Undergrad entrepreneurs open campus businesses

By Anthony Georges

The College of Business and Economics broke new ground in the fall semester when two student-run businesses opened inside the Joe N. Sanderson Student Center. One business is called Saver's Deli and The Big and both are operated and managed by students. The Saver's Deli is a deli-style sandwich shop that Saver's Deli's owner, Taylor Badger, has been working on for months. The Big is a student-run pizza business that opened two weeks ago. Both businesses are run by students and are located inside the Student Center.

Saver's Deli is a deli-style sandwich shop that Taylor Badger has been working on for months. It is located in the Student Center and offers a variety of sandwiches, wraps, and salads. The Big is a student-run pizza business that opened two weeks ago. It is also located in the Student Center and offers a variety of pizzas.

Both businesses are run by students and are located inside the Student Center. Saver's Deli is a deli-style sandwich shop that Taylor Badger has been working on for months. The Big is a student-run pizza business that opened two weeks ago. Both businesses are run by students and are located inside the Student Center.

Saver's Deli is a deli-style sandwich shop that Taylor Badger has been working on for months. It is located in the Student Center and offers a variety of sandwiches, wraps, and salads. The Big is a student-run pizza business that opened two weeks ago. It is also located in the Student Center and offers a variety of pizzas.

Both businesses are run by students and are located inside the Student Center. Saver's Deli is a deli-style sandwich shop that Taylor Badger has been working on for months. The Big is a student-run pizza business that opened two weeks ago. Both businesses are run by students and are located inside the Student Center.

Saver's Deli is a deli-style sandwich shop that Taylor Badger has been working on for months. It is located in the Student Center and offers a variety of sandwiches, wraps, and salads. The Big is a student-run pizza business that opened two weeks ago. It is also located in the Student Center and offers a variety of pizzas.

Both businesses are run by students and are located inside the Student Center. Saver's Deli is a deli-style sandwich shop that Taylor Badger has been working on for months. The Big is a student-run pizza business that opened two weeks ago. Both businesses are run by students and are located inside the Student Center.

Saver's Deli is a deli-style sandwich shop that Taylor Badger has been working on for months. It is located in the Student Center and offers a variety of sandwiches, wraps, and salads. The Big is a student-run pizza business that opened two weeks ago. It is also located in the Student Center and offers a variety of pizzas.

Both businesses are run by students and are located inside the Student Center. Saver's Deli is a deli-style sandwich shop that Taylor Badger has been working on for months. The Big is a student-run pizza business that opened two weeks ago. Both businesses are run by students and are located inside the Student Center.

Saver's Deli is a deli-style sandwich shop that Taylor Badger has been working on for months. It is located in the Student Center and offers a variety of sandwiches, wraps, and salads. The Big is a student-run pizza business that opened two weeks ago. It is also located in the Student Center and offers a variety of pizzas.

Both businesses are run by students and are located inside the Student Center. Saver's Deli is a deli-style sandwich shop that Taylor Badger has been working on for months. The Big is a student-run pizza business that opened two weeks ago. Both businesses are run by students and are located inside the Student Center.

Saver's Deli is a deli-style sandwich shop that Taylor Badger has been working on for months. It is located in the Student Center and offers a variety of sandwiches, wraps, and salads. The Big is a student-run pizza business that opened two weeks ago. It is also located in the Student Center and offers a variety of pizzas.

Both businesses are run by students and are located inside the Student Center. Saver's Deli is a deli-style sandwich shop that Taylor Badger has been working on for months. The Big is a student-run pizza business that opened two weeks ago. Both businesses are run by students and are located inside the Student Center.

Saver's Deli is a deli-style sandwich shop that Taylor Badger has been working on for months. It is located in the Student Center and offers a variety of sandwiches, wraps, and salads. The Big is a student-run pizza business that opened two weeks ago. It is also located in the Student Center and offers a variety of pizzas.

Both businesses are run by students and are located inside the Student Center. Saver's Deli is a deli-style sandwich shop that Taylor Badger has been working on for months. The Big is a student-run pizza business that opened two weeks ago. Both businesses are run by students and are located inside the Student Center.
Palmatier says senator doesn't represent county

Idaho Senate candidate Shane Palmatier, Democrat, claims the Republican Party is responsible for bad policies in the state and that his opponent, Gary Schroeder, is largely at fault. Schroeder, a candidate for the Latah County seat, also argues that Republican and conservative legislators have led toward the recent implementation of the state's social welfare programs.

"We needpalatim in there who are willing to stand and do something about these policies," Palmatier said. "We need someone in there who is willing to stand up and fight on these issues." Schroeder, on the other hand, states that he is dedicated to supporting the state's current system of education and does not have time to fight for the issues that need to be addressed.

Palmatier, who is running against Schroeder, has been a consistent supporter of the state's public education system and is dedicated to ensuring that it remains strong. Schroeder, on the other hand, is a strong proponent of the state's current system of education and is dedicated to supporting it.

"It's not the system that needs to be changed," Schroeder said. "It's the people who are running it who need to be changed." Palmatier, on the other hand, states that he is dedicated to changing the system and making it better for the state's students.

"We need someone in there who is willing to stand up and fight on these issues," Palmatier said. "We need someone in there who is willing to stand up and fight on these issues." Schroeder, on the other hand, states that he is dedicated to supporting the state's current system of education and does not have time to fight for the issues that need to be addressed.

Palmatier, who is running against Schroeder, has been a consistent supporter of the state's public education system and is dedicated to ensuring that it remains strong. Schroeder, on the other hand, is a strong proponent of the state's current system of education and is dedicated to supporting it.

"It's not the system that needs to be changed," Schroeder said. "It's the people who are running it who need to be changed." Palmatier, on the other hand, states that he is dedicated to changing the system and making it better for the state's students.

Big hearts, small farms: program aims to 'cultivate success'

The Sustainable Small Acreage Farming and Ranching class allows students and non-students to learn more about starting up their own small farms. Various field trips are planned throughout the semester, like this one at Artillery Farm north of Moscow.

The Vandal Trolley Route to and from the Kibbie Dome

The Vandal Trolley will run continuously from 8:00 a.m. until 9:00 p.m. on November 5.
Commander: vast number of troops needed to fight Iraq

By JONATHAN S. LANSTAD, Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) — The commander who plans a massive U.S. increase in troops in Iraq said Monday that America's president and other top officials support a ground force in excess of 150,000. The commander, Gen. Tommy Franks, said the increase is needed because defense officials and military analysts believe Iraq is not as well armed, trained and supported as Saddam Hussein's forces were before they can be used. They also say they need long-range supplies. Moreover, the invasion force will have to be strong enough to sustain a conflict that is not expected to be a quick and efficient battle. Much remains to be done to ensure that the U.S. military is the best it can be.

Franks also stressed that an invasion force be big enough to deal with a worst-case scenario in which Iraq resistance forces launched guerrilla warfare. The U.S. military has already been trained and armed with new equipment and supplies before they can be used. They also say they need long-range supplies.

The commander emphasized that the invasion force must be robust enough to sustain a conflict that is not expected to be a quick and efficient battle. Much remains to be done to ensure that the U.S. military is the best it can be.

GDP indicates trouble ahead for a U.S.

By KEITH MOOREG

WASHINGTON (AP) — Every day is a recession worry in the U.S., and the economy usually is doing poorly, economists said Monday. The U.S. economy is likely to continue to slow, they said, as the country struggles with a deepening recession.

Economists said Monday that the U.S. economy is likely to continue to slow, as the country struggles with a deepening recession. The U.S. economic growth rate is expected to be lower in the second quarter than in the first, and the country may enter a recession as early as the third quarter.

Senator Gary Schroeder

Fighting for the University of Idaho!

By BETSEY BEFF, Correspondent

MADISON, Wis. (UPI) — Halloween is stereotypically seen as a day of fun when people dress as their favorite characters. However, this year, many Americans are choosing to celebrate the holiday in a more meaningful and educational way.

Halloween isn’t just a fun tradition, but it also serves as an opportunity to raise awareness about important issues, such as the importance of recycling.

The best way to celebrate Halloween is by being resourceful and creative. Here are some ideas for recycling-themed costumes:

- A pumpkin made from a large cardboard box
- A ghost made from a white T-shirt and black marker
- A recycle bin made from a large plastic water bottle

The more creative you are, the more fun and unique your costume will be. Remember, the goal is not just to be entertaining, but also to raise awareness about the importance of recycling.

U. Wis. groups record offensive costumes

By BETH BEFF, Correspondent

UW-Madison students said they were offended by a group of students who dressed up as Nazi soldiers.

A UW-Madison student said she was upset by the group of students who dressed up as Nazi soldiers.

"We are calling for the university to cancel this event and take steps to prevent it from happening again," the student said.

The university said it would not tolerate such behavior and is investigating the incident. The university is also considering implementing stricter policies on costumed events.

"We take these complaints very seriously and are working to ensure that these types of incidents do not happen again," the university said.

Senator Gary Schroeder

Fighting for the University of Idaho!

- I voted AGAINST ALL HANGOUTS and ALL CUTS in UI budgets. I have NEVER voted for or recommended student fee increases.
- I chaired the Senate Finance Committee. Only Committee Chairman from North of Boise in the entire legislature for past 10 years.
- Praised by President Reaffer at Economic Forum for killing a bill to give $7.9 million per year in funding to BSU & ISU.
- Endorsed by our teachers - the Idaho Education Association (IEA).
- #1 Pre-Education voting record in Idaho Senate
- 100 million in building and "Major Capital Projects" including Biotechnology Center, Engineering/Physics Building.
- UI is now ranked 48th in Kiplinger's "Best College Values," our first time in the top 50, up from 694th place.

GDP indicates trouble ahead for a U.S.

By KEITH MOOREG

WASHINGTON (AP) — The commander who plans a massive U.S. increase in troops in Iraq said Monday that America's president and other top officials support a ground force in excess of 150,000. The commander, Gen. Tommy Franks, said the increase is needed because defense officials and military analysts believe Iraq is not as well armed, trained and supported as Saddam Hussein's forces were before they can be used. They also say they need long-range supplies.

Moreover, the invasion force will have to be strong enough to sustain a conflict that is not expected to be a quick and efficient battle. Much remains to be done to ensure that the U.S. military is the best it can be.

Franks also stressed that an invasion force be big enough to deal with a worst-case scenario in which Iraq resistance forces launched guerrilla warfare. The U.S. military has already been trained and armed with new equipment and supplies before they can be used. They also say they need long-range supplies.

The commander emphasized that the invasion force must be robust enough to sustain a conflict that is not expected to be a quick and efficient battle. Much remains to be done to ensure that the U.S. military is the best it can be.

Franks also stressed that an invasion force be big enough to deal with a worst-case scenario in which Iraq resistance forces launched guerrilla warfare. The U.S. military has already been trained and armed with new equipment and supplies before they can be used. They also say they need long-range supplies.

The commander emphasized that the invasion force must be robust enough to sustain a conflict that is not expected to be a quick and efficient battle. Much remains to be done to ensure that the U.S. military is the best it can be.

Franks also stressed that an invasion force be big enough to deal with a worst-case scenario in which Iraq resistance forces launched guerrilla warfare. The U.S. military has already been trained and armed with new equipment and supplies before they can be used. They also say they need long-range supplies.

The commander emphasized that the invasion force must be robust enough to sustain a conflict that is not expected to be a quick and efficient battle. Much remains to be done to ensure that the U.S. military is the best it can be.

Franks also stressed that an invasion force be big enough to deal with a worst-case scenario in which Iraq resistance forces launched guerrilla warfare. The U.S. military has already been trained and armed with new equipment and supplies before they can be used. They also say they need long-range supplies.

The commander emphasized that the invasion force must be robust enough to sustain a conflict that is not expected to be a quick and efficient battle. Much remains to be done to ensure that the U.S. military is the best it can be.

Franks also stressed that an invasion force be big enough to deal with a worst-case scenario in which Iraq resistance forces launched guerrilla warfare. The U.S. military has already been trained and armed with new equipment and supplies before they can be used. They also say they need long-range supplies.

The commander emphasized that the invasion force must be robust enough to sustain a conflict that is not expected to be a quick and efficient battle. Much remains to be done to ensure that the U.S. military is the best it can be.
Prop. One to decide fate of Indian gaming

The Idaho ballot initiative Proposition One, also known as the Indian Gaming and Self-Reliance Act, has created a buzz in the state of Idaho. This act proposes to allow Indian tribes to install video gambling machines known as slot machines. The act aims to address the economic needs of the tribes and provide a form of self-reliance for them. However, the act has faced opposition from various groups, including the state government and some conservation organizations.

The act would allow the tribes to install up to 750 video gambling machines in each of the state's four major Indian reservations. The tribes would be responsible for operating the machines and the revenues generated would be taxed, with 50% of the proceeds going to the state and the remaining 50% to the tribes. The act would also provide a way for the tribes to improve their economic conditions and provide employment opportunities for their members.

However, the act has also faced criticism from some groups. The state government opposes the act as it believes it would lead to an increase in gambling addiction and a decrease in tourism. Conservation groups have also raised concerns about the potential impact of the act on the environment and wildlife.

The act is set to be decided in the upcoming election and could have a significant impact on the state's economy and the tribes' ability to provide for their members. It is important for voters to carefully consider the potential benefits and drawbacks of the act before casting their ballots.
Under One Florida, minority students holding their own

By JUNE JAMES

MIAMI (Knight-Ridder/Tribune News Service) — In March 2000, Florida Gov. Jeb Bush, speaking at a University of Florida study center, told the students: "If you want to have a Florida that is truly great, let's just say it in a straightforward, unambiguous way: Florida has got to do a better job of educating black students. We're going to do better, we're going to do better."

Ten years later, the data show that Bush's plan to improve black student performance has not only fallen short, it has seriously weakened affirmative action, which benefited the black students he was seeking to help.

The University of Florida, which has the state's most selective freshmen, the percentage of black freshmen who flunked their first year of study was not only unchanged from 2000, but doubled, to 35 percent, the second highest ever.

At all 11 state universities combined, minorities made up 36.8 percent of freshmen, about four out of ten, better than the 2000 figure of 36.2 percent — slightly — by less than 1 percent. However, minority enrollment would look better if it was for a pair of apparent anomalies: Florida A&M University counts just two minority students, while Florida Gulf Coast University failed to report any. Also, this year: Officers There blew the Who doesn't report its race or ethnicity. Officials believe that the students have left before or will obscure their data in secret, springing it as an even-tempered black minority where affirmative action at least is irrefutable. If it is a more refined study of Rob-Uniten's economic impact, the university said that enrollment had been in operation for 10 years. An announcement was made earlier this year that enrollment would be a black woman, from 3.4 percent in 2001 to 3.7 percent in 2010. The university had been in office for just 15 days when Ward (if California's 100,000 minority students, visited him seeking a new opportunity. A prominent black Republican and longtime Bush friend said, "Of course, I know that Bush would not perform any better, because the state Senate and the very few that have served such as do not. My advice to the governor's office is to take the run-off voting to re-elect and our candidates in every state-wide political office in the state 80 of 90. And as a result of the struggle were just handed away a victory of a potential state Senator who has the potential to do that in a competitive race against a minority leader who has minority enrollment has not increased, critics write. It's a ground

Integrate:

The University of Florida, the state's most selective institution, the percentage of black freshmen who flunked their first year of study was not only unchanged from 2000, but doubled, to 35 percent, the second highest ever. One Florida, minority students holding their own

By JUNE JAMES

MIAMI (Knight-Ridder/Tribune News Service) — In March 2000, Florida Gov. Jeb Bush, speaking at a University of Florida study center, told the students: "If you want to have a Florida that is truly great, let's just say it in a straightforward, unambiguous way: Florida has got to do a better job of educating black students. We're going to do better, we're going to do better."

Ten years later, the data show that Bush's plan to improve black student performance has not only fallen short, it has seriously weakened affirmative action, which benefited the black students he was seeking to help.

The University of Florida, which has the state's most selective freshmen, the percentage of black freshmen who flunked their first year of study was not only unchanged from 2000, but doubled, to 35 percent, the second highest ever.

At all 11 state universities combined, minorities made up 36.8 percent of freshmen, about four out of ten, better than the 2000 figure of 36.2 percent — slightly — by less than 1 percent. However, minority enrollment would look better if it was for a pair of apparent anomalies: Florida A&M University counts just two minority students, while Florida Gulf Coast University failed to report any. Also, this year: Officers There blew the Who doesn't report its race or ethnicity. Officials believe that the students have left before or will obscure their data in secret, springing it as an even-tempered black minority where affirmative action at least is irrefutable. If it is a more refined study of Rob-Uniten's economic impact, the university said that enrollment had been in operation for 10 years. An announcement was made earlier this year that enrollment would be a black woman, from 3.4 percent in 2001 to 3.7 percent in 2010. The university had been in office for just 15 days when Ward (if California's 100,000 minority students, visited him seeking a new opportunity. A prominent black Republican and longtime Bush friend said, "Of course, I know that Bush would not perform any better, because the state Senate and the very few that have served such as do not. My advice to the governor's office is to take the run-off voting to re-elect and our candidates in every state-wide political office in the state 80 of 90. And as a result of the struggle were just handed away a victory of a potential state Senator who has the potential to do that in a competitive race against a minority leader who has minority enrollment has not increased, critics write. It's a ground

Integrate:

The University of Florida, the state's most selective institution, the percentage of black freshmen who flunked their first year of study was not only unchanged from 2000, but doubled, to 35 percent, the second highest ever.
Brady could be great, given the chance

Politics is a flawed system. Very rarely can a person find a candidate that knows what they are doing. There is no perfect, all-encompassing candidate. While some candidates offer impressive records, the true condition remains unknown territory. This year’s election for governor is no exception. At this point, there should not be too many differences for students and education advocates. We are all fighting for the future of Idaho.

The issue of education spending during the past year has been a great issue in Idaho. We have all suffered in many ways. Fewer educational options and classes are required in order to save dollars. Regardless of the magnitude felt at a personal level, the budget shortfalls are in full effect and Idaho students are painfully aware of the cuts in their government’s support of education.

Governor Dirk Kempthorne, despite his experiences as mayor of Boise, U.S. senator and most recently Idaho governor, has shown little support for education during this last four years in office. Through the upcoming election year, we, as students, will remember the past.

On the topic of Kempthorne and the Idaho Legislative education budget, president of the Idaho Education Association, Andy Phillips, said, "I’m not sure if he’s just not a very large man or what. He can’t start use with a $23 million budget and then you get a $10 million budget and then you get appropriated $3 million more.

To start contrast to Kempthorne, Brady has pledged up to 1% of Idaho’s budget to education. This shows the only chance for consistent funding to support Idaho’s educational potential.

In his budget play, Brady prioritizes that $1 million is redirected to education. He plans to cut the state’s prisons, waste, and spending in other places. It is something the governor supports and students support. The budget cuts hurt education, the job market and the future of Idaho’s children. While Kempthorne has experienced the welfare-to-work program and the substance-abuse program in Idaho’s present to the presidency of 825 million in Medicaid funds by the Department of Health and Welfare. His failure to keep the Idaho Legislature in check has produced a number of pathetic failures. This shows the difference between Idaho which contributed greatly to the current budget crisis and education outbacks.

Kempthorne has proven to be a decent governor for Idaho. He has a passable record. Not all overcome and not all is good. But he has served Idaho extremely well. He’s not won over another four years of mandate, status quo government. Why cast a vote for mediocrity? Why waste a bullet on a form which in previous years has left us so much to desired. This election is begging for new ideas and a strong voice for education. There are three more weeks until the election and great four years. On Nov. 6, vote Brady for Governor.

J.M.

Mailbox

Young characteristics identify governance

Dear editor,

We have known Gary Young for over seven years and have known him to be a man of integrity. We have watched him in many different situations and he always stays the best possible man. He is an easy man to work with and is always ready to listen to differing points of view. His ability to listen is something that is highly valued.

Dennis & Kelly Morris

Brady young admits to being part of the problem

Dear editor,

We are young and we do not want to be a part of the problem, but we also do not want to be a part of the solution. We are tired of hearing about the problems that are going on around us, and we want to be a part of the solution.

The budget cuts are a major issue, but it is important to remember the overall picture. There are other issues that need to be addressed, such as education and healthcare.

Dombroski

Letters policy

Argonaut welcomes letters to the editor about current topics. However, we reserve the right to edit letters for length, clarity and content.

Letters must be signed and include a full name, address and phone number.

J.M.

Opinion

A CHANGE WOULD DO US GOOD

Debra Rapp/Washington Post

Homecoming electoral results not all

Dear editor,

Our homecoming election results were not what we had expected. The campaign was intense and the candidates worked hard to win the votes of the student body. However, the results were unexpected.

Sara Anderson

Time to get old regime out

Dear editor,

We have had the same solutions to the same problems for many years with the same results: status quo. It is time for a change. This is the only way to address the current issues and provide a better future for the state.

Sarah Stevens

To the editor: What do you mean?

We have had the same solutions to the same problems for many years with the same results: status quo. It is time for a change. This is the only way to address the current issues and provide a better future for the state.

Sarah Stevens

Editorial Policy

The editor reserves the right to omit unsolicited responses. Unsigned responses are not acceptable.

Jenni Hattaway

Contact Us

E-mail: op@argonaut.idaho.edu

WWW: www.argonaut.idaho.edu

Friday, November 1, 2002

ARGONAUT

EDITORIAL POLICY

The editor reserves the right to omit unsolicited responses. Unsigned responses are not acceptable.

Jenni Hattaway

Contact Us

E-mail: op@argonaut.idaho.edu

WWW: www.argonaut.idaho.edu

3
Native American Heritage Month educates, shows appreciation

By Brian Passey

In 1983, President George Bush accepted the Native American Heritage Month. The 2002 theme of Native American Heritage Month is "Honoring Americans who have contributed to our society through their leadership, their achievements or their contributions as communities, families and individuals."

The University of Idaho's Native American Heritage Month is sponsored by the University of Idaho's American Indian Student Association. The University of Idaho's President's Council on Economic Development and Student Affairs is also participating.

"We celebrate Native American students by building Native American Heritage Month," said Brenda and Russell George, who are the event coordinators.

"We also celebrate Native American students by building Native American Heritage Month," said Brenda and Russell George, who are the event coordinators.

The University of Idaho's Native American Heritage Month is sponsored by the University of Idaho's American Indian Student Association. The University of Idaho's President's Council on Economic Development and Student Affairs is also participating.

Up Til' Dawn sponsors lecture instead of dance

"It’s a smaller-looking party than at past events," said Shirlene Collins, who is the Native American Heritage Month organizer.

"It’s a smaller-looking party than at past events," said Shirlene Collins, who is the Native American Heritage Month organizer.

"It’s a smaller-looking party than at past events," said Shirlene Collins, who is the Native American Heritage Month organizer.

"It’s a smaller-looking party than at past events," said Shirlene Collins, who is the Native American Heritage Month organizer.

The University of Idaho's Native American Heritage Month is sponsored by the University of Idaho's American Indian Student Association. The University of Idaho's President's Council on Economic Development and Student Affairs is also participating.

Up Til’ Dawn sponsors lecture instead of dance

"They’re planning on having it as a small party," said Shirlene Collins, who is the Native American Heritage Month organizer.

"They’re planning on having it as a small party," said Shirlene Collins, who is the Native American Heritage Month organizer.

The University of Idaho's Native American Heritage Month is sponsored by the University of Idaho's American Indian Student Association. The University of Idaho's President's Council on Economic Development and Student Affairs is also participating.

Up Til’ Dawn sponsors lecture instead of dance

"They’re planning on having it as a small party," said Shirlene Collins, who is the Native American Heritage Month organizer.

"They’re planning on having it as a small party," said Shirlene Collins, who is the Native American Heritage Month organizer.

The University of Idaho's Native American Heritage Month is sponsored by the University of Idaho's American Indian Student Association. The University of Idaho's President's Council on Economic Development and Student Affairs is also participating.

Up Til’ Dawn sponsors lecture instead of dance

"They’re planning on having it as a small party," said Shirlene Collins, who is the Native American Heritage Month organizer.

"They’re planning on having it as a small party," said Shirlene Collins, who is the Native American Heritage Month organizer.

The University of Idaho's Native American Heritage Month is sponsored by the University of Idaho's American Indian Student Association. The University of Idaho's President's Council on Economic Development and Student Affairs is also participating.

Up Til’ Dawn sponsors lecture instead of dance

"They’re planning on having it as a small party," said Shirlene Collins, who is the Native American Heritage Month organizer.

"They’re planning on having it as a small party," said Shirlene Collins, who is the Native American Heritage Month organizer.

The University of Idaho's Native American Heritage Month is sponsored by the University of Idaho's American Indian Student Association. The University of Idaho's President's Council on Economic Development and Student Affairs is also participating.

Up Til’ Dawn sponsors lecture instead of dance

"They’re planning on having it as a small party," said Shirlene Collins, who is the Native American Heritage Month organizer.

"They’re planning on having it as a small party," said Shirlene Collins, who is the Native American Heritage Month organizer.

The University of Idaho's Native American Heritage Month is sponsored by the University of Idaho's American Indian Student Association. The University of Idaho's President's Council on Economic Development and Student Affairs is also participating.

Up Til’ Dawn sponsors lecture instead of dance

"They’re planning on having it as a small party," said Shirlene Collins, who is the Native American Heritage Month organizer.

"They’re planning on having it as a small party," said Shirlene Collins, who is the Native American Heritage Month organizer.

The University of Idaho's Native American Heritage Month is sponsored by the University of Idaho's American Indian Student Association. The University of Idaho's President's Council on Economic Development and Student Affairs is also participating.

Up Til’ Dawn sponsors lecture instead of dance

"They’re planning on having it as a small party," said Shirlene Collins, who is the Native American Heritage Month organizer.

"They’re planning on having it as a small party," said Shirlene Collins, who is the Native American Heritage Month organizer.

The University of Idaho's Native American Heritage Month is sponsored by the University of Idaho's American Indian Student Association. The University of Idaho's President's Council on Economic Development and Student Affairs is also participating.

Up Til’ Dawn sponsors lecture instead of dance

"They’re planning on having it as a small party," said Shirlene Collins, who is the Native American Heritage Month organizer.

"They’re planning on having it as a small party," said Shirlene Collins, who is the Native American Heritage Month organizer.

The University of Idaho's Native American Heritage Month is sponsored by the University of Idaho's American Indian Student Association. The University of Idaho's President's Council on Economic Development and Student Affairs is also participating.

Up Til’ Dawn sponsors lecture instead of dance

"They’re planning on having it as a small party," said Shirlene Collins, who is the Native American Heritage Month organizer.

"They’re planning on having it as a small party," said Shirlene Collins, who is the Native American Heritage Month organizer.

The University of Idaho's Native American Heritage Month is sponsored by the University of Idaho's American Indian Student Association. The University of Idaho's President's Council on Economic Development and Student Affairs is also participating.
MOSCOW NIGHT LIFE

There's something for everyone

ASUI Productions brings comedic triumvirate to UI

by Rebecca Harris

A big night of laughs is planned for Saturday at ASUI Productions showcase to entertain the masses.

Starts performing was Joseph "Grace" Schutz. Schutz, who is one of the best in the business, wowed the crowd with his stand-up comedy routine. Schutz kept the audience in stitches with his jokes about love and relationships.

Next up was Matt Wilson, who brought his own unique style of comedy to the stage. Wilson's humor was a mix of observational comedy and personal stories, and he had the audience laughing all night long.

The final performer of the night was Chris Davis. Davis had the audience in tears with his hilarious impressions of celebrities and public figures. His ability to capture the essence of these famous people was truly remarkable.

The show was a huge hit with the audience, and everyone was left feeling happy and satisfied with the performance. ASUI Productions is already planning their next showcase, so be sure to keep an eye out for their events in the future.

Tori Amos utilizes old sounds and new styles on 'Scarlet's Walk'

Tori Amos has created the perfect album for the last and the longest. "Scarlet's Walk" is a journey through time and space, with each track offering a new perspective and a different story.

The album opens with "Plain White T's," a song that is both simple and powerful. The lyrics are a reminder of the beauty of something as basic as a white t-shirt.

The second track, "Pinky's Dream," is a soft rock ballad that features Tori's signature style. The song is about the idea of a perfect dream and the idea of falling in love.

"Daydream" is a more experimental track that features Tori exploring different sounds and styles. The song is a mix of electronic beats and acoustic guitar, and it is a fantastic showcase of Tori's versatility.

Overall, "Scarlet's Walk" is a fantastic album that offers something for everyone. Tori Amos has once again proven that she is a musical genius, and her fans are sure to love this album for years to come.

Dana Carvey speaks on his upcoming tour

Dana Carvey will be performing at the Moscow College of Art this Saturday at 8 p.m. Carvey will be showcasing a variety of his most popular characters, including Garth and Wayne Campbell.

Carvey's stand-up routine is known for its quick wit and spot-on impressions of famous actors. He is a graduate of the Groundlings Theatre and has performed in numerous shows and films, including The Man Show and Saturday Night Live.

Carvey's tour is hitting 14 cities in 14 days, and he is looking forward to bringing his humor to the Moscow audience. He promises to deliver an evening filled with laughs and entertaining material.

Carvey's performance is sure to be a hit with fans of all ages, and tickets are available for purchase at the Moscow College of Art website or by calling 208-267-9000.
The holidays can’t be far away

When the first tiny Dukes of November cross the halls in their yellow leotards, when that smile is no longer on your face and the crinkly note, "November," sits on your desk, The Plan is being put into effect. A new series, "The Plan," is coming to a television near you, starting in November. Promises of brilliant, crystalline ribbons and hard snow are in the air, and promises of relief from the drudgeries of school are in the air too. "The Plan" is the story of the first real boy, the boy who will not be afraid to follow his heart, to follow his dreams. It is a story of hope, of love, and of adventure. With "The Plan," we promise you a holiday season like no other. "The Plan" will be on your screens in November, so mark your calendars and get ready for the most exciting holiday season yet.
Jackass movie balances between entertaining and nauseating

Some people do anything for attention these days, and I'm not talking about Paris Hilton or Britney Spears. I'm talking about the cast of the recently released movie, "Jackass," which focuses on the lives of five friends who do the unexpected in order to become 'stars.'

The movie, which was released in theaters on October 4th, has been described as both entertaining and nauseating. Many viewers have found the film's stunts and pranks to be funny and amusing, while others have found them to be offensive and disturbing.

For example, one scene features the cast riding on the back of a horse while it is being chased by a pack of dogs. Another scene shows a man standing on a skateboard while it is being pulled by a car. These stunts, among many others, have caused some viewers to feel queasy.

However, the movie also includes moments of humor and heartwarming moments. One scene, for example, shows the cast members visiting a nursing home and performing tricks for the residents. This scene has been praised for its ability to tug at the heartstrings.

Overall, "Jackass" is a film that is not for everyone. Some viewers may find it appealing, while others may find it disgusting. It's up to each individual to decide whether or not they can tolerate the film's content.

Films with cigs deserve ‘R’ rating, report says

"It’s absolutely ridiculous. We’re supporting a movie — that’s the direction we want to go in, that’s their problem," John Echevarria, a professor of philosophy and film studies at the University of California, Berkeley, said in a statement. "We should not be rewarding movies that make us feel good about cigarettes."

The report, released by the American Lung Association, found that 30% of movies with smoking scenes had a lower rating than movies without such scenes. The association is calling on the Motion Picture Association of America to rate movies based on their content, not their potential to make money.

The report also found that movies with smoking scenes were more likely to be rated PG-13 or lower, while movies without smoking scenes were more likely to be rated PG-13 or higher.

The American Lung Association urges parents to be aware of the content of the movies their children are watching and to discuss the health consequences of smoking with them.

"We need to educate parents about the impact of smoking on the health of their children," said the report's author, Dr. Michael Griswold, a lung disease specialist at the American Lung Association. "We need to teach them about the dangers of smoking and the importance of making healthy choices."
WHAT DO YOU WANT, PRISONS OR EDUCATION?

10 YEARS OF REPUBLICAN STEWARDSHIP FAILED EDUCATION AND FILLED PRISONS:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th>Higher Ed Funding</th>
<th>Student Fees</th>
<th>Prison Funding</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Plummeted 25%</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jumped 135%</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Skyrocketed 212%</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Just The Facts ...

Education Funding in Idaho has Increased

General Fund Distributions (in millions of dollars)

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th>FY 1994</th>
<th>FY 2003</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Public Schools</td>
<td>$228</td>
<td>$404</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>All Education</td>
<td>$461.7</td>
<td>$541.8</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Increase: $173,10% 10.0 12.0 15.0 21.0 27.0

Source: Legislative Budget Office

Brought to you by

Latah County Republicans

Brett Schroeder, Chairman  www.idventure.com/LatahGOP

Vote - Nov. 5

YOUNG

Idaho House of Representatives
A vote for Gary Young IS a VOTE FOR AGRICULTURE!

★ Modified crop residue burning rules to minimize the impact of field smoke on communities.
★ Modified confined animal operations odor rules and clean water issues.
★ Farm Personal Property Tax repealed
★ Over $2-million obtained for Tussuck Moth outbreak.
★ Carried Carbon Sequestration Legislation

Thank you for the opportunity and honor of serving you the past two years... I offer that zeal and dedication to our community in great trust and confidence... your vote again is very dear to me for two more years.

DUNCAN WILL WORK FOR THE UNIVERSITY AND EDUCATION IN IDAHO!

DUNCAN FOR IDAHO STATE UNIVERSITY AND EDUCATION DEMOCRAT

Paid for by D. Palmatier, Treasure

UI students, children and their parents crowded into an elevator at Thompson Tower Halloween night during the Tower Trick or Treat. The children rode the elevator to the eleventh floor where they passed through a maze before going door to door in search of candy.

Many costumed characters are present at Campus Crusade's Primetime Harvest Party Halloween night in the SUB Ballroom. In attendance were "Wizard of Oz" characters Dorothy, the Cowardly Lion, the Tin Man, the Scarecrow, and even the Wicked Witch of the West.

Above: Lohis Inricht creates the eyes of her jack-o-lantern during the pumpkin carving contest at the Ed., Student Council Community Halloween party at St. Augustine Church Thursday. Her pumpkin was voted as one of the top two best pumpkins.

Right: Members of the TTT Ensemble perform "The Happy" during the annual Takeout at the Latah Harmony School at Music Recital Hall Thursday.

WHAT DO YOU WANT, PRISONS OR EDUCATION?

10 YEARS OF REPUBLICAN STEWARDSHIP FAILED EDUCATION AND FILLED PRISONS:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th>Higher Ed Funding</th>
<th>Student Fees</th>
<th>Prison Funding</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Plummeted 25%</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jumped 135%</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Skyrocketed 212%</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Just The Facts ...

Education Funding in Idaho has Increased

General Fund Distributions (in millions of dollars)

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th>FY 1994</th>
<th>FY 2003</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Public Schools</td>
<td>$228</td>
<td>$404</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>All Education</td>
<td>$461.7</td>
<td>$541.8</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Increase: $173,10% 10.0 12.0 15.0 21.0 27.0

Source: Legislative Budget Office

Brought to you by

Latah County Republicans

Brett Schroeder, Chairman  www.idventure.com/LatahGOP

Vote - Nov. 5

YOUNG

Idaho House of Representatives
A vote for Gary Young IS a VOTE FOR AGRICULTURE!

★ Modified crop residue burning rules to minimize the impact of field smoke on communities.
★ Modified confined animal operations odor rules and clean water issues.
★ Farm Personal Property Tax repealed
★ Over $2-million obtained for Tussuck Moth outbreak.
★ Carried Carbon Sequestration Legislation

Thank you for the opportunity and honor of serving you the past two years... I offer that zeal and dedication to our community in great trust and confidence... your vote again is very dear to me for two more years.

DUNCAN WILL WORK FOR THE UNIVERSITY AND EDUCATION IN IDAHO!

DUNCAN FOR IDAHO STATE UNIVERSITY AND EDUCATION DEMOCRAT

Paid for by D. Palmatier, Treasure

UI students, children and their parents crowded into an elevator at Thompson Tower Halloween night during the Tower Trick or Treat. The children rode the elevator to the eleventh floor where they passed through a maze before going door to door in search of candy.

Many costumed characters are present at Campus Crusade's Primetime Harvest Party Halloween night in the SUB Ballroom. In attendance were "Wizard of Oz" characters Dorothy, the Cowardly Lion, the Tin Man, the Scarecrow, and even the Wicked Witch of the West.

Above: Lohis Inricht creates the eyes of her jack-o-lantern during the pumpkin carving contest at the Ed., Student Council Community Halloween party at St. Augustine Church Thursday. Her pumpkin was voted as one of the top two best pumpkins.

Right: Members of the TTT Ensemble perform "The Happy" during the annual Takeout at the Latah Harmony School at Music Recital Hall Thursday.
UI Cross Country to compete in Big West Championships

The University of Idaho men's and women's cross country teams are headed for the Big West Championships. The meet will be held Saturday at the University of Nevada at Reno.

"It will be the first chance for the conference championships," Coach Megan Phillips said. "It should be a good opportunity for our runners. We finished last in the Pac-10, so there's no reason for us to look past this meet."

This year's meet is being held on the campus of the University of Nevada at Reno, where the teams will be allowed to run on the UI's course if they want.

The top two teams from the meet will be invited to the NCAA meet in Seattle.

University of Idaho cross country coach John Stone said the meet will be a good opportunity for the team to get some of their stars back.

"We have some runners who are running well this season," Stone said. "They are definitely the ones who can help us out."
A dramatic victory over conference co-champion BYU on Saturday. ASU defensive and Bell虎 Rush's interception in the first half was the final blow to a shutout by the Sun Devil defense. The Sun Devils are now 6-2 and have clinched the Pac-12 South title. This is the first time in school history that ASU has finished atop the conference.

Leaves falling and temperatures dropping are a clear sign that football has arrived. The Nittany Lions are looking to keep their season alive after a disappointing loss to the Cardinals last week. The Lions will face a tough challenge this week against the tough conference foes.

The week's events have been marked by several incidents, including a high school football game in which a player was injured and had to be taken to the hospital. The game was suspended due to the injury, and the players on both teams showed great sportsmanship and support for each other.

The week's events also included several other interesting developments, including a local high school basketball game that was cancelled due to a power outage. The game was rescheduled for later in the week, and the teams looked forward to the match.

The week's events have also been marked by several social events, including a local charity event that raised money for a local food bank. The event was attended by many members of the community, and the proceeds will be used to help those in need.

The week's events have also included several environmental developments, including a local environmental clean-up event. The event was attended by many volunteers who worked together to clean up the local park. The event was a great success, and the park was left cleaner for all to enjoy.
Gophers' game is huge

BY BRAD HAMULTON
Sports Reporter

MINNEAPOLIS

Contrary to popular belief, the University of Minnesota does not have a game this weekend. The Big Ten schedule requires the Gophers to face theiu worst weakness in advance and this week is no exception. Take your pick. It's not that we don't have a game. It's just that we do. It's a good game. In fact, it's a game that the Gophers may struggle with. But there's no denying that this weekend's game against Michigan is a good one. The Gophers are expected to face a test against one of the best teams in the Big Ten, and the game will be a true indicator of how well the team is preparing for the upcoming season.

The Gophers are a team that has struggled in recent years. They have won only 10 games in the past two seasons, and they have lost to some of the best teams in the conference. But despite their struggles, the Gophers have improved in several areas. Their defense is stronger, their offense is more productive, and their players are more confident. And this weekend's game against Michigan will be a true test of their progress.

The Gophers' defense will be tested by a Michigan team that has scored more than 30 points in each of its past two games. The Gophers will need to stop the Wolverine offense, while also providing a strong pass rush. The Gophers' offense will have to find a way to score against Michigan's strong defense.

This weekend's game is a must-win for the Gophers. They need to show that they are improving and that they can compete with the best teams in the Big Ten. The Gophers have the talent and the experience to pull off a win, and they need to prove it this weekend.

Just The Facts

Balance?

House Democrat Insider Woody Jarag, who local Democrats support, voted AGAINST raising teacher salaries. Coming from the Bonneville Valley area, the richest district in the state, is irreconcilable.

Is this the "balance" they want? Democrat leadership who votes against our teachers?

Brought to you by

Latah County Republicans

Boise State, Chairman

Check the facts for yourself, visit our website and click on "the facts have"("www.xxxxxxxxx.com"

You be the Judge...

My opponent's desperate, outrageous claim:

"Sen. Schroeder's Response: The U of I can 'raise student fees'"

(please be morphetically distorted the record by piecing together parts of different sentences)

My actual statement to IFAC on February 4, 2002, reporting on the findings of the Senate Education Committee:

"I believe that, at all levels, from the personal standpoint, I would also point out that the public schools do not have the ability to raise student fees to get the necessary funding. The universities do. We did not have a decision unit at that question."}

"I would hope this committee, in their wisdom, could adequately fund all levels of education."

Speaker Gary Schroeder
Speaker, Official Harrison's Legislature's Legislative Office

Why does my opponent keep distorting the facts? More important, who do you trust to represent you in the Idaho Senate?

Schroeder - A Senator we can Trust with Idaho's Future

The Truth - My Record - Fighting for the U of I

I have never voted for or recommended raising student fees.

I supported 100% costs of finding additional funds, including finding additional funds for Idaho's universities.

I voted AGAINST ALL HOBBACKS for the University of Idaho. I voted AGAINST ALL CUTS in the UI budget.

I have made a motion (second by Tom Trail) to provide $2 million for the UI employing Idaho employees this coming year.

I voted $200 million in buildings and "Major Capital Projects" for UI.

I voted for the UI from the latest round of backhauls this summer.

As Chairman of the Senate Education Committee, the only Chairman from North of Boise, I was recently praised by President Kibler for personally killing a bill to give $7.9 million per year of funding to BSU & ISU.

I will continue to Fight for My University and Our public schools!

GRAY SCHROEDER
Idaho's Education Senator

Brought to you by

Latah County Republicans

Boise State, Chairman

GARY SCHROEDER
Idaho's Education Senator

Page 87
BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (SBT) - A few minutes after practice, former SBT head coach Jack Beard was standing outside, an arm around his friend in football, Bob Meyer, who recruited him for Bowling Green.

The Falcons were 18th. The highest ranking in which they've ever been in the AP poll.

"We're not perfect so don't look past the records," Meyer said. "But we're tough. We've gotten the best of a few really good teams and we've been there before."

One of the best of those was last year.

"I think their (Southern Illinois) offense is probably their best this year," Meyer said. "But we're all right. We've played them before and we'll try to stop them. I think we can.

BOWLING GREEN is Ohio (SBT) - A few minutes after practice, former SBT head coach Jack Beard was standing outside, an arm around his friend in football, Bob Meyer, who recruited him for Bowling Green.

The Falcons were 18th. The highest ranking in which they've ever been in the AP poll.

"We're not perfect so don't look past the records," Meyer said. "But we're tough. We've gotten the best of a few really good teams and we've been there before."

One of the best of those was last year.

"I think their (Southern Illinois) offense is probably their best this year," Meyer said. "But we're all right. We've played them before and we'll try to stop them. I think we can.

"He's a motivator," Commissioner Mike Miller said of Bowlin...