Preparations For May Fete Program Reach Final Stages
Freshman Class Plans Day School

Sports And Social Activities Ready For High School Guests
High school seniors from neighboring towns will visit the campus May 25 in commemoration of University Day, according to Andy Clark.

Registration at the Student Union will be 1 p.m. and refreshments will be served.

Eldon Huesman, registrar, says that seniors will be paired with visiting parents and that they will tour the campus before attending the picnic.

Sports at the picnic will be played by the Freshman Athletes and the Frosh Court will serve as their souvenir.

At 3:30 p.m., the senior class will assemble in the Student Union for the social hour and guests will be invited to join them.

Capping the day will be the annual varsity cheer and dance squares, according to Huesman.

For more information on this or any other campus event, contact Andy Clark in the Student Union.

Two Will Direct Drama Workshop On Idaho Campus
Two visiting dramatics specialists will cover the field so that incoming freshmen may begin the study of the theater immediately.

Following the spring vacation, the students will be divided into groups and I-S, the Idaho State University Drama Club, will be formed.

The first group will be directed by Bill Smith, associate professor of drama, and the second by Paul R. Davis, dean of the College of Liberal Arts.

In both cases, the students will be given an opportunity to work with other students and to create their own productions.

Dr. Bernard Reiman will direct the workshop, and the department of drama and music will be responsible for the production of the play.
