As I See It

by Jon—

Budapest revolution continues in Spain. Governments forces last Sunday tried to restore peace in the eastern part of the country when they sent soldiers into Barcelona to fight against the rebels who have withstood attack for the past week. The royalist forces, including the national army, were driven from Barcelona by the rebel Longchamp, who is leading the so-called Spain Socialist Party in the district of Spain.

The food situation in Spain, which has been exacerbated by the recent political upheavals, remains critical.

The United States has expressed concern about the developments in Spain and urged both parties to resolve the dispute peacefully.

The Food Fronts

During the past few weeks in the repository of the State's food reserves, Cuba has been supplying the United States with large quantities of foodstuffs, such as sugar and flour.

The United States, which has been providing food aid to Europe, has expanded its support for Latin American countries.
