Idaho Loses Baseball Opener to OSC; Teams End Series Today

By Don Carlson

The University of Idaho baseball team gathered eight hits from Oregon State's reputed southpaw, Ginno, Tuesday afternoon, but was unable to score before losing to the Beavers, 3-1, in their first home conference game.

The game and the 1941 season have started for both teams at MacLean Field at 5:30 this afternoon. Oregon State climbed this bank with three runs in the first inning, and Idaho was unable to score in the entire contest. Idaho, who began the season with a walk, came in after Red;

Three Errors

After losing the first inning, both teams played a scoreless game to the sixth, when Oregon State hit a three-run single, which resulted in three errors. After that inning, Idaho couldn't hit the ball against Ginno and faced defeat.

The Beavers have had plenty of chances to score, but their batters have been unable to capitalize on them. Idaho, on the other hand, has been unable to take advantage of its opportunities. The score of 3-1 remained through the ninth inning, and the game ended with Idaho's final out.

Idaho's loss opens the season with a blemish, and the team will have to work hard to improve its performance. The next game is scheduled for Thursday, and the Idaho fans hope for a better outcome.

Gloves

The batting of Idaho's Ed Neal was a disappointment as he fouled his glove on the way to a third consecutive batting average below .300. Neal's average is now only 27 percent, and he is likely to be benched for the remainder of the season.

The Idaho batters are struggling to find their rhythm, and Neal is just one of the many players who are struggling. The team's batting average is only .250, and they are likely to struggle throughout the season.

But the Idaho defense has been solid, with only one error in the game. Idaho's pitcher, who gave up three runs, was able to limit the damage and keep the score close.

Next Game:

Idaho's next game is against Oregon State, and they will have to play well to have a chance at winning. The game will be held at 5:30 this afternoon, and the outcome will be decided by the performance of both teams. Idaho fans hope for a strong showing from their team.

McCombs Advises Day Registration Against Neglect

To members of the Student Body: I should like to remind all students in the university of the importance of being registered. Consequently, I have no hesitation in urging you to make application and return the form to the registrar's office as soon as you can. The last day for registration is Monday, May 15.

For those of you who are registered under the selective service act, I may give them the information that all registrations which have been worked out in cooperation with representatives of the local conscription officers, and according to the number of the same act, are due in the office of theSelective Service Act as soon as possible to enable the local conscription officers to coordinate their education with the national defense.

From the perspective given, I would also like to point out that the school board must be furnished with complete personal identification of each registered student. The student must have a complete physical examination, before he is enlisted, and such personal identification cards as will be required by the local conscription officers. The registration forms will be submitted to the local conscription officers and the registrant must be in possession of either a home study or a local conscription certificate at all times. The registrant must also be in possession of a photo identification card and a local conscription certificate at all times.

For the benefit of all members of the Student Body, I would like to remind them that the first day of instruction for the summer session will be Monday, May 15.

McCombs, President.
