SHORT COURSE TEAM SWEEPS POHLEND JUDGING Contest

Lloyd Johnson, Take First Place From District Judge Appraisers,

Mills won a complete and definite victory over the opponent from the same district on the annual Dairy Products Research for the College of Agriculture.

The team received two of the highest marks of the committee of commercial buyers, college and university students from the various states of the Pacific Northwest.

The highest team on the list was the Idaho State team, composed of several of the top dairy students in the country. They captured the first two places in the commercial judging and placed third in the regular press.

In their own class among short course dairy students, the team placed first and the university team placed third.

Competing with four dairy students, the Idaho State short course team took five places.

Lloyd Johnson, of the university team, placed first in the national contest, and Leno Bierman was second. Johnson was fourth in the even class and Bierman placed third in the dairy category.
