STUDY OF LAW MAKES MENS, SAYS GROCKELL

PROBLEMS OF TRYING KAISER SUMMARIZED

In his Kizer I by Prof. A. R. Bruce (Continued on page 7), Flack said:

"Year by year the number of the total of the cases in which the lawyers have been involved has increased. In 1941, the number of lawyers who are involved in the cases was 50. In 1942, the number of lawyers who are involved in the cases was 100. In 1943, the number of lawyers who are involved in the cases was 150."

"The best solution to this problem is to have a dedicated team of lawyers who are involved in the cases. This team should be selected from among the most experienced and knowledgeable lawyers in the field."

"In this way, the best solution to this problem will be reached."

Huge page from "The University Argonaut" of May 30, 1923, featuring an article about the "Big Campus Day Celebration." The text is focused on events involving the campus, including celebrations and gatherings. The article mentions the "Mirth" pageant, which took place as part of the university's festivities. It also describes various activities such as dances, gatherings, and contests, highlighting the spirit of community and celebration among the students.

The article mentions the "Wool-Room Program" and the "Coaching of the Idaho State Football Team," indicating the university's involvement in sports and extracurricular activities. It also touches on the "Marriage of Gustave W. McEvers and Ida M. Selby," and references "the mighty Eight" and "the Mexican Wave," which were popular campus activities.

The text contains a variety of names and details, such as "Bert Greely," "S. W. Simpson," and "James T. Wallis," all of whom were likely involved in the various events and activities described in the article. The overall tone is celebratory, reflecting the excitement and energy of the university's "Big Campus Day Celebration."
