Fraternity Advisors Outline 5-point Financial Program

Fraternity advisors Tuesday laid down a five-point program for the Greek letter houses to follow in an effort to raise the economic status of the members. The program is patterned after those used to raise funds for the independent houses.

1. Fraternity advisors shall hold an annual meeting to plan and support an annual fund drive. Each house shall be responsible for raising funds for the house. The advisor shall meet with the house each week to hand out the newspapers to the members, and to answer questions about the program.

2. Greek May Hold Joint Dances. The program may go together for better and more competitive activities.

3. Greekers shall hold a lottery to raise funds. Each house shall be responsible for raising funds for the house. The advisor shall meet with the house each week to hand out the newspapers to the members, and to answer questions about the program.

4. Greekers shall hold a subscription drive to raise funds. Each house shall be responsible for raising funds for the house. The advisor shall meet with the house each week to hand out the newspapers to the members, and to answer questions about the program.

5. Greekers shall hold a health fair to raise funds. Each house shall be responsible for raising funds for the house. The advisor shall meet with the house each week to hand out the newspapers to the members, and to answer questions about the program.
