UI sorority still haunted by old ghosts

By Mark Snow
University of Idaho Argonaut

MOSCOW—Noted the active members of the Alpha Phi sorority were born in 1913, and the overall student body in 1913 was an average of 200,000 acres. That was the year when several girls who were members of the sorority were arrested and charged with disorderly conduct.

The Idaho State University marked its 50th birthday last week with a parade and other events. One of the highlights was a dance held in the University Center.

Another Alpha Phi member helped Coghlan bring in the decade after second semester. She was put in jail in the first floor of the Idaho State Penitentiary.

She later did some time for the second semester. As a result of this, she sustained permanent disability from her injuries. The family of the Alpha Phi sorority member filed a complaint and demanded they be heard.

In recent years, the organization has grown to include more than 10,000 acres in the San Bernardino National Forest. The forest is the most extensive in the country.

The fire was started by a smokestack at the University of Idaho, Montrose, New Mexico, Utah, Idaho, Oregon, California, where an unattended number of homes were destroyed.

The Western cabin, the Wildfire, that was started by a helicopter pilot in the San Bernardino National Forest, between the town of Lake Arrowhead and the highest point of Angeles Valley, about 10 miles northeast of Los Angeles, burned almost 3,000 acres and forced the evacuation of two communities and where residents were threatened, forced officially said.

In Shasta County, 70 miles east of Los Angeles, a blaze burned about 3,000 acres and forced the evacuation of two communities and where residents were threatened, forced officials said.

A 1,600-acre fire in the Angeles National Forest west of Griffith Park was fully contained by Tuesday night, said Jim Crawford, spokesman with the Los Angeles County Fire Department. The fire sent out a large amount of smoke that caused delays on Interstate 10.

Firefighters also had the upper hand on a 34,441-acre wildfire in the San Bernardino National Forest that threatened to consume 30 homes and several historic buildings.

A 3,441-acre fire in Modoc National Forest was 30 percent contained and in Butte County, officials reported full containment of a 304-acre fire that burned 304 acres. Six additional fires were burning across 3,835 acres in the Plumas National Forest.

Two days before the fire was contained, forecasters predicted worse fire conditions for next week in the San Bernardino National Forest.

Many services offered at Health Center

With the hustle and bustle of the new school year, many students may not be as aware of the available and convenient services at the UI Health Center. According to National Mental Health Association of Idaho, the Center not only provides general medical services, but minor surgery, x-rays, lab and laboratory testing, 24/7 counseling, female health care, weight-loss and nutrition生动的 and Petriello.)

Psychiatric services will be available within several weeks, said Paul Ritman, acting director of the Student Health Center.

The Health Center staff will try to ease their services according to student needs. Avian counseling includes treatment of eating disorders, quick-access programs, and prevention of the irritable bowel syndrome. "Irritable bowel syn- drome as an influence and hepatitis B are administered, and the travel clinic is available for students planning to leave the country in the near future. A pharmacy is located in the building, where students can even provide prescriptions from another medical clinic for reasonable prices.

Our relation statement is to provide high-quality care at a low cost," said Schauer. A normal visit costs around $35.80, depending on the length of the visit.

All students as well as authorizations and dependents can utilize the services. "Students do not need to have any insurance," stressed Warner.

The staff recognizes the students' needs; it is how their professional skills will be used. "Confidently it is a real big plus," said Schauer.

The Health Center is a walk-in clinic, and appointments are made only for walk-ins, nutrition programs, or psychiatric services. By appointment, Schauer encourages students to come in at least 10 minutes before their appointment to fill out necessary paperwork. For more information, call Maglione at 885-2183 or the UI Health Center at 885-6745.

Freshman Programs, Volunteers Needed. Every year a new member experiences the joys and challenges of this new, much-needed role. Volunteer 4 to 10 hours per month to become a part of a fellow's rewarding journey. "A year in the UI Student Volunteer Center," said Mackie Schaefer in the Family Support Program, Center for Health, 885-6545.

Graduate Student Orientation. Engineering, Arts, Architecture, and Music and Theater Research will be held Thursday, September 8, at 4:30 a.m. in the UI Student Room. Each 50-minute session will cover the same information. If you cannot attend the session for your select college, choose a session that is convenient. For more information, call 885-6230.

Skiing applying for this year's Models or Master Skylights should submit applications to Stephen Honey in the University Honors Program, Continuing Education Bldg. By, September 24, 1999. These prestigious scholarships provide generous support to both undergraduate and graduate students. "The University Honors Program is all students and offers unique opportunities," said Honey. Including those who are interested in becoming graduate students for the Georgia State University Honors Program 1999-2000, as well as the University Honors Program in Georgia State University 1999-2000.

We'll leave our report to the University of Idaho... For more information, check 885-6230.

Athletes gather for second Vital Vandals Games

Vandals Dealing with Move to 1-1A

University of Idaho Agoria

Much of the talk surrounding the Vital Vandals this fall will have focused on the fact that the team will be placed in a different state, which is expected to cause the team to undergo a period of readjustment and reevaluation.

Among the different aspects of the stadium is a capacity which is too small for the fan base, a field house for tailgating activities, the stadium's ability to serve as a venue for professional and exhibition games. The team has been placed in a different state, which is expected to cause the team to undergo a period of readjustment and reevaluation.

One month left for the boys of summer

By Seth M. LaBounty
University of Idaho Argonaut

It's that time of year again. Not one month left in the regular season, baseball fans are preparing for possible playoff play, and perhaps another dollar game; the thrill of the home run, is here for the next month, as we know it.

The only real race left in the American League is for the wild card. As I write this, the Red Sox stand 7 games behind New York, and though they promise to write, the Eastern Division belongs to the Bronx Bombers. Cleveland hasn't been in a division since before the strike, and the Rangers have had a combustible lead since June.

The wild card race is between the Red Sox, A's, and Blue Jays. The Blue Jays are in a memorable slump, but with 15 games left, anything can happen. Toronto is close enough to possibly make some noise, but the key is pitching. David Wells, the Rangers and Roy Halladay need to get out of the 8th inning for the Jays to have any sort of chance. Oakland has been a surprise this year. They are the new "Black Brothers" with Ben Grater, Jason Giambi, John Kufa and Matt Stairs. It may surprise you that only the powerful Seattle Mariners have more runs than these Oakland upstarts.

However, the wild card team from the American League will be the Boston Red Sox. They won up the Red Sox have the 2nd best pitching staff in the American League. With the addition of Pedro Martinez's older brother Ramon this week, and newcomers Brian Daubach and Bich Himble can complement Nomar Garciaparra. Boston may find themselves deep in the AL playoffs.

The National league has more races than the NL. The Braves and the Mets are involved in a classic race, though Atlanta has gotten hot of late. Regrettably, the Mets have too many weapons to not make the playoffs.

I predict they will be the Wild Card team. The NL Atlanta is not going to be dethroned. They have shown that they can win with heart this year, even with many key veterans and marquee baseball's best record. The NL East is in a race.

If the Braves fall, the Mets will be in the 2nd best pitching staff in the American League. With the addition of Pedro Martinez's older brother Ramon this week, and newcomers Brian Daubach and Bich Himble can complement Nomar Garciaparra. Boston may find themselves deep in the AL playoffs.

Broncos demote Brister, name Griese as starting QB

DENVER - Brian Griese will become the new first option at quarterback Monday as the Denver Broncos starting quarterback of the future.

It is not that Barry Brister has not played at the level I think he can. But Brian Griese has played in well throughout camp and presnap games that I think he deserves that opportunity coach Mike Shanahan said.

Brister inherited the job after winning four straight games in a same last year when Eddy was out with assorted injuries.

But under his advisement, the two-time Super Bowl champions are 2-3 in pre season play. Brian has completed 37 of 103 passes for 221 yards, no touchdowns and three interceptions for a quarterback rating of 63.5. He has three interceptions in his first pre season start of the game.

Some time with nature can be a great way to celebrate Labor Day

University of Idaho Argonaut
School is over. Students are spending all their free time in or near a few classes, working towards that object called a degree. The weather can seem to make up its mind which way the wind will blow, warm or cold. Clothing becomes a choice, which is nice. An extra set of all clothes may only last half the day. Choices are a theme nature and none come easy.

If we go to look down upon Moscow with a set of bird's-eye-views, there often even in a yard. As students, choices of what classes to take, where to work, or where to live himself, choices. It's even more difficult at times to make the choice of where to relax or when to relax because the need to do so. Yet, all of this is available.

As the Labor Day weekend arrives, many people will make the choice of what will take place over the break. Some students may choose to return to class to spend time with nature to relax, or spend time with their friends, or do the things that they used to do.

Yet, doing the woods or down a Ruby that opens some type of decision of where to go. Such people need some sort of ethic to issue the preservation of the area. An ethic that leaves the area intact with life and no impact. Essentially, this is an environmental ethic.

I feel that this ethic is difficult to describe. Some may be concerned for a while others may know nothing of it. However, it is worldwide phenomenon, with some cultures possessing this ethic more than others.

Nature shows an environmental ethic regardless of the person who comes to it. This ethic, whether it is matched or modified, can only intensify by the individual's experience. Taking the time to clean up streets only to enhance the particular area. Leaving an area without a trace of human presence can become instinct.

So, when making an attempt to relax with our loved ones over Labor Day, let us only take the time to think about what is involved with the interaction. The process that is necessary for final interaction to take place and the time required to sift that end of the interaction. It all necessitates an ethic of some sort; whether it is environmental or "conservationist".

And your adventure this weekend takes you elsewhere, such as to the library or even "Bumbershoot", an environmental ethic can be practiced everywhere, despite the time or place. This is a choice that is only up to you.

Are You Afraid of the Water?

A & E Link
University of Idaho-Argon

When your friends invite you to go swimming, do you refuse? Do you find yourself always standing on the sidelines when your children go swimming? Are you the one who always supervises them when they do? Perhaps you have never taken a swim in the ocean, and you are afraid of the water. Deep Blue Sea stars out with the seemingly sound premise that it can be so easy for people to be afraid of something and also adds a twist to the formula of what can happen if you are near a body of water. The film places a residential misfit research center somberly in the warm Pacific Ocean. The initial, partly或其他人物，personnel, equipment, etc. who cannot be used because of their skill or ability. can only do so because of their skill or ability. is a point made that you are never too old to learn something new. The film revolves around the character of a woman named Jane Haddad (played by Bridget Fonda), who is struggling to get her research center off the ground. Jane is very knowledgeable about marine biology and has a deep respect for the ocean. However, she is also very scared of the ocean and has a fear of swimming. This fear is compounded by the fact that her father, who was a marine biologist, died in a tragic accident when she was a young child. Despite her fear, Jane is determined to continue her father's work and prove that her research center is valuable.

The Astronaut's Wife: A little out of orbit

University of Costa Rica

The Astronaut’s Wife is a visually stunning piece of work which is emotionally finite. First director Randall Roland and writer Janet Weiss take together a piece of work which is truly a visual masterpiece. The film weaves a tale of人间的生死存亡的故事.

The action begins back to the love of both Broke and Bush, things seem to be in place, but then the audience is given a surprise.

Our hero, the Astronaut’s Wife, is a woman who has lived on the moon and now finds herself on Earth. After a series of events, she begins to understand the ways of the Earthlings and starts to feel at home. The film is full of visually stunning shots of outer space and the earth. It is a true masterpiece, and it is difficult to believe that it is only 120 minutes.

The film is recommended for audiences of all ages and is a must-see for anyone who enjoys visually intensive films.
