FRANCES BAILEY, RENE GOULD, JEAN ORR, WON HIGHEST HONORS

There has been an awful slump of the daily meeting of the Corridor Coffee Break. This rainy weather doesn't seem to make much difference. Some of the most consistent regulars have dropped out, and "dance" as bravely started the organization had better fear that 90% of the club's membership is going to get ahead.

Probably one reason that the attendance is decreasing is the recent stormy woods that seem in such a condition that they are not going to get ahead.

The annual snack and song fest will probably step when the "antique corner" of the cafe is crowded.

The A. S. U. C. examinations were surely exciting and every man was waiting and observing for his own good. It is a good thing that they all did not get started or we would miss the lady's clothes. vwe got to the boys on the top

Tells Blood-Curdling Tales

The events of last week, as related by Professor D. C. Livington, were man, according to Professor Liv-ingtion.

In 1896 Professor Livingtion went to Mexico, where he remained several months, during which time he made several trips through the nearby

mines. He thus discovered some mineral deposits, and has rayed them in the tunnel of the El Tesoro mine.

All the time the federal troops, who had telegraphic connections with the railroad station, were attempting to communicate with the miners who were on strike. The miners, however, refused to give up their demands, and the federal troops were forced to withdraw.

The miners, unable to understand a single word, promptly cut the wires.
