IDAHO'S GREAT PAGEANT EVENT TO PORTRAY HISTORY OF STATE

Spectacle to Tell Story in Drama, Dance and Song From Time of Indian Occupation to Present—Spectacular Lighting Effects to Feature Action on Seven Acres Under Searchlights.

Engineering Course in Russian Offers at University in Fall

C. R. Hunt, Former Assistant to President of University of Idaho, Appointed Head of Department of Chinese.

UNIVERSITY GRANTS DIPLOMA TO 171 STUDENTS ON MONDAY

Class Nearly Twice as Large as Number of Graduates of Any Previous Year—Fifteen to Receive Masters' Awards and Baccalaureate Honors to be Conferred on

TU RNOVER

DEAN'S LECTURE SERIES

A vivid and dramatic presentation of the history of the University of Idaho will be given in the form of a pageant to be put on by the University of Idaho Alumni Association on Monday night, June 15. The presentation, which will be given in the Colton Auditorium, will run from 8:30 to 11:15 p.m. and will be the centennial pageant of the University of Idaho.

The pageant is a production of the University of Idaho Alumni Association and is under the direction of Dr. C. R. Hunt, former assistant to the president of the university. The pageant will be presented by the University of Idaho Alumni Association and is under the direction of Dr. C. R. Hunt, former assistant to the president of the university.

The pageant is divided into six acts, each representing a different period in the history of the university. The first act will trace the university's early years, from its founding in 1883 to the turn of the century. The second act will focus on the years immediately following the turn of the century, when the university began to expand and establish its reputation as a leading institution of higher learning. The third act will be dedicated to the World War I and II years, when the university played a significant role in training soldiers and supporting the war effort. The fourth act will cover the post-war years, including the period of rapid expansion and growth for the university. The fifth act will focus on the years leading up to and including the 1940s, when the university faced new challenges and opportunities. Finally, the sixth and final act will take place in the present day, highlighting the university's ongoing commitment to excellence and innovation.

The pageant will be accompanied by a spectacular lighting and staging display, designed to bring the history of the University of Idaho to life. The backdrop will be a large screen, onto which images of the university's history will be projected. The stage will be adorned with period-specific decor, such as period-style furniture and clothing, to create a realistic setting for the audience.

The pageant will feature a cast of hundreds of students, alumni, faculty, and staff. The cast will be divided into groups based on their roles in the university's history, such as students, faculty, and staff. Each group will be led by a conductor and will participate in the pageant's various scenes and activities.

The pageant is expected to draw a large audience, with tickets available for purchase in advance. Tickets will be sold on a first-come, first-served basis, with a limited number of seats available.

The University of Idaho Alumni Association is grateful to the University of Idaho administration and faculty for their support and assistance in putting on this exciting pageant. The pageant is a fitting tribute to the university's rich history and a wonderful opportunity to celebrate the institution's past, present, and future.
THE ARGONAUT

The University of Idaho

VISITING PROFESSORS

The University of Idaho will have the following professors visiting the campus for the 1923-1924 academic year:

- Henry Adams
- William James
- Frank E. Draper
- Edward S. Corwin

The professors will be staying with students and faculty at the University of Idaho. They will be available for lectures, discussions, and consultations. The professors will be providing valuable insights and knowledge to the students and faculty.

SPRING SEMESTER

- Henry Adams will be lecturing on the topics of "The Rise of Modernism in Art" and "The Impact of Technology on Society".
- William James will be discussing "The Psychology of the Mind" and "The Role of Emotions in Decision Making".
- Frank E. Draper will be presenting on "The Evolution of Literature in the 20th Century" and "The Evolution of Music in the 20th Century".
- Edward S. Corwin will be exploring "The History of the United States" and "The History of the World".

The visiting professors will be available for appointments and consultations throughout the semester. Students and faculty are encouraged to take advantage of these opportunities to learn from the visiting experts.

We look forward to welcoming the visiting professors to the University of Idaho and to the vibrant intellectual exchange that will take place during the spring semester.

WELCOME TO IDAHO

The University of Idaho is welcoming students, faculty, and visitors with open arms. The campus is vibrant and full of opportunities for learning and growth. We encourage all members of the University community to embrace the diverse perspectives and ideas that the visiting professors will bring.

We look forward to a semester of growth, learning, and discovery at the University of Idaho.
WEATHER MAN ASSURES SMOOTHER SKY TODAY

Weather forecast for local wind and rain action, according to weatherman Here Foster, secretary of the Spokane Board of Health, who is in charge of the local weather bureau, indicates that the present bad weather spell will be cut short and that a period of fine and sunny weather will begin soon.

The weatherman said that the period of storminess will be of short duration and that the weather will become pleasant and mild by the latter part of the week.

THE PHYSICIAN

A physician from the local hospital said that the present bad weather has caused a considerable increase in the number of patients seeking medical advice.

He said that the cases of colds and influenza have been particularly numerous, and that the weather has contributed to the spread of these diseases.

The physician urged people to take precautions against the spread of these illnesses, such as keeping warm, staying indoors, and avoiding crowded places.

THE LOCAL WISDOM

A local wisdom figure, known for his lecture series and articles in newspapers, offered the following advice:

"In times of uncertainty, it is wise to look to the past for guidance. The lessons of history can be applied to present situations, and this can help us to make wise decisions."