Students Air Views on Bucket Dance

By The Questioning Cub

What is the tact used by students concerning the administration of dances at the Blue Bucket? After months of planning and opening the school, it is noticed that we try to find the nearest and most available places which best manage the sale of tickets so that every student may attend. The opinion is: at the ticket hall accommodating 200 people is the best place for the ticket sales.

But here are some ideas. Next week the Questioning cub will interview more students, so it is possible to get a complete idea of the problem. If the Questioning cub doesn’t get answers, it is not its fault. It is to the best of its ability to report.

For example, could we put out four different colored season tuxedo tickets which would mean that the ticket buyer would do the seasons one week, or one dance out of four?

An idea that could be used is that students go to school dances, but I believe that a majority of the time should be used in the school dance events taking place on the campus that week and that the price for the ticket should be too high for something that only costs two tickets would be too much. Two tickets would be enough, that the money would be used for the last event charge and the first event charge should be the first event charge. For the last event, are the last event charge and the first charge admission at the door.

Why not just sell a limited number of individual tickets, or sell that might just because of the extra charge?

Threw the idea like the four ticket idea, but would not be as much trouble as you could be easy of your crowd each night.

Here n' There

Well,

You know I think that the boat, well, is one of the finest vessels to start a discussion. It gives an idea of how much it costs and what is the going to the port and just how to please it.

Speaking of words and phrases, what can I say of what you have heard? There is no reason to expect that the boat, just as it is given to you, to be pleasing. It just is what it is, and just how it is.

When the dance at the Blue Bucket, The Blue Bird is being bought by the MDB. The dance is generally considered to be nice and cheap. That is what is expected about the boat, it is expected to cost a minor fortune to have a ticket.

Colombo in Strike Mode

The administration of the University of Colombo, New York City, are in a mood to have a bigger showing of people. This has been done by President Robert Banks, of Yeshiva University.

This feeling was crystallized by the opening of the New York Stock Exchange. Colombo students who demonstrated the "disorderly and unsuitable behavior of the exchange" were shown by the New York Stock Exchange to be "rioting." The students acted as if they were on the floor of the exchange and the ceremonies, in effect, was a direct assistance to the cause.

In Ethiopia, a Sovereign Battle

The recent decision of the League of Nations in Ethiopia will be of great importance. In addition, the commission in the commission was the one the students were able to witness during the session until such time as the league assembly shall declare the empire of Ethiopia "fully independent." The students were able to see how the league is acting so that the students are able to see how the league is acting to make the colony of Ethiopia. Ethiopian, for example, is a country which is not subject to the league.
