United Nations Day Today

Today is the day of the United Nations when the world comes together to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the United Nations. This celebration is held to commemorate the founding of the United Nations on October 24, 1945.

Since then, there has been considerable progress and positive changes in the world. The United Nations has played a crucial role in promoting peace, security, and international cooperation. It has helped to resolve conflicts, prevent wars, and promote development.

However, challenges still remain. The world is facing issues such as climate change, poverty, inequality, and political instability. The United Nations is working to address these challenges through its member states and agencies.

In conclusion, United Nations Day is an opportunity for us to reflect on the progress that has been made and to consider the steps we can take to build a more peaceful, prosperous, and sustainable world.

UN—A Necessity To Peace

The spontaneous resistance of the absentee army of common men to the present condition, the "new men" of the world, will not be long a matter of surprise. The leaders of the world are endeavoring to overcome the difficulties created by the present situation. The world was created to provide a solution for these difficulties. If the present situation is to be overcome, the world must be organized to meet the needs of the present time. The necessity for an international organization is clear. The United Nations is an attempt to meet these needs.
Active Weekend Features Pledge Dances, Firesides

The Alpha Chi Omega pledge dance was held Saturday night, and Friday evening, Oct. 23, at the press house. The theme of the evening was "Fiction vs. Fact," and the purpose was to promote the pledges for the society. The dance was the first of its kind at the university, and it was well attended. Injury-Riddled Frosh Point
For Washington State Battle
Babees Roll 61-7
By Husky Yearlings
A crippled Idaho football team began preparing Monday for its second meeting with the Washington State university Saturday afternoon after returning from a disaster trip to Seattle where they dropped a tough 61-7 contest for the University of Washington on Saturday afternoon. At a game Tuesday evening.
In time for the Frosh Point
for Washington State Battle, Idaho has one of the biggest problems in its history, that of finding three men fit to run a football game.

The side representatives were extremely light on the waistline. By far the largest factor Idaho has to deal with is the height of the football player. The most serious losses were the linesmen, who have been a mainstay in the State's football history.

Montana is now in the situation where it has the players and the team but no one has been able to form a team. The Idaho coach is content to use the players as the season progresses.

Said the Washington State coach, regarding who will be the best game, the Frosh Point hasn't 起こed yet. However, the side was not
