On Sept. 17, 1905, the present Senior class registered at the University as green freshmen. The class was large, but before long it was in full working order. Preparations were made to take part in the Sophomore day's ride. About the fight in 'Lovers Lane', the capture of the Sophom, and the late meal. Each one spent in the purchase of a silver.

As a consequence the only freshmen party was the one which had been held in the Old Club House the first of October. On the base ball nine. With the beginning of the Sophomore year the class was again put on ecology with the other classes. The first class event was an evening picnic on the Moscow mountains. A holy time it was, sitting around the fire.

A LAST WORD.

With this issue of the Argonaut the staff hands over the pen to its successors. We wish to thank our readers for the interest they have shown in the paper and also for the leniency with which they have endeavored to overlook mistakes and short comings. We took up the quill with no experience, and are as conscious of our faults as any one. Yet we have no apology to make for we can honestly say that we have done our best. It has been our one intention to publish all news fairly, and to show no favoritism. The readers may judge of our success.

Now to the new staff we extend our best wishes. They have all had experience and are qualified to put out a good weekly. We wish them all the success possible.

We can do no better than hope that the student body will give them the same support which it has given us.

The editor wishes to thank publicly the staff members and all others who have so kindly contributed articles from time to time. Without this assistance the publishing of the paper would have been impossible.

THE ARGONAUT welcomes the Ob-adi to the University organizations. We have left for several years that most students classes are conducted too loosely. A permanent booster organization among the upper classes should do much towards remedying this fault. We hope that this society may be effective in its purposes and that in the future it may become a power in the building up of the University.

Senior Ball.

The Senior Ball last Friday night was a great success. Almost all the graduating class was present and a large number of the alumni.

The gymnasium was beautifully decorated. Flowers hung from the rafters, the walls, and the ceiling was of course red and white, entirely hid the walls; and there were numerous cozy corners scattered here and there. The platform and set was arranged for the class play, which was "The Tale of the Two Cities." The orchestra, a corner of this also being used as a place for refreshments.

The scenery by Shetler's was declared to be the best ever furnished by that excellent orchestra.

The Seniors worked hard to make this ball a success and their efforts were amply rewarded.

The patronesses were Mrs. James A. MacLean, Miss Perdue, French, Miss Henrietta Moore, Mrs. A. W. Smith, Mrs. W. H. Carthens, Mrs. M. E. Lewis.

delighted Senior Dinner

On the side table spread a linen cloth and place the following:

Curving knife and fork, gravy ladle, two large spoons for the dessert and potatoes, the loaf sugar and cream, and a small tray with dolly to use in serving.

Just before the guests assembled, place emerged celery, radishes, salted almonds, with small spoon beside it, on opposite ends of the table. Put the butter balls on the bread and butter rolls, fill water glasses two thirds full and place the water bottle on the side table.

Course I.

After the guests are seated bring in the soup in bouillon cups with cream, and place in front of the person from the right with handles parallel with the edge of the table, beginning with the hostess then down the left side of the table. When finished move the cups and saucers from the right.

Course II.

Place the celery and sliced cucumbers and bread and butter rolls in front of the guests from the right. When finished move the plates from the right.

Course III.

Fill the water glasses if needed. Place the carving knife at the right of the hostess, fork at the left, and one long spoon and gravy ladle at the right. Hot dinner plates are placed at the left of the hostess. The platter containing the meat, braised potatoes and apple circles directly in the center of the table about twelve inches in from the hostess. Place the gravy bowl at the right of the hostess. The mistress remains at the left side of the hostess and with the left hand places the plates on the table in front of the hostess, after the roast, the women and apple circles have been placed on it she removes the plate with the right hand and replaces it with an empty plate with the left hand, and proceeds down the right side of the table and places it in front of the guest of honor, from the right. When all have been served in this manner, the guest is offered from the left. The souffle is then brought in and placed in front of the plate, from the right. The rolls are next offered from the left, the plate refilled and placed on the plates. The coffee is then placed at the right of each guest with the hands to the right. Sugar and cream are offered from a tray at the left. When all are finished, the roast, gravy, celery, almonds, rolls, plates, bread and butter plates, saucers, salt and pepper are removed from the right.

Course IV.

The strawberry parfait is served in parfait glasses on small white plates with dolly between, and is placed in front of guests from right. The cake is then offered from the left, and placed on the table. The coffee cups are refilled and cream and sugar passed again from the left. When finished the parfait glasses, plates, cups and saucers and water glasses are removed. The jigger bowls, half filled with lake warm water, and a few rose petals in each, on a small plate with dolly in between are placed in front of each guest from the right. The waiters may then retire to the kitchen.

Fraternity Banquet.

Theta Mu Epilson held its third annual banquet last Friday night at the Hotel Moscow. This function is given in honor of the graduating members of the organization each spring.

The dining room was attractively decorated with blue and white, the festivity colored and college pennants. Hundreds of panes were arranged around the table which was arranged in a "U" shape; while an orchestra hidden in a grove of palms played softly the entire evening. About forty members and their friends were present.

Not until a late hour did the toast master dismiss the party after all had spent an enjoyable evening.

Despite the superabundance of examinations, rehearsals of "The College Widow" are being held daily and the play promises to be one of the best ever staged at the University.

many social doings, but the class did well what it attempted. The Junior Promenade was one of the most successful and pleasuring dances of the year. The '09 Gem of the Mountains was said by all to be the best annual ever edited at Idaho, and the class is proud to claim it as its own.

The last year of the class's life at Idaho is nearly over. It has been a happy one, and the class as a whole, and every individual has thoroughly enjoyed it. The members have become better acquainted and class ties will become broken with some degree of sadness. The social events of the year, the Chafing Dish Party at the Gymnasium, the banquet given by the have, indeed, been happy ones.

At the end of Commencement week, during which is the Senior Ball and the presentation of 'The College Widow' the class will join the ranks of the Alumni. Some of the members will probably leave forever.

The class as a whole has given much to Idaho. It has had men in all departments of athletics and in de-

Many of those who registered as Freshmen '09ers have had to leave the class, but some of the places have been filled by those from other classes or other colleges. The forty members who will receive their degrees make up the largest class that has ever been graduated at the University of Idaho. Of this number there is only one charter member left. Howard David started in as a first year Prep., seven years ago and has completed the course with the class. Five of the present Seniors joined the class as second year Pros. Twenty-eight of the eighty who entered as Freshmen are graduating this year the remaining twelve having joined the class during one of the three latter college years. Four have cast their lots with the '09 class during the Senior year. Eleven were prepared at our own. Preparatory school, four came from Boise High School, three from Idaho Falls, and the others from various secondary schools in the state.

Geographically the class is well distributed. There are seven states represented and nine counties from our own state.

The college in the University is represented in the list of candidates for degrees. For the first time in the history of the University there is to be a degree granted from the Domestic Economy Department and for the first time since 1901 degrees in Agriculture.

There will be twenty-five degrees conferred in the College of Letters and sciences, thirteen in the College of Engineering and two in the College of Agriculture as follows: Bachelor of Arts, seventeen; Bachelor of Science, five; Bachelor of music, two; Bachelor of Science in Domestic Economy, one; Bachelor of Science in Civil Engineering, six; Bachelor of Science in Electrical Engineering, one; Bachelor of Science in Mining Engineering, six; Bachelor of Science in Agriculture, two.

The Scholastic standing of the class is high. Twenty-one received the class year honors, twelve class A, and nine class B. This means that twelve made an average grade of one "A" to two "B's" and nine made an average of "B".

With such a brilliant past, who dares to predict the future. Just as the members of the class have been leaders in the University, so will they continue to lead wherever they go. Many are planning to take advanced work, while others are going into their calling immediately. Every industry will be reached and enlarged.

Nor, when they become captains of industry with wealth and influence, their feet, will the members forget the University which gave them a start.

Some day Scholarships will be offered, muniments and halls of learning will be erected in token of the love which the class bears to its Alma Mater. In after years the sons and daughters of our young state will join with pride to the efficient service rendered both to the University, the state and the nation by the members of the class of 1909.

Those present were Mrs. E. A. Lambie, Misses Blevins, Wood and Moore, Messrs. Fishburn, Derney, Hutton and DeLary and Mr. and Mrs. Butterfield, Mr. and Mrs. Henderson, Liest and Mrs. Smith.

Non Secret Organization Elected Among Leading Members of Senior Class to Further University Interests.

For the last month, there has been in the process of organization a Senior Society known as OH-A-DI. The purposes of this society are clearly set forth in the preamble and its methods of procedure in the constitution which follow this announcement.

All of the larger institutions where college spirit is high and a marked unity of the student body is noticeable, maintain a similar organization. At Michigan, the Michigan is the most potent organization in the student body. The Senior Society at Stanford is more powerful than the executive committee of the associated students. At Wisconsin, the student mind is largely moulded by this society and its members are themselves leaders in both state and national affairs. In all of these instances the society has no official power but effects its ends through public sentiment. The purpose of the OH-A-DI is not to dictate but rather to advise in such matters as shall seem fit.

Oh-A-Di, the same IDAHO spelled backward.

Section 1. The members of the Oh-a-di shall consist of two classes—active members and honorary members.

Sec. 2. Active members shall be chosen from the Senior Class of the University of Idaho. Any Senior is eligible to membership who has been himself a leader in student activities.

Sec. 3. To unite the hitherto scattered and conflicting attempts of the seniors into one dominant purpose, that of standing for and aiding for all the best interests of the University.

Sec. 4. To promote and maintain the right kind of college spirit.

Sec. 5. To cooperate with the Alumni in making suggestions as to University affairs.

Sec. 6. To act as a booster club for the University, to assist in the organization of University clubs over the state and to correspond with prospectives.

Sec. 7. To encourage participation in all college activities, and to use all influence in maintaining the principles of the "square deal" in the selection of University representatives in intercollegiate contests.

Sec. 8. To bury the "hammers" and let them rest.

It is to these causes then, that the undersigned pledge themselves, and for the better execution of which establish this constitution.

 ARTICLE I.
This society shall be designated as the Oh-A-Di, the same IDAHO spelled backward.

R. O. Jones, B. A. Law Student
Sec. 6. Honorary members shall have no vote in the society; but shall act in it as advisors.
Sec. 5. All active members shall be elected by the Oh-a-di each year, as
THE TRACK SEASON CLOSES

Results for Idaho Better than Expected. Proceeds Worth for 1910 Season.

"Never did Idaho face a more gloomy prospect for a track team than she did at the beginning of the season last year. The two biggest blowouts of the year past, Montgomery, Strohecker and Driscoll were the only point winners of the 1908 team who were eligible to compete.

Yet the showing of the team has been more gratifying to the supporters of the Silver and Gold, and especially so when we take into consideration that the only coaching the men received was from the Athletes who were defeated by the conference rivals. Idaho met every college in the conference and has attained a rank of fourth.

In the first meet with Wash., S. C, we were defeated by a large score. But when we realize that our opponents across the line, have what is probably the best team ever put out in the Northwest, we feel no charity.

In the triangular meet with Oreg. and Wash., Oreg. made the second place. Oreg., under the coaching of the never yet defeated Bill Hayden, for the fourth year in a row, compiled more points than Idaho and Washing ton combined. Idaho made 15 points to Washington's 26, and the season's record clearly shows that practically every member of that year's team. The Pacific Wave speaks very highly of both the Oregon and Idaho teams.

Idaho was defeated earlier in the season by the score of 64 to 18.

"Mississippi had about the same number of men on the team as did Idaho, so the two teams competed on an equal basis.

The last meet of the season was with O. A. C. at Corvallis and was won by the latter school. The final score was O. A. C. 72, Idaho 38.

Throughout the season the men performed consistently and at no time failed to come up to expectations. The work of Capt. Montgomery and of Strohecker has been of the highest class. Mowry has not been defeated in either the 220 hurdles or 440 dash during the season, and, even the most partisan, praise his work in these events. Strohecker has not lost the high jump this year and has been defeated just once in the pole vault. His work in these two events has come to be very reliable.

Price in long distance runs has been a surprise to all. He ran within a few feet of Coolin when he lowered the Northwest record 14 seconds. His work shows what consistent, persistent training will accomplish. He is a new man at the work and has labored hard every night since early in the season.

Those who won the "22" during the season are Capt. Montgomery, Strohecker, Driscoll, Price, Hunting, and Frazier. Deming lacked but three-fourths of a point in two different meets of winning the coveted emblem. He has worked hard and faithfully and deserves much credit for his work.

Idaho's weak point this year was in the weight. On the southern trip only one out of a possible fifty-four was taken.

The outlook for next year is very bright. Every man of this year's team is coming back and will be in condition to do better work than he has done this season.

SENIORS AND FACULTY MIX

Annual Base Ball Game Results in A Tie. Errorless Game by Those Who Did Not Play.

The team of prehistoric men who first played baseball, using a thick bone for a bat and a neighbors skull for a ball, must have turned over in their graves Tuesday afternoon during the time of the Senior-Faculty baseball game.

As such contests should end, the game was a tie, when six innings had been played and the numerous scratches and pains satisfied all concerned that they had had enough.

DeLury for the faculty pitched the entire game and in the last three innings pitched good ball. Tom Noble pitched the first two innings for the Seniors, fourteen faculty members facing him in those two innings and in three of these the ball was inaccessible and looked like a "bunt." Johnson then went in and the faculty members could not connect with the ball simply because they couldn't see it. Johnson allowed but one run and one hit. DeLury for the faculty allowed five hits, one of which was a home run by Johnson.

The only members of both teams who did not make errors were those who failed to get a chance at the ball.
