GERMANY IS TORN BY RIVAL PARTIES, SPEAKER ASSERTS

U.S. and England Must Be Old Enemies Together to Discuss Problem, Branch Arm and Peace

Political discussion has torn Germany into rival parties for a long time. This has led to a great deal of instability in the country. The current situation is that there are two main political parties, the National Socialists and the Communists. These parties have different views on how to solve Germany's problems, and this has created a lot of tension. The United States and England have been trying to mediate this conflict, but it has been difficult to find a solution. The speaker is arguing that the only way to solve this problem is for Germany to become united under a single government. If Germany can do this, then it will be stronger and more stable. The speaker is suggesting that the United States and England should work together to create a new government for Germany. This would be a big step towards peace in the region. The speaker is also emphasizing the importance of education and the need for young people to be educated about the history of Germany. This is crucial to ensure that the country does not repeat the mistakes of the past. It is important to teach young people about the importance of unity and peace. They need to understand that everyone has a role to play in building a better future for Germany. The speaker is calling for a peaceful resolution to the conflict in Germany, and he believes that the United States and England can play a key role in achieving this.

Students Expect to Vote
Failure to qualify in the Moscow voting precincts or at home may bar many students from voting in the coming national election. The city of Moscow requires that certain official stipulations be met by students before they will be permitted to vote here in town. And these requirements are not always settled when the student registers. So he may go blindly at after registering, believing he can vote, until the time for voting comes and discovers his privilege because he has not met the requirements.

These requirements involve the questions of where the student registers, whether he has been voting in the area, and whether he is of voting age. A story covering the subject of Moscow voting qualifications for students will appear in The Agitator soon, and can be learned from R. R. DeLoye and if they wish to have their chances unchallenged at the polls.

Students reporting to vote at home by utilizing their "absentee" voting privilege must have registered there previously. It is not possible to do this if one has registered in town, his only chance to cast his ballot will be in the Moscow precincts.

At all events, check up on qualifications immediately in order to prevent the disappointing denial of privileges at the polls when it will be too late to change.

The College Idler
"Going to college to "have a good time," and undevilry "just enough to pass exams" will soon be a thing of the past," declares a recent news account in the Washington, D. C. newspaper.

The story goes on to say that the movement to include "character" qualifications in the terms of admission is spreading rapidly through colleges and universities of the United States. In instances even such exemptions are imposed upon students registering from fully accredited high schools.

The trend is to demand, in addition to a high school standing, voluntary records as to good habits, manners, and industry, and respect for law and property values.

These new requirements furnish to higher educational institutions are being brought to the attention of the parents over by the Educational Institute of Washington, D. C. which the institutions already using character qualifications are Chicago university, Oberlin college, Harvard university graduate school of business administration, Kansas Agricultural college, Stanford uni-date, Road college and Ripon college.

Leaders of the movement say that the time is approaching when universities and colleges will not feel justified in spending taxpayers' money on students who do not choose or in character or the traits of American character is their college work.

SOCIETY

For nights—of the spirit of the town’s has been in the air! The tales of the town’s, the bootleg, cowpunching—everything has contrived to put on a proper savorous atmosphere about the campus. And tonight in the throng filled places, black out. Whether in the tables or the stage, the right way-up or on all of the campus walks. Probably it will be positively useless to venture out. Not publicly most people will go and may few use their feet fun to fear.

Students who do not attend a choral meeting are expected to have their voices tuned up for the coming Christmas concert.

Eleven players participated in the logs last week. Among the others than those that broke, four of the Dead- Sea players have been adorned with blue turban. For the first time in the history of the boards town team of the local fraternities consisting of the same colors available and trium-

Punts and Passes
by Mike Piddo

It is characteristic of Coach Mc
Graw's attempts to move the football into the hands of the players.

This was noticed when the team came back to face the footballing- up.

A few second period minutes brought a touchdown on a punt return,

The playing of the whole team was due to their efforts. Allen

I have always been known as free bolder fail. "The earth has a strange attraction. How far does it extend? No one knew before Newton, sitting in his garden, one day in 1665, began to speculate. "Why should not the attraction of gravitation reach as far as the moon?" he asked himself. "And if so, perhaps she is retained in her orbit thereby." He began the calculation, but overwhelmed by the stupendous results that he foresaw, he had to beg a friend to complete it.

In Newton's Principia were laid down his famous laws of motion - the basis of all modern engineering. The universe was proved to be a huge machine, the parts of which are held together in accordance with the great law of force.

James II was reigning when the Principia appeared in 1687. He is remembered for the bloody Assizes of Jeffreys, for his complete disregard of constitutional liberties, for his sordid career compared with Louis XIV and the huge bribes that he took from that monarch, and for the revolution that cost him his crown. Newton is remembered in science and the world of thought, because he enabled scientists and engineers who have since discovered the universe more effectively with the forces of nature.
