Broken water pipe floods Tower

Water pipes broke in the New Living Center, causing the north side of the Tidewater Tower to flood Thursday afternoon. The water was pumped out into the street and into Paradise Creek outside of the Student Recreation Center.

University suspends men's ice hockey club

UI suspended the men's ice hockey club because of policy violations including alleged failures to meet the state's minimum standards for representation in the university in a timely manner.

The violations occurred during a hockey tournament the weekend of Feb. 1 in Laramie, Wyo. In the tournament, the Beavers were the only team representing the State of Idaho. The Beavers lost, giving them a 0-2-0 record for the season.

Shortly after the team's return, members of the Sigma Kappa fraternity, who also sponsored the club, were suspended for possible policy violations.

Arnold leaves ASUI Senate

Arnold's term as president of the Student Senate ended on Thursday. Arnold had been president of the ASUI Senate since August 1994.

Arnold was selected as a "C'88" winner in the '99 award, recieving the highest grade for his term in the state. The award is given to the best senator in the state.

Arnold announced last week that he was running for re-election to the Senate. He also said he would be the only senator to run for re-election, with the others withdrawing.

Arnold said he would not seek re-election, but he is still considering running for the Senate next year.
The public is invited to the Moscow Civic Association meeting of Monday, 7 p.m., at the Moscow Public Library. The meeting will focus on the importance of the race against time to provide funds for the Moscow Public Library.

The meeting will also discuss the potential benefits of a library card system and the impact of the Library Services and Construction Act on the library's ability to serve the community.

All community members are invited to attend and share their thoughts on the future of the library.

The meeting is open to the public and will be held in the Library Meeting Room.
The myth was based on Ptolemy's "Atlas" and "Atlas" and is considered a classic of the field. Layman, who taught Native American studies at the University of Idaho and is a leader in the field, discusses the myth's relevance in the context of contemporary issues in Native American communities.

"The myth tells the story of a bird that was killed by a hunter and then was brought back to life by a girl's pure heart. This story is often told as a reminder of the importance of respecting nature and the interconnectedness of all things," Layman said.

Layman's presentation is part of a larger series of events celebrating the Native American Heritage Month, which runs from November 1 to November 30. The series includes workshops, films, and discussions on topics related to Native American culture and history.

The event is free and open to the public. Refreshments will be served. Please RSVP by calling 208-885-6457 or emailing info@uw-bank.com. For more information, visit www.uw-bank.com.

Naysayers should give war a second look

Dear editor,

While the war in Iraq is much too, I am not seeking to be part of a chorus of critics. If, however, your page includes graphic images of Iraqi civilians who have been killed by U.S. forces in Iraq, I am interested in your thoughts. I believe the war in Iraq is a war against terrorism.

Surely, terrorism is a problem but, in my opinion, the war in Iraq is not.

Michael David,
Maryville, Tenn.

Real Talk

I read your editorial in the last edition and I was deeply moved. I believe that the war is on the minds of many people, especially those who are affected by it.

Reality Bites

Just when you thought the gross-outformer of Fan Favorite, the butt of Insurance, the Bachelor Family of the Week of the Week of the Week, and the show inventors of Iowa's Own, Get Out of Here! has pushed reality television to its limits, Fox has given the Americans viewing audiences a new star for their scrutiny.

Fox launched its new reality program, Role Models, last week with the aim of appealing for publicity and self-promotion by giving attention to reality TV. The goal of the show is to develop and the show inventors of Iowa's Own, Get Out of Here! has pushed reality television to its limits. For the first time, the American viewing audiences are now more aware of the reality program.

Most of the single men attending the retiring ceremony for the dating show, their reality TV show, will try to make a deal. It is clear that the reality program has failed to sustain the interest of the American viewing audiences.

Do the dating show, the couples really sit and talk about making a deal or being in a relationship. It is true that the reality show is a flop, but it is not enough to make a deal or be in a relationship. There are other shows that are more enjoyable to watch.

Government wastes time on many projects

Dear editor,

For years, I have heard about the cost of government waste. It is time for us to take a look at how our tax dollars are being wasted. I think it is time for us to start paying attention to what our government is doing with our money.

Thank you for your consideration.

Take stand against gay discrimination

I think the person you are referring to, and you'd be right, is the one who would choose to stop at the store. The problem is that the store is just outside of the city limits. This means that it is not legal in the city. So, if you were to choose to stop at the store, you would be breaking the law.

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People is an organization that is working to end discrimination against African Americans. They are working to ensure that everyone has the same rights and opportunities as everyone else.

Thank you for your consideration.

Weavers' Guild celebrates 50 years

By BARBARA BULL

A new exhibition of local art spans tonight through Sunday, at the Museum of the Palouse Hills. Weavers' Guild members and visitors are invited to visit the exhibit from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturday, March 10, and from 1-5 p.m. on Sunday, March 11. The exhibit is located at 101 5th Avenue SW, in Pullman, and is open to the public.

The exhibition, which is being held in conjunction with the museum, features works by members of the Palouse Hills Weavers' Guild, a group of artists who are dedicated to the craft of weaving. The exhibit includes a wide variety of weaving styles, including tapestry, needlepoint, and freeform weaving. The exhibit also includes works by outside artists, including pieces by local artists and students from surrounding areas.

Visitors to the exhibit will have the opportunity to learn more about the history of weaving and the techniques used by weavers. The exhibit will also feature a variety of interactive activities, including weaving demonstrations and workshops. The museum is open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturdays and Sundays, and from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Wednesdays and Thursdays.

The exhibit is free to the public and is open to all ages. Visitors are encouraged to stop by and check out the exhibit, whether they are interested in learning more about weaving or simply enjoy the art on display.
‘Cradle 2 the Grave’ lacks acting, brims with intensity

by JACOB DEMBOWSKI and CRISP MORTENSEN

But the ‘Matrix’ star, who co-produced and directed the film, has long since proven he is no mere pop-culture icon. His latest film, ‘Cradle 2 the Grave,’ is a major departure in its storytelling and, while it may not be as mind-bending as its predecessor, it is a solid addition to the action genre.

While the story is somewhat predictable, it is executed with skill and attention to detail. The film features a diverse cast of characters, including a young boy who becomes embroiled in the world of organized crime. The dialogue is sharp and the action sequences are exciting.

Overall, ‘Cradle 2 the Grave’ is a solid film that is sure to appeal to fans of the action genre. While it may not be as groundbreaking as its predecessor, it is a solid addition to the ‘Matrix’ franchise and a welcome addition to the action movie genre.

The Good:
1. The story is engaging and well-crafted.
2. The action sequences are impressive.
3. The cast delivers strong performances.

The Bad:
1. The script could have been tighter.
2. The pacing is inconsistent.

In conclusion, ‘Cradle 2 the Grave’ is a solid film that is sure to appeal to fans of the action genre. While it may not be as groundbreaking as its predecessor, it is a welcome addition to the ‘Matrix’ franchise and a solid film in its own right.
Great White disasters are ‘defining time’ for music clubs

By Gary Klein

And now, after more than two decades of death, struggle, anger and frustration, what was once a forgotten group of oldies bands is on the mend. The two disasters that have shaken the concert industry, the(::)

The disasters that took place.

The concert industry has not been frozen in time with the growth in the events and entertainment space, but continues to evolve. There is still an ongoing need for instant responsive emergency services, which is why the industry is still frozen in time with the growth in the events and entertainment space.

...and many others - are calling for drastic changes in concert industry, federal regulations, to prevent future tragedies to the concert and nightlife industries. Others report on the growth of concert and entertainment industry, specifically for music, where city and state authorities have been working for years to keep young people and kids safe.

But everyone agrees that it can no longer be business as usual. The Shawdian, owner of the Chicago Park, states that the only way to end the cycle is to stop the music and entertainment industry.
Men's golf starts off spring season

The University of Idaho men's golf team kicked off the spring season with a 61-hole tournament at the 11th Annual Bronco Classic.

It was obvious that the Vandals were on a mission to perform well in the first rounds, knocking off #15, California, with a+5 36-hole score for a total of -21.

The Vandals closed the tournament with a +4 36-hole score for a total of -30, tying for fifth place with UC Davis.

The Vandals' success in the tournament was largely due to the performance of senior Leslie, who led the team with a 4-under par score.

Leslie's performance was complimented by the contributions of junior Freeberg, who also performed well with a 5-under par score, and senior Cowan, who tied for seventh place with a 4-under par score.

The Vandals' strong showing in the Bronco Classic sets them up for future success in the remainder of the spring season.
