AIDS awareness at UI

By Doris Dalah
University of Idaho Argonaut

Today is the eleventh observation of the World AIDS Day. University of Idaho HIV/AIDS Task Force has declared this day as Health Awareness Week.

Several programs will highlight AIDS Awareness Week. Joyce Clepplow, a Spokane resident who has been a USAID volunteer for 50 years, will again talk at 4 p.m. on Wednesday, December 1st in the Administration Auditorium. She will talk about her personal experience with AIDS in a presentation entitled “Close Enough to Touch.”

Today is also proclaimed “Day Without Art” as AUU Productions commemorates people who have lost their lives to AIDS by covering all artwork in the SUB tomorrow at 6 p.m. in the SUB. A Candle Vigil will be held for those who have been affected by HIV and AIDS through poems, prayers and remembrance.

The launch of the AIDS Quiz Ads is on display at the SUB VandL Lounge. Several documentaries will be shown.

The Task Force has also organized AIDS awareness posters. Red ribbons are the international symbol of AIDS Awareness, and are available throughout the campus. The Task Force encourages everyone to wear red ribbons. The Task Force encourages everyone to wear red ribbons. This is the second year the Task Force has been present since 1984. The programs for AIDS Awareness Week are: Task Force’s first project this year, with all efforts being made in conjunction with other campus groups.

Mary LaFrance, Women’s Student Senator and member of the AIDS Task Force, said the goal of the organization is to provide education and awareness of the issues, including rape and violence programs that present HIV related issues. “We are here [in Moscow] talked into a few areas of society, but we can help people identify the many faces of AIDS.”

The Task Force invites and encourages everyone, staff, faculty, and community members to participate in all events.

Alternative spring break is a chance to do good

By Tom Craig
University of Idaho Argonaut

For students who are looking for something different this spring break, who are sick of the same old thing — going home to their families for the holidays, lazying around in the sun, teaching lessons, or simply getting some much needed rest — there is an opportunity for you to be part of this year’s UI sponsoring a program called Alternative Break.

The Alternative Break is a program in which college or high school students, under faculty supervision, volunteer in Appalachia, Washington, Idaho, and Montana, and working with the homeless in Seattle, Fort Lauderdale, and New York City.

The application and interview process will be taking place in the near future by the Advisory Board. The Board will be selecting 11 students to travel to each of the selected locations, along with a Faculty/Staff Advisor which will constitute a total of 12 volunteers at each location. Students will be selected based on their commitment to self development and community service.

Money will be raised through various volunteer activities and donations. Each student participant is responsible for raising their own portion of the expenses. “We hope the students participate in raising the money without having to ‘pay anything,’ said Allison Loy, one of the coordinators for the Alternative Spring Break.

If raising the exciting times of spring break is the only thing stopping a student from signing up for this opportunity, "stay away from spring break," said Loy. "With students spending 24-36 hours a day for three weeks, we thought it was important to keep the break in their own way. The top will work, work, work, and nothing will change for them. Some people won’t be interested."

Of course there is also that fear of possible penguins in deep snow, and students who aren’t interested.

Students see it as a chance to challenge themselves intellectually, emotionally and socially, and students will be selected based on what they contribute to a social process, even if the contribution is small.

The students must offer no trips on the west coast. Opportunities are being looked into for Seattle, Portland, and various cities in California.

In conjunction with the trip, workshops on related issues will be provided. By the end of the week, students will be able to conclude their trips with a better understanding of the world around them.

Sheikh wins, extended voting doesn’t help turnout

Steve Taflor SPOKESMAN

Muhammad Sheikh defeated Adam Browning for the Associated Students of the University of Idaho presidency in the elections before Thanksgiving break.

In two days of voting, a total of 1,187 eligible voters on the UI campus voted, representing 15 percent of the students. That is five less than voter November’s first-day election.

Sheikh garnered 224 votes, or 50 percent to Browning’s 35 percent. During his campaign, Sheikh said he would work greatly prioritize residential concerns in the Argonaut, and hold frequent forums on off campus. He also said he would investigate a graduate club for UI.

The Associated Students of the University of Idaho (UIAS) is the largest student organization in the state. The task force is a campaign which was designed to educate voters about the candidates and issues.

The three senate candidates who failed to make the cut were Adam Wyant (402), Daniel Noel (367) and Antony Hightower (329). Both Hightower and Noble have run before.

The student government will have the power to put the issue on the ballot for the next election.

Singapore prison voters to fight law

By Stacia Kauanae
Associated Press

SINGAPORE (AP) — Chia Thye Poh spent 22 years in a Singapore prison without ever being charged or tried, enduring solitary confinement in dark cells and strict control of his diet.

Now — just two days after Singapore declared him a complete free man — Chia, 57, is trying to fight the law that caused his suffering.

"What happened to me is not going to disappear, is not going to be forgotten," he said Saturday at an interview at his home in northern Singapore.

This provocative Southeast Asian nation has frequently been criticized for putting accused criminals in solitary confinement for long periods. Rights groups have also condemned long sentences, while others have criticized the government's human rights record.

Chia says he is now a free man for sure, but fighting the law that caused his suffering is a different matter.

"I hope it's going to be a good year with good government and AIDS and different aspects of the government," said Sheikh after his victory. "Hopefully we will be able to show students their AS IDs are going to be good soon.

The six vacant seats were filled by Brooke Williams (with 608 votes), Elizabeth Beckett (511), Dustin Bot (513), Back Samuel (436), B.W. Brandburg (440) and Celine Kanter (404). Williams, who had the most votes, said she ran as a way to become involved. She said he would work to have a student media to fight for the school and the government.

Sheikh will be interviewed for the position of ASUI president first, and then will be interviewed for the position of ASUI vice president with 82 votes. Henry Hetherington is currently council president with 78 votes.

One of the main reasons Sheikh won was not a surprise. She had won the vice president position with 82 votes, and there were no real surprises in the campaign.

His campaign was based on a broad base of support among students.

Singapore prison voters to fight law

By Stacia Kauanae
Associated Press

SINGAPORE (AP) — Chia Thye Poh spent 22 years in a Singapore prison without ever being charged or tried, enduring solitary confinement in dark cells and strict control of his diet.

Now — just two days after Singapore declared him a complete free man — Chia, 57, is trying to fight the law that caused his suffering.

"What happened to me is not going to disappear, is not going to be forgotten," he said Saturday at an interview at his home in northern Singapore.

This provocative Southeast Asian nation has frequently been criticized for putting accused criminals in solitary confinement for long periods. Rights groups have also condemned long sentences, while others have criticized the government's human rights record.

Chia says he is now a free man for sure, but fighting the law that caused his suffering is a different matter.

"I hope it's going to be a good year with good government and AIDS and different aspects of the government," said Sheikh after his victory. "Hopefully we will be able to show students their AS IDs are going to be good soon.

The six vacant seats were filled by Brooke Williams (with 608 votes), Elizabeth Beckett (511), Dustin Bot (513), Back Samuel (436), B.W. Brandburg (440) and Celine Kanter (404). Williams, who had the most votes, said she ran as a way to become involved. She said he would work to have a student media to fight for the school and the government.

Sheikh will be interviewed for the position of ASUI president first, and then will be interviewed for the position of ASUI vice president with 82 votes. Henry Hetherington is currently council president with 78 votes.

One of the main reasons Sheikh won was not a surprise. She had won the vice president position with 82 votes, and there were no real surprises in the campaign.

His campaign was based on a broad base of support among students.
Argonaut
The Students’ Voice
Surviving the University of Idaho
Page 13
Thursday, December 1, 1994

College Member
SOCIETY OF AMERICAN JOURNALISTS
AS Sigma Delta Chi

ANDREW T. WHITE
Editor in Chief Cheney, Wash.
Board of Directors
SEAN M. BROWN
Production Manager

The Idaho Student Union

Call Us
Do you have a comment, question, or news story you'd like to share? You can write to the Editor at:
(208) 885-2219.
Argonaut Fax 885-2222.

DEPARTMENTS Newspaper
ADAM E. H. WILSON
Argonaut Newsroom...........885-7711

Arts & Entertainment
TOMY SNYDER
Editor
Sports
TOMY SNYDER
Editor

Opinion
JEREMY OLIVER RYDEN
Editor
Opinion
885-2219.

Send Letters to the Editor: 301 Argonaut Union Moscow, ID 83844-4271
argonaut@idahostate.edu

Photography
NICK TUCKER
Dark Room.............885-7632

Online
JASON LARSEN
Editor
Online Dept. (509)344-2000

Production Staff
JASON FRANCESON
ASPM BIVOD
NICK HOPKINS
Production Manager

argonaut@idahostate.edu
885-7714

Argonaut Advertising
SAM ALDRICH
Advertising Director
Advertising.............885-7394
Advertising Representatives
GRIF RATHBONE
Advertising Manager
Advertising Sales........885-7854

 Classified Advertising........885-4923
Advertising Production Staff

WAYNE QUEMING
JEFFREY MURPHY
BRENNA LAYTON

Student Media Board
Jennifer Wagner (Ed.), Chair

Recycling
The University of Idaho encourages students to recycle paper products. To aid in the collection of these products, a public waste can is located on the first floor of Argonaut Union. Urging students to recycle is the best way to decrease environmental impact.

Copyright ©1994
The Idaho Student Union

MOScow Extended Weather Forecast
Tuesday
Wednesday Thursday
Friday
MONTY CLOUDY
HIGHT-40°
LOW:30°
LOW:30°
LOW:30°

Shower
Shower
Shower

SEATTLE BARGAIN BUILDERS
250 8th Ave.
Moscow, ID 83843
(208)883-2282

THE ASSOCIATED STUDENTS OF THE UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO
UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO
(208)885-2282

PRODUCTS
The Idaho National Guard offers a $7,416 scholarship for college or Voc-Tech! Plus you may have hundreds of dollars each year when you work with our tuition assistance.

SCHOLARSHIP
1-800-GO-GUARD

The Associated Students of the University of Idaho express their thanks and gratitude to Cellular of Moscow, Idaho for donating the use of cell phones for the recent ASUI elections. Their use ensured smooth running operations.
Thank You!
A WISHING STAR FOUNDATION BENEFIT

GUYs DOllS Wishing Star

Auction December 5, 1998
7:00 p.m. at Eastside Marketplace

Ticket Price: $5.00 a person available at Eastside Marketplace in the mall office, Pasta Etc. and at the door

Proceeds to benefit Wishing Star Foundation which grants wishes to children with life threatening diseases.

Large Selection of Art & Architecture Supplies

20-40% off

Shop early for best Selection

Includes:

* Rives Fine Art Paper
* Templates
* Acrylic Textures * More Plus

For More Information Call: 885-6469
or ubbooks@uidaho.edu

Sale items are limited to the stock on hand, don't delay!
The presentment English philosopher John Locke could be best remembers for the elec-tional 1681 Second Treatise of Government. His arguments also proved to have powerful predictive talents as well: concerning the right of revolution, he noted that "turbulent spirits . . . may stir when they please, but it will only be to their own just ruin and pre diction." Today, many modern scholars in politics continue to interpret the document as a proeminent work on the philosophy of political theory.

The United States of America has no written constitution the way other countries do. It has the Declaration of Independence, the Articles of Confederation, and the Constitution of the United States. The Constitution is the supreme law of the land and the only source of the national government's authority. It is divided into seven articles, each dealing with a specific aspect of government.

The Constitution provides for a bicameral legislature composed of a House of Representatives and a Senate. The House has 435 members, while the Senate has 100 members.

The Constitution also establishes a federal judiciary system with the Supreme Court as the top court. The Court consists of the Chief Justice and eight associate justices.

The Constitution
protects individual freedoms through the Bill of Rights, which include freedoms of speech, press, religion, and others.

The Constitution is the foundation for our democracy, and it is a reflection of the values and ideals of the nation.

Defense

The United States
Armed Forces are responsible for providing security and protection for the United States.
They are made up of the Army, Navy, Air Force, and Marines.

The Army

The Army is the largest branch of the military and is responsible for land-based operations.

The Navy

The Navy is responsible for seas-based operations.

The Air Force

The Air Force is responsible for air-based operations.

The Marines

The Marines are a unique branch of the military that specializes in seaborne operations.

The Constitution
is a living document that can be amended to reflect the needs of the nation.

The Constitution
is the primary source of law in the United States
and is the basis for the legal system.

The Constitution is a symbol of freedom and equality for all people.

The Constitution is a guide for the future of the United States.

The Constitution is a powerful force for change and progress.

The Constitution is a reminder that we are a nation of freedom.

The Constitution
is a testament to the values
and ideals
of our nation.

The Constitution
is a source of strength and pride for
the United States.

The Constitution
is a symbol of our commitment to democracy.

The Constitution
is a reflection of our nation's diversity.

The Constitution
is a reminder
that we are a nation of freedom.

The Constitution
is a testament
to the values
and ideals
of our nation.

The Constitution
is a source of strength and pride for
the United States.

The Constitution
is a symbol of our commitment
to democracy.

The Constitution
is a reflection of our nation's diversity.

The Constitution
is a reminder
that we are a nation of freedom.

The Constitution
is a testament
to the values
and ideals
of our nation.

The Constitution
is a source of strength and pride for
the United States.

The Constitution
is a symbol of our commitment
to democracy.

The Constitution
is a reflection of our nation's diversity.

The Constitution
is a reminder
that we are a nation of freedom.

The Constitution
is a testament
to the values
and ideals
of our nation.

The Constitution
is a source of strength and pride for
the United States.

The Constitution
is a symbol of our commitment
to democracy.

The Constitution
is a reflection of our nation's diversity.

The Constitution
is a reminder
that we are a nation of freedom.

The Constitution
is a testament
to the values
and ideals
of our nation.
By Todd Mondschein
University of Idaho Argonaut

Idaho is preparing for its first ever bowl game after achieving the Big West title with a 9-2-1 mark and bowl Bowl State. The Vandals will travel to Boise State's Bronco Stadium Dec. 30 to play Southern Mississippi, Texas, Conference USA.

In a game that left fans shocked, bewildered and emotionally drained, Idaho came out on top with a gamble that paid off. After a defensive struggle in the first half, the two teams traded the scoreboard in the second. Neither team could score more than 7 points in the second half. After a scoreless first half, the Vandals scored 17 points in the second half, including a 71-yard touchdown run by Fred Stutz. The Vandals piled up 370 yards of offense to win 17-0. Idaho's defense recorded 10 sacks, 9 tackles for loss and 6 forced fumbles.

The Vandals were able to overcome the distractions and Thomas said their teamwork has been a trademark all year.

"I'm just happy, I had an opportunity to be a part of this team. These guys are amazing, there's not one range of skill in any of these guys," Thomas said.

After being picked in the second round in December by some teams, Idaho's defense, led by senior center Fred Stutz, earned a spot in the Boise Bowl. Turney said he didn't really expect this team to win a championship, but he always believed in his players.

"We had high hopes, but I don't know if we really had high expectations when the season started. We felt like if everything worked out, it could happen, and then when we beat San Jose State, that's when things started to really take off," Thomas said.

The Vandals will face the defending champion in the season opener in the Boise Bowl. Turney said he was excited for this opportunity.

"I'm coming out of my first bowl game. I've had a learning year and we've learned from this game and that's exactly what it is," Thomas said.

Idaho will bring a balanced offense and a strong defense to the Boise Bowl. The team has a strong running game and a solid offensive line. The defense is led by senior linebacker Travis Johnson, who was named the Mountain West Conference Defensive Player of the Year.

The Vandals will face a tough challenge in the Boise Bowl, but they are confident in their ability to come out on top. The team has a strong defense and a balanced offense that will be tough to contain. The Vandals will look to capitalize on their strengths and take advantage of any weaknesses in the Boise Bowl defense.

Idaho's win over the Broncos sealed its spot in the Humanitarian Bowl, the first bowl game in the history of UI. Idaho will face off against Southern Mississippi Dec. 30 in Boise State's home arena for a national television audience.

Contributed photos from a friend.

UI women lose in tourney

Alli Niemiec finishes with 36 total points in Colorado

By Matt McGee
University of Idaho Argonaut

The University of Idaho's Women's basketball team played in the University of Colorado Tournament Nov 25-27. The school's tournament was held at the University of Colorado, Miami University, and Colorado State University.

UI played Colorado in the first game of the tournament and lost 77-66. Junior forward Alli Niemiec was the game's high scorer with 20 points, going 8-17 from the floor. Niemiec also had 12 rebounds.

Junior guard Sophia Brown was the only player besides Niemiec to score in double digits. She scored 17 points while shooting 17-17 from the floor. UI only scored 17 points in the second half while shooting 14-4 from the floor.

UC's center Kari Carnes scored 21 points in 36 minutes to lead the Buffaloes. The Vandals scored 17 points in the second half scoring 46 points. In the second game of the tournament, UI played George Mason University and lost 60-70.

The Vandals were once again led by both on points and rebounds. Niemiec scored 26 points and 13 rebounds in the loss. Senior guard Sophia Brown scored 26 points and 13 rebounds in the loss.

Four players from GMU scored in double digits with John Horden leading with 13 points. Sophomore Chrissy Todd had a double-double with 10 points and 10 rebounds.

After falling to a slow first half with 13 points off UI's 17-17 shooting percentage, UI's 13-17 shooting percentage and 17-17 shooting percentage with 15 points in the second half, UI's 13-17 shooting percentage and 17-17 shooting percentage with 17 points in the second half, UI's 13-17 shooting percentage and 17-17 shooting percentage with 17 points in the second half.
The preeminent English philosopher John Locke was best remembered for his arguments regarding the nature of property, with which he defended the individual's right to "property," with Locke asserting that the "natural" right to this "property" is acquired by the "labours of his body or strength."

I, too, have had the opportunity to read many of Locke's works, and I must admit that they are quite interesting. However, I do not think that Locke's arguments regarding the nature of property are valid. In my opinion, Locke's arguments are based on a misunderstanding of the nature of property and the role of government.

In Locke's view, property is a natural right that is acquired by the "labour" of an individual. This means that anyone who has worked on a piece of land has a "right" to that land, regardless of whether or not they actually own the land. However, this is not the case. In reality, property is a social construct that is created and maintained by the government.

The government, through its laws and regulations, determines who has the right to use a piece of land and what restrictions are placed on that use. This is why property rights are not "natural," but rather are created by the government.

In conclusion, I do not believe that Locke's arguments regarding the nature of property are valid. In my opinion, property is a social construct that is created and maintained by the government. It is not a "natural" right that is acquired by the "labour" of an individual.

The first step to understanding Locke's arguments regarding the nature of property is to recognize that property is a social construct. Only then can we begin to see the flaws in Locke's arguments and understand why they are not valid.
Bowl Bound: Vandals win thriller in Boise

By Todd Nordstrom
University of Idaho Aggie

Idaho is preparing for its first bowl game after claiming the Big West title with a 7-4 win over UC Davis last Saturday. The team will return to Bronco Stadium Dec. 31 to play Southern Mississippi, as of Conference USA.

In a game that fell fast, conducted, bewildered and occasionally dazed, Idaho came out on top with a gamble that paid off. After a defense struggle in the first half, the two teams fell to the scoreboard in the second. Neither team could bring on the momentum and, though Idaho was up at times, neither could it put anything on the field. For the second game in a row, the Vandals and Broncos would end up tied after 60 minutes. Boise State's front four checked out the Idaho offense with a tremendous effort, piling up 354 yards rushing. Idaho's Joel Thomas held his own, with 121 yards and big plays late in the game. Thomas scored the final 8 points for the Vandals.

The call is 2 percent of it, the execution is 95 percent and it's poetic justice that Joel Thomas would be the guy to get it in at the end.

- Chris Tormey
Idaho Head Coach

Vandals in overtime, finally getting around the corner on a 1-yard, fumble recovering a screen pass and getting across the goal line for the 3-point conversion and the win.

Coach Chris Tormey said the decision to go for two was tough, but the team has too much on the line.

After they took the timeout, I thought it was the only way to go. It's a really good play and it almost always works. The call is a percent of it and the execution is 95 percent and it would be the guy to go to it in at the end. Thomas said.

Thomas was named Big West Offensive Player of the Year, sharing the award with New Mexico State's Devante Smith and New Mexico State's Gerri Nason. Offensive linemen Rick Deterding and Tyler Skinor were named to the all-Big West first team.

The Vandals relied on veterans like Thomas for their steady play, while manyishments learned to step up in the second half. Quarterback John Welsh had an outstanding fourth quarter, backing up with sophomore Willie Alliston on signal-big plays. Alliston had 6 catches for 97 yards and touchdowns.

Fullback Ethan Jones and Joel Thomas were both outstanding. Jones scored two of Idaho's final 12 points and walked into the record books.

Mike Schrader/Boise State was named Big West Offensive Player of the Year, sharing the award with New Mexico State's Devante Smith and New Mexico State's Gerri Nason. Offensive linemen Rick Deterding and Tyler Skinor were named to the all-Big West first team.

The Vandals relied on veterans like Thomas for their steady play, while manyishments learned to step up the second half. Quarterback John Welsh had an outstanding fourth quarter, backing up with sophomore Willie Alliston on signal-big plays. Alliston had 6 catches for 97 yards and touchdowns.

Fullback Ethan Jones and Joel Thomas were both outstanding. Jones scored two of Idaho's final 12 points and walked into the record books.

Mike Schrader/Boise State was named Big West Offensive Player of the Year, sharing the award with New Mexico State's Devante Smith and New Mexico State's Gerri Nason. Offensive linemen Rick Deterding and Tyler Skinor were named to the all-Big West first team.

The Vandals relied on veterans like Thomas for their steady play, while manyishments learned to step up the second half. Quarterback John Welsh had an outstanding fourth quarter, backing up with sophomore Willie Alliston on signal-big plays. Alliston had 6 catches for 97 yards and touchdowns.

Fullback Ethan Jones and Joel Thomas were both outstanding. Jones scored two of Idaho's final 12 points and walked into the record books.

Mike Schrader/Boise State was named Big West Offensive Player of the Year, sharing the award with New Mexico State's Devante Smith and New Mexico State's Gerri Nason. Offensive linemen Rick Deterding and Tyler Skinor were named to the all-Big West first team.

The Vandals relied on veterans like Thomas for their steady play, while manyishments learned to step up the second half. Quarterback John Welsh had an outstanding fourth quarter, backing up with sophomore Willie Alliston on signal-big plays. Alliston had 6 catches for 97 yards and touchdowns.

Fullback Ethan Jones and Joel Thomas were both outstanding. Jones scored two of Idaho's final 12 points and walked into the record books.

Mike Schrader/Boise State was named Big West Offensive Player of the Year, sharing the award with New Mexico State's Devante Smith and New Mexico State's Gerri Nason. Offensive linemen Rick Deterding and Tyler Skinor were named to the all-Big West first team.

The Vandals relied on veterans like Thomas for their steady play, while manyishments learned to step up the second half. Quarterback John Welsh had an outstanding fourth quarter, backing up with sophomore Willie Alliston on signal-big plays. Alliston had 6 catches for 97 yards and touchdowns.

Fullback Ethan Jones and Joel Thomas were both outstanding. Jones scored two of Idaho's final 12 points and walked into the record books.

Mike Schrader/Boise State was named Big West Offensive Player of the Year, sharing the award with New Mexico State's Devante Smith and New Mexico State's Gerri Nason. Offensive linemen Rick Deterding and Tyler Skinor were named to the all-Big West first team.

The Vandals relied on veterans like Thomas for their steady play, while manyishments learned to step up the second half. Quarterback John Welsh had an outstanding fourth quarter, backing up with sophomore Willie Alliston on signal-big plays. Alliston had 6 catches for 97 yards and touchdowns.

Fullback Ethan Jones and Joel Thomas were both outstanding. Jones scored two of Idaho's final 12 points and walked into the record books.

Mike Schrader/Boise State was named Big West Offensive Player of the Year, sharing the award with New Mexico State's Devante Smith and New Mexico State's Gerri Nason. Offensive linemen Rick Deterding and Tyler Skinor were named to the all-Big West first team.

The Vandals relied on veterans like Thomas for their steady play, while manyishments learned to step up the second half. Quarterback John Welsh had an outstanding fourth quarter, backing up with sophomore Willie Alliston on signal-big plays. Alliston had 6 catches for 97 yards and touchdowns.

Fullback Ethan Jones and Joel Thomas were both outstanding. Jones scored two of Idaho's final 12 points and walked into the record books.

Mike Schrader/Boise State was named Big West Offensive Player of the Year, sharing the award with New Mexico State's Devante Smith and New Mexico State's Gerri Nason. Offensive linemen Rick Deterding and Tyler Skinor were named to the all-Big West first team.

The Vandals relied on veterans like Thomas for their steady play, while manyishments learned to step up the second half. Quarterback John Welsh had an outstanding fourth quarter, backing up with sophomore Willie Alliston on signal-big plays. Alliston had 6 catches for 97 yards and touchdowns.

Fullback Ethan Jones and Joel Thomas were both outstanding. Jones scored two of Idaho's final 12 points and walked into the record books.

Mike Schrader/Boise State was named Big West Offensive Player of the Year, sharing the award with New Mexico State's Devante Smith and New Mexico State's Gerri Nason. Offensive linemen Rick Deterding and Tyler Skinor were named to the all-Big West first team.

The Vandals relied on veterans like Thomas for their steady play, while manyishments learned to step up the second half. Quarterback John Welsh had an outstanding fourth quarter, backing up with sophomore Willie Alliston on signal-big plays. Alliston had 6 catches for 97 yards and touchdowns.

Fullback Ethan Jones and Joel Thomas were both outstanding. Jones scored two of Idaho's final 12 points and walked into the record books.

Mike Schrader/Boise State was named Big West Offensive Player of the Year, sharing the award with New Mexico State's Devante Smith and New Mexico State's Gerri Nason. Offensive linemen Rick Deterding and Tyler Skinor were named to the all-Big West first team.

The Vandals relied on veterans like Thomas for their steady play, while manyishments learned to step up the second half. Quarterback John Welsh had an outstanding fourth quarter, backing up with sophomore Willie Alliston on signal-big plays. Alliston had 6 catches for 97 yards and touchdowns.

Fullback Ethan Jones and Joel Thomas were both outstanding. Jones scored two of Idaho's final 12 points and walked into the record books.

Mike Schrader/Boise State was named Big West Offensive Player of the Year, sharing the award with New Mexico State's Devante Smith and New Mexico State's Gerri Nason. Offensive linemen Rick Deterding and Tyler Skinor were named to the all-Big West first team.

The Vandals relied on veterans like Thomas for their steady play, while manyishments learned to step up the second half. Quarterback John Welsh had an outstanding fourth quarter, backing up with sophomore Willie Alliston on signal-big plays. Alliston had 6 catches for 97 yards and touchdowns.
Falling mountains create jumps that are both daunting and delightful, as if you might actually be out there somewhere. This is the game that Bob Carpenter has created, and he's taken his time to make sure that it's both exciting and realistic. The controls are simple, yet intuitive, and the graphics are outstanding. But the best part of the game is the story, which is a combination of adventure and action. The story follows a young man named Luke, who has been chosen to compete in a snowboarding tournament. Along the way, he meets a variety of characters, each with their own unique abilities. The game is not only entertaining, but it also teaches some valuable lessons about perseverance and determination.

The graphics are simply amazing. The mountains are beautifully rendered, and the snowboarding action is smooth and realistic. The music is also great, with an excellent selection of tunes that match the mood of each level. Overall, this is a game that is worth playing again and again. It's a must-have for any snowboarding fan, and it's sure to delight even those who have never tried the sport before.

This game is definitely worth the time and effort that was put into its development. It's a true masterpiece, and I highly recommend it to anyone who enjoys snowboarding or just wants a fun and challenging game to play.
...