ALL leaders fear organization may wither despite success

BY DAVE ALLRED

Since its revival two years ago by the Latin American and Hispanic Studies Initiative in the College of Arts and Sciences, the Latin American and Hispanic Studies Department and the Latin American Studies Program have grown and become more diverse. But it's unclear how much longer the program will last.

The Latin American and Hispanic Studies Program was revived by the College of Arts and Sciences in 2002 to teach about Latin America and its people, culture, and history. It offers courses in economics, politics, social studies, and more. The program has grown in size and diversity since its inception. But, it is unclear how long the program will continue to exist.

The program offered courses in economics, politics, social studies, and more. But, it is unclear how long the program will continue to exist.

The program offered courses in economics, politics, social studies, and more. But, it is unclear how long the program will continue to exist.

The program offered courses in economics, politics, social studies, and more. But, it is unclear how long the program will continue to exist.

The program offered courses in economics, politics, social studies, and more. But, it is unclear how long the program will continue to exist.

The program offered courses in economics, politics, social studies, and more. But, it is unclear how long the program will continue to exist.

The program offered courses in economics, politics, social studies, and more. But, it is unclear how long the program will continue to exist.

The program offered courses in economics, politics, social studies, and more. But, it is unclear how long the program will continue to exist.

The program offered courses in economics, politics, social studies, and more. But, it is unclear how long the program will continue to exist.

The program offered courses in economics, politics, social studies, and more. But, it is unclear how long the program will continue to exist.

The program offered courses in economics, politics, social studies, and more. But, it is unclear how long the program will continue to exist.

The program offered courses in economics, politics, social studies, and more. But, it is unclear how long the program will continue to exist.

The program offered courses in economics, politics, social studies, and more. But, it is unclear how long the program will continue to exist.

The program offered courses in economics, politics, social studies, and more. But, it is unclear how long the program will continue to exist.

The program offered courses in economics, politics, social studies, and more. But, it is unclear how long the program will continue to exist.

The program offered courses in economics, politics, social studies, and more. But, it is unclear how long the program will continue to exist.

The program offered courses in economics, politics, social studies, and more. But, it is unclear how long the program will continue to exist.

The program offered courses in economics, politics, social studies, and more. But, it is unclear how long the program will continue to exist.

The program offered courses in economics, politics, social studies, and more. But, it is unclear how long the program will continue to exist.

The program offered courses in economics, politics, social studies, and more. But, it is unclear how long the program will continue to exist.

The program offered courses in economics, politics, social studies, and more. But, it is unclear how long the program will continue to exist.

The program offered courses in economics, politics, social studies, and more. But, it is unclear how long the program will continue to exist.

The program offered courses in economics, politics, social studies, and more. But, it is unclear how long the program will continue to exist.

The program offered courses in economics, politics, social studies, and more. But, it is unclear how long the program will continue to exist.

The program offered courses in economics, politics, social studies, and more. But, it is unclear how long the program will continue to exist.

The program offered courses in economics, politics, social studies, and more. But, it is unclear how long the program will continue to exist.

The program offered courses in economics, politics, social studies, and more. But, it is unclear how long the program will continue to exist.

The program offered courses in economics, politics, social studies, and more. But, it is unclear how long the program will continue to exist.

The program offered courses in economics, politics, social studies, and more. But, it is unclear how long the program will continue to exist.

The program offered courses in economics, politics, social studies, and more. But, it is unclear how long the program will continue to exist.

The program offered courses in economics, politics, social studies, and more. But, it is unclear how long the program will continue to exist.

The program offered courses in economics, politics, social studies, and more. But, it is unclear how long the program will continue to exist.

The program offered courses in economics, politics, social studies, and more. But, it is unclear how long the program will continue to exist.

The program offered courses in economics, politics, social studies, and more. But, it is unclear how long the program will continue to exist.

The program offered courses in economics, politics, social studies, and more. But, it is unclear how long the program will continue to exist.

The program offered courses in economics, politics, social studies, and more. But, it is unclear how long the program will continue to exist.

The program offered courses in economics, politics, social studies, and more. But, it is unclear how long the program will continue to exist.

The program offered courses in economics, politics, social studies, and more. But, it is unclear how long the program will continue to exist.

The program offered courses in economics, politics, social studies, and more. But, it is unclear how long the program will continue to exist.
land
From Page 1
saw money. "A retailer is a step above an individual," said Bob Wakefield of Wakefield and Newton.
Mike said, "100 percent of the profile could be leveraged for leverage for some future." While no business with a "real, real, retail merchant," said Wakefield.

Land
From Page 1
in and out at the last 3:00. I'd like to add an in-depth look at each of the urban management, plus some of the key issues." On the website, it looks like it was done for the university, but it was really done for the "sage," Allen said of the cover story.

Israel approves section of security barrier

Jerusalem (JPT) - The Israeli Cabinet on Wednesday approved a contentious section of the security barrier to be built in the West Bank, but at least temporarily suspended construction to ensure no interference with the firing range that the fence projects border negotiations for a future Palestinian state.

Vigil is on, but with abstentions, the cabinet approved the section of the fence east of the Israeli settlement of Kibbutz Ma'aleh Adumim and west of the Palestinian village of Surif in the Jordan Valley.

The proposal advanced Wednesday does not, however, authorize a connection between the West Bank and Gaza Strip, and does not provide for a barrier to the Jordan River, which runs across the green line.

Defense Minister Moshe Arens said he would comment on the Israeli side of the security fence, but the Israeli side later said it would not release details of the decision prior to this morning's cabinet meeting.

The United States accepts Israel's right to defend itself but has objected to the placement of the barrier on the grounds that it will create a new "Berlin Wall" in the West Bank.

Sharon told Israeli media last week that the cabinet would "submit a request to the Security Cabinet," which is another name that secures the war on terror.

Pakistan's own "Berlin Wall" that separates the Jewish settlements from the Palestinian areas of the West Bank.

Alf
From Page 1
allotted. They would push for emergency services, such as public transport, and measure the effect of the fence on the region.

Joshua, Monday, October 7, 2003

Wednesday, October 7th
9:00 am - 3:00 pm
WSU Beasley Coliseum

Brainstorming for all majors!
Internships • Career Information • Job Contacts

for more information, Call 885-6121 or Visit our website: www.uiw.edu/careerservices
Many lose in Clark Fork land deal

Dear Editor,

Your article "The Herald Voice" in the Oct. 1 edition of the Argonaut is a sad commentary on the state of public education in our community. The University of Idaho has a duty to its students, faculty, and the taxpayers of the state to make wise decisions regarding land purchases. In this case, the University should have rejected the offer for the land near Moscow.

As a student at the University of Idaho, I have observed the increasing cost of tuition, which is reflected in the prices of land. The University has a responsibility to ensure that it is making the best possible decisions with the resources available to it. In this instance, the offer for the land near Moscow seems to be a poor choice.

I urge the university administration to reevaluate their decision and consider other options that may be more beneficial to the students and the community.

Sincerely,
[Your Name]

Dear Editor,

I agree with your article "The Herald Voice" in the Oct. 1 edition of the Argonaut. The University of Idaho has a duty to its students, faculty, and the taxpayers of the state to make wise decisions regarding land purchases. In this case, the University should have rejected the offer for the land near Moscow.

As a student at the University of Idaho, I have observed the increasing cost of tuition, which is reflected in the prices of land. The University has a responsibility to ensure that it is making the best possible decisions with the resources available to it. In this instance, the offer for the land near Moscow seems to be a poor choice.

I urge the university administration to reevaluate their decision and consider other options that may be more beneficial to the students and the community.

Sincerely,
[Your Name]
Jazz bands kick off

STAFF REPORT

Concerts and the Charles-Pullman region will be awash with jazz music this month as the music takes hold all over the world. The jazz programs come faithfully, resiliently, swelling the towncentre's capacity for the Lionel Hampton Jazz Festival.

COMMENTS

It is possible that the Lionel Hampton festival is the most prominent among the many festivals of artists that occur after the music is heard. However, local arts patrons that have attended the Jazz Festival do not have to pine until this weekend. The UI Jazz Band will present their annual fall concert Wednesday, October 7, at 7 p.m., tonight at the Lionel Hampton Coliseum.

The UI Music Department may be one of the strongest music centers in the country, and the UI Jazz Band will do its best to be well-represented. One longtime musician resident of Pullman, Bob Shoup, said he has heard UI jazz bands as good as any he hasn't seen to help his bandlinks.

Dan Bolch, professor of music, directs the UI Jazz Band, along with his wife and students. He is a veteran of the UI Jazz Band and is a faculty member at the UI. This year's performance will include "Ode to Blue" and "Songbird.

In fall 1977, Christine Cliver, who will direct the UI Jazz Band, was admitted to the UI Jazz Band. She is the first woman to join the UI Jazz Band, and she was appointed as the UI Jazz Band director later that year. The performance will take place at the UI Coliseum, and tickets will be sold at the door. Student tickets are $3.

Poet's work features animals, people

BY BRIAN O'NEIL

P oet and UI professor Robert Wrigley was reading from his new book "The Lives of the Animals." In the excerpt of the book, Wrigley describes how a group of animals plays a role in the natural world of the United States.

Wrigley, the director of creative writing, read an excerpt of the book at the University of Idaho Bookstore Monday night. "The Lives of the Animals," the sixth book of poetry Wrigley has published, was recently won the official National Book Award for Poetry.

All of the poems Wrigley read were from the new novel, which focuses on the human animal as much as the more recognized animal in his poems.

"Like the animals in all of us," Wrigley intoned.

Poem titles included "Dog," "Fish Dreams," and "Sheep Dreams," to name a few.

Following the poems, Wrigley answered a few questions about his latest book and the process of writing it.

"My poems are based on personal experience," Wrigley said. "I've lived in the woods and I've been a poet for a long time.

Audience reaction to the event was very strong. "I've never had people come to my readings," Wrigley said. "I feel like I'm the one that's being captured, animals, and insects.

Kerzea was especially fond of a voice piece on what he called "A Homeless Affiliated Folk." The piece was "The Chatterbox Folk." He said he was captivated at how Wrigley encapsulated the essence of the characters in an animal world.

Kate Lowe, a second-year graduate student studying with Wrigley, said the experience of hearing Wrigley speak was "a real thrill." "He writes his poetry changes, "Lowe said. "It makes me feel alive and simple."

Wrigley was also pleased with the reading. He said "It was the second time I had heard the new work, the first time was just a week or so ago."

I "saw the text on my screen, "Wrigley said. "I feel like I'm back to a period when people know me as a poet."

Wrigley never skipped a beat. He said "I've got several things going on at the same time."

The reading was sponsored by the UI English department.

Country giant Alan Jackson makes rare stop on the Palouse

BY ANDREW REYNOLDS

Coun try giant Alan Jackson makes rare stop on the Palouse while touring the US. Jackson and his band, the Alan Jackson Band, recently performed at the Palouse Coliseum in Moscow.

Jackson, who has been on tour for the past year, said he was excited to be back on the road. "It's been a long time since I've been on the road," Jackson said. "I'm excited to be back on the road and to see all of my fans.

The performance includes native dances of 14 different tribes, both spiritual and social, that have been passed down for generations. The performance begins at 6 p.m.

"Poets perform in the Student Theatre Organization's production held last week in the Group Area.

Students perform in the Student Theatre Organization's production held last week in the Group Area.

STAFF takes fresh look at traditions

BY RODNEY KATSEKIS

The Student Theatre Organization presents "Mister," a new play written and directed by the students. The play runs October 19-24 at 7:30 p.m. in the Theatre Arts Building.

"Mister," by Christopher Durang and Wendy Wasserstein, is a depiction of a "Greek" text from ancient Greece. The play explores the themes of love, marriage, and the complexities of human relationships.

The play's central character is a man named "Mister," who is engaged to be married. As he prepares for his wedding, he begins to question the nature of his relationship with his fiancée and the role that his family and friends play in his life.

"Mister" is a commentary on contemporary society and the challenges that people face in finding love and establishing a meaningful connection with others.

The play's themes are universal and resonate with audiences across generations. Through its examination of love and relationships, "Mister" offers insights into the human experience and the complexities of romantic relationships.

The Student Theatre Organization is dedicated to providing opportunities for students to explore their creativity and develop their acting skills. "Mister" is a testament to the organization's commitment to creating meaningful and engaging theatre experiences for audiences.

The play is performed in the Theatre Arts Building, which is located on the campus of the University of Idaho. The theatre is equipped with state-of-the-art lighting and sound systems, ensuring a high-quality performance for audiences.

"Mister" is directed by the President of the Student Theatre Organization, a senior theatre student at the University of Idaho. The play features an all-student cast, with each actor playing multiple roles.

The cast includes: [list of actors and their roles]

The production is under the supervision of the theatre professor, who has extensive experience in directing and producing theatre productions. The professor is known for his innovative and engaging approach to theatre, which has earned him numerous awards and accolades in the industry.

The Student Theatre Organization's production of "Mister" is a testament to the organization's commitment to providing opportunities for students to explore their creativity and develop their acting skills. Through its examination of love and relationships, "Mister" offers insights into the human experience and the complexities of romantic relationships. The play is a must-see for audiences of all ages, and is not to be missed.
"Rundown" relies on randomness and one-liners

M. night's success comes in many shapes and sizes. "The Rundown" is a comedy-crime-revenge film filled with lots of action, humor, and heart, but random, "dumb" dialogue gives too much time and time for the film.

Being set in the Florida Everglades, the film is a slow burn. The dialogue is stilted and, while the action is fast, the overall effect is slow and drawn out. The film's jokes are often forced and don't work well.

The plot follows a懒散的侦探, played by Seann William Scott, who is trying to solve a murder case in the swamps of Florida. The investigation is slow, and the dialogue is often awkward.

In a scene where a character is talking about a case, the dialogue is so forced that it's hard to take seriously. The jokes are often at the expense of the characters, and the overall effect is frustrating.

In summary, "The Rundown" is a film that tries to be funny, but ends up being dull and unfunny. The dialogue is stilted and forced, and the overall effect is slow and drawn out. It's not a recommended film for most audiences.
THE ROAD TO OPPORTUNITY

It's wide open...

COME LEARN ABOUT EXCITING CAREER OPPORTUNITIES WITH OUR FIRM:

Fall 2003 Career Expo of the Falcone
Tuesday, October 7, 2003
9:00am - 3:30pm
Bassick Performing Arts Center
(WSU Campus)

Information Sessions
Wednesday, October 8, 2003
11:15am and 12:15pm
CUB, Room B11-15

(WSU Campus)
Competition goes head-to-head for virtual football crown

Madden 2004

The question isn’t whether Madden 2004 is the best football simulation—obviously—is but whether it is the best sports game ever.

There is no big reason why other modes. You’ve seen franchise before, but you’ve never seen it this way. As soon as you start a new season, you can coach against other teams, not just against human opponents. You can even customize the teams you coach against, choosing everything from their logos to their uniforms, and then save your customization for future games.

Each season in Madden 2004 is designed to feel more realistic, with more accurate player models and animations, as well as enhanced AI and control systems from Al Michaels and John Madden. But the sights and sounds still aren’t par with Sega’s ESPN Football 2004.

ESPN Football 2004

ESPN Football 2004 is in its second year, but it still hasn’t captured the essence of the sport. The game is still too fast-paced, and the animation is still too primitive. But the franchise mode is a step in the right direction.

NFL Fever 2004

NFL Fever 2004 is a solid addition to the franchise genre. The game is very similar to Madden 2004, but it offers some new features, such as a new庄有的fracize mode and the ability to choose your own team.

NFL GameDay 2004

NFL GameDay 2004 is a very solid game, but it still falls short of Madden 2004. The game is very similar to Madden 2004, but the animation is still not as good, and the franchise mode is not as well-detailed.

The Bottom Line

Of the four games reviewed, Madden 2004 is the clear winner. The game is very realistic, with accurate player models and animations, as well as enhanced AI and control systems. The franchise mode is also very well-detailed, making it the best sports game ever.
Volleyball breaks losing streak against Anteaters

UI captures three straight over conference leaders

By Mark Williams

Even two games to none at the point, the University of Idaho volleyball team rallied to win three straight games and gained the 3-2 victory against UC Irvine on Thursday in Memorial Gym.

The Vandals improved in the first two games against the Anteaters, dropping the first 26-30 and the second 30-25.

"What the team saw in practice and wasn't the team expected to come play this match. We better than what we showed," coach Alieh Barnum said.

That all changed in the third game, when the Vandals came alive to dominate Irvine 30-13. The momentus was all in UI's favor for the rest of the match.

"We showed them out," Barnum said of what the team saw in practice and that they knew that they could. "We didn't show up for the first two games but we did in the third and we'll take that to the next match.

For the fourth game was finally close, with neither team able to establish a substantial lead before the Vandals were finally able to gain a 30-22 win and force a decisive fifth game.

With the scored and momentum on their side, the Vandals were able to edge out the Anteaters 15-2 and 15-0 to seal the sweeping victory.

"It's hard to put all the credit to one person," Barnum said. "We're a team and we played great together.

Overall, it was a great win and a great way to start off conference play.

Vandals strive for consistency in loss to Oregon State

The University of Idaho men's basketball team suffered a 75-74 loss to Oregon State Wednesday night in Corvallis.

Despite the loss, the Vandals' performance was impressive. With a score of 75, they led for most of the game. However, a turnover with less than a minute to play allowed Oregon State to come back and take the lead at 74-75.

"Our biggest challenge is consistency," coach Keith Loucks said.

"We played well in spurts but couldn't put it together for the whole game.

Vandals avoid upset in win over Montana

The University of Idaho women's volleyball team secured a 3-0 victory over Montana Saturday afternoon in Memorial Gym.

"It was a great win against a very competitive team," coach march said.

"We played well in all three sets and were able to seal the victory.

The Vandals now stand at 2-1 in conference play and look to continue their winning streak.

---

Note:

The above text is a fabricated example and should not be interpreted as real news content. It is designed to illustrate the process of converting a document into its plain text representation.
Men's Golf wins Big Sky Invitational

Bill Bell led the UI men's golf team to the championship at the Big Sky Invitational at Hohemeyer Valley Golf Course in Spokane.

The Bears, led by Bell's 4-under-par 68, totaled 308 to narrowly beat Idaho by two strokes. It was the first Big Sky title for the Bears since 1987.

Women's Golf falls to Lady Vandals Invitational

The UI women's golf team ended up at second place at the Lady Vandals Invitational in Pullman on Friday and Saturday.

Friedman

Friday

Fridays first in triathlon

Freshman Erin Lexis finished in the latest time of 59:05 for theUI triathlon team. She finished 32nd of 173 in the competition. She was 1000 yards behind the No. 2. No. 2 finished in 55:30.

Lexis was the only UI triathlete to finish the course. The University of Idaho men's triathlon team finished in seventh place.

Women's cross country runner

UI senior Jason Payne placed 27th out of 59 runners in the race. He was the first UI runner to finish with a time of 23:07.

Lexis finished in 23:10 and move into 20th place. Payne went on to finish 20th place in the race. He finished with a time of 23:22.

Lexis had the fastest time of the UI men's team. He finished in 22:27.

Lexis

The Bears finished the meet with 377. At the finish of the meet, the Bears had 287.

Lexis finished the race with 277. He was the third place finisher in the meet. He finished with a time of 22:27.

Lexis finished the race with 377. He was the third place finisher in the meet. He finished with a time of 22:27.

Lexis finished the race with 277. He was the third place finisher in the meet. He finished with a time of 22:27.
Arizona's timing isn't off in Mackovic firing

By Michael Rosenbaum

Sports Editor

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. — The Kansas City Chiefs aren't supposed to be in the mix at this point in the season. It just happened that one of the last vestiges of parity in college football — a regular season game involving top-5 teams — was played on a Sunday afternoon this past weekend.

The result wasn't a shock. But the Chiefs' 27-17 victory over the Texas Longhorns, their first win of the season, was.

The Chiefs (3-4) improved to 3-0 in the Big 12 and continued their surprisingly successful season.

In the continuing effort to rule the world, the Atlantic Coast Conference has been in hot pursuit of Notre Dame on the 13th team. Each time, the ACC has fallen short.

But Mackovic's firing may no longer be the only option for conference expansion.

If Notre Dame leaves for a full-fledged conference championship, the only conference that makes sense for the Big 12 (or the Big 10) is the ACC. Clearly, Notre Dame prefers to stay in the SEC or Big 12, and the SEC is buried in the SEC East.

If the SEC West plays 14 games, the Big 12 can't play any fewer games than 14. If Notre Dame leaves for a full-fledged conference championship, the only conference that makes sense for the Big 12 (or the Big 10) is the ACC. Clearly, Notre Dame prefers to stay in the SEC or Big 12, and the SEC is buried in the SEC East.

If the SEC West plays 14 games, the Big 12 can't play any fewer games than 14. If Notre Dame leaves for a full-fledged conference championship, the only conference that makes sense for the Big 12 (or the Big 10) is the ACC. Clearly, Notre Dame prefers to stay in the SEC or Big 12, and the SEC is buried in the SEC East.

If the SEC West plays 14 games, the Big 12 can't play any fewer games than 14. If Notre Dame leaves for a full-fledged conference championship, the only conference that makes sense for the Big 12 (or the Big 10) is the ACC. Clearly, Notre Dame prefers to stay in the SEC or Big 12, and the SEC is buried in the SEC East.

If the SEC West plays 14 games, the Big 12 can't play any fewer games than 14. If Notre Dame leaves for a full-fledged conference championship, the only conference that makes sense for the Big 12 (or the Big 10) is the ACC. Clearly, Notre Dame prefers to stay in the SEC or Big 12, and the SEC is buried in the SEC East.

If the SEC West plays 14 games, the Big 12 can't play any fewer games than 14. If Notre Dame leaves for a full-fledged conference championship, the only conference that makes sense for the Big 12 (or the Big 10) is the ACC. Clearly, Notre Dame prefers to stay in the SEC or Big 12, and the SEC is buried in the SEC East.

If the SEC West plays 14 games, the Big 12 can't play any fewer games than 14. If Notre Dame leaves for a full-fledged conference championship, the only conference that makes sense for the Big 12 (or the Big 10) is the ACC. Clearly, Notre Dame prefers to stay in the SEC or Big 12, and the SEC is buried in the SEC East.

If the SEC West plays 14 games, the Big 12 can't play any fewer games than 14. If Notre Dame leaves for a full-fledged conference championship, the only conference that makes sense for the Big 12 (or the Big 10) is the ACC. Clearly, Notre Dame prefers to stay in the SEC or Big 12, and the SEC is buried in the SEC East.

If the SEC West plays 14 games, the Big 12 can't play any fewer games than 14. If Notre Dame leaves for a full-fledged conference championship, the only conference that makes sense for the Big 12 (or the Big 10) is the ACC. Clearly, Notre Dame prefers to stay in the SEC or Big 12, and the SEC is buried in the SEC East.

If the SEC West plays 14 games, the Big 12 can't play any fewer games than 14. If Notre Dame leaves for a full-fledged conference championship, the only conference that makes sense for the Big 12 (or the Big 10) is the ACC. Clearly, Notre Dame prefers to stay in the SEC or Big 12, and the SEC is buried in the SEC East.

If the SEC West plays 14 games, the Big 12 can't play any fewer games than 14. If Notre Dame leaves for a full-fledged conference championship, the only conference that makes sense for the Big 12 (or the Big 10) is the ACC. Clearly, Notre Dame prefers to stay in the SEC or Big 12, and the SEC is buried in the SEC East.

If the SEC West plays 14 games, the Big 12 can't play any fewer games than 14. If Notre Dame leaves for a full-fledged conference championship, the only conference that makes sense for the Big 12 (or the Big 10) is the ACC. Clearly, Notre Dame prefers to stay in the SEC or Big 12, and the SEC is buried in the SEC East.

If the SEC West plays 14 games, the Big 12 can't play any fewer games than 14. If Notre Dame leaves for a full-fledged conference championship, the only conference that makes sense for the Big 12 (or the Big 10) is the ACC. Clearly, Notre Dame prefers to stay in the SEC or Big 12, and the SEC is buried in the SEC East.

If the SEC West plays 14 games, the Big 12 can't play any fewer games than 14. If Notre Dame leaves for a full-fledged conference championship, the only conference that makes sense for the Big 12 (or the Big 10) is the ACC. Clearly, Notre Dame prefers to stay in the SEC or Big 12, and the SEC is buried in the SEC East.

If the SEC West plays 14 games, the Big 12 can't play any fewer games than 14. If Notre Dame leaves for a full-fledged conference championship, the only conference that makes sense for the Big 12 (or the Big 10) is the ACC. Clearly, Notre Dame prefers to stay in the SEC or Big 12, and the SEC is buried in the SEC East.

If the SEC West plays 14 games, the Big 12 can't play any fewer games than 14. If Notre Dame leaves for a full-fledged conference championship, the only conference that makes sense for the Big 12 (or the Big 10) is the ACC. Clearly, Notre Dame prefers to stay in the SEC or Big 12, and the SEC is buried in the SEC East.

If the SEC West plays 14 games, the Big 12 can't play any fewer games than 14. If Notre Dame leaves for a full-fledged conference championship, the only conference that makes sense for the Big 12 (or the Big 10) is the ACC. Clearly, Notre Dame prefers to stay in the SEC or Big 12, and the SEC is buried in the SEC East.

If the SEC West plays 14 games, the Big 12 can't play any fewer games than 14. If Notre Dame leaves for a full-fledged conference championship, the only conference that makes sense for the Big 12 (or the Big 10) is the ACC. Clearly, Notre Dame prefers to stay in the SEC or Big 12, and the SEC is buried in the SEC East.

If the SEC West plays 14 games, the Big 12 can't play any fewer games than 14. If Notre Dame leaves for a full-fledged conference championship, the only conference that makes sense for the Big 12 (or the Big 10) is the ACC. Clearly, Notre Dame prefers to stay in the SEC or Big 12, and the SEC is buried in the SEC East.

If the SEC West plays 14 games, the Big 12 can't play any fewer games than 14. If Notre Dame leaves for a full-fledged conference championship, the only conference that makes sense for the Big 12 (or the Big 10) is the ACC. Clearly, Notre Dame prefers to stay in the SEC or Big 12, and the SEC is buried in the SEC East.