It is believed that the team is being held for the University of Idaho because it was better than Washington State University and has a better record. Safety means to be suffering from a head-ache, nervousness, fatigue, or other physical or mental uneasiness. There are many who suffer from these ailments and who are unable to work. The American Red Cross has established a program to help these people. The program is called the "Safety Patrol." The program aims to help people avoid accidents by giving them safety tips. The safety tips include things like wearing seat belts, using proper lighting, and being aware of one's surroundings. The safety patrol is a great way to stay safe and healthy. It's important to take care of ourselves and our bodies. Remember to stay safe and healthy!}

"IDaho Plan" by Mr. Soulen

LOCAL INSTRUCTOR OUTLINES THE ESSENTIALS OF OUR "IDAHO PLAN"

"The Idaho Plan" was the name given to an article in the "Idaho Plan" of April 1921, on the basis of principles not pre

"Idaho Plan" was only a beginning. The real story was still to be written. The years that followed saw the development of a great system of public education. The schools were expanded, the faculties were increased, and the quality of education improved. The "Idaho Plan" set the stage for this development.

What is known as the "Idaho Plan" was the forerunner of a comprehensive educational system which has been developed in the state of Idaho. It was inaugurated eight years ago by the Idaho State Board of Education, and has been used as a model for the development of educational systems in other states.

The plan was based on the idea that education should be free and available to all children who wish to receive it. It aimed to provide a standard curriculum for all pupils, regardless of their economic status, and to ensure that they would receive a good quality education.

The plan has been widely praised for its thoroughness and its attention to detail. It has been used as a model for other educational systems, and has been cited as an example of what can be achieved when education is given the proper attention and resources.

Today, the "Idaho Plan" is still in use, and has been greatly expanded and improved. It continues to be a valuable model for other states to follow as they work to improve their own educational systems.
