FOOTBALL PRACTICE IN FULL SWING

BIG SQUAD OF MEN RESPOND TO INITIAL CALL OF COACH

Griffith

No New Heavy Weights But Return of Veterans Make Prospects Bright

In spite of the bad weather conditions prevalent, and the rush of the first few days of calls, not fifty men have drawn suits and are appearing on the campus for the first regular practice, but more than one hundred will be in training by the end of this week. The practice will drop away as candidates give up hope of making the team. Few heavy weights will be added to the squad, hence the team that will represent Idaho this year will be no heavier than previous years, although it will not be as considerate a lighter. W. C. S. will have an edge on us of over two weeks in point of practice, and is making forth every effort to fill the loss of the faster boys and others who were graduated, and to replace the gaps for the defeats of the last two years which he has suffered at the hands of Pilk's wardens. He is attempting to score a post season game with Idaho, as he said "for financial reasons" to be played in Spokane last fall. It is well known that such a game played in Spokane would be a financial loss, but Beamer had all his men and nothing to lose. Now that he has a lot to win, and probably something to lose, he is putting forth every effort to secure victory. It is simply up to him to put out a winning team, and if it is in him and his material to score the victory, it will be received. Whether he has probably have more experienced men from down than Idaho has had for several years. In fact a few team of veterans can be put together. These with the strong candidates from last year's second team, and the fresh men who are dead certain to make places on the team, ought certainly to put out a better winning machine than that which represented Idaho last year. However, it is less than a guess to attempt to state the relative strength of the two teams. It looks as though Beamer would have a hard time to put out as strong a team as the mine. But it will do cannot be said until it has been done. And then how and Idaho will have to drop is not as far until the game. Hoe is easily upset, specially in a W. C. Idaho game.

The présent team of men who now at work and could be put into the field is made up of: Hayes at center, Rippy and Johnston, guards; Captains Phillips and the plant Grumle at tackle; Dingle, Dewdull, and Till Gerhough as ends; only at quarter; Burns, Rose and Jordan, tackles. The team will still be in place for the period of practice. It is expected to make a trip to Farmington in the near future. It will be seen how the team will roll on the next game. It is expected to come out in good condition.

Y. M. C. A. HOLDS BIG REUNION IN — ATTENDANCE LARGEST IN YEARS

Boating Contest Main Event—Freshmen Awarded Honors—President Brannon Talks

The annual stag social which is given under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. was held with an enthusiastic attendance on Saturday night of last week at the University Gymnasium. Despite the fact that many of the boys of the university were necessarily absent from the social, there was an attendance of about 100, who participated in the various exciting sports.

The evening program was opened with a "Rooster" fight between champions of the sophomore and freshman teams, with the result that two victories were awarded the fresh while the soph get away with very one. The contest of boxing to boxers was next indulged in resulting in even honors to either class. However the hosts being considered an impost to the real sport, it was decided that a three-round bout for a knockout should be held between the middle weights of the respective underclassmen. In the contest, which followed, Betty, the well-known middle weight pugilist, was matched against a freshman dark horse, named Post. The first round was awarded the representative of the Sophomore class, and he was also given the second round by the same vote. The final and last round opened with Betty agaiside, forcing his opponent to take the defensive. Betty in the last of the round Post caught Betty on the jaw with a right swing and put him down for the round thus being awarded the contest on a knock-out.

The freshmen having won the honors of the evening, speeches were given by President Brannon, Graduating Manager Farrior, Coach Edmundson and Professor Field Secretory of the Y. M. C. A.

Refreshments served in the base-bow of the Gym concluded the evening's entertainment.

LIEUTENANT FOOKS RETURNS

Battalion Commander of University Cadets Enjoyed a Summer Vacation.

Lient. Herriert C. Fooks, commandant at the university, enjoyed the latter part of last week to indulge his duties in connection with the military department. He will again fill up the space of a year of his leisure hours.

It is reported that he had a delightful summer's vacation and that he is again to be seen in a students' military camp in Virginia, two weeks in maneuvers in Utah, and the rest of the time at his home in Baltimore, Maryland.

Just before going west, Mr. Fooks went to Baltimore to be present at the Great Star Spangled Banner centennial celebration. Owing to the early opening of the season of amusement at the university, Mr. Fooks was unable to remain in Baltimore until Friday, the day before the military exercises began.

With regard to the enrolment at the university, Mr. Fooks said he expected to have as many cadets this year as ever before and the chances were good for an increased number of these to be present next fall.

When asked about Major Chrismas, a former commandant in Moscow and a warm personal friend of Mr. Post, the lieutenant said that Major Christmas, who is now with troops in Fort Nigeria, is still very interested in Moscow.

In a very recent letter to Mr. Fooks, Major Christmas said that as soon as he returns from the army he hoped to carry out his long-cherished plan of coming to Moscow to live.

GREAT WORK BY E. M. HULME

The Renaissance and Reformation in Continental Europe, Will Be in Great Demand.

The Century company of New York, have just published a history of "The Renaissance and Reformation in Continental Europe" by Professor Edward M. Hulme of the University of Idaho. The work was undertaken several years ago at the suggestion of Professor George Lincoln Burr of Cornell University, who was one of Professor Hulme's teachers. It has been known for some time that Professor Hulme was engaged upon a history, but he has always declined to speak about it until now. When asked for some information about the book the other day he said:

"The story of the book can best be told. I think, by three or four extracts from letters sent to me by Professor Burr. He was the most helpful and inspiring teacher I ever had. "It was his faith in me, and his encouragement that made the book possible."

In his remarkable "Autobiography," Andrew D. White, who was the first president of Cornell, and who was the American ambassador to Germany in 1878-81, and our ambassador to Russia in 1892-94, has this to say about Professor Burr: "Of the historical scholars I have ever known, Professor Burr is among the very foremost, by his powers of research, his tenacity of memory, his almost preternatural accuracy, his ability to keep the "whole field of investigation in his mind, and his fidelity to truth and justice."

It was owing to Professor Burr's great ability as a historian and to his unrivalled skill in diplomacy that the American commissioners in the Venetian boundary dispute with Great Britain were able to conclude their labors so successfully.

"All their work depended upon the masterly skill with which he unravelled the historical mystery. "Never did I read a report," says-Andrew D. White, "give more satisfaction. "It is this man who urged me to write the book. It was to be a book upon lines essentially new. Its characterizing feature was to be its emphasis upon three events and forces in the past that bear upon the present elements of civilization and help to explain and illuminate the life and problems of today. In place of the endless accounts of diplomacy, war, and politics it is a picture of the largest attention to the deeper forces of history, to the life of the people, their occupations, habits, thoughts, to industrial and social conditions, to the rise of world ideas of art, of literature, to geographical sweep of nations and races, to the growth of manners and religions of freedom and of toleration. In addition the book was to have a distinct literary value. That was my task. I have done my best to fulfill it. Fortunately I had accumulated a good deal of material relating to the Renaissance and the Reforma tion in the course of my studies at Harvard, Cornell, and Europe. Yet it was often difficult, and sometimes dis couraging, to work on such a book at so great a distance from the big libraries of the East and those of Europe.

"The first letter from Professor Burr is dated August 8, 1908. In it he says: 'I am greatly interested in your Dreams of Bookmaking. Why not? I know of nobody whose call to write is easier. Why not give a book on Renaissance and Reformation? I know no other young scholar so well suited to the task.'"

And the second letter is dated July 15, 1913. In it Professor Burr says: 'At last there has been a great deluge of handsomeness connected with the Renaissance. They have been a great delight to me.

They are characterised by great depth of thought and notable originality of treatment. It is a beauty, and I am proud of it for you. My class will use it as a text-book.'"

"In the last letter I find that a book has been published which has met the approval of so great a scholar as Professor Burr. The publication is a work on the history of the Church, and the University has worked hard to ensure that the book is in the hands of the students."

"The book was published on May 24, 1913, and it was a great success. The University has been able to sell it for a profit, and it has been praised by the scholars who have read it."

"After the book was published, Professor Burr wrote to the University, saying: 'I am delighted to learn that your book has been successful. It is a fine work, and I am sure that it will be of great value to the students.'"

"The University has been pleased with the reaction to the book, and it is planning to publish more works in the same field."

"The University has also been able to sell the book in other countries, and it has been praised by scholars in Europe."

"The University is planning to publish more works in the same field, and it is looking forward to the success of its future publications."

A STATEMENT

At this time no statement can be made setting forth the policies of the Argonaut for the coming year. The editor has not returned to the university and until he does so any such statements as this would amount to little more than a hypothesis.

The coming paper should be thoroughly representative of the best sentiment and activities of the student body. It should be constructive and careful lest it fall into the habit of wholesale criticism and censure. He who cannot construct something better to replace that which he has torn down has accomplished very little. It is only to be hoped that this idea will be recovered; if not, the policy of the Argonaut for the coming year. This attitude, carried with it neither the suggestion of weakness nor of condensation. Rather does it indicate an intelligent perception of things, the spirit of the faculty and student body will not be lacking.

A LOSS

In the sad death of Professor Charles A. Hulme there is lost a friend and one of her most able instructors and investigators. Thereby is the school of biology weakened. In the field of education, he bared to his students the benefits of a trained and a well informed mind, characterized by uniform kindness, and his abilities as a teacher no less than his personal qualities endeared him to the hearts of all.

THE ARGONAUT OFFICE

The Argonaut office seems to be as far from a reality as ever. It was hoped that room might be found to accommodate the office in the old public library, but such a good fortune is fairly out of the question. There is no doubt that the publicity room must be used for other and more important purposes. Lack of space in the Gym presents the same difficulty. If a room cannot be obtained in the School of Mines it becomes perfectly obvious that the Argonaut must worry thereby another year without suitable headquarters. Hope for a better fate will not be the case. The President has done his best to better conditions and we appreciate the efforts he has put forth in behalf of the establishment of a real Argonaut office.

THE ENROLLMENT

The strong enrollment this year would indicate that the booster meeting held last spring by President Bronson was no means a failure. Not only is the present freshman class larger than ever but the number of students returning this year to complete work is that of four years ago. Figures showed last year that the sophomore class had suffered most from class-mortis. This year’s class for course consequently is numerically below the average junior class.

Nevertheless it would require the darkest pessimism to foresee anything but the realization of our goal, namely, “A bigger university.” Every freshman should feel that he has started college for a four-year course and if his staying power is half equal to his resolution, he will be graduated with his class. The glory and phase of all is that many of the green-clipped variety do not realize what they are here for. Pretenti-ous, life, good times, athletic prominence, get them. Very little if we lose sight of the bigger reasons for our presence here. If we catch the spirit of President Bronson, which has been developed on this point we shall have done much toward the realization of our hopes.

“Psychical,” said the Wing Guy, “is the greatest mixture of me, morals and malignity that the good old U. A. A. ever boasted. It is a glorious porcupill of all the most virile qualities of the Anglican race and it is to live forever.

“The Sinclair gutter will always be held with the King of College, sports for the college man is aloof—author red-blooding and nothing wordsworth the effort, and my, how the gutter ball whether participated in as a player or a spectator.

“A fast half back Gibbs gait from the bunch; he has one man between himself and a touchdown; the score is 9 to 0 and the quarter is almost finished. Will the back get by or will the defensive warior make his tackle good.

“When now that if speeding back was a Pullman star and what if the man with the curl, but now it is stand or fall with that one tackle. Where would your heart be? Pursu- ing in the tranquil country it's a little hard to find an ex- ercise place or up among your mules where it should be.

“Of course everyone likes football but if there happen to be some few who don’t would do well to get the habit, for a real football bug is blessed among men.

PROF. HULME A STRONG SPEAKER

Under the above caption the Pond Editor Review prints a two-column report of two of the addresses given by Professor Edward M. Hulme at the annual Kootenai-Salmon County Teacher's institute. The report is concluded with the following paragraph:

“The addresses of Professor E. M. Hulme of the University of Idaho, but before the general session and to the high school sections, were highly appreciated by the teachers. No matter what his subject, the style was the war and the edifice of it. Professor Hulme was intensely interesting and his humanity is such that it always pleases those who hear him. His approach to the subject of the institute would not have been complete.”

CHANGED PLAN ON RHODES SCHOLARS

NEW REGULATIONS PROVIDED IN THE UNITED STATES AFFECTING A NUMBER OF STATES

Idaho Cannot Send Candidate to Oxford in 1916 But Will Have Privilege of Sending One in 1917

President M. A. Bronson of the University of Idaho, has received a letter from Gen. R. P.arkin, trustee of the Rhodes scholarship trust fund, with headquarters in London, to the effect that a considerable change in the election of Rhodes scholars in the United States has been made which includes the elimination of any candidate from Idaho in 1915, those passing the examination being eligible for 1917.

The letter follows:

You will see from the recent memorandum which is being forwarded to you under separate cover by this post, that the trustees have decided to make a considerable change in the system of electing Rhodes scholars in the United States. It is expected that by addressing the election of scholars over three years the men may be more easily placed in the colleges of their preference at Oxford.

I regret that in making this change it has been necessary to exclude your state from the election for 1916, as the arrangement has been made on the amount of competition in past years. You will note, however, that candidates who pass the qualifying examination in October, 1915, will be eligible, providing they fulfill the other conditions for appointment in 1917, when a scholar will be again elected from your state.

While this change in the regulations may cause temporary disappointment to a few students who are looking forward to compete for the scholarship of 1916, the trustees have felt bound to overlook this in view of the permanent advantage which the United States has received from the arrangement. After next year the new routine of election will be followed in the ordinary way for all the other states.

I think that I should also point out that you have a further change in the regulations indicated by the ordinance that hitherto, in making application for the scholarship, competitors have been required to choose between the state in which they have their regular domicile as co-workers and those in which they have received a large part of their education, and that they were not allowed to compete in any other state than that originally chosen. This restriction is now removed and a man shall, if he wish, compete in alternate years in the state in which he has his domicile and the one where he has received his education.

It is hoped that this change may increase competition in states which hitherto furnished very few candidates. The memorandum is being sent to all the institutions of your state of which I have knowledge, but I shall feel greatly obligated to you if you will do anything you can to make the changes in the regulations known as widely as possible.

RESOLUTIONS

Whereas, our beloved colleague, Charles Arthur Stewart, has been taken from our midst, we, the faculty of the University of Creighton, do hereby express our admiration of his sterling character, his great scholarly attainments, and his power and success as a teacher; our deep appreciation and gratitude for his devotion to our university and his unstinting and constant care in the welfare of students and faculty; our keen sense of personal loss and bereavement from one so dear to us as a scholar and friend;

Resolved also that this resolution be sent to Mrs. Stewart and a copy be spread on the minutes of the faculty, and printed in the University Argonaut and public press.

BIG POSITION

FORMER FACULTY MEMBER OF THE UNIVERSITY PROMOTED TO HIGH POSITION IN NEW YORK

Is Associated With Great Engineering Firm and in Less Than Month Jumps Into a $3000 Position

D. B. Steimann, formerly of the university faculty has received marked promotion in one of the greatest engineering companies of the world, according to a letter received by a friend from him and is now drawing a salary of $3000 monthly. Extracts of his letter which follow may be interesting to his many friends and former students here:

"NEW YORK, Aug. 4. — You and many other friends were interested in hearing of my success in my new work. I have been fortunate in every way. My chief engineer, our chief engineer, has been called to Switzerland on account of the war, and I have been promoted to his place. It is a $3000 position and carries with it the title of assistant chief engineer of the New York Connecting Railway. I have charge of a force of over 50 engineers, draftmen, inspectors, engineers, etc. I never expected to be promoted so rapidly, having worked here only one month. But Mr. Lindenthal, my employer, thinks very highly of my work.

"Mr. Lindenthal was formerly bridge commissioner of the city of New York. He is now a consulting engineer and, at the same time, chief engineer of the New York Connecting Railway. Our office has charge of over $20,000,000 worth of construction for this railroad, including viaducts, bridges and a big arch over Hell Gate of 1000 feet span, the largest in the world. The erection of this bridge will soon be commenced and the piers are nearly completed. I have also worked on the design of a bridge of 245 feet span we are building for the Washington Southern Railway. I have now complete charge of a new project — a 134-foot bridge for the C. & O. Railway across the Ohio river near Portsmouth, O. This is the work for which Mr. Lindenthal called me to New York. It will be a new type of bridge, on account of certain special conditions, and will be by far the largest truss span in the world. It will have a clear span of 1056 feet, nearly twice the previous record.

"I am very fortunate to be located here, because our office does the most interesting work in the field of bridge work in the entire country. We have some very brainy engineers working here, Dean Fullner of the University of Washington, worked here a year ago.

"I enjoy my work immensely and feel that it would be an honor to do anything for me to return to teaching."

POPULAR IDAHO GRADUATE DEAD

"Chick" Johnson of Class of '09, Passed Suddenly Away at Chicago

Dr. C. M. Johnson, who was most popularly known in Moscow throughout the student body of the university as "Chick," recently passed away at Chicago. A letter from James Montgomery of Chicago, to William E. Lee points that the promising young student of medicine came to his death by blood poisoning contracted in a laboratory at the Michael Reese hospital.

Mr. Johnson lived ten days after the inoculation and was rational to the last. His mother and sisters arrived before his death. The deceased was one of the most popular students at the university and was a graduate of the 1909 class. In athletics he was exceptionally strong and was a football star of no mean ability, having made the All-Northwest half back. He was a member of the Phi Delta Theta fraternity. He graduated from Rush Medical college with high honors and as the result of his death was an intern at the Cook county hospital.

NOTICE

To the Editor University Argonaut:

The 1915 "Gem of the Mountains" is one of the best if not the best college annual that has ever been published by a Junior class of the university. This is a statement that was frequently made when this book came out and as a matter of fact there can be no doubt about the value of the book as a source of the university. The students, in fact, must have a certain amount of patronesses of Delta Gamma, were present.

RESOLUTIONS READ AT ASSEMBLY

PRESIDENT BRANSON PAYS HIGH TRIBUTE TO THE WORTH OF THE LATE C. A. STEWART

Miss Fox Y. W. Secretary Delivers Principal Address—Count Shows Record Attendance

The second weekly assembly of the college year was attended by 227 students and faculty members, actual count, there being about 149 not present. This would be a good attendance when compared with the percentages that has been accustomed to attend the weekly assemblies, but it is the indication of the present administration to make attendance at these meetings practically include every student and faculty member of the University.

The assembly program was opened by a vocal solo given by Freida Starer, Band of the vocal department. A tribute was paid the late professor of Geology and Minnology of the University of Idaho, Charles A. Stewart, by President Brannan, who spoke of the high qualities of the deceased, and read the following resolutions of tribute made by the State Board of Education and the Faculty of the University.

Board of Regents Pass Resolutions Whereas, Dr. Charles Arthur Stewart was head of the Department of Geology and Minnology in the University of Idaho from 1913 to 1914, and Whereas his work as instructor, investigator and teacher was characterized by directness, diligence, mastery and devotion. He is

Resolved that the Board of Education and Board of Regents of the University of Idaho place on their minutes an appropriate appreciation, as a gentleman, scholar, and friend of student and faculty in the University and a valuable worker for the entire state of Idaho. The Board further desires to express its keen feeling of loss and great anguished because this sturdy scholar and strong man of high character and men's excellent service has been removed by death from the faculty of the University of Idaho. It is further Resolved that a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to the wife of Dr. Stewart.

Dr. Stewart was born in New York on December 1st, 1885. He was educated in Columbia University, from which he received the degree A.B. in 1906, A.M. in 1907, and Ph.D. in 1912. He was assistant in mineralogy at Columbia in 1907-1908, instructor in geology at Cornell 1908-1911, associate professor at the University of Idaho 1911-1912, and professor of geology from 1913 until his death in New York, August 29th, 1914.

The speaker of the hour was Miss Fox, student of the Y. W. C. A. for the Northwest, who is here helping to organize the local branch of that organization for the winter term. As Dr. Brannan said at the close of the meeting, "Of all subjects, things of human interest are and most interesting of all." Miss Fox in her speech certainly dealt with things of human interest, describing the work she as a member of the Y. W. C. A. of Columbia University helped to carry on in the East Side borough of the City of New York. She depicted from real experiences the unseen, the unsayable conditions in which the children of the slums are permitted, simply to exist. She described the work which the college students as well as the College of Idaho students were carrying on in those districts and the wonderful results that were being obtained. She described the work that is being carried on by the Y. W. C. and Y. M. C. A. at other universities, and showed the movement of the often called, "Living Religion," that is being instilled into these organizations, and the success with which they are meeting. In this, altho she did not say as much she certainly told us the fatal defect, that is making these organizations at the University of Idaho, merely nominal affairs. So long as a religious organization strives only to save itself by religious meetings, in this day and age of the world especially among college students, it will be wrecked by its own works. It is the things of human interest and the actual accomplishment of results in life, that calls big men and big women to the stand and Christianize. Miss Fox is an interesting speaker and a personage with a magnetic influence which has doubtless been gained by her experience in the active practice of Christianity. It is to be hoped that tomorrow with pupils the Idaho organizations on a plane equal to that of the Columbia University of which she gave so interesting a description.

JOINT RECEPTION

Y. W. and Y. M. Hold Annual Event in the Gym.

Friday evening, September 25, in the Gymnasium the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A.'s will hold their annual reception for all college students.

This is the first opportunity the new student has to meet the rest of the student body in a social way, and everyone should make an effort to be present.

A pleasant evening and a better realization of what college life really means is a part of the benefits received from attending the joint reception. Therefore, Come!

The Y. W. C. A' of W. S. C. has been invited over for the occasion, and Miss Elizabeth Fox will be present. Toasts will be given, the possession of the Y. W. C. A. set forth and the principles of membership in it will be explained.

Every girl in college whether a member of the association or not is invited and expected to attend. The Y. W. C. A. association has received much encouragement this year. A special room for Y. W. C. A. purpose, which has long been needed, has been promised to the girls, and they are very happy at the prospect of a permanent room for their own use.

The association this year is well organized and has begun the new school year right by having an information bureau for the new students, where they have handed out little booklets containing their schedule of meetings for this semester and a copy of "Alma Mater, Idaho."

STRICTLY BUSINESS

"At 10 o'clock tomorrow morning I will be prepared to answer your properposal of marriage."

"Why the delay?"

"It gives me time to play fair with another suitor. If he doesn't come across when he hears of your offer I'll take you."

"Under the circumstances I must withdraw my offer."

"Must you? Then under the circumstances I waive the other chance and take you."

Oregon promises to have a winning team this year.

S. W. promises that it has not yet arrived but Capita Parsons and Quarterback Cornell are putting the squad thru preliminary workouts.

Gonzaga promises one of the heaviest teams in the history of the school. With two weeks training before actual registration, W. B. C. promises to put out a well drilled team this fall.

Many of the old men are in the game, while much is expected of the new material on hand.

Mrs. E. W. Ellis and Miss Dorothy Richfield; Helen Davis, Malad; Gladys Ellis were guests of the Kappa Sigma fraternity Tuesday for dinner.

Through C. A. Petos, formerly head of the department of chemistry in the University of Idaho, and now connected with the agricultural college of Massachusetts at Amherst, comes some interesting word of former residents of Idaho. He writes that Professor Otto Frank of Antioch College, Ohio, is a son at Kinnonkla who has just finished his second year in the naval academy. UNIVERSITY AIDS FAIR

Many Faculty Members Donate Their Time to the Success of the Fair

The university exhibits are exceedingly interesting and instructive. The charts and samples of fruit explaining the results of spraying and the advantages of summer pruning over winter pruning are most startling. The exhibit of canned goods is particularly fine and will amaze many visitors who do not know that the university runs a canning factory. The live stock department is well represented.

The interest taken by the university in the Fourth Annual Latah County Fair has been marked and the administrative officers are to be congratulated on the splendid showing that has been made. The exhibit of live stock under direction of Mr. J. 1690s is composed of horses, sheep, cattle and swine. The dairy exhibit has been placed under direction of Prof. E. V. Elliott. Prof. C. C. Vincent has brought out a very splendid display of canned products, while the agricultural exhibit under direction of Prof. Robb is excellent. Miss Hoover, of the domestic science department, is in charge of the work of the children's contest classes in sewing and cookery and is being assisted by Miss Lebby, both are in charge with Miss Dewey of the high school. Prof. Hickman is judging the live stock and the domestic science department will entertain the school children tomorrow with a luncheon at the university.

FINE EXHIBIT OF RELICS

The historical relics exhibited by J. W. DeWitt will well repay the careful inspection of every visitor to the fair. The relics were brought from Maryland by Mrs. DeWitt's family and from Ohio by Mr. De Witt. They include furniture, fancy work and books more than 200 years old; and some of the articles are as interesting as any seen in large and famous collections. The bureau dating from 1810 and the chest from 1810, both of black walnut, are lovely. A box made in Norway in 1824 is extremely interesting. That is the property of Mrs. Dolsat but is shown with the De Witt collection.

A French sword, a mirror from 1817, a Holland cooking vessel from 1700, a patent to land signed by Martin Van Buren in 1839, a Bible of 1794 and one of 1818, quilts, pictures, and other curios make up this most entertaining and instructive collection. The De Witt family, one of the most substantial in the county, may well be proud of these mementoes of a long and honorable lineage.

COACH "PICK" GRIFFITH

Some fifty hounds have answered the call of Coach "Pick" Griffith and are making their daily appearance in football cafes on the Idaho field for practice.

FRESHERS HAVE SUFFERED ALL KINDS OF INDIGNITIES BUT BOTH CLASSES WILL ARBITRATE DISPUTES

The hazing spirit at the University of Idaho has been broken and a truce has been called which will probably hold good until March 17th, the date when the annual fracas is pulled off. Sophomores and freshmen have been having a merry time at the University almost nightly since the University opened and last night the climax came when the forces of the sophomore and freshmen classes clashed on the campus. In what was regarded as one of the most exciting scrimmages of the season.

All kinds of indignities have been suffered by the "freshmen" at the hands of the "soxere" and the former have not always come out second best. Dealing in pools, the water cure, hunts to the country in which students were forced to make long walks home late at night, tied to trees and other harmless sports have been indulged in. President Bramson called an emergency meeting in which the two classes were represented and the grievances will be submitted to the President later and arbitrated by committees. The campus fracas Thursday night was halted by a message from President Bramson. The Sophomores hurled the hatchet and acted as hosts to the Freshmen in refreshments down town.

Through a Madison (Wis.) newspaper received here, the sudden death of Herman Root, formerly an instructor at the University of Wisconsin, was reported. He was a resident of Viroqua, Wis., and had just gone to Madison to do some further work at the state university. It was carrying a trunk to his lodgings when he suffered a hemorrhage. He expired shortly afterwards. The young man was known to many people in Moscow.
