WSU hosts conference on alcohol and violence

Friday, November 19, 1999

The University of Idaho hosted a conference on alcohol and violence on November 19. The conference was called "Evaluating the Impact of Alcohol Abuse on Student Health and Violence Prevention." The conference was sponsored by the Idaho Coalition Against Domestic Violence and the Idaho State University College of Medicine.

Conference Speakers

- Benjamin W. Averitt, a professor of psychology at the University of Idaho, spoke on the relationship between alcohol use and violence.
- Dr. George Betas, a professor of psychiatry at the University of Washington, discussed the role of alcohol in acute mental health disorders.
- Dr. David M. Cote, a professor of sociology at the University of Oregon, presented research on the effects of alcohol on social behavior.
- Dr. Anna V. Ortiz-Rivera, a professor of psychology at the University of California, San Diego, discussed the impact of alcohol on academic achievement and mental health.
- Dr. John H. Ryan, a professor of psychology at the University of Colorado, Boulder, presented research on the impact of alcohol on physical health.

Conference Highlights

- The conference featured a panel discussion on the latest research on alcohol and violence.
- Sessions on alcohol and violence in different cultural contexts were also held.
- A workshop on developing effective interventions for alcohol-related violence was included.

Conference Takeaways

- Alcohol misuse is a significant contributor to violence on college campuses.
- There is a need for more research on the relationship between alcohol use and violence.
- Effective interventions require a multi-faceted approach that addresses both individual and societal factors.

Conference Conclusion

The conference concluded with a call to action for universities to implement evidence-based policies and programs to address alcohol-related violence. The conference organizers emphasized the importance of collaboration between campus officials, law enforcement, and community partners to create a safer campus environment.

Conclusion

The conference on alcohol and violence at the University of Idaho was a valuable opportunity to raise awareness about the serious issues related to alcohol misuse and violence on college campuses. The conference highlighted the need for continued research and effective interventions to address these complex issues.

A plea for real professors

By Kani Miller
University of Idaho Argonaut

Freshmen are sick of being treated like second-class citizens and don’t want to get the first week of college over with and be done with it. But we also need to put up with the university’s joke of an overworked “Counselor of Nazism.” None of our false doubts of Jan Tae’s know what they are teaching and are doing.
This whole city stays thing mainly freshmen in junior high. This also extends to the feeling of control and intimidation experience made many freshmen be having trouble.

FRESHMAN ARE HAVING TROUBLE

You see the problem behind all this that is this far more than not having shared problems but the feeling of not being wanted out and is not even out. More than making up for the real work it all got happening in a strange and intense form of anxiety, many doubts bombarding, for many months equal 14.5. Going to college, one tends to think that it will be the better, but facts lead to even more mystery in the surrounding people, and because their own personal beliefs are so many others issues; wondering around scaring away the love, learning and experience all over campus. This, while it sounds a little off-easy, is actually quite appealing considering the affair. A great way to express your idea

The technique used by Scott J. Mahurin to depict his idea of love is a great way to express your idea. His argument is very convincing. He uses pictures of people in the street and tells the audience that love is not just something that happens randomly. He also uses his own personal experiences to support his argument. It is a very effective way to get across his idea and seems to be well received by most people.

Idaho one win away from Big West crown

By Todd Molehaven
University of Idaho Argonaut

Idaho gave themselves a shot at the Big West Championship this week with an exciting 30-21 win over Sacramento State in Nanook Arena. The Vandals need a win against Oregon State this weekend to end up in a tie atop the conference standings.

Strategy was key for Idaho in this contest. The Vandals kept Things simple, executing on both sides of the ball with great success. The defense held Sac State to just 210 total yards of offense, while the offense scored on 17 of 23 plays. Idaho's defense was led by Donnie Wilson, who had 10 tackles and a fumble recovery.

On offense, Idaho's quarterback, John Kayczak, completed 17 of 23 passes for 202 yards and two touchdowns. Wide receiver Benito Anthony had six catches for 104 yards and a score.

In the first quarter, Idaho moved the ball to the Sac State 10-yard line, but a 13-yard field goal was blocked by a strong Sac State defensive line.

In the second half, Idaho found its rhythm and scored 17 unanswered points. First, wide receiver Trevor Samuels caught a 9-yard touchdown pass from Kayczak. Then, Idaho's defense forced a punt, and the Vandals took over at midfield. Idaho had good field position and scored on a 7-yard touchdown run by running back John Williams.

In the fourth quarter, Idaho extended its lead with touchdown runs of 29 and 37 yards by Williams and a 14-yard touchdown pass to John Williams from Kayczak.

The Vandals will need to win on Saturday to secure the Big West Championship. Idaho is ready and waiting for Oregon State.

Idaho rounds off exhibition games in style

By Matt McGee
University of Idaho Argonaut

The University of Idaho men's football team wrapped up its exhibition season Sunday afternoon at Mackay Stadium with a 20-12 win over Montana State. The game was played in front of a sellout crowd of 24,347 fans.

The Vandals wore black jerseys for the second half, reversing their usual uniform color scheme. Several high school players from the Treasure Valley also saw action in this game.

Idaho's defense dominated Montana State, forcing three turnovers and holding the Bobcats to just 12 points. Idaho's junior quarterback, John McVay, threw for 205 yards and a touchdown, while running back John Williams rushed for 108 yards and two touchdowns.

For Idaho, this victory was a good start to the regular season, which begins next weekend against Montana State in Missoula. The Vandals will need to continue this kind of performance if they hope to compete for a championship.

Winning the ball game was just the first step in Idaho's preparations for the upcoming season. The Vandals will need to work on improving their defense and special teams if they want to have success in the Big Sky Conference.

Idaho's next game will be against Montana State on Saturday, September 13, at 2 p.m. at Mackay Stadium. The Vandals are currently ranked No. 20 in the nation and will be looking to continue their winning streak.

Idaho and Oregon State are both 2-0 in the conference and battle for first place.

Idaho State down Brigham Young

By Ryan Skinner

Idaho State tied the game on a 9-yard touchdown pass from quarterback John Kayczak to wide receiver Benito Anthony with 1:23 left in the fourth quarter.

The Idaho State defense forced a fumble on the final drive, and the Vandal offense took over at midfield. Idaho State quarterback John McVay then connected with tight end Tim Kelly for a 10-yard touchdown pass with 1:16 left in the game to win the game.

Idaho State quarterback John McVay was a big reason for the Vandals' victory. He completed 12 of 20 passes for 141 yards and two touchdowns. McVay also rushed for 61 yards and a touchdown, helping Idaho State build a 20-12 lead.

For Idaho State, the win was a significant one, as they are currently ranked No. 20 in the nation. The Vandals will need to build on this win as they prepare for their next game against Montana State on Saturday, September 13, at 2 p.m. at Mackay Stadium.

Winning the ball game was just the first step in Idaho's preparations for the upcoming season. The Vandals will need to work on improving their defense and special teams if they want to have success in the Big Sky Conference.

Open mic poetry returns to Michael's

Open Mic is a trick and poppin' party that was held at Michael's last Friday. The event was sponsored by Michael's Greek club and Waterman, and it featured some of the area's most talented poets and musicians. The event started with a few hours of open mic time, where anyone could sign up and read their poetry. After that, there were some older cuts from popular movies and songs, along with some original pieces by the poets. The event was a huge success, and everyone had a great time. Overall, it was a great night for poetry and music, and we can't wait for the next one!
