Vandals Hold Slight Edge In Battle; Teams To Tangle In 27th Meeting

Scrimmages Show Improvement For Idahoans Offensive

It will be the 27th meeting between University of Idaho and Gonzaga today when the Vandals and Bulldogs clash in Gonzaga's paradise at 2:00 p.m. Idaho has triumphed over the Huskies 18 times compared to eight wins for the Bulldogs. These games have ended in draws.

Offensive mismatches have been held all week and coach Bill McGuire with Jack Devine and Jim Griffin have been working hard in getting their team in shape to guarantee victories.

"The team is much improved on their offensiveattacking and scrimmage early this week," Coach McGuire shouted yesterday. "They have been moving much better and have been checking their errors in the blocking on passing plays.

Bill Peterson, tackle, is out of the lineup with a foot sprain and the first string at center was taken by William W. Vinson, who is expected to hold his job. Bill is expected to be back in the lineup for the Petersburg game where the Vandals will meet the Tigers.

Ray Smith, end, cranked on the Pacific Coast football tour and today's game will mark the Vandals' first trip out of the state.

Ralph Henson, center, and Bill Vinson will make the Spokane trip, and the Vandals have two men who have played in the last three games. Smith provided the first time in recent years that the Vandals have played in the last three games.
