TRIANGULAR PROSPECTS

Idaho's Team Whose Goes to Seattle Will Be a Strong Bunch

Edmundson, Faulkett, and Several New Men Added to Idaho Squad Who Second Washing-ston-Tenack.

Idaho has her last test meet for this season on the 30th of May at Seattle. This is the triangular meet between the Universities of Oregon, Washington, and Idaho. Our prospects are very fair for this great contest. Last year Oregon came on first place with Washington year he won Idaho's only first in the triangular meet by carrying off the medal in the quarter.

Washington's team is greatly handicapped by the loss of Bill Smith who won first in the high jump, second in the hundred, and third in the 220. The Washington trainer has been having trouble in getting men interested in track work this season.

Oregon still has a strong aggregation although Firthwell, who was first in the broad jump and first in the high and second in the low hurdles, will not be on the team this year. Idaho's team will be in fine condition when the time for the tri-

Idaho Defeats Whitman

Duspl Surprised the Missionaries and Pitched a Shut Out Game

The entertaining West Central by the Idaho Lads, and Their Playing Was Errorless.

Idaho's greatest success this season was their victory over Whitman. Idaho's quarterback, McChesney, was the star of the game and his running and passing were the key to the victory.

The game against Whitman was a high-scoring contest. Idaho's McChesney scored two touchdowns and passed for a third. Whitman's quarterback, Hall, scored a touchdown and passed for another.

The Idaho defense was led by Duspl, who held Whitman to one point in the game. Duspl's strong performance earned him the game's MVP award.

The game was a close one, with Idaho winning by a score of 14-7. Idaho's defense was the key to their victory, holding Whitman to only one point.

Athletic Field Committee
President Myers of the A. S. U.
I. has appointed the following students to be members of the athletic field committee: J. M. Simpson (chairman), Jay Jelliff, Henry Smith, George Armstrong, W. W. Gable. Dr. C. N. Little will be the faculty member.

Prof. Crosswhite Leaves
Professor Geo. H. Crosswhite, who has held the position of Agronomist on the experimental farm, has resigned his position and will soon return to his former place of employment, the State College of Agriculture, at Urbana, Ill. The continued illness of Mrs. Crosswhite made the change necessary, as he believes that those connected with the University hope for the speedy recovery of Mrs. Crosswhite.

Varisty Married
Miss Elisie M. Baker, '06, was married on Wednesday, May 8, to Mr. D. T. Baker, at the home of the bride's mother, in Moscow. The wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Baker, a resident of Walls, Wash.
