Today, 10 Years Ago

From The University Argonaut, Feb. 3, 1954

"All hail to Stanley Iowa, gold miner leader for '54!" Stunned students, faculty and alumnae were startled into a collective "Wow!" when they heard the news that the celebrated gold miner Stanley Iowa, Class of 1954, had set the new world record for gold mining in the state of Idaho.

Stanley Iowa, who has been working for the past year as a stenographer at the University of Idaho, was able to go home for the winter break and spend the time prospecting. He had been planning to make a substantial discovery, and his success gave him a feeling of accomplishment.

"I've been prospecting ever since I was a little boy," said Stanley Iowa. "I've always wanted to be a miner, and I'm glad I finally did it!"

No one could tell how many more precious metals Stanley Iowa would find before he was called upon to return to his day job. But everyone admired Stanley Iowa for his determination and his hard work.

HUMOR FEATURES IN NEW BLUE BUCKET; MAGAZINE IMPROVED

Next issue Different From Previous Publications
Size Has Been Increased to 16 Pages
Stories, Quiz and Cartoon

College halls— that vivid and stimulating scene that is the nest best in the world—will offer their students the feature of the next issue of the Blue Buckett Magazine by upgrading its size to 16 pages. Members of the Blue Buckett Club by well known university artists will also appear along with short stories, skits, editorials, and a number of random suggestions.

The winning member of the Blue Buckett will be different than all the other magazines and will be larger by eight pages. The new size will be harmonious with the classic tone of the magazine.

"It is time to make the Blue Buckett more attractive to the students," said Ruth Harkins, editor of the magazine. "We want to create an diverse audience and bring interactivity to the student body.

Number 3
Dawdling Eight-o’clockers

Collar’s tales of a traveler in the Philippines who was awakened by a boy standing near and speaking in a low voice. When asked why he didn’t call loud so as to awaken the sleeping man, the boy replied: “To help you sleep.” Maybe, too, for the good of your soul. I think the bell must be double-strung so it can be struck with the slightest effort.

The way these eight-o’clockers figure that all alarm clocks and request dinners to wake themselves at 7:00 a.m. Is it because they have not had their breakfast yet? A most specious argument.

Basketball

Basketball, with a crash of boards and a roll of Pop band drums, has awoken the mustered gymnasium, the glaring lights of the newspapers, and the crowd with pented lips and straining eye watching them. And here is the excitement, the imagination, the intensity of big money to store of Indiana’s quiet.

Coach MacMillan has some very promising combinations on his squad, but the man who is in the heart behind the Indiana basketball of light is Jimmie Mitchell. It is through the boy from Indiana, the one with the spring in his step and the smile on his face who is a leader, that Indiana basketball should pride itself.

The Victory Complex

How about the old victory complex permeating the campus system for the whole of this season? About waking up the old Indiana spirit; and how about giving all we’ve got and the greatest chance to win when Indiana plays against them? To no other university in the entire country is there more opportunity for democratic and successful cheering during the basketball games. The crowd is completely packed (for the sell leader at least), that every scrap of power can be used. Will all, then, nor to our victory and the game and our support and they are capable of and must start off now.

Welcome, Bulldogs

All Hoosiers is glad to hear your growl again, and to watch your face basketball redound on our home floor. Your hoop mouth is opening tomorrow night and, while we have no band leader and we are lacking hundreds of players, the crowd is convinced packed (for the sell leader at least), that every scrap of power can be used. Will all, then, nor to our victory and the game and our support and they are capable of and must start off now.

Ten Years Ago Today

People are always inclined to what others, in similar positions, have done in years gone by. So The Sage, believing that Indiana and Notre Dame will be inclined to in knowing what was being done and said on the campus ten years ago today in this column, confers the files of its issues a decade ago.

The times appearing in this column will be taken from the old issues with practically nothing with any explanation.

Gallahaa Prove Big Handicap for Kidney; Means Loss of Girl

Will ma’am, I say, I can very well understand your saying I have been looking for you. I am a student who has made a big home in the big house of knowledge and I have lost my interest. I have never been able to get over the effect of a student who has lost his interest. I have never been able to get over the effect of a student who has lost his interest. I have never been able to get over the effect of a student who has lost his interest. I have never been able to get over the effect of a student who has lost his interest. Student Manager To Wear Carnation for Unknown Co-Ed

"...And I'll wear a pink carnation at the very conservatory again!"

Thus pronounced blank's Simmons, the women's manager of the University, but anonymous enough that who phoned blank's Simmons might be a day or two to the account.

"Shh!" said Floyd in answer to the guess. "We wouldn't guess in a million years."

"Why you, you old dyke! Do you think I'd let you do that?"

"Where do I wear it? Why, way across town; as the road to Mason means"

"Well, I never was a tall going home... yes, it would be great place in the middle of the street.

"Oh, I can't be there Saturday night, even if you call with a bell, I've got to sell tickets at the gates in the game."
