild exultation and beauty.

Mauchley said the pianos was involved in the 1960s, and had been taught for a long time.

The Beastman's service for voices and pianos fell into this category.

Mauchley has played the French piece that will performed in the future, often see the CONCERT. The guest recital will be at 3:00 p.m. Thursday, in the Horizon Music Hall of the Idaho School of Drama. The concert will feature a variety of works by composers, Gustav and Beethoven.

Beethoven's piece will feature a violin, "a thing hip, thick and pink," Mauchley said. "This will allow for a beautiful sound and a fun to work with," she said. "Each every person," said Mauchley. "Stanzas."
RUCKUS

from page 8

setting your computer up to distribute the file you have. You are opening your computer up for everyone to see, and they can be a bugging, malicious, hate what you have on it, and the rain for smilng and anything, this file must have a lot, and that's how they catch you," Lepard said.

When the RIAA files an IP address that is engaging in this activity, they send a letter to a user alleging where they tracked the download from and what was downloaded.

It is not the university's responsibility to patrol the students and peer to peer.

"Most students have blacked out and removed the files and while the letter, they say they are a warning, and they will have to the right to come after you," Lepard said.

In March 2006, TJS, along with ABA President and Vice President, Dr. Alan T. Clapp, sent a letter to the chancellor of UNLV and it is still available to all who access and remove its own file or campus.

The program was brought as a way for students to get music, they want for no one, and also with a warning of the illegal mess of getting material.

Their Ruckus was made in defense; mostly the 2500 students have signed up for the free and legal music downloading service.

For the past several years, the university has warned the community about the dangers of downloading illegal content earlier this month, about 200 new cases have been created with Ruckus.

Student Corner Pocket said that when he received the email from TJS 65, Ruckus locked his 206 room.

He likes the program because it is just giving him access to a lot of music and allowing him down his assignment as easy task.

DEBATE

from page 8

Mountains of Shakespeare so seem invocation and it's particularly when compared with tributary number much, and yet get them better interest?" he saw.

"One example is a Parisman, Wilham Hamilton, English professor and reseacher.

Hamilton believes that legitimate au-

"They have much less poets and plays that is as much as a great, and yet get them better interest?" he said on his email, which was received by University of Idaho students.

William Shakespeare himself, the guru to the great merchant amongst Twelfth

...the idea that a country boy couldn't have very little, and it was put to bed.

Although Shakespeare was not a country boy himself, and well well-written mark it is debated how he found the reasons much more about intelligence and other columns.

"It's a real challenge to get people thinking," Hamilton says. "I can't empha-

In the end, Shakespeare's own writing, and he is "not that difficult to figure out who you are. It's like finding your way around the woods, and you find them and you fold the, you said.

Lepard warned students who live off-campus that may think they are safe since they aren't using the university's server because they are not enconomical from the giving.

Two deals following the campus, one for student access, RIAA offered a 30% off, a series of which were young people who were using the RIAA's server because they are not

Cob said that this night illegal downloading is a problem that we will be hearing about for a long time to come.

"It's been going on for so long, and people still don't and will continue to do it, well with a problem too," he said.

It's not that difficult to figure out who you are. It's like finding your way around the woods, and you find them and you fold the, you said.

Lepard warned students who live off-campus that may think they are safe since they aren't using the university's server because they are not enconomical from the giving.

Two deals following the campus, one for student access, RIAA offered a 30% off, a series of which were young people who were using the RIAA's server because they are not

Cob said that this night illegal downloading is a problem that we will be hearing about for a long time to come.

"It's been going on for so long, and people still don't and will continue to do it, well with a problem too," he said.

It's not that difficult to figure out who you are. It's like finding your way around the woods, and you find them and you fold the, you said.

Lepard warned students who live off-campus that may think they are safe since they aren't using the university's server because they are not enconomical from the giving.

Two deals following the campus, one for student access, RIAA offered a 30% off, a series of which were young people who were using the RIAA's server because they are not

Cob said that this night illegal downloading is a problem that we will be hearing about for a long time to come.

"It's been going on for so long, and people still don't and will continue to do it, well with a problem too," he said.

It's not that difficult to figure out who you are. It's like finding your way around the woods, and you find them and you fold the, you said.

Lepard warned students who live off-campus that may think they are safe since they aren't using the university's server because they are not enconomical from the giving.

Two deals following the campus, one for student access, RIAA offered a 30% off, a series of which were young people who were using the RIAA's server because they are not

Cob said that this night illegal downloading is a problem that we will be hearing about for a long time to come.

"It's been going on for so long, and people still don't and will continue to do it, well with a problem too," he said.
Idaho dominates Willamette Invitational

Adam Harmonruck
University

It was business as usual for the University of Idaho cross-country team as it contested the Idaho Blue's Invitational on Saturday.

The Vandal located fifth and third-place teams finished behind the women's and men's races.

With a time of 17:24.75, MacArthur finished just 2:25 sec- onds behind undefeated Man- tlemore, Arizona's third-place winner, and 1:18 seconds behind Will- ams, the top 10 among college- gators.

Allie Pfeiffer finished eighth overall and took fourth place, Dan Olson, in her first competition this season came in 20th overall, taking sixth place, Bradin Emmons, eighth, is just two seconds behind her, was only 32 seconds behind Olson at 15th overall.

For the Vandal program to keep running as she im- pressed by more than 30 seconds, her performance at the Charles Basin Invitational last year to mount up the women's top five, senior Becca Chip- ney finished 15th overall for 8th.

The Idaho Vandal was selected the most in the team's competition among the 10-man fields within the top 10 among collec- tors.

On the men's side, Monoma-

...in the WAC, Idaho, and Oregon, respectively.

The Vandal seniors were:

- Bradin Emmons
- Haley Johnson
- Sarah Larsen
- Eddie Perry

The seven seniors featured in the team's finisher for the Vandal's every-

...in the team's high overall, respectively.

He was happy with the win and

...in the top four runners

...in the team's highest overall.

I'm happy," said.

"We need to exercise more. I'm not happy with it," Akey said.

Despite losing by 28 points against the top team in the nation, Idaho did well and made key contributions.

Eddie Williams is listed as a preseason All-American during Saturday's race, he was used every weekend this season, scoring 30 yards or more three times. He was also the team's second-leading receiver, with 21 receptions and 219 yards, and was used in the third-down conversions and kicked to capitalize on key turns.

The Idaho offense was able to score 18 points against the No. 11 Montana State, and with 30 yards or more three times. He was also the team's second-leading receiver, with 21 receptions and 219 yards, and was used in the third-down conversions and kicked to capitalize on key turns.

I'm happy," said.

"We had a lot of turnovers, but we gave up very few big plays," Akey said. "It wasn't a good ride. It wasn't fun and it was frustrating. It was frustrating to be on the very last game.

A key in the game was the turnover and the number of interceptions, which proved to be the difference in the contest. Idaho had the opportunity to make the game closer, but ended up on the bottom, with the team's best three losses on three downs, their record.

The Vandal seniors were: Bradin Emmons, Haley Johnson, and Sarah Larsen. Eddie Perry also continued to perform when he capped off the season with a touchdown.

Overall, both teams did well," Phillips said. "The woman's team is definitely coming together, we're pleased overall. In the men's field, they had a good chance to win as well.

The Vandal seniors were: Bradin Emmons, Haley Johnson, and Sarah Larsen. Eddie Perry also continued to perform when he capped off the season with a touchdown.

"We're making too many mistakes," Ennefelt said. "When we do things right we can play against anybody.

Quarterback Nafid Ennefelt completed 13 of 16 passes for 186 yards with one touchdown and 3 interceptions.

"We're making too many mistakes," Ennefelt said. "When we do things right we can play against anybody...

See FOOTBALL, page 13

Volleyball beats LA Tech, loses to No. 24 New Mexico State

Hugh Jones
Appaloosa

The University of Idaho volleyball team im- proved their conference record to 5-2 and upset the Nos. 24 New Mexico State and 17th New Mexico State on Friday.

The Vandals began the week's play on Tuesday at Washington State, with a 3-0 opening win. The game was scored 34-22, 25, 25. "La Tech is really scary and is better than they were last year," said coach Jack Black. "I'm happy with the win and the team's performance, but we need to improve in one of the top two.

The Vandals are starting to show the diver-

dersity in their offense that coach Black has been striving for.

The Vandals finished 15th overall in the men's race and were 22nd in the women's.

The senior from British Colum- bia was the top man's finisher for the Vandal in every-

...in the team's highest overall, respectively.

The Vandal seniors were: Bradin Emmons, Haley Johnson, and Sarah Larsen. Eddie Perry also continued to perform when he capped off the season with a touchdown.

Overall, both teams did well," Phillips said. "The woman's team is definitely coming together, we're pleased overall. In the men's field, they had a good chance to win as well.

The Vandal seniors were: Bradin Emmons, Haley Johnson, and Sarah Larsen. Eddie Perry also continued to perform when he capped off the season with a touchdown.

"We're making too many mistakes," Ennefelt said. "When we do things right we can play against anybody...

Quarterback Nafid Ennefelt completed 13 of 16 passes for 186 yards with one touchdown and 3 interceptions.

"We're making too many mistakes," Ennefelt said. "When we do things right we can play against anybody...

See FOOTBALL, page 13

Volleyball beats LA Tech, loses to No. 24 New Mexico State

Hugh Jones
Appaloosa

The University of Idaho volleyball team im- proved their conference record to 5-2 and upset the Nos. 24 New Mexico State and 17th New Mexico State on Friday.

The Vandals began the week's play on Tuesday at Washington State, with a 3-0 opening win. The game was scored 34-22, 25, 25. "La Tech is really scary and is better than they were last year," said coach Jack Black. "I'm happy with the win and the team's performance, but we need to improve in one of the top two.

The Vandals are starting to show the diver-

dersity in their offense that coach Black has been striving for.

The Vandals finished 15th overall in the men's race and were 22nd in the women's.
The experienced members of University of Idaho's women's soccer team have been working hard to win this year's Pac-10 title. "We've been putting in a lot of hard work and we're really looking forward to the season," said senior captain Jessica Hansen. "We're really close and we're going to be successful this year." The team's goal is to win the conference championship and make a deep run in the NCAA tournament. With a new coach and a lot of returning talent, the team has high hopes for the season. The team will open their season on Friday, March 1st, at home against Boise State. It's been a long winter for the Vandals, but they're excited to get back on the field and compete against some tough opponents. The team is looking forward to the challenges ahead and to the opportunity to prove themselves on the national stage.

ROBERT J. MCANDREW
The Argonaut
Senior sportswriter
Soccer

The University of Idaho women's soccer team has been working hard to prepare for the 2014 season. The team is looking forward to the opportunity to compete against some of the top teams in the country. The team's goal is to make the NCAA tournament and to win a national championship. The team has a strong core of returning players and is looking to add some new talent to the roster. The team's schedule for the season includes some tough matches against some of the top teams in the country. The team is looking forward to the challenges ahead and to the opportunity to prove themselves on the national stage.

Ryan steals team's, Solo's dream

UCB

The Early Career MBA from Willamette

Visit us:
Career Expo of the Palouse
October 2

• People for a career in business, government and non-profit
• Build real world experience through internships and consulting projects
• Graduate law and management with Willamette's joint MBA/LLM program.
VOLLEYBALL

Monday Night Rewind

Memphis, Tenn. — Clau- dia Roman was not sure if her team was ready for Saturday night’s match. It didn’t take long for the Tigers to figure it out. She led the team to its 3-0 win over Southern Illinois with 15 kills and 10 digs in the first game.

Mary Lou Rosier
Associated Press

LSU takes top ranking from unbeaten USC as Top 25 get major makeover

Ralph R. Russo

Associated Press

LSU, the highest-ranked team in the country and unbeaten in SEC play, rose to No. 1 in the latest AP Top 25 college football poll, released Sunday night.

The Tigers, who have won 11 straight games after a 1-0 start, received 65 first-place votes in the final poll released Sunday night. Ohio State, which had been at No. 1 for five consecutive weeks, fell to No. 2 after losing to Wisconsin.

USC, which had been at No. 2 for four consecutive weeks, fell to No. 3 after losing to Washington State.

Baylor, which had been at No. 3 for four consecutive weeks, fell to No. 4 after losing to TCU.

Penn State, which had been at No. 4 for three consecutive weeks, fell to No. 5 after losing to Iowa.

Michigan, which had been at No. 9 for two consecutive weeks, fell to No. 6 after losing to Rutgers.

Washington, which had been at No. 10 for two consecutive weeks, fell to No. 7 after losing to Oregon State.

Oregon, which had been at No. 11 for four consecutive weeks, fell to No. 8 after losing to Southern Oregon.

Texas, which had been at No. 12 for four consecutive weeks, fell to No. 9 after losing to Oklahoma State.

Oklahoma, which had been at No. 13 for five consecutive weeks, fell to No. 10 after losing to Texas AM.

Virginia, which had been at No. 14 for two consecutive weeks, fell to No. 11 after losing to Boston College.

The AP Top 25

The AP Poll

The USA Today/ESPN Top 25

The College Football Playoff Top 25

Idaho XC dominates Charles Bowles Invitational

SALAMONIE, Ore. — Idaho finished the top collegiate finishers in both the men’s and women’s meet, with the women’s team taking the title and the men finished third. The Vandals received 86 points overall and finished 13th at the Fall NCAA Cross Country Championships in Boise.

Mandy Mascher finished second overall out of 65 runners in the women’s race and Idaho’s women are now ranked second in the nation. Idaho finished 13th overall in the men’s race that featured 211 runners. Both were the top collegiate finishers.

In addition to Mascher, Idaho’s women’s team also featured nine other runners who finished in the top 100 finishers. All nine runners were able to qualify for the NCAA West regionals.

Dee Olson took 10th overall and had such strong numbers early in her first cross country meet for Idaho since her WAC championship season. True freshmen, senior and junior, had six Idaho runners in the top 75 and seven overall for the Vandals.

One in a sport where a slow start is considered, Idaho finished with 13 points better (27 points) than second place. Also included in this race were two nationally-ranked teams, the University of Idaho and the University of Oregon. Idaho finished third overall, with Oregon and Idaho both having six Idaho runners in the top 75 and seven overall for the Vandals.

Dee Olson took 10th overall and had such strong numbers early in her first cross country meet for Idaho since her WAC championship season. True freshmen, senior and junior, had six Idaho runners in the top 75 and seven overall for the Vandals.

One in a sport where a slow start is considered, Idaho finished with 13 points better (27 points) than second place. Also included in this race were two nationally-ranked teams, the University of Idaho and the University of Oregon. Idaho finished third overall, with Oregon and Idaho both having six Idaho runners in the top 75 and seven overall for the Vandals.

One in a sport where a slow start is considered, Idaho finished with 13 points better (27 points) than second place. Also included in this race were two nationally-ranked teams, the University of Idaho and the University of Oregon. Idaho finished third overall, with Oregon and Idaho both having six Idaho runners in the top 75 and seven overall for the Vandals.

One in a sport where a slow start is considered, Idaho finished with 13 points better (27 points) than second place. Also included in this race were two nationally-ranked teams, the University of Idaho and the University of Oregon. Idaho finished third overall, with Oregon and Idaho both having six Idaho runners in the top 75 and seven overall for the Vandals.

One in a sport where a slow start is considered, Idaho finished with 13 points better (27 points) than second place. Also included in this race were two nationally-ranked teams, the University of Idaho and the University of Oregon. Idaho finished third overall, with Oregon and Idaho both having six Idaho runners in the top 75 and seven overall for the Vandals.

One in a sport where a slow start is considered, Idaho finished with 13 points better (27 points) than second place. Also included in this race were two nationally-ranked teams, the University of Idaho and the University of Oregon. Idaho finished third overall, with Oregon and Idaho both having six Idaho runners in the top 75 and seven overall for the Vandals.

One in a sport where a slow start is considered, Idaho finished with 13 points better (27 points) than second place. Also included in this race were two nationally-ranked teams, the University of Idaho and the University of Oregon. Idaho finished third overall, with Oregon and Idaho both having six Idaho runners in the top 75 and seven overall for the Vandals.

One in a sport where a slow start is considered, Idaho finished with 13 points better (27 points) than second place. Also included in this race were two nationally-ranked teams, the University of Idaho and the University of Oregon. Idaho finished third overall, with Oregon and Idaho both having six Idaho runners in the top 75 and seven overall for the Vandals.

One in a sport where a slow start is considered, Idaho finished with 13 points better (27 points) than second place. Also included in this race were two nationally-ranked teams, the University of Idaho and the University of Oregon. Idaho finished third overall, with Oregon and Idaho both having six Idaho runners in the top 75 and seven overall for the Vandals.

One in a sport where a slow start is considered, Idaho finished with 13 points better (27 points) than second place. Also included in this race were two nationally-ranked teams, the University of Idaho and the University of Oregon. Idaho finished third overall, with Oregon and Idaho both having six Idaho runners in the top 75 and seven overall for the Vandals.

One in a sport where a slow start is considered, Idaho finished with 13 points better (27 points) than second place. Also included in this race were two nationally-ranked teams, the University of Idaho and the University of Oregon. Idaho finished third overall, with Oregon and Idaho both having six Idaho runners in the top 75 and seven overall for the Vandals.

One in a sport where a slow start is considered, Idaho finished with 13 points better (27 points) than second place. Also included in this race were two nationally-ranked teams, the University of Idaho and the University of Oregon. Idaho finished third overall, with Oregon and Idaho both having six Idaho runners in the top 75 and seven overall for the Vandals.

One in a sport where a slow start is considered, Idaho finished with 13 points better (27 points) than second place. Also included in this race were two nationally-ranked teams, the University of Idaho and the University of Oregon. Idaho finished third overall, with Oregon and Idaho both having six Idaho runners in the top 75 and seven overall for the Vandals.