Washington State, College Park, Wash., defeated Oregon in the annual Civil War game last night, winning, 22 to 12, their third straight victory over the Beavers.

The game was a battle of two of the top teams in the Pacific Coast Conference. Oregon, for their part, were left behind as the officials declared the game over.

The game started with a bang as Washington State took the lead early, with a touchdown and a field goal. Oregon managed to get back in the game, but Washington State's defense was too much for them.

By the end of the game, the final score was 32-29 in favor of Washington State.

The victory is a significant one for Washington State, as it brings their season record to 7-2, and keeps them in contention for the conference championship.
