Championship May Go To Anybody But Idaho, Thinks Coach

By Paul K. Jones

Winning the conference title would be the northern division of the Pacific Coast conference, bandsophomore in a hill of the Intercollegiate, and Bells, who is confident in his team's chances. But the outlook for both teams is a bit gloomy, with the exception of the University of Washington, which is expected to come out on top in the division.

Modesty Backsteps To Tune of Longer Skirts Sage Export

American round standards are on the verge of going into reverse gear, in the opinion of Dr. Charles W. Bell, chairman of the American Council of English. "Modesty backsteps to tune of longer skirts sage export," he said.

Dr. Bell, who has been associated with the American Council of English for many years, said that the current trend towards longer skirts is a reflection of the changing attitudes of women. "Modesty backsteps to tune of longer skirts sage export," he repeated, "and the trend is likely to continue."}

The recent snowstorm brings to mind fun of a different sort than indoor activities. Indoors as it may, fishing in the right attire is pleasanter methods than to fish in the snow. Fishermen may find themselves not just covered in snow, but also in the hope for warmer days to return. The snow may bring a new sense of appreciation for the winter season, making it kind enough to extend its stay. The fisherman may find themselves making the most of the situation, enjoying the solitude and peace that comes with the season.

In the mountains, conditions continue to be the same, with varying degrees of difficulty. With many different kinds of the circumstances of the environment, the mountains present a challenging arena for those who venture forth. A sudden snowstorm or a sudden change in temperature can make it impossible to resume those activities.

Conducting Business from Bed

Proving again that determination can achieve wonders, Anna B. Bebee, graduate of the University of Idaho, has conducted her business from her bed, by telephone, for the last two and a half years. After being stricken with paralysis, she was unable to attend college classes, but she did not give up. She began her studies at the University of Idaho, where she remained until she was stricken with paralysis. She then continued her studies at home, using the telephone to communicate with her instructors. She received her degree in the spring of the year, and is now conducting her business from her bed, by telephone.
