UI administration follows through with commitment to diversity

According to UI Director of Multicultural Affairs Francisco Sainz, this grant is part of the administration's overall goal of promoting diversity on campus.

"With these grants, we're trying to make money available to students and student groups to work toward diversity on campus," he said. "This particular grant has funded a number of events and resources since the administration decided to increase the type of funding available before." He said, "Now we can use it.

The closure of the Office of Diversity and Human Rights is a major concern to the Office of Diversity and Human Rights..." He noted that the office has been closed for several years, but has not been a priority for the administration. "The closure of the office is a significant loss for the students and staff who work there," he said.

The development of the grant is directly related to the students' and staff's efforts to create a more diverse and inclusive campus.

"Multicultural Affairs staff have been working with the students and staff to make sure the grant is used effectively," he said. "We want to make sure that the money is used to benefit the students and staff who work here."

Awards ranging from $1,000 to $5,000 may be granted to up to 10 student groups for projects that promote diversity. Students and staff should send proposals to www.uidaho.edu/orna/argonaut by Oct. 26 and receive a notification by mid-October.

"It's been an incredibly arduous and difficult process," Morse said. "But it's been worth it."

"We're working with the students and staff to make sure that the money is used effectively," he said. "We want to make sure that the money is used to benefit the students and staff who work here."

The university has the opportunity to receive a federal grant to help with the administration of the program.

"We believe that this grant will be a valuable tool for the future," he said. "We want to make sure that the money is used effectively."

"The money will be used to help the students and staff to make sure that the money is used effectively," he said. "We want to make sure that the money is used to benefit the students and staff who work here."

"IJC.

"We believe that this grant will be a valuable tool for the future," he said. "We want to make sure that the money is used effectively."

The university has the opportunity to receive a federal grant to help with the administration of the program.

"We believe that this grant will be a valuable tool for the future," he said. "We want to make sure that the money is used effectively."

"IJC.

"We believe that this grant will be a valuable tool for the future," he said. "We want to make sure that the money is used effectively."

"The money will be used to help the students and staff to make sure that the money is used effectively," he said. "We want to make sure that the money is used to benefit the students and staff who work here."

"IJC.

"We believe that this grant will be a valuable tool for the future," he said. "We want to make sure that the money is used effectively."

"The money will be used to help the students and staff to make sure that the money is used effectively," he said. "We want to make sure that the money is used to benefit the students and staff who work here."

"IJC.

"We believe that this grant will be a valuable tool for the future," he said. "We want to make sure that the money is used effectively."

"The money will be used to help the students and staff to make sure that the money is used effectively," he said. "We want to make sure that the money is used to benefit the students and staff who work here."

"IJC.

"We believe that this grant will be a valuable tool for the future," he said. "We want to make sure that the money is used effectively."

"The money will be used to help the students and staff to make sure that the money is used effectively," he said. "We want to make sure that the money is used to benefit the students and staff who work here."

"IJC.

"We believe that this grant will be a valuable tool for the future," he said. "We want to make sure that the money is used effectively."

"The money will be used to help the students and staff to make sure that the money is used effectively," he said. "We want to make sure that the money is used to benefit the students and staff who work here."

"IJC.

"We believe that this grant will be a valuable tool for the future," he said. "We want to make sure that the money is used effectively."

"The money will be used to help the students and staff to make sure that the money is used effectively," he said. "We want to make sure that the money is used to benefit the students and staff who work here."

"IJC.

"We believe that this grant will be a valuable tool for the future," he said. "We want to make sure that the money is used effectively."

"The money will be used to help the students and staff to make sure that the money is used effectively," he said. "We want to make sure that the money is used to benefit the students and staff who work here."

"IJC.

"We believe that this grant will be a valuable tool for the future," he said. "We want to make sure that the money is used effectively."

"The money will be used to help the students and staff to make sure that the money is used effectively," he said. "We want to make sure that the money is used to benefit the students and staff who work here."

"IJC.

"We believe that this grant will be a valuable tool for the future," he said. "We want to make sure that the money is used effectively."

"The money will be used to help the students and staff to make sure that the money is used effectively," he said. "We want to make sure that the money is used to benefit the students and staff who work here."

"IJC.

"We believe that this grant will be a valuable tool for the future," he said. "We want to make sure that the money is used effectively."

"The money will be used to help the students and staff to make sure that the money is used effectively," he said. "We want to make sure that the money is used to benefit the students and staff who work here."

"IJC.

"We believe that this grant will be a valuable tool for the future," he said. "We want to make sure that the money is used effectively."

"The money will be used to help the students and staff to make sure that the money is used effectively," he said. "We want to make sure that the money is used to benefit the students and staff who work here."

"IJC.
Former UI filmmaker faces Grand Canyon and giant centipedes

by Chris Landre

At the beginning of this year, former UI filmmaker Andrea Tarabulski left the city of Boise to embark on a two-year journey around the world. Her goal was to document her experiences as a filmmaker and to explore different cultures. She planned to capture her life as a traveling filmmaker and to bring it back to the United States for future projects.

While Tarabulski was documenting her journey, she encountered a giant centipede while walking along the edge of a cliff in the Grand Canyon. The centipede was approximately 10 inches long and had more than 100 legs. Tarabulski was able to capture footage of the Centipede while it was walking along the edge of the cliff. She explained that the centipede was not a threat to her but it was a reminder of the different creatures that exist around the world.

Tarabulski’s journey has been a success so far, and she is looking forward to continuing her work as a traveling filmmaker. She hopes to bring back more stories and footage from around the world to share with her audience. She is also planning to work on a new documentary that will focus on the experiences of traveling filmmakers and the different cultures they encounter along the way.
College freshmen must be vaccinated against meningitis in 31 states

Russian-born, now 20-year-old college student recently received a local media attention with his plan to challenge a law requiring students to get vaccinated against meningitis. The student claims he is unwilling to get vaccinated and is facing possible expulsion from his college. He said he plans to sue the university if forced to get vaccinated.

College student tries to return rotten food for partial refund

College students see particularly vulnerable to the disease because they don’t stay right or double and they share close quarters. That’s always been a concern,” said Shirley Miller, chief health services at the Madison, N.J., campus of Fairleigh Dickinson University.

A student, like any other college student, can even be a victim of meningitis. “We’re trying to inform you about the new law that requires meningitis immunizations for all incoming students (undergraduate and graduate) who will be living in common housing,” said the Facebook page for the college.

The social media page for Fairleigh Dickinson University’s Health Services posted a message on its Facebook page, stating: “There is a meningitis outbreak in New Jersey. All incoming students are required to get vaccinated if they are not immune to meningitis.”

College freshmen must be vaccinated against meningitis in 31 states

College students see particularly vulnerable to the disease because they don’t stay right or double and they share close quarters. That’s always been a concern,” said Shirley Miller, chief health services at the Madison, N.J., campus of Fairleigh Dickinson University.

A student, like any other college student, can even be a victim of meningitis. “We’re trying to inform you about the new law that requires meningitis immunizations for all incoming students (undergraduate and graduate) who will be living in common housing,” said the Facebook page for the college.

The social media page for Fairleigh Dickinson University’s Health Services posted a message on its Facebook page, stating: “There is a meningitis outbreak in New Jersey. All incoming students are required to get vaccinated if they are not immune to meningitis.”

College freshmen must be vaccinated against meningitis in 31 states

College students see particularly vulnerable to the disease because they don’t stay right or double and they share close quarters. That’s always been a concern,” said Shirley Miller, chief health services at the Madison, N.J., campus of Fairleigh Dickinson University.

A student, like any other college student, can even be a victim of meningitis. “We’re trying to inform you about the new law that requires meningitis immunizations for all incoming students (undergraduate and graduate) who will be living in common housing,” said the Facebook page for the college.

The social media page for Fairleigh Dickinson University’s Health Services posted a message on its Facebook page, stating: “There is a meningitis outbreak in New Jersey. All incoming students are required to get vaccinated if they are not immune to meningitis.”
John Kerry disgrace to all veterans

Having watched many of the campaign ads directed at John Kerry, it's easy to forget that he is the same man who led the military to victory in Vietnam and fought bravely in the War on Terrorism. After doing a little research on the subject, I was surprised to learn that Kerry served not only in Vietnam, but also in the form of a Navy Commander. His service in the military is a testament to his dedication and courage.

While I understand that the political arena is often a cut-throat environment, it is unfortunate to see someone who has served his country in such a way be so discredited by his opponents. The facts speak for themselves: Kerry's military service is a clear example of his commitment to our country and its values.

As a veteran, I am proud to stand behind the candidate who has served his country and understands the importance of maintaining a strong military. It is time for John Kerry to be given the respect he deserves and for his service to be recognized.
Artistry eclipses gore in ‘Hero’

BY TINA KAHN

Every sun is a while, American film studio Universal themselves and import a foreign film that turns out to be a gem. “Hero,” working its way into the Canadian market, is just one of the many great films that have been given a conducive release in the country. The film, directed by Zhang Yimou, begins with the Universal release of a film that has been made in China and is currently playing in the United States. The movie is an adaptation of the Chinese novel “Hero,” which tells the story of a man who is forced to choose between his love for a woman and his duty to the emperor. The film is beautifully shot andFeatures a talented cast that includes Zhang’s long-time collaborator, Zhang Ziyi, as well as other notable actors such asJet Li, who plays a hero who is forced to make a difficult choice.

On the other hand, “Hero” is a film that is both visually stunning and emotionally动人. The film’s use of color, composition, and lighting creates a sense of majesty and grandeur that is both breathtaking and moving. The film’s music, composed by Rashid Al-Tarabji, is also a significant part of its appeal, adding to the overall atmosphere of the film.

Overall, “Hero” is a film that is both visually stunning and emotionally动人. It is a film that is sure to please fans of the Chinese film industry, as well as those who enjoy films that are visually stunning and emotionally动人.

Canadian childhood basis for unusual name

BY ROY WRIGHT

Some babies are born with names that reflect their parents’ life experiences or an unusual phrase or reference. For example, a name like “Miley” may have been chosen because of a favorite TV show or song. Other names may have a personal significance, such as “Liam” being chosen in honor of a family member.

Regardless of the reason for choosing a name, it is important to make sure it is unique and not too similar to other names. This can be accomplished by considering the name’s meaning, pronunciation, and spelling. Additionally, it is important to consider the name’s compatibility with a future spouse’s name or a sibling’s name.

Overall, choosing a name for a baby can be a fun and exciting process, allowing parents to express their personal preferences and values. It is important to take the time to consider all factors before making a decision, ensuring that the chosen name is a perfect match for the baby’s unique personality.

Georgia brings American Indian art to Moscow

The prestigious and unique artistic style of the American Indian art is currently being displayed at the Georgia Art Gallery in Moscow.

A new collection titled “American Indian Art” was launched recently in the Georgia Art Gallery. The collection features works from some of the most renowned American Indian artists, including Nicholas Blackbird, from California, Michael Richard, from Texas, and Steve Tiller, from New Mexico.

Throughout the use of brush, scalpels and pencils, the artists create unique works that are featured in the gallery. The gallery is also hosting a special exhibition, “The Native American Experience,” which is a collection of works by American Indian artists from across the nation.

The exhibition is open to the public and will be on display until the end of the month. For more information, please visit the Georgia Art Gallery’s website.
Bush tapestry of policy woven with prayer draws concerns

The University of Idaho Argonaut

Page 5 Tuesday Aug. 25, 2004

Ask Captain RibMan

By Capt. RibMan

Quora pass, Capt. RibMan? I've noticed my students have become distant to me. I've explained to them that I'm available to answer any questions they may have, but they make it a point to avoid me. Can you suggest anything?

Bobbi, Rushfield, GA

Dear Bobbi,

Neuroscientists suggest that hard work developing melanocortin compounds that can ease the way for you to a plangent-smelling future is Right, now, the main thing being in is work that travel in the bloodstream building surgical cells. After all, that visceral pursuit, you will find them that important task like perfection other pervasive and start

Bride, Husker, KA

Dear Bride,

I have seen the same piece since then, not yet, and they still look wonderful. I am glad to hear you are finding new links to the university's school of medicine, neurology, nanotechnology, and your degree is still leading to something. I'm happy to help answer any questions you may have. Let me know how I can assist you.

Capt. RibMan

Canada

From Page 6

I like to think that we make quality music that can appeal to a wide variety of people. In addition to having a strong acoustic sound, the band's corporate image is a mainstay of their relationship with fans.

Clint Messick

Biking the Road

Introducing Sprint PCS

Sprint PCS. Fair and FlexibleTM

Service Plan

An entirely new way to buy wireless.

Every month, your plan automatically adjusts to the minutes you use, so you don't waste a lot of money or minutes.

No More Guesswork.

Now you don't have to guess how many minutes you're going to use. You just use them. Then, every month, Sprint automatically adjusts your plan to the minutes you use. No more ugly overages. No more wasting a lot of money or minutes.

Fair and Flexible adjusts every month.

*For activation and service charges apply.

Available at local Sprint stores. Offers expire 6/30/04.
SPORTS & REC

Pittsburgh Invitational to kick off UV volleyball season

by Brendan Glase

Last week was the University of Idaho volleyball team's most successful one in several years, and with all but one player returning, the Vandals are looking to be even better this fall.

After almost three weeks of practice, as well as two intrasquad scrimmages, the team is getting ready to start its sea don at the Pittsburgh Invitational this weekend.

Over the course of the weekend, the Vandals will play four games - at 2:00 p.m. Friday, at 5:00 p.m. Saturday, at 5:00 p.m. Sunday.

"I think our biggest challenge is going to be against Pittsburgh," head coach Debbie Buchan said. "They won the Big East this year."

"I think right now when I look at our schedule, it's a little more arduous; they're probably a little better, so it's going to be a real challenge for us to go to the road and be able to play at our level."

Last season Pittsburgh finished at 36-6 and made it to the second round of the NCAA Tournament, where the team was upset by the middle hitter Megan Miller, who was cho

Ien in the Big East.

While the other two matches should be a bit easier, neither Howard nor Portland will be a sure win for UV.

This weekend will be the first time that UV has faced another Big East conference team since 1999, when the Vandals had a bit of history with Portland. Since 1999 UV has faced the

Head coach Debbie Buchan on: UV Volleyball Seniors

Sarah West

She is a competitor who is hard to stop, Buchan said. "She's earned some new respect for her leadership and with her new role as captain, she is having a bit of a jump-up on us this season." She's a hard worker who always gives

Brooke Huenheber

She is the back-bone of the offense, she's doing a good job at the net for us. She's a good leader and playing a good role." She's been having a lot of fun and making a good role.

Nancy Becker

She is the back

Volleyball team sees improvement in second scrimmage

The University of Idaho volleyball team accomplished a number of things in its second scrimmage of the season against Howard, on Saturday.

The Vandals were able to improve from the first scrimmage against the Hoyas last weekend, getting a chance to see how good their team is put together.

"We didn't have a lot of variables on the court last weekend, so we were able to try some new things out. This week we're looking to see how good this team is put together," Buchan said.

This weekend will give the Vandals their first chance to see how good this team is put together. They've been working on a lot of things this week, and we're looking to see how good this team is put together.

"I think pasting went better tonight," Tikker said. "I think our numbers were better and the defense was there."

The four-game match saw the players who will probably be the starters stepping off the court against the Hoyas. To see some things go up, a bit assistant coach Mark copp is, who graduated from Loyola Marymount in 2001, played against the Hoyas. Mark Copp is a class of American-american, and we've been working on a lot of things this week."

"We're just happy that they are doing a lot of things tonight," Buchan said. "And I think she did a great job. Our team needs to learn to deal with some different things like that."

The starters were all matched up, but were also able to play different roles over the weekend. They've been working on a lot of things this week, and we're looking to see how good this team is put together.

Dan Beck

The match was held at the University of Idaho's Phil Groth Field House on Saturday afternoon. The match was the first of the season for the Vandals, and will help them prepare for the upcoming season.

"We didn't have a lot of variables on the court last weekend, so we were able to try some new things out. This week we're looking to see how good this team is put together," Buchan said.

The Vandals were able to improve from the first scrimmage against the Hoyas last weekend, getting a chance to see how good their team is put together.

"We didn't have a lot of variables on the court last weekend, so we were able to try some new things out. This week we're looking to see how good this team is put together," Buchan said.

"We didn't have a lot of variables on the court last weekend, so we were able to try some new things out. This week we're looking to see how good this team is put together," Buchan said.
After extinguishing Athens, Doubts proudly olympics Olympic flame

BY MICHAEL BAYRAT

 REUTERS — The Olympic flame was extinguished in Athens on Saturday, but for the first time in Olympic history, the flame was not lit in a solemn ceremony. Instead, it was put out by a machine, which was two gold medals in the hands of two Greek officials, one wearing a suit and tie and the other wearing sportswear. "We showed the world what great things the Greeks can do. The world should never forget the goddesses, of human dignity and Olympic values," said Angelopoulos-Daskalaki, president of the Hellenic Olympic Committee, after the game. "Our country, Greece, is a friend for the world, and we are proud to be part of the Olympic family." "This is a symbolic gesture, a message of peace and unity. The flame is a symbol of the Olympic spirit," said the Greek prime minister, Kyriakos Mitsotakis. "It is a message of hope and a symbol of the Greek people's resilience in the face of adversity." The ceremony was attended by numerous dignitaries, including the International Olympic Committee President Thomas Bach, who hailed the event as "a moment of pride and joy for the entire Olympic family." "The Olympic flame has been extinguished in Athens, but it will never be extinguished in the hearts of all athletes," he said. "It is a symbol of our shared dreams and aspirations." "The Olympic flame was extinguished, but the Olympic spirit remains alive," said Angelopoulos-Daskalaki. "It will continue to inspire us all to strive for excellence and to respect the values of fair play and friendship." By extinguishing the Olympic flame, Greece has demonstrated its commitment to the Olympic ideals and its desire to continue to be a strong and respected member of the Olympic family. "The Olympic flame is a symbol of the Olympic spirit," said Mitsotakis. "It is a symbol of the values of friendship, fair play, and respect for others. We will continue to uphold these values and to support the Olympic movement." "This is a moment of reflection and a moment of hope," said Bach. "The Olympic flame may be extinguished, but the Olympic spirit will never be extinguished." The Olympic flame was extinguished in Athens, but its spirit will live on in the hearts of all those who have been inspired by its light. "The Olympic flame has been extinguished, but the Olympic spirit remains alive," said Angelopoulos-Daskalaki. "It will continue to inspire us all to strive for excellence and to respect the values of fair play and friendship." "The Olympic flame is a symbol of the Olympic spirit," said Mitsotakis. "It is a symbol of the values of friendship, fair play, and respect for others. We will continue to uphold these values and to support the Olympic movement." "This is a moment of reflection and a moment of hope," said Bach. "The Olympic flame may be extinguished, but the Olympic spirit will never be extinguished." The Olympic flame was extinguished in Athens, but its spirit will live on in the hearts of all those who have been inspired by its light. "The Olympic flame has been extinguished, but the Olympic spirit remains alive," said Angelopoulos-Daskalaki. "It will continue to inspire us all to strive for excellence and to respect the values of fair play and friendship." "The Olympic flame is a symbol of the Olympic spirit," said Mitsotakis. "It is a symbol of the values of friendship, fair play, and respect for others. We will continue to uphold these values and to support the Olympic movement." "This is a moment of reflection and a moment of hope," said Bach. "The Olympic flame may be extinguished, but the Olympic spirit will never be extinguished." The Olympic flame was extinguished in Athens, but its spirit will live on in the hearts of all those who have been inspired by its light. "The Olympic flame has been extinguished, but the Olympic spirit remains alive," said Angelopoulos-Daskalaki. "It will continue to inspire us all to strive for excellence and to respect the values of fair play and friendship." "The Olympic flame is a symbol of the Olympic spirit," said Mitsotakis. "It is a symbol of the values of friendship, fair play, and respect for others. We will continue to uphold these values and to support the Olympic movement." "This is a moment of reflection and a moment of hope," said Bach. "The Olympic flame may be extinguished, but the Olympic spirit will never be extinguished." The Olympic flame was extinguished in Athens, but its spirit will live on in the hearts of all those who have been inspired by its light. "The Olympic flame has been extinguished, but the Olympic spirit remains alive," said Angelopoulos-Daskalaki. "It will continue to inspire us all to strive for excellence and to respect the values of fair play and friendship." "The Olympic flame is a symbol of the Olympic spirit," said Mitsotakis. "It is a symbol of the values of friendship, fair play, and respect for others. We will continue to uphold these values and to support the Olympic movement." "This is a moment of reflection and a moment of hope," said Bach. "The Olympic flame may be extinguished, but the Olympic spirit will never be extinguished." The Olympic flame was extinguished in Athens, but its spirit will live on in the hearts of all those who have been inspired by its light. "The Olympic flame has been extinguished, but the Olympic spirit remains alive," said Angelopoulos-Daskalaki. "It will continue to inspire us all to strive for excellence and to respect the values of fair play and friendship." "The Olympic flame is a symbol of the Olympic spirit," said Mitsotakis. "It is a symbol of the values of friendship, fair play, and respect for others. We will continue to uphold these values and to support the Olympic movement." "This is a moment of reflection and a moment of hope," said Bach. "The Olympic flame may be extinguished, but the Olympic spirit will never be extinguished." The Olympic flame was extinguished in Athens, but its spirit will live on in the hearts of all those who have been inspired by its light. "The Olympic flame has been extinguished, but the Olympic spirit remains alive," said Angelopoulos-Daskalaki. "It will continue to inspire us all to strive for excellence and to respect the values of fair play and friendship." "The Olympic fire has been extinguished," said Bach. "But the Olympic spirit will never be extinguished. It will continue to inspire us all to strive for excellence and to respect the values of fair play and friendship." The Olympic flame has been extinguished, but its spirit will live on in the hearts of all those who have been inspired by its light. "The Olympic flame has been extinguished, but the Olympic spirit remains alive," said Angelopoulos-Daskalaki. "It will continue to inspire us all to strive for excellence and to respect the values of fair play and friendship." "The Olympic flame has been extinguished, but the Olympic spirit remains alive," said Angelopoulos-Daskalaki. "It will continue to inspire us all to strive for excellence and to respect the values of fair play and friendship." "The Olympic flame has been extinguished, but the Olympic spirit remains alive," said Angelopoulos-Daskalaki. "It will continue to inspire us all to strive for excellence and to respect the values of fair play and friendship." "The Olympic flame has been extinguished, but the Olympic spirit remains alive," said Angelopoulos-Daskalaki. "It will continue to inspire us all to strive for excellence and to respect the values of fair play and friendship." "The Olympic flame has been extinguished, but the Olympic spirit remains alive," said Angelopoulos-Daskalaki. "It will continue to inspire us all to strive for excellence and to respect the values of fair play and friendship." "The Olympic flame has been extinguished, but the Olympic spirit remains alive," said Angelopoulos-Daskalaki. "It will continue to inspire us all to strive for excellence and to respect the values of fair play and friendship." "The Olympic flame has been extinguished, but the Olympic spirit remains alive," said Angelopoulos-Daskalaki. "It will continue to inspire us all to strive for excellence and to respect the values of fair play and friendship." "The Olympic flame has been extinguished, but the Olympic spirit remains alive," said Angelopoulos-Daskalaki. "It will continue to inspire us all to strive for excellence and to respect the values of fair play and friendship." "The Olympic flame has been extinguished, but the Olympic spirit remains alive," said Angelopoulos-Daskalaki. "It will continue to inspire us all to strive for excellence and to respect the values of fair play and friendship." "The Olympic flame has been extinguished, but the Olympic spirit remains alive," said Angelopoulos-Daskalaki. "It will continue to inspire us all to strive for excellence and to respect the values of fair play and friendship." "The Olympic flame has been extinguished, but the Olympic spirit remains alive," said Angelopoulos-Daskalaki. "It will continue to inspire us all to strive for excellence and to respect the values of fair play and friendship." "The Olympic flame has been extinguished, but the Olympic spirit remains alive," said Angelopoulos-Daskalaki. "It will continue to inspire us all to strive for excellence and to respect the values of fair play and friendship." "The Olympic flame has been extinguished, but the Olympic spirit remains alive," said Angelopoulos-Daskalaki. "It will continue to inspire us all to strive for excellence and to respect the values of fair play and friendship." "The Olympic flame has been extinguished, but the Olympic spirit remains alive," said Angelopoulos-Daskalaki. "It will continue to inspire us all to strive for excellence and to respect the values of fair play and friendship." "The Olympic flame has been extinguished, but the Olympic spirit remains alive," said Angelopoulos-Daskalaki. "It will continue to inspire us all to strive for excellence and to respect the values of fair play and friendship." "The Olympic flame has been extinguished, but the Olympic spirit remains alive," said Angelopoulos-Daskalaki. "It will continue to inspire us all to strive for excellence and to respect the values of fair play and friendship." "The Olympic flame has been extinguished, but the Olympic spirit remains alive," said Angelopoulos-Daskalaki. "It will continue to inspire us all to strive for excellence and to respect the values of fair play and friendship." "The Olympic flame has been extinguished, but the Olympic spirit remains alive," said Angelopoulos-Daskalaki. "It will continue to inspire us all to strive for excellence and to respect the values of fair play and friendship." "The Olympic flame has been extinguished, but the Olympic spirit remains alive," said Angelopoulos-Daskalaki. "It will continue to inspire us all to strive for excellence and to respect the values of fair play and friendship." "The Olympic flame has been extinguished, but the Olympic spirit remains alive," said Angelopoulos-Daskalaki. "It will continue to inspire us all to strive for excellence and to respect the values of fair play and friendship." "The Olympic flame has been extinguished, but the Olympic spirit remains alive," said Angelopoulos-Daskalaki. "It will continue to inspire us all to strive for excellence and to respect the values of fair play and friendship." "The Olympic flame has been extinguished, but the Olympic spirit remains alive," said Angelopoulos-Daskalaki. "It will continue to inspire us all to strive for excellence and to respect the values of fair play and friendship." "The Olympic flame has been extinguished, but the Olympic spirit remains alive," said Angelopoulos-Daskalak