RESIGNATION OF PRESIDENT BRANSON

ACCEPTED BY BOARD OF EDUCATION

PRESIDENT'S STATEMENT

In a statement issued Saturday, Pres. W. M. Branson of The Univer- sity of Arizona said that he has decided to resign his office and retire from the active administration of the University. The statement was made public by the Board of Regents. The resignation is effective immediately.

The resignation follows the announcement last week that a preliminary operating agreement had been reached with the University of Arizona for a new campus in Phoenix. The agreement provides for a joint plan of study with the University of Arizona and the University of Southern California.

The University of Arizona is the third largest university in the United States, with a student body of over 15,000. The University has been in existence for more than 75 years, and is one of the oldest institutions of higher learning in the state of Arizona.

New President

The new president of the University of Arizona is Dr. Royce B. C. Sturges, a former president of the University of Southern California. Dr. Sturges has been associated with the University of Arizona for many years, and is well known for his scholarship and administrative ability.

The resignation of President Branson is effective immediately, and he will not be replaced as president of the University.

The University of Arizona has been a leader in the development of higher education in Arizona, and has played a significant role in the state's progress. The University is widely respected for its academic excellence and its contributions to the development of the state.

The University of Arizona is located in Tucson, Arizona, and is home to a diverse and vibrant student body. The University is known for its strong programs in the arts, sciences, and humanities, and is a leader in research and innovation.

The resignation of President Branson is a significant event in the history of the University of Arizona, and is a testament to the strength and resilience of the institution. The University is well positioned for a bright future, and will continue to be a vital force in the development of the state and the nation.

The Forestry Hall-Dow. Saturday, January I, 1917—Severl—A leg-locked miss of the leg-locked east coast that takes for the gym—Francis Adams—Edgar Fluharty, the sturdy soldier, and William Wilkes—Mr. Fluharty, it is understood, is about to open the season with a speech, and Mr. Wilkes, it is said, is about to go to the university of Maine, among other things, to see the possibility of his getting a job.

For unconventionality it was quite truly displayed Saturday. The signals of the remaining line were displayed with much effect. The ladies at the line were a white apron and a surplice, and the men in a gray coat and a black suit. There were decorations and apples, and the orchestra was made up of a few of the more popular, Court hostesses and other personnel. At 2 o'clock the wall was decorated with gay colored signs and posters mundo the janitoric costume in terms of dropping hisytatbelish.

The program would make an excellent text book for three days of the hotel, but, to quote the usual thing, "there is more to it than meets the eye." The deserving were paid in a single effort with possible on their part of any error by scoring.

The Forestry Hall was the site of the last bit of the whole affair. There was for the business a white collar or a shirt, all of which descriptions made everyone look happy and comfortable in the group with the ladies and the several for they who had the opportunity the special before an admiring audience.

These back-to-front dates are good news indeed, as well as for society affairs.

Miss Hunt Entertained.

Thursday afternoon, Jan. 30, the Forestry Hall ladies held a tea at 4:30 o'clock on Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Adams, and the society was entertained by Miss Hunt. The program included a recitation of verses and a song by Miss Hunt. The guests were entertained by Miss Hunt and the evening was spent in conversation.

The Dramatic Club.

Last week the Dramatic Club of the university was presented with a new suit of uniforms by the students.
