GONZALEZ COMES HERE SATURDAY
WILL MEET THE IDAHO SQUAD IN A WAR-MATCH ON THE VARSITY ATHLETIC FIELD

First Game of the Season in Moscow Promises to Bring Out a Large Attendance

The University of Idaho football squad will open the season on the gridiron in a game at the Varsity Athletic Field, with the Gonzaga team next Saturday, the Gonzaga squad regarded as one of the best non-conference teams in the Northwest and a good game is promised. Jim White, the star guard in the 1913 Gonzaga team, has returned to the university and is in good shape for the game.

Coach Harmon is very enthusiastic over the showing of his team and promises a better performance than his team made last Saturday. No effort being spared to get the team in shape.

The Idaho squad is rounding out in good shape in its practice work and after a week of practice their force will, no doubt, be felt. It is difficult at this writing to give the lineup of the Idaho team, as practice is gone full steam. Thirty-five men report daily for practice and it will be no easy task to pleat the team.

PROFESSOR HALL'S BODY IS RECOVERED

Body is Identified and Laid to Rest Below Pomeroy

News was received Saturday that a body shot to be that of Mr. George Hall, late instructor in wood work at the university who was drowned Thursday, September 24th, while attempting to swim the dam on a boat in the river. Almost had been found near Central Ferry, about 20 miles below the scene of the accident and taken to Pomeroy, the county seat of Douglas county, Washington, by the authorities.

In the opinion of the engineering department, the body was taken to Pomeroy to identify the remains and arrange for a funeral at Pomeroy. Professor Cottrell made the following statement regarding his trip:

"I reached Pomeroy Monday afternoon, and the identification was made complete, chiefly from the records and the effects found upon the body. For the features, the body was not entirely unrecognizable. We arrived in the cemetery in a well kept condition and on the morning when I laid him there in the valley below Pomeroy, a few members of the local lodge of Masons met with me as pall bearers. Before this little gathering a local minister conducted the brief and simple service. A good lady of the community lived in a house near the body, and, with a sprig of English Iris, simply she had lived among us here, and simply we laid him away to rest."

REDONDAH HALL RECEPTION

Saturday afternoon and evening Miss Frenche and the girls of Reden-bough Hall entertained as a reception.

The receiving room was beautifully decorated in autumn foliage and berries and throughout the evening the music permeated the rooms and blended with the mural of voices. In the afternoon Juniors and Sophomores were received and in the evening faculty members, townswomen, and Seniors were received. The guests were greeted by Miss Brown, Dr. Brannon, Miss Benson, Miss Lilton, Miss Albin, and Miss Hattie Murray, who formed the receiving line. Dancing was a delightful feature of the evening. In the softly lighted dinning room, cake and cream ice were served to the guests, who numbered about 200.

DEBATE

Friday afternoon the debaters of the University assembled in the vitory room to receive instructions for the try-out to be held October 17. Prof. Holmes presented the rules for which is to be debated fall between O. A., C. W. S. C. and Idaho. "Resolved. That there should be adopted in the commonwealth of the United States a system of government wherein there is a ministry responsible to a unicameral legislature and similar in general features to the governmental systems of other English-speaking countries; constitutional limitations upon judicial investor."

The turn-out of debaters was not as encouraging as it might have been for work of this class important to every individual. The Freshmen, to whom we always look for recruits in all departments of debate, seem to feel that which is to them a man of business and to respond with as much acuity as we desire. Reports come to the Debate Council of many star debaters in the Freshmen class. Where are they? Why are they not debating?

Idaho has a reputation to maintain in debate and anyone making a debating team here and representing the University successfully against others, should be regarded as having made a mark. It seems to be that they are paying for the maintenance of debate as well as for football and to get any benefit from it, they must support it.

IDAHO'S NEW GRADUATE MANAGER

CLARENCE FAVRE ELECTED TO FILL VACANCY OF GUS LABSON

As a Student and as an Athlete He Is Well Qualified to do the Work

When Gus L. Larson, who has been acting as graduate manager for Idaho Athletics was granted a leave of absence, it became necessary to elect his successor. Gus placed Idaho's finances on a firm basis, and too much credit cannot be given him for admirable way in which he accomplished this. The position requires a man of keenness, of business ability and of skill and ability to adjust the intricate problems incident to that office.

The work this year has been placed in charge of Mr. Favre who is a B. S. degree in Forestry with the 34 class. Mr. Favre has played on the Varsity team for four years. He is a solid, square, a very fine horse rider and is also a very fine athlete. Mr. Favre is one of the men whose work suggested to me the phrase, Idaho Rights." So well did Favre play his game that he was selected to captain the team in 1913-14. The victories gives him the honor of being the best debaters of the Idaho ever had."

As a student Favre is a man who is enthusiastic and conscientious and making good. He is at present conducting classes in Dr. Shattuck's department and is working for his M. A. degree. He is a student with honor; in a man of a being in the work of 15 years, a loyal supporter of Idaho in all her activities, and a worker who never quits. By virtue of these attributes Idaho has been fortunate in securing Mr. Favre as her graduate manager of athletics.

KEEP POSTED ON HOME PROBLEMS

Interest at Home Should Proceed Interest in Foreign Affairs

One of the greatest dangers incident to the financial development so far as the United States are concerned is that we may become so interested in our own problems that we neglect to consider the problems of others that are of equal importance. If one seeks to solve the fundamental problem of foreign development, the essential features of the international system of plantations on the grounds that each of the great nations has both direct and indirect interests in the outcome, and that these interests are truly national in scope.

It is true that in a certain sense, these problems are more important than our own, but it is equally true that we cannot ignore our own problems, even though they may be less important. We must be aware of the fact that our own problems are not isolated, but are part of a larger whole, and that they are interrelated with the problems of other nations.

In conclusion, I would like to say that while we must be concerned with our own problems, we should not forget the problems of others. We must work together to solve these problems, and we must be aware of the fact that our own problems are not isolated, but are part of a larger whole. We must be aware of the fact that our own problems are not isolated, but are part of a larger whole.

FIRST MEETING OF THE HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock, the first meeting of the Home Economics Club was held in Elgin Hall. The meeting was called to order by the president of the club, Evelyn Taylor, and the business of the last meeting was read and approved. After the treasurer, Mary McConnell, read the minutes of the last meeting, Miss French and Helen Hitchens were unanimously elected as officers of the club. The membership of the club is now thirty, and the club is expanding rapidly.

Miss French was called on to present the program of the club for the coming year and read. This will be published in a later issue.

FINE PAPER AND STATIONERY
The Employment Committee, recently appointed by President Braannan, organized for their work last Friday, with Professor Sonnies as chairman of the Committee. The following organization was effected: Secretary, Mr. Colver; Committee on Organization and Subsiding Positions, Professor Vincent, Miss French, Mr. Jenkins. Committee on receiving and verifying Students' Application for Work, Professor Lewis, Mr. Griffith, Mr. Jenkins. The efficiency of this committee will depend largely on the cooperation of faculty, students and citizens. If faculty members and citizens, wishing to employ labor, will consult the committee much time and effort can be saved. A blank application card is being worked out by Mr. Sonnies for the use of the applicants. If students desiring work will fill out this blank and give the committee all possible and dependable information it will be possible to keep an up-to-date classified list on hand for the immediate use of those seeking help. The committee will make a thorough canvass of the town as well as the University to find all possible opportunities for the use of student labor. All applicants for work will be given a tryout as soon as possible during the first semester of school, during which time it is up to students to demonstrate their merit. At the end of a month the awards for regular positions at the University and recommendations will be made. All employments for the first month will be temporary. The committee will be guided largely by the following considerations:

1. New students will be given consideration in preference to old students.
2. Students who are in need of financial help will be given preference before those who have a comfortable bank account or whose parents can keep them in school.
3. Real capability and willingness to work as shown by actual trials will naturally win the support of the committee in preference to students who can make a strong presentation of their case but lack the ability to "deliver the goods."

Other things being equal the student who applies early will be considered before the late applicant.

The organization of this committee does not mean that students desiring work must make no effort on their own part. In fact, the committee expects all students, unless for very good reasons, to make very little use of the services. Presumably a student who has been in Moscow several months and is in real need of work can find sufficient opportunities if he has the proper amount of energy.

It will also be the object of the committee to keep a cumulative record showing the number of students employed and the amount of money earned, a classification of jobs, and the scholastic records of students who work their way through school, in part or entirely, so as to determine, if possible the amount of time which the average student can work without remunerative work. Students as a rule who must earn a considerable part of their school expenses should early realize that study is intended to occupy the bulk of their time and that most of them can earn money by out-

The term sounds natural and we feel sure that those who witness the game on next Saturday will see real football. The team is working hard and is determined to show Gonzaga how "Idaho Fights."

It is the duty of every student to come out and support our Grid Iron Stars. The athletes have been working enthusiastically to bring home laurels for you and to assure our students to come to the game with plenty of "pop" to show the team we are backing them with all the spirit we have.

The games scheduled this fall will be good ones. They will be real barnburners.

When the students assemble for the reception on Friday evening Coach Griffith will be given a chance to tell you about the game on Saturday and the prospect for the year. The Yell Masters will give you a chance to present their side of the case.

We ask all the students to support the Grid Iron Stars for it is a good habit, and in coming to the game on Saturday, whether it rains or shines, we will show our appreciation of the hard work and untiring efforts of the coach and team.

ENCOURAGEMENT
The football men are required to be out every afternoon, in rain or shine, for practice. They work hard and go out for practice with sorenesses or bruises very uncomfortable to say the least. These men, unlike the public, do not have that cuts on the face, or gashes on the body are necessary as revelations of bravery. But, they incidentally get them in preparing to defend the laurels of Idaho.

Let us lend them some encouragement. The students should come out to the daily practice and watch these men work. Get on the side lines and make them feel that their work is appreciated. This kind of student support would be ideally appreciated by the team and the coach, who is working with such unflagging efforts.

A few minutes on the side lines for every student each afternoon would be a great recreation.

HUME'S HISTORY RECEIVES COMMENT

BOOK CRITICS PRONOUNCE IT A VALUABLE ADDITION TO HISTORY LITERATURE

Admirable Clearness on Documents Least Familiar to History Students

In the most prominent place on the 13th page, "Books and Authors" in the New York Tribune, September 28, we find the following review of Professor Hume's recently published history entitled, "The Renaissance, the Protestant Revolution, and the Catholic Reform in Continental Europe".

Beginnings of the Modern Era

"The Renaissance, the Protestant Revolution and the Catholic Reformulation in Continental Europe, by Edward Martin Hume, Professor of History in the University of Idaho. 8vo. pp. 691. The Century Company."

It is a scholarly, useful and timely piece of work that Professor Hume gives us in these pages. Judiciously condensed, presenting the essence of all that recent study has proved, or reduced to its proper proportions, in the history of what still remains the most significant and fruitful episode in the progress of human mind after the Reformation, the book has the further merit of being readable. It is timely, because it is hoped, it will serve to dispel in large degree the impression, sent abroad by earlier historians and still generally held, that the Renaissance and the Reformation were but slightly interrelated; that, indeed, in its broad outline, the "pagan" new life in the South was the antithesis of the awakening of the North. The author lays emphasis throughout upon the multiple aspects of the Reformation, social, economic, political, which are in the general mind still obscured if not hidden by its religious phase; and he is uncommonly felicitous in his summings up of the results of influences and movements and of the significance and the personality of leaders. As his title plainly continues at considerable length and concludes with enthusiastic praise of the book.

SUCCESSOR TO PROF. HALL

John Black, has been appointed as the successor of George Hall, former instructor in mechanical engineering, and he arrived in Moscow Monday to enter upon his duties in the college of engineering.

"It was highly important that this position be filled at once in order that regular work might not be interrupted. The speed with which the appointment has been made was due to the fact that G. L. Larson, head of the department, now absent on leave, was acquainted with Mr. Black's ability and made it possible for us to get hold of Mr. Black at once." Mr. Black is a graduate of the mechanical engineering college of the state university of Illinois. He had had an excellent education, fine training, and wide experience.

Sixty-five per cent of college men work their way thru the University of Oregon. The helping hand of the Y. M. C. A. is extended to the incoming freshmen the instant that he gets off the train. From that instant he is his own man and he wants work, his counsel when he wants advice, his club when he feels companionship, his exchange when he has books to sell or buy, and his candy store when he wants a Hershey.

The first school of fisheries in the United States has been established at the University of Washington. The course in fisheries will be under the Zoology Department for the present but will, in all probability, be organis- ed as a separate school within a few years. The demand for hatchery su- perintendents, investigators and ex- perts is large and the school will undoubtably prosper.

M. L. RENARD IS DEAD

Thos. W. Leonard, our new General Secretary of the College Association of the Y. M. C. A., and who is in fact our first general secretary, is on the job reorganizing and organizing the Y. M. C. A. forces for a very suc- cessful and eventful year for the as- sociation.

Mr. Leonard is a graduate of Pacific College, having taken his B.A. degree in that institution in the class of '93. He is a very enthusi- astic worker and in the short space of time since his graduation has had some exceedingly fine training in associ- ation work. He was Industrial Secretary to the association at The Dalles-Celilo canal project where be- tween five and ten men were employed, and men were supplied with the right kind of entertainment by the indus- trial Y. M. C. A. The Industrial Association is becoming a very im- portant factor in supplying the so- cial needs of construction camps in generally all the great enterprises that are undertaken and have be- come so essential that all the en- trepreneurs of this nature are writing and encouraging these temporary Y. M. C. A.'s.

Mr. Leonard's first work here is largely that of reconstruction and it is hard to map out any hard and fast curricula. However, courses of Bible Study have been introduced in near all the churches of Orego- n and it is urged that the Uni- versity men enroll in these classes at

Mr. Stephen A. Roger, pure seed commissioner, was a visitor on the campus yesterday. While in the North, he will make a trip to Grangeville for a conference with a grower of wheat. This field may prove valuable for more abundant distribution through the dry farming region of the state.
In a recent letter Prof. Geo. L. Larson says that he is very pleasantly situated at the University of Wisconsin where he is doing some research work. He has charge of several of the classes there but still finds time to wonder about Idaho's football out-look. He is doing research work on heating and ventilation and when he returns he will probably start a private boarding house for football men supplying them with just the right amount of heat and an abundance of fresh air.
Since leaving Moscow Prof. Larson has lectured his old college, "Union," at Philadelphia, N. Y., McGill, and Toronto University, in Canada, and has finally settled down for his brief leave of absence at "Wisconsin." He reports the Canadian cities as looking alike.

CAPTURE GRAND CHAMPIONSHIP, CHAMPIONSHIP, AND SILVER CUP

Shewed at North Yakima and Salem State Fairs and Will Come Home (Carrying Signal Horses)

Following close after the remarkable winning of the University of Idaho live stock at Spokane, are equally remarkable winnings at North Yakima and Salem.

Blame the two-year-old Aberdeen Angus steer weighing 1,703 pounds, which carried off the grand championship and a silver cup against all comers at the Selma fair and a one-half-year-old Aberdeen Angus heifer weighing 776 pounds, which carried off a grand championship, a championship and a first award at Salem.

This calf took first prize at the Spokane fair and carried off a first and championship at North Yakima. In the sheep division Idaho divided honors with O. C. C.

The prizes for fat cattle won at North Yakima were: first and second on two-year-old: first and third on senior yearlings; first and second on junior yearlings; first and second on bulls; first and championship on Aberdeen Angus heifer; second on Aberdeen Angus bull; second on Hereford bull.

At Salem the prizes for fat cattle were first and second on two-year-old; first and second on senior yearlings; first and second on calves; first on Shorthorn bull; second on Hereford bull; first and championship on Aberdeen Angus cow; grand championship, championship and first on Aberdeen Angus heifer; grand championship and silver cup on two-year-old steer.

The live stock exhibit has been in charge of H. R. Axel managed by J. E. Nordby and to them is due a great deal of credit for the careful handling of the exhibits.

At the close of the fair circuit this fall Idaho can justly feel proud of the wonderful and the unprecedented success of her supremacy in the livestock world. This is the result of a long and careful study on the part of the students especially, the knowledge that they are receiving—their progress that has been made—should be a great stimulus toward higher efficiency in agricultural work.

MONTANA DEFEATS W. S. C. IN A SCORE OF 14-0

UNIVERSITY OF MONTANA, Missoula, April 5.—For the second time in 2 years the University of Montana football team defeated Washington State College in Missoula this afternoon on the Montana field. Score: Montana, 19; Washington State College, 0.

Superior team work at the opportune moment won the game for Montana. A place kick by Gorrin in the third quarter and a touchdown and goal in the last quarter gave ten points Montana. Altogether Washington State college more than doubled the yardage gained by Montana. W. C. used a forward pass more successfully and succeeded in crossing thru Montana line for yardage time and again. The Washington team went to pieces when the Montana goal line was approached. Seven times during the game Montana drove down the field and was forced back. Twice the Montana team succeeded in breaking away and getting within scoring distance of the W. S. C. goal. And each time Montana scored.

Roberson’s phenomenal punting and excellent playing was one of the features of the game. Captain Okeley played his usual steady game but was forced out in the third quarter. Clark left, formerly of the University of Washington team, started often during the game.

The Pullman team came on the field at 5:00 and was followed a moment later by the Montana squad. A few minutes of practice and the game was on. For two quarters of 15 minutes each the two teams struggled back and forth and when the first half ended neither side had scored. Washington State College started off with a thrust at the beginning of the second half but lost ground when Montana scored three points with a place kick. The touchdown was made during the last three minutes of the half. Captain Okeley had carried the ball over. Gorrin kicked goal.

PROF. ARNOLD ARRIVES

counted to fill the position of Professor of Law in the law department of the University, arrived here last night and presented himself to the board of trustees at the university.

Mr. Arnold was graduated from the Kansas School of Law in 1912. He holds a bachelor of arts degree from Bakersfield College, Bakersfield, Calif. He received his degree in 1916. He is a member of the bar of the United States courts, and has been in practice since his graduation from the university.
