MADES MEN SURPRISE WINS ONES AND REGISTER YEAR'S FIRST VICTORY

Dingle Intercepts Pass and Secures for Touchdown—Gonzaga Unplayed

Coach Rodgmaner's doughty men showed the stuff they have been holding back all season Saturday and passed out a heart-warming, dope-splitting triumph to Gonzaga's fighting Irish eleven in a battle staged at Spokane.

The final score being 42-12, Idaho's score came in the second game when Coyle's men attempted a pass in the middle of the field. Dingle and Hayes were on top of Pike, Gonzaga half, before he had the ball in his hands and in trying to get rid of it he stumbled against J. T.'s broad pines which some broad pines barred it into Dingle's waiting arms and the crack right and smacked up the chalk smith for a 50-yard run and a touchdown. The try for goal was failed but the winning margin was hung up and Pike's drop kick in the same period failed to prove of much assistance to the Gonzaga batting.

The Spokane-Review summarizes, Gonzaga was outplayed from whistle to whistle. Idaho made twice as many yardages as did Coyle's nine, she made twice as many first downs and was equally superior in the other departments, punishing possibly excortated. Gonzaga was unable to win consistently at any time and with a little better breaks in the kick today's wayward would have run up a real score.

Saturday's Idaho team was by no means the same aggregation that opposed W. S. C. two weeks ago. The light and drive was very much there and all the cripples are in shape. And a crack at Whittan another game will go aliding into the trophy shelf.

Glee Club May Make Trip South

DEPENS UPON PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO CONSTITUTION

Proposed Amendment Creates Large Amount of Discussion—Athletes Strongly Oppose.

Among the alterations and adjustments that the constitution and by-laws of the A. S. U. I. has undergone to accommodate new ideas and changed conditions, perhaps there is no one which created such a general discussion and amount of interest as the newly proposed amendment in regard to the Glee Club funds. Mr. Storer and the members of his vocal music organization have instigated a movement whereby they hope to procure sufficient funds to insure a successful trip to Southern Idaho. The proposed amendment calls for a certain per cent (about ten) of the total funds accruing from the A. S. U. I. registration fee of five dollars per semester.

Probably this ten per cent will be distributed impartially among the departments which already secure financial assistance from Student Body funds; that is, of course, providing the proposal receives the necessary twofold.

When interviewed last Thursday in regard to the matter, Mr. Storer said that the Glee Club needed the money for an initial impulse, and unless funds were forthcoming from somewhere the proposed trip to Southern Idaho would have to be abandoned. And it is quite important that Idaho needs something of this character to Southern Idaho. Oregon has already entered that field and it is only a too well known fact that every year Idaho loses students from that section. Mr. Storer emphasized the good work a first class glee club is capable of doing for the University. He said that a glee club concert last at least three distinct effects: first, it advertises the University and will attract more students than any other attraction Idaho students can devise; second, it carries that same spirit to every part of the state, and lastly it crystallizes the alumni attitude.

Mr. Storer is planning, in addition to the proposed Southern Idaho trip, two other trips, one to Northern Idaho, where an Idaho Glee Club will always be welcome, and a trip to Lewiston and the other towns of that district. Since these trips have already been made at least once, a complete new concert must be worked up for the program at these places and at present the Glee Club is actively engaged on two complete programs.

There is no question but that the Glee Club deserves student financial support. It is usually a student organization and, better than that, an organization whose quality is something of which to be proud. From a small student body, where real singing talent is not plentiful, Mr. Storer has patiently worked for years to build up a musical organization which covered the field last year where W. S. U. Glee Club had last presented a program and at every step made many friends for Idaho.

President Brown, Saturday evening, expressed himself as being strongly in favor of the proposed amendment to the constitution of the A. S. U. I., whereby the Glee Club might share the registration fee. He said that nothing else could advertise the University as a Glee Club, that it was an assembly of students, representing a considerable group of young men and women, whose unselfish labor for their college was deserving of some recognition. He explained the advisability of the proposed amendment on the grounds that the student body is a growing one, and that every year marks a greater income for every student activity; hence, it is supported by the A. S. U. I., and that as the student body grows and the amount of money available for the support of these activities increases, the greater should be the number of activities which should be supported. And there is right now not a more deserving organization than the I. U. Glee Club.

Nevertheless, there has arisen a large amount of objection to the proposal, particularly among the students who feel that the loss of a couple of hundred dollars, which means little to the Glee Club, is going to hurt Idaho's athletes.

PROF. COLLINS LECTURES

At the second of his lectures on the Roman Catholic movement in English poetry, given on Tuesday of this week, Mr. Collins read extensively from Earnest Dawson, in Illustration of the poetic mood, and from Isaac Johnson, in the discussion of the quiet, meditative mood in Roman Catholicism. The lecture is a sequel to the previous one, and both are for the purpose of demonstrating the religious and Dogmatic elements to be found in the English poetry of the time.

...The character of all the poets named as the principal group is that they are not poets anywhere who merely happen to be Catholics, but poets who were stirred to expression about life because of their Roman Catholic experiences. Their non-religious poetry is as far removed from Roman Catholic influence as their religious poetry. The reasons for this are many, but one of them is that they achieved a spirit of definition for life that could not, indeed, have existed for them the true Catholicism, but that transcends merely creeds or disciplines. Roman Catholic experiences, just as Milton and Bunyan rose to authenticity of definition for human nature and life at large in the transcendentalism, with which none the less, Paradise Lost and Pilgrim's Progress are instinct.

The progress of the modern Roman Catholic movement in England is indicated by the fact that most of this poetry is the poetry of conversion. The other significant and rather common thing about the movement is that it is almost entirely English and not Irish.

Here is a movement, then, that by the unerring test of achieving a genuine poetic quality stirred men and women's minds and hearts; and now a new and true sense of authenticity in their religious life. It would not be easy to name a more practical object for us all than is the ascertainment of the lines along which this acute religious sense developed.

IDAHO LAW PROFESSOR INTRO.

December Course in Land Law

Professor Bert C. Arnold this year started a new course in public land law. It might here be said that the Idaho Law College is the only law school in the United States which at the present time gives a course in public land law. In many of the law schools a few lectures are given in the first year on public land law. When we realize the vast amount of public land in our western states, we are one and all dispose to realize the great benefit gained from the present work given in this course.

Professor Arnold is now finishing a weekly lecture for The Oregonian, The Spokesman-Review, The Idaho Daily Statesman, and other prominent papers on the Pacific Coast.

This material is of vital interest to the majority of the people of the western states. And the material has been readyly studded upon these papers.

A recent issue of the Idaho Daily Statesman, Professor Arnold was highly praised for his work on the subject. He has been this class of work on the part of the faculty of the Idaho Law College that has been one of the great factors in placing the Idaho Law College among the foremost of the western law colleges.

DEBATE PROSPECTS NOT BRIGHT

Preparation for the two debates with the Washington State College, that are to be held here and at Pullman on December 16, is progressing rather slowly. The negative team has suffered a severe loss in the retirement of Lynch, whose heavy work in the College of Law, in which he is carrying twenty hours made it impossible for him to go on with the work. At this late date it was necessary to choose someone in his place who has had some experience in inter-collegiate debate. Accordingly, A. J. Priest, who, as a Freshman, was last year a member of one of the teams that met Gonzaga University, has been selected to fill the vacancy. Priest is unfamiliar with the question, but he promises to study the best of his ability, and it is the hope of those interested in Idaho's debate work that the negative team will not be too severely handicapped by the unfortunate necessity of Lynch's relinquishment of his place on that team to another man who has not made an extensive study of the question.

SHORTEST COURSE IN MINING

The Department of Mining announces a Short Course for miners during the months of January and February. The course opens on January 4 and closes on February 29. Courses in Mining, Metallurgy, Analyzing, Geology, and Prospecting will be offered to men who wish to gain a knowledge of mining but are unable to attend the regular University courses. There are no entrance requirements or fees. Only the expense will be for board and room, books and supplies. For a prospectus of the course address the Mining Department of the University of Idaho, Moscow, Idaho.

FOOTBALL AGAIN

At last, Idaho won a game. When we win, the first thing is a distribution of the credit and it is absolutely certain that those football men, near first team men, who turned in their best last week, who "quit cold" will get no credit. They probably deserve some, they have worked hard all year, and didn't get the credit they deserve, they perhaps believe they have a grievance against coach or management. But when Idaho's team is in the rut, when things look blackest, that is the time for every really loyal student to prove his real manhood for the sake of Idaho. Loyalty should be above snow and freezing weather. The Honor of Idaho, the knowledge that your presence is really essential, should make any man overlook discomfort, willing to make some few sacrifices.

FINANCING THE GLEE CLUB

The Glee Club, under Mr. Storer, has asked to share a $25. U. S. I. fund to support a students' Idaho trip. No student organization is more worthy of this assistance than the Glee Club. In the first place, the Glee Club is an organization of first quality, one of which every really loyal student of this college has the right to be proud. One successful trip, by an organization of this character is a sufficient advertisement to draw more students than ever football team Idaho has ever sent out in college history.

Idaho's student body is growing every year in wealth and, consequently, in its capacity to support student activities increases. And right now there is no student organization deserving of support more than the Glee Club deserves it.

Athletics will lose a little money if this amendment goes thru, and nearly every athlete in college is bawling against it.

It is the duty of every student to be present at the Assembly when the subject comes up for settlement. Come prepared to cast a wise vote representing conclusions following careful, sincere thought.

MORE GLEE CLUB

Considerable campus discussion is centering around the proposed Glee Club amendment to the by-laws of the A. S. U. I. This is a proposal to disperse $11 per cent of the Student Body funds into the hands of the Glee Club management to help defray the expenses of the various Idaho-advertising trips the club is planning to make.

From the point of view of a better and a bigger University with a broader scope and greater influence this proposal has remarkable possibilities. The short trip made by the club last year caused much favorable comment and bare fruit in numerous instances in bringing students to Idaho. This trip broadened the University to the people of the various towns visited; it made them realize what University talent could do and the results were gratifying in the extreme.

The Glee Club is the best advertising medium that could be employed by the University in its campaign for better recognition and it deserves the whole-hearted support of the Stu-

BASKETBALL SEASON CLOSE

Coach Bohler at W. S. C. has always gotten more work from his basketball squad than any of the other coaches at his level. At least the team, the men, and the coaching are anxious to get to work. No amusement has yet been made regarding a class series, probably because it will begin immediately after Thanksgiving. Last year's inter-fraternity schedule was not an unqualified success and probably will undergo very few changes in the future season.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—(Special)—Thirty-four thousand four thousand and nine dollars is Idaho's allotment for 1915-16 under the agricultural extension law, a part of this representing federal appropriations and part being funds raised or appropriated in or by the state. A statement issued by the department of agriculture shows that this allotment has been augmented by federal funds.

For administration, $559, county agents, $12,100; home demonstration work, $400; boys and girls clubs, $7510; live stock investigations, $500; dairying, $500; arboriculture, $500, and forestry, $1,000.

FORESTRY CLUB NOTES

H. W. (Red) Johnston has returned from the land of perpetual jack rabbits and sage brush and has registered in Forestry. “Red” has spent the last year in grizzly work on the Carlin National Forest in Utah.

Clive Humphreys returned Thursday from the Missouri National Forest having just finished some special construction work on that forest. He will register in a few days.

The entire Forestry Club with the exception of one or two of its members gaily trooped to Dr. C. H. Shattuck’s residence Sunday evening. The club knows what great entertainers Dr. and Mrs. Shattuck are but little did the members think that they were going to have the time that they did on Sunday night. There was the best roast that was ever made, with jelly and cocoa and sandwiches and ice cream and cake and  — well there was everything good to eat. Then when everybody was simply gorged Mrs. Shattuck bust out the biggest basket of the best apples that you ever saw and an untold supply of marshmallows, a supply of walnut and there was the home-like place. Every one agreed with one of the lumber jacks when he said, “Lawver men I hain’t seen such a feed round these hero woods in all my hull blime life.”

The mighty crew of soror dough artists told fish stories, coon stories, jack stories, pack horse stories, true stories, and other stories and Becker told the story about poor Ike and the poorer bear. Moray: You can’t sleep in the country unless you dig a pit at the foot of the tree. During the evening section after motion of timber was cruised and fires were fought and acre after acre was logged, but just as cowed got to logging best somebody discovered that it was almost an hour after bed time so the crew gratefully unhooked the choker from the log they were just bringing into the landing and everyone joined in expressing the view that Dr. and Mrs. Shattuck were “sure there on this entertainment stunt.”

All the club can talk about at the present time is the trip this week.

W. R. Schofield is reported on the sick list.

Fred Runkwood must have had a data Sunday night as he didn’t show up at the big feed at Dr. Shattuck’s.

DREAM DOPE

Once upon a midnight dreary, Dobie pondered weak and weary
Over many a victory of forgotten football lore.
While he nodded, nearly napping, suddenly there came a tapping
As of someone gently rapping at Gil Dobie’s championship door.

“Come over the mountains,” someone muttered, “On our grounds a game we’re seeking.
Only This and nothing more.”

“Be those words our sign of parting, friend or foe,” he shrilled up-starting.

“Get thee back unto the East Side; be thee to thy native shore.
Leave no feather as a token of the challenges thou hast spoken.
Leave your championship unbroken, take thy presence from my door.
But if you’ll come,” say this he had to, “I’ll dismount; old Colorado.”

FACULTY DANCING CLUB

Last Thursday evening a number of faculty men and women met at the gymnasium for instruction in dancing under the direction of Miss Stevens and Miss Fawcett. A faculty dancing club is being organized as the outcome of this meeting, for the purpose of having dances every second Thursday. A social meeting is called Thursday of this week, since the Thanksgiving vacation interferes with the regular schedule.

The new club is sure to be successful, in that it meets the need of definite, regular, social life, to bring together the old and new faculty members in an intimate, informal fashion.

FINANCE Club Notes

Weber, Riggs, and Calhoun are reporting that the financial condition of this year is improving.

The fall学期 started well, with a large number of new members joining.

Weber is working on a project to increase our financial resources and hopes to come up with a plan soon.

Riggs is planning to organize a fund-raising event to support the club's activities.

Calhoun is working on improving the club's financial records and budgeting for the upcoming events.

Overall, the Finance Club is looking forward to a successful year and hopes to contribute positively to the university's financial well-being.

The students of other colleges are starting to prepare for their annual lecture course, which is held at University hall. There are 12 members of the course who are putting together an illustrated talk. This course is open to all students and members of the faculty and its proceeds are used to pay for a student loan fund. The amount this year was given by Professor E. Olof Rings of the school of music.

World Football Records Made During 1914 Season

The principal records of the 1914 season are compiled by Frank R. Adams in the 1915 Spalding's Football Guide, containing some wonderful figures:

College team scoring most points

(West) — Missouri School of Mines, 284 to 6.

College team scoring most touchdowns (West) — Washington and Jefferson, 364 to 54.

Player scoring most touchdowns (West) — Smith, Missouri School of Mines.

Player scoring most touchdowns (East) — Imlay, Virginia, 19.

Player scoring most goals from touch-downs (West) — Freeman, Missouri School of Mines.

Player scoring most goals from touch-downs (East) — F. D. Fleming, Washington and Jefferson.

Player scoring most goals from field, season — W. C. Cashal, Lafayette.

Players scoring goal from longest place-kick — Lloyd Bligham, Denver, 49 yards.

Players making longest run from completed forward pass — H. W. Wil er, University of Pittsburgh, 79 yards.

Players making longest run from intercepted forward pass — R. Webster, Central (Pella) 38 yards.

Player making longest run from recovered fumble — T. J. Coolidge, Harvard, 98 yards.
SQUIBS

Chester Vincent has achieved no little distinction as a presiding officer pac, at excellence at the numerous B.A. scrap functions.

Last Assembly hour established a new inter-collegiate record for uninterrupted vocal demonstration. Ronald Miller's performance will long be re-collected by those favored few who endured it.

"Happy the Married" is the subject of Don Eggleston's latest literary effort. He has already begun work upon another thesis whose subject, we understand, is "Matrimony and Finance."

The Co-ed Prom passed without interruption. Fortunately for the peace of mind of all the college fair ones, Russell Cunningham was not present to terrorize the community.

It is reported from good authority that a deep laid plot has been exposed in the military world whereby Lieutenant Kauffman and others of the less patriotic officers had accepted a small bribe to keep the W. S. C. official insignia regarding Idaho's future maneuvers.

The football season will soon be over and Victor Jones will not be tied down by fencing hours for his manager's duties at the Gym. Even now, Victor doesn't permit duty to interfere with pleasure.

Idaho's athletes are opposed to giving the Glee Club some A. B. U. I. money; that the U. of I. athletes need it. They surely need something.

The Phi Delta Theta haven't been able to find all their Freshmen as yet. A University Department enquiring whether there was an individual named Sawyer registered with them, was satisfied by the reply that if the party would hold the phone an inquiry would immediately be conducted.

This column is a fixture. We invite your contribution. But do not condemn the editor behind his back, he will never know it, and don't criticize him to his face, editors are never responsible and besides, he will be armed until the excitement subsides.

When asked last night to express a personal opinion in regard to (sketch) social activities, William Hunter said, "I'm a 'Pillar of Society,' but I'm certainly living an awful time with one little affair. Conditions are awful, and don't seem to be improving."

STAFF IS BUSY

The work on the 1917 Gem of the Mountains is progressing very nicely.

The contract for the engraving work was last week awarded to the Merrie Printing & Engraving Company of Spokane, Editor-in-Chief Will Beekel and Business Manager Harry Bluhbne are devoting much of Wednesday evening to planning and arranging the book and in conferences with the other staff members concerning their specific tasks. The 1917 Gem of the Mountains will be larger than any of the former editions and will have teemed with new features. The Staff devoted the co-operation of the entire student body in making this year's edition of the official year-book.

This end, it is reported, they have been working on a new feature, a series of photographs giving a new and different view of the campus, athletic views, good pictures of Idaho scenes and mountain scenery, etc., give them to anyone of the following members of the staff before sending it to other publishers.

"What's the fogy over there in that corner?"

"Lady sending a telegram."

"I know that. But why the facial contortions?"

"She's trying to tell her husband what she thinks of him in ten words."

A week ago Sunday Charles Lewis returned from the Theta Chi theatre on Monday, Tuesday, and Friday evenings.

Miss Josephine Bayley of Spokane stopped for a few days to visit Tress McMahon at the Gamma Phi Beta house on her way to Lewiston.

Clyde F. Humphries was taken sick with a severe cold while at Pullman with the Forestry students and returned home Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Charles Fields of Clarksboro, Virginia, spent a number of days at the Sigma Nu house. Mr. Fields was in the class of '94, and has spent the past year in railroad construction work in the St. Mary's country.

Professor and Mrs. Floyd W. Gall received a number of their friends, of the faculty and student-body, at their home at 710 Elm street, Sunday evening. Mrs. Arthur Winslow and Miss Hattie Poling assisted the hostess in the coffee service.

A number of the Sigma Nu men entertained at a small informal house dance Friday evening. Mrs. McFadden, the Queen Pi house-mother, expressed herself delightfully, the guests being the Misses Rispens, Allen, McMillan, Hirschson, Anderson, Clancy, Wenas, Dalley, Swain, Parrrott, Lushan, Schuyler and Lemmon.

Gamma Phi Beta's pledges entertained the members of the active chapter on Sunday evening at a little supper. The table was decorated in yellow and white chrysanthemums, and dainty little place cards, with the pledge pin reproduced in bronze and gold water colors, marked the places. The courses were delightfully served in the color scheme being yellow and white.

Mr. and Mrs. James Gill, at their home on C and Van Buren streets, very pleasantly entertained the Delta Chi club Sunday evening at six o'clock tea. During the evening Rev. R. Pocock gave an entertaining lecture on the life and work of Father De Smet, the famous apostle to the Indians of this region. The fact that Father Pocock had been personally acquainted with one of Father De Smet's workers added to the interest of his lecture.
