OPINION

Thanks, Provost Pitcher

Following the resignation of Provost Steven Peterson on Nov. 12, 1998, University of Idaho administrators have decided to write an unprecedented advisory letter to the university community. This letter is directed to the university community, the Provost, and the members of the University of Idaho Board of Trustees.

In recent months, the University of Idaho has been embroiled in a series of controversies, including the resignation of Provost Peterson, the closure of the University of Idaho Press, and the ongoing investigation of the university’s financial affairs. The university has been criticized for its handling of these matters, and many members of the university community have called for change.

The letter begins by acknowledging the challenges faced by the university in recent months. It notes the university’s efforts to address these challenges, including the appointment of a new Provost. The letter expresses gratitude to Provost Peterson for his service and leadership, and it encourages the university community to continue to work together to address the challenges facing the university.

The letter also addresses the issue of the university’s financial affairs. It notes the university’s efforts to improve its financial management, including the appointment of a new Chief Financial Officer. The letter encourages the university community to continue to support these efforts, and it notes the university’s commitment to transparency and accountability.

The letter concludes by expressing confidence in the university’s future. It notes the university’s strengths and potential, and it encourages the university community to continue to work together to achieve success.

The full letter is available on the University of Idaho’s website.

Irony cannot make up for lack of talent

To extend a white Bill. The president, a mediocre punster, posturing penultimate from a self-righteous perspective, chose to ignore the most talented undergraduates at the university. Instead, he asked the popular singer, Britney Spears, to grace the campus.

She showed up. She performed on a stage in the middle of campus. The students were not impressed. The singer is not known for her musical talent. She was overrated. The event was a waste of time and money. The university could have done better.

Maybe the university’s leaders should consider hiring a professional entertainment consultant to plan events. They could have hired a professional singer or musician who would have been more popular and engaging. But instead, they chose Britney Spears.

The university’s leaders are not the only ones to blame. The students are also to blame. They should have spoken up and let their voices be heard. Instead, they allowed the university’s leaders to make decisions without their input.

The university’s leaders should have listened to the students. They should have considered the students’ opinions and preferences. But instead, they ignored the students and made decisions on their own.

The university’s leaders should learn from this mistake. They should be more open to feedback from the students and other members of the university community. They should be more transparent in their decision-making processes.

The university’s leaders should also be more selective in their choices of entertainment. They should hire people who are talented and engaging. They should not hire people who are not well-known or well-regarded.

The university’s leaders should also be more careful in their use of student fees. They should use the fees for activities that benefit the students and the university as a whole. They should not use the fees for events that are not well-received or well-liked.

Columnist not thankful this Thanksgiving

My first column, alcohol, and I defined it. of this glut of turkeys who, in the spirit of of your activities. I've been told by "My best girl," and I'm the only one who's not thankful for you. I'm not sure what you mean by "people are just too thankless these days." It seems like everyone is always saying how thankful they are, but when they turn around and do something really nice for someone, they never seem to remember to say thanks.

You see, I've been stuck behind a desk all day long, and I've been thinking about how thankful I am for my job. After all, it's not every day that you get to work with such great people. And even though I have to be at the office at 8:30 every morning, I always try to make sure I stay for at least the first couple of hours. It's just my way of showing appreciation for all the hard work that my colleagues do.

And then there's the food. Oh, the food! I love Thanksgiving. It's one of my favorite holidays, and I always look forward to the turkey and all the other delicious dishes that come with it. And let's not forget the pie! I could never get enough of the pumpkin pie.

So, yes, I may be a little thankful for this Thanksgiving. But I'm not sure if that's the right word to use. I think what I really want to say is that I'm grateful. Grateful for my job, grateful for my family, grateful for my friends. And I'm also grateful for all the wonderful people who make my life better every day.

And so, as I sit down to enjoy my Thanksgiving dinner, I'll be thinking about all the things I'm grateful for. And I hope that you, too, will take a moment to think about the things that you're thankful for. Because, after all, Thanksgiving is all about giving thanks.

Voice of the Vandals goes silent

Broadcastor Bob Curtis retires after 47 years

BY ANNA LEE

The voice of the Vandals was silenced Monday when Bob Curtis ended his 47-year career as a sports broadcaster. Curtis, who had been the voice of the Vandals for decades, announced his retirement on Monday.

While many Vandals fans were sad to see Curtis go, they also know it was time for him to enjoy his retirement. Curtis has been a beloved figure in the community for years, and his voice will be missed.

Curtis began his career in 1967, when he started doing play-by-play commentary for the Vandals football team. He quickly became a favorite among fans, and his voice was heard on many other sports teams as well.

Through thick and thin, Curtis was there for the Vandals. He covered every game, every season, and every championship. He was there when the Vandals won, and he was there when they lost. He was there for every moment of the team's history.

Curtis was more than just a broadcaster, though. He was a friend to many of the athletes he covered, and he was a mentor to many of the young people who came to the stadium to watch him work.

Curtis will be missed, but his legacy will live on. He will always be remembered as one of the greatest broadcasters of all time, and as a beloved figure in the community.

Thank you, Bob Curtis, for all you have done.
End of season signals new beginning

Idaho takes on Hawaii’s in match-up of faculty former conference members

BY REBEKAH GAUDE

For the second time this year the University of Idaho football team will face a team from the Western Athletic Conference – Idaho’s future conference.

Saturday’s game against Hawaii will not only be the Vandals’ 1-0 season, but will also be an important game for two reasons.

“I think it’s a great opportunity for us,” coach Nick Holt said. “We’re going to get up against a WAC opponent (Boise State) who just consistently outmaneuvers us on our defense and we’ve improved tremendously since them.

‘Boise State is a lot better football team than us, and we need to face that type of competition to become better.”

The Vandals’ 3-8, 2,026-yard season has not been a success, but Holt believes the team can learn from its mistakes.

“We’re going to have to get our rushing game going,” Holt said. “We’re going to have to get our passing game going. We’ve got to get our defense going to stop a good passing ability.”

Idaho has lost nine of its 10 games this season and will face its seventh consecutive loss on Saturday.

“I think they’re a great team – a BCS team,” Holt said. “It’s a good opportunity for us to learn how to defeat another Hawaii’s offense. They’re going to get us their defenses – Timmy Chang’s offense. The guy has a phenomenal right arm. He knows exactly where he’s going. He’s a WAC quarterback, as he’s going to pass the ball. Hopefully a couple of those throws will go up their shouldertip and into our hands and we will get some interceptions.

While the Rainbow Warrior offense does not have a great defense, it has been weak against the team, especially against the run. In a 44-6 loss at Boise State on Oct. 29, Hawaii gave up 426 yards on the ground, including eight rushing touchdowns. On Saturday’s, Primary’s running game gapped 160 yards and nine touchdowns in a 56-0 victory over Hawaii.

They probably haven’t played the run as well as they want to,” Holt said. “We’ve had a good defense. We’ve got to get one of those games and make our run, and they’ll play hard and we have to be ready to go.”

The Vandals may have a difficult time taking advantage of the Rainbow Warrior’s defensive struggles throughout. Jason Bird and Holly Morris, two of the Vandals’ top two receivers and returning leaders, have faced the Rainbow Warrior defense the past four games.

With three games remaining, Chang has completed 143 of 238 passes for 1,534 yards, which ranked second in the nation, and 18 touchdowns. In his career, Chang has compiled 4,470 passing yards and 99 touchdowns. Thirty-two times he has thrown for more than 300 yards, and has six career games with 400 or more passing yards.

“We’ll have to keep up the same strategies, and try to get them for one more game and make our run, and they’ll play hard and we have to be ready to go.”

“I expect them to load the box up with eight guys and make us run, and they’ll play hard and we have to be ready to go.”

HAWAII’S

Hawaii had a 7-5-1, 2,440-yard season with 28 touchdowns and 12 interceptions. Hawaii’s defense has compiled 884 yards in 11 games, allowing 119 red zone tries.

“I don’t think that’s our offense’s ability but the defense’s ability to stop the ball.”

After facing the nation’s leading rusher last week at Idaho, Holt said the Vandals will see a different type of offense when it squares off against Hawaii.

“Led by senior quarterback Timmy Chang, who set the NCAA record for WP when Hawaii announced the team for this season, the Rainbow Warriors showcase one of the top passing threats in the nation and one that can really score with his legs,” Holt said.

“ar the 100 yards. But we’ve got to get our rushing game going to get our rushing game going to get our rushing game going to get our rushing game going to get our rushing game going. We’ll have a tough time.”

The Vandals’ defense has struggled throughout the season, allowing 104 points in their last three games. The Vandals have allowed 426 points on the ground, including eight rushing touchdowns.

“I think they’ve been a lot of times that we’ve got stunts, stuff like that and tried to crush defenses for Hawaii’s offense,” Holt said.

“We’ve done that in the past.”

Idaho has been an underdog in each game this season, and Holt believes the team can pull off an upset.

“I think we have a lot of guys that are going to come out. We’re going to go out and get beat, but we’re going to go out and give it our all. We’re going to do the best we can. We’re going to do the best we can.”

Hawaii’s defense has been inconsistent throughout the season, allowing 426 points on the ground, including eight rushing touchdowns.

North Texas' Thomas, nation's leading rusher, out of the running

BY JEFF FURR

WOUNDED WARRIORS

(DT) — A blizzard of young running backs has been imprisoned in the season's early part.

North Texas' Thomas, the nation's leading rusher, was recently ruled out of the running for the NCAA's top ten. The decision was made after the freshman team's third game against Arkansas.

Thomas had gained 1,179 yards in nine games (183.9 avg), including games of over 200 yards in each of the past three games. Thomas, who has three touchdowns, is expected to remain in the lineup for Sunday's game against Arkansas.

COMMENTS

"Thomas is a huge loss for us," said head coach Steve Spurrier. "He's been a huge part of our team's success this season. We'll miss him greatly, but we'll have to find a way to replace him."
