UNIVERSITY ESTABLISHES ANNUAL CAMPUS DAY

To be an Occasion for Generating and Expressing “Idaho Spirit.”

(The University will celebrate Campus Day, Monday, May 23. The idea of fixing on one day of the school year for the meeting of the students, faculty, and friends of the University on the campus originated with Miss French and has received the hearty support of the faculty. A number of special events will be observed. The planting of ivy by the various classes, a procession and Maypole dance by the girls of the University, the singing of the University songs, will enliven the day. A number of humorous athletic stunts are being planned by Coach Vander Veer. Faculty and student committees are working on definite plans for the day and the following tentative program has been arranged. Details will be added later.

10:30 a.m. Cornet Solos from the tower of the Administration Building Prof. Orey.
10:45 Assembly at Administration Building steps. Speech by Hon. C. L. Lingenfelter, of Boise.
11:00 Procession in costume and

TWO SUCCESSFUL CONCERTS

The University Mandolin Club
Pleases Audiences at Lewiston and Orofino

The University Mandolin Club gave its last out-of-town concert Friday and Saturday evenings at Lewiston and Orofino.

At Lewiston the concert was managed by W. K. Gwin, ’09. The entertainment was held in the Normal gymnasium which had been beautifully decorated in University colors by the girls of Lewis Hall. The girls of the Club were entertained at the handsome dormitory as guests of the Misses Lytle, Dean of Women, and after the concert the whole Club was given a pleasant reception there.

The Lewiston Tribune had this to say of the Concert: The audience which attended the concert given by the University of Idaho Mandolin club, was very enthusiastic and most charmingly entertained. Especially well received were the violin selections given by Mr. Holler-Collins, who is a finished artist of unusual ability. The readings by Miss Beth Soule, the continuo solos by Miss Minnie Kiefer, and the piano selections by Miss Gagebell were decidedly pleasing. The arranged orchestra, directed by Mr. Tull, of the university faculty, greatly delighted the audience. Several box parties were formed, many among students and Misses W. G. Nimsmann, A. E. Clarke, W. G. Bolger, F. P. Hibbard, Miss Ruth Groce Boggie-Stewman, Mabel Anderson, Lacy Groce, Misses, Jolman and Norman Vollmers. A second box contained Mrs. Lytle, Mrs. George Crum, Miss Lytle and Mr. George Crum. Another party was made up of Misses Virginia Shearer, Edith McLean, Louise Shaff, Bertie Palmer, Georgia Tucker and Misses, Peter Lorsen, Ben Morris, Lawmee—Ruthie, George Murray and Fred Wilhelms.

The largest audience before which the club has appeared this year attended the concert at Orofino. The corner drug store, kept by Mr. Toren, formerly of Moscow, was draped with University colors; posters announcing the concert were displayed in the windows of the business houses; the whole town and countryside were “there and *Ahmewedly greeted the Club. It was a fine, appreciative audience and the Club solos surprised themselves to place it. After the concert the crowd danced for a short time and then the party was treated by Mr. Toren. For the great and pleasant-time at Orofino the organization is much indebted to Miss Mabel Mix, ’09, Miss Josephine Sinclair, Mr. Sherman Mix, Mr. Toren and Mr. DeGusta.

Betas Sigma Entertain

The patronesse of Betas Sigma, Mrs. Burton L. French, Mrs. R. Hopkins, Mrs. W. H. Osbriklr and Mrs. J. G. Eldridge entertained the society at a dancing party Thursday evening. The party was given in honor of the visiting Delta Gammas, Miss McDonnell of Washington University and Miss Thrordley of Stanford. The invited guests were, Misses Butterfield, Foley, Dunn, Edna Clarke and Amelia Brown; Messrs. Eldridge, Tull, Sheldon, Gourney, Osgren, Tibber, David, Lee, Kirkwood, Soull, Biddlecomb, Edmundson, Griner, Lewis, Barnard, Lowry, Strohecker, Gwin, Brown, Bays, Fenn, Farris, Hillman, Bunting, Curtis, Fox, Armstrong and Watts.

CAMPUS DAY
"There is going to be a CAMPUS DAY at the University of Idaho for the students to meet the next Sunday, or if the weather on that day is not favorable, on some other day next week. Elleborough arrangements are being made. Miss French has been planning the day for several months and is now working hard to make it a success. Committees have been set up to assist each class to help in making arrangements for the day's program and they are working in connection with a committee from the faculty. Miss French who started the idea is really at the head of the preparations.
There will be feasts and games representing all nites and phases of college life—athletic, debate, oratory, music, and most important of all there will be a lunch like we used to read about and look forward to. Improper people from all over the state will be there and it is up to the students to entertain them and to see that they go away with a favorable opinion of Idaho. The state superintendent of public instruction will be here or she will send substitute. Students should take an especial interest in this day. It is their last chance to get out and beauty of the campus with their own hands. Let them not waste a single opportunity for their successors to enjoy. Each class will plant trees, ivy and shrubbery that will remain here through all ages. It will be the building of monuments and not students have to say that he had no hand in the building of the monument to his class.

Aside from the idea of duty and loyalty, it will be a day of supreme pleasure to all who are there. The students will all be together. They will forget party lines and social politics in an effort to do something for the University. We all think more of Idaho than of anything else and there will be a chance to show this affection in the most pleasant way possible. Do your best on that day and if the committee asks you to take part in the program, remember that you are working for Idaho and do it well and with the right kind of spirit.

THE OLD GUARD
Ever since the spring of 1899 there has been a mock parade by those who do not drill, at the annual inspection. While this has nothing about it that could be identified with war, it is a sort of tradition and furnishes a relief from the stress of a rigid inspection. Our University is new and we haven't many traditions but this one has attached to it a particular glory. Idaho sent more men to the Spanish-American War in proportion to the number of students registered than any other college or university in the United States. The boys came back from the Philippines started what has come to be called the old guard. True we of the senior and junior classes you are not worthy to be named. Those of first years of the old guard. We do not claim that honor. We do not go out on that parade because we are worthy, but because we wish to keep alive the memory of those who were worthy.

Last week the upper classes went out as usual soon after the regular inspection and gave their mock parade. It was well received by all of the students and by almost all of the faculty. We have heard of only one who was dissatisfied. The inspector who did not understand circumstances of the last inspection. For there were those with him who might have explained but evidently they did not do so. He was taken to the president's office, the president of the junior class was called in and a few words were exchanged. In a few minutes Bill Heizer complemented the Idaho spirit and said that the loyalty with which our boys responded to the call for volunteers was well known. He expressed no desire to see any custom die out. Nobody at all interested.

OBTINUARY

Diddi-Bite-A, the Bets Sigma muscog, who has been taking an official place at the weekly passed peacefully away last Wednesday evening. The cause of his hasty exit seems to have been too much attention as he was affectionately called has been at the University two years and has always been a great favorite, being prominent in society and athletics.

The funeral will be conducted by Bill Lee and will probably take place Friday or Saturday of this week.

Massages at Hegge's

The spirit generated by the fine music was thoroughly in harmony with the tone of Miss French's talk. The theme of her address was the call to loyalty on the part of Idaho students and the necessity of their evoking active interest in the future welfare of the University.

"You are the University," she said, "Faculties may come and go; buildings may be destroyed and rebuilt; the students compose this large living sentient thing we call the University of Idaho. And it is particularly upon you that the responsibility for the good name of the University falls. By your vote is the institution judged. If your lives in your own communities are nice, noble, exalted, the University gets the glory; if your lives become narrow, mean and base the University shares the igno-

W. S. C. Wins First Game

Idaho lost in baseball to her old rival last Friday in a very rugged game and before about twenty students for an audience. A number of the town people were there but the representation of the student body and of the faculty was pitiful.

The game was called promptly at four o'clock, W. S. C. coming to bat first. They made two runs in the first inning and Idaho in her turn made one, after which each side resolved a goose egg. Lundstrom didn't seem to handle the ball with his usual form and the game moved very slowly. Patton of W. S. C. was highly complimented on his cold feet when he deliberately gave Crom his base on balls the first two times that he came up. People in the grand stand imagined that they saw a sheepskin look on this pitcher's face when the last time up, Crom fell asleep and was fanned by him.

Errors were scattered very profusely all through the game, on both sides. An unusual item of these in the third inning allowed the farmers five runs which gave them a lead that could not be regained. Despite the fact that Crom appeared to have him baffled, the pitching of Patton was good. Curtis did the best work for Idaho. The teams meet again at Pullman next Wednesday and there should be a large enrollment from Moscow, there to encourage the Idaho boys. Only once Friday was any consistent hitting done and that one yell was not so strong as about two hundred voices would make it. The Idaho students are very large in the habit of losing the game.

The batteries were: W. S. C., Patton and Pope; for Idaho Lundstrom and Curtis until the end of the sixth when the Idaho lineup was shifted bringing Hayden to pitch and Changnon to catch. Unprise John Middleston.

Transactions of the Associated Miners
Mr. John H. Jones, instructor in mining at the Washington State college, spoke to the associated miners last Thursday evening at their regular meeting. Mr. Jones' subject was Placer Mining and especially Placer Mining in central Idaho.

Among other things he said:

It is not generally known that seventy per cent of the gold supply of the world has been produced from placer mines. In 1912 and up to the '70s perhaps the most productive mining in the United States was near us, in the vicinity of Pierce City. It has been estimated that the production of Nez Perce and Idaho counties will reach an aggregate of all the way from two hundred, to five hundred million dollars. Wallis-Fargo Express Company have a record of having shipped eighty million dollars out of Elk City alone. Pierce City alone produced in the neighborhood of one hundred and twenty million dollars from '61 to '74.

We have been led to believe that the placer mines have all worked out. However not long ago a Wallace man conceived the idea of building a dredge on what is known as Pierce Flat, near Pierce City. The gallic had been worked in a trade way for years, and the flat was used as a dumping ground for the tailings. Engineers were sent in to ascertain the feasibility of this idea. They reported a large area which ran thirty two cents a yard. The proposition was placed before a group of Chicago capitalists who sent a placer mining expert out to examine the property. His report was thirty four cents a yard. The dredge was built and completed three years ago. Its first run was for ninety days. In that time enough gold was cleaned up to pay the first cost of the land, all expense of sampling, installing the dredge, running expenses and a ten thousand dollar dividend was paid besides. This is a Hidens Dredge, rated capacity 1200 cubic yards per 24 hours. The highest capacity yet attained has been 800 to 900 yards, the average being 700 yards. The extraction has averaged 29 cts per yard at a cost of 25 to 12 cts. A second dredge is now being built by this company, which will have a rated capacity of 2000 cubic yards per 24 hours.

Believing that placer mining was a thing of the past I did not lay much stress on it during my college course. However the first job that came to me after opening an office as a mining engineer was an examination of a placer property. This proves that a man in college should avail himself of all the courses offered in the line, because he cannot foresee what he may run up against in the field.

Here Mr. Jones related some of the obstacles he met in the field and how he overcame them. Continuing, he said:

I believe the best and cheapest method of prospecting placer ground is by core drills and extraction of the values by a rocker.

The conditions to be considered in the examination of placer properties are first, the gold values; second, the bed rock. If this be hard or uneven it is difficult to make a clean saving. An ideal bed rock is found at Pierce, which is even and of thoroughly decomposed granite. The dredge may take off a thin layer of the bed rock and thus make a clean saving. The pay dirt is twelve feet deep. In California dredges are being built to bring up gravel from as low as sixty feet below the level of the deck, Third water. This is just as important as the gold value. Since the water must be present to run the dredge or if present it must be obtainable. Fourth, a sufficient elevation to take care of the tailings. The Ruble No. 7 dredge has made possible the working of many deposits where there was not grade enough to carry away the tailings otherwise.

Mr. Jones said, from notes which he had gathered from various sources, data showing costs of placer mining operations and other interesting features of the branch of the mining industry. He concluded his remarks by saying that the advent of new methods and machinery has made possible the working of a profit of deposits which until recently have been considered worthless. Any one who thinks that the days of placer mining are over is mistaken for it is holding and will continue to hold its own in the production of gold, for many years to come.

Dr. Vaughan

There have been many good speakers in Hurlay Hall this year, but none have been more appreciated than Dr. Vaughan, President of the First Presbyterian church of Los Angeles and formerly professor of sociology in the University of Idaho.

Under the direction of the Y. W. and Y. M. C. A. last night Dr. Vaughan gave a stereopticon lecture on the "Frontiersman of Japan." The pictures which accompanied the lecture were excellent and were taken by Dr. Vaughan himself when he was studying in Japan. The lecture was done, Round up Agricultural College, Y. M. M.

Song Recital

Miss Janet Ruma, '13, appeared in a song recital on Monday evening delighting her many friends with her intelligent work. Her program was a varied one, every song demanding its own interpretation and style.

In her first group much warmth and tenderness was displayed in tone, quality and interpretation, while "Painted Butterfly" was sung with all the abandon and carelessness of a foolish butterfly's glancing notions. A coquettish touch was given to the French song of Névin's "Dites Moi" while the Japanese Cradle Song had a little foreign, oriental swing quite delightful. All sweetness and graciousness was cast aside in the gypsy-like swagger of the song Meg Merrilies which was sung with good dramatic effect.

Miss Ruma's most difficult number the Habenera from Carmen came last and was well interpreted considering the youth of the Carmen singing. Professor Cogswell played two very charming piano numbers with his usual clearness of touch and refinement.

Much of the success of the singer was due to the artistic accompaniments played by Miss Foley, '11. It is not always given to every pianist to be a successful accompanist; but Miss Foley plays with a delightful sympathy and regard for the soloist, catching her thought and reproducing it upon the piano.

The program follows:

Whitman Walla Walla, May 15. By a close decision, the Ahnemann debate team won from the Phoenix team on the question of the ship supply, the Ahnemann having the negative. There is considerable interest in the debate among the two teams who were chosen the team which is to debate W. S. U. next year. They are as follows: Crusader '11, Otto Johnson '11 and Chester Marsh '12. At the same time the town showing the best ability in the debate was chosen wherein is given by the class of '99 a prize of fourteen dollars worth of books. This was won by Calvin Cruzeiaber.

Last Wednesday the baseball team played the Walla Walla town. The playing was loss and raged. The town team won 7 to 4. Bolt and Applegate were the battery for the college team.

Last Friday the people of the city were given opportunity to hear Haydn's magnificent "Creation" rendered by the Walla Walla Choral Union under the leadership of Mr. Elias Blum of the Walla Walla Conservatory of Music. The chorus consisted of 40 voices, including the five solo parts.

Dresser of Whitman holds the Northwest record in the javelin throw which he established in the intercollegiate meet with Idaho April 29. He threw it 146 feet and 7 inches. The nearest outside throw was made by White of U. of W. in the Coast meet at California May 14, when he threw it 114 feet 10 inches.
