Pre-Medics Throw Gay Party at "Doc's" Place

The Pre-Medic Hot Shots started the year with a swingy glee for the White Student Union's "Doc's Place" on Tuesday night.

The present day college dance is fast becoming the one seasonal thing that every student looks forward to. Where the days of dancing early on Tuesday nights have disappeared, the dances are now taking place on Wednesday evenings. The air is thick with music and the music is always the same. It is the "Doc's Place" atmosphere.

The party went off like a dream as the campus was filled with members of the White Student Union. The place was crowded with students and the decorations were simple but effective.

Non-Fraternity Men Have Meet

The non-fraternity men of the college met to discuss the recent trip to the University of Idaho and to discuss the possibility of forming a new fraternity. The meeting was held in the campus center and was attended by a large number of students.

The discussion centered around the need for a new fraternity to help fill the gap left by the existing fraternities. The idea of forming a new fraternity was well received and the meeting ended with a vote to form a committee to investigate the possibility of forming a new fraternity.

This is an exciting time for the college as it looks forward to the possibility of forming a new fraternity and filling the needs of the students.
