TALKS To High School Graduates

The Lewiston Teller says of the commencement of the Lewiston High School week before last:

The address was scholarly and eloquent and full of good thought for the class.

"The speaker outlined as the real social and economic problems of the prospective control, the labor problem, marriage and divorce problems, immigration problem, the railroad problem; and the neurotic problem, which problem made me study the conditions and find in the vantage ground for getting the proper perspective. The speaker was speaking of the Labour and of the Renaissance; and its problems are to be settled on the same lines. We must be aware of the deepening conscious social maladjustments and the common brotherhood of man."

T. R. Jones, '05, recently teset with a painful accident in the Booster Hill and Southern mine at Wardner. The mine physician was summoned and discovered that Mr. Jones' third finger on his left hand was badly lacerated. The injured finger is, however, causing no serious trouble. Mr. Jones was last year editor-in-chief of the "Booster," and participated in many different student activities.

TRIP TO SALT LAKE CITY

Idaho Debaters Tell of Continual Round of Enjoyment in the Enemy's Country

Charles Montandon and V. C. Price Meet with Tribulations and Triumphs at Salt Lake City.

After long and weary deliberations, it was finally decided to hold the Utah debate. We ascertained that the trip required for this contest, owing to the loss of our library, which is involved in the Utah and all attending circumstances, was ideal. We left on Wednesday the 16th and were on our way unusually fully and unexpectedly until the end of the week, the trip being a success.

This formation is a common thing to our southern friends, but to northern people it is an extreme surprise. The want of books is the main point in the whole country, and as the railroad has only been in operation for a relatively short time, there is no necessity for the introduction of such a large library.

A Wet Warden Valley

The next interesting landscape was the famous valley of northern Utah, leading to Salt Lake. Here we entered into another state of affairs. We found the people there to be extremely polite and kind, and the food was excellent. The scenery was magnificent, and the roads were well kept.

We arrived in Salt Lake late on the 18th, and the next day we went to the Temple, which is the most beautiful building we have seen. It is a temple of light and beauty, and we left with a sense of awe and wonder.

Almost Persuaded.

As we stood afar off and beheld its magnificence, we were almost persuaded to become Mormons.

Seeing the City.

On Thursday afternoon we drove into town, and the first thing we noticed was the Temple, which is a temple of light and beauty.

The city is not very large, but it is very clean and well-kept. The people are all very polite and kind.

The librarian has returned the material—books, papers, pamphles and magazines—which the University of Washington College lent the University for the use of its students. Contributions from the part of the two sister institutions enabled Idaho to proceed with one of the debates, through the library which had been destroyed. Every courtesy was shown by the debaters of these two institutions. The University of Washington lent about twenty books besides various pictures, pamphlets, etc., W. S. C.

sent many books and pamphlets and tended the use of the library to the students.

Y. M. C. A.

As the year draws to a close and we look back upon the work of the Y. M. C. A., we see that it has been a prosperous year for years for the association in the history of the Y. M. C. A.

at the Idaho State University.

Although we have not done as much as we should have done yet we feel that the Association has done its work and that it will be continued next year.

Below we give the report of the treasurer. Since the students are asked to contribute to the work we feel that they all have a share in it and should be interested in the same as in any other branch of student activity. Our expenses have been a little higher than usual this year for the Bible classes, the branch of the University.

We do not regret this in any way

however we hope that the increase of the benefit than did the other two institutions and would be glad if we could have one here each year.

The study is one of the most important branches of the Association work and, aside from the regular services, the branch with which we have been most concerned. We are planning much larger and more interesting events for next year and must have a large delegation at the Gearhart Conference in June to get new enthusiasm and new ideas for our work. The Association lends each man who attends a number of free passes to be paid back when convenient and we hope to have a fund for this purpose. As the report shows only $8.00 in all on hand we shall be obliged to use all available money for this purpose this year.

Sham Battle.

The first sham battle which the cadets have held this year was fought Friday afternoon at the University grounds. The new cannon recently received from the Rock Island arsenal were posted north of the annex facing the advancing line which formed in open order in the field west of the University about six hundred yards distant. Captain Clay commanded the defending party of the two guns while the attacking party was led by Lieutenant Stenger.

In a continuous skirmish line the offensive party advanced to within about three hundred yards of the guns. They struck the open order and were met by a volley from the guns which were firing bayonets. The battle then went on and was fought out.

The command of the enemy was broken and the cadets advanced. The battle then closed and the cadets marched out of the field.

Utah Was Given the the Decision in the Series with Idaho.

Friday evening, May 18, in the State Bank, Salt Lake City, the last of the series of three between the Universities of Utah and Idaho was played. The game was closed by the University of Utah, and Idaho was the victor, winning by a score of 9 to 3.

The base ball team of Utah was represented by a strong eleven, the entire team being selected on the basis of its ability. The Idaho team was made up of the best players from the various colleges and universities in the state.

The game was a close one, with both teams playing well. The Utah team showed a fine defensive display, while the Idaho team scored a few points in the field. The game was played in a fine spirit, and both teams were given a fair chance to win.

The next game in the series will be played on Saturday, May 20, in Salt Lake City. The game will be played on the University of Utah field, and both teams will be given a chance to win.
