Fred Seigfreidt Will Play Dual Role In Junior Assembly Thursday

The Idaho Argonaut

Fred Seigfreidt will carry the lead in the junior assembly Thursday, playing a dual role of director and a Mardi Gras character in a plot revolving around a patient's delirium. Assembly Producer Dennis Savage picked the role for the show which will form a part of Junior Week festivities.

University bans golf on lawns.

Practicing golf on the campus lawns and athletic fields is forbidden, W. R. Lind, superintendent of buildings, announced today. He pointed out that the practice is not only gaudy but to innocent bystanders but that it tore up the lawns and fields.

Idaho Men Enter Waring Contest

The 28 men who make up the chorus for the assembly, are Fred Seigfreidt, Idaho national pleasurable glee club held last Thursday for Speck- line. The groups, which are now on route for judg- ment in New York, the chorus made a 10 minute broadcast over station KBOI.

The Idaho chorus entered the contest along with Ohio glee clubs from the western district. The winner of this district will be taken to New York to enter competition with the other district winners.

On the way to Spokane the chorus made appearances in the Climos and Geiger High School. Mardi Gras was the theme for two of the companies, and Don Siegler directed the other 12, with the chorus appearing throughout.

Whethern Finishes Gem Copy Work

All Gem manuscript and engraving copy is in the printing department of the Argonaut.
In 1819, when Napoleon was pushing toward Moscow, Wel-lington and his small British army in Spain were holding at bay over 100,000 French troops under two of Napoleon's best marshals—and stiffening the resistance of the Spanish guerrillas. In 1942, the British are holding Britain to open a second front on the Continent and thus force Hitler to detach from the eastern front divisions that are marked to take part in the Nazi assault on the U.S.S.R. this spring and summer.

In his变成ing the London War Office this week, General Marshall, the U. S. Chief of Staff, will get an understanding of the attitude of the heads of the British army toward an Allied invasion of the Continent in 1942. Official statements indicate that the British generals are not in favor of such a move this year—on account of the difficulty of supplying large forces at bridgeshead established across the North Channel. The British strategists warn that the United Nations do not control sufficient merchant tonnage for such an effort. Allied shipping losses have been estimated at over 500,000 tons per month since December 7th, and they are still on the increase.

Recent British command raids on the Norwegian and French coasts have helped morale on John Bull’s home front. If they are continued on a larger scale, they may force Hitler to keep in western Europe divisions that might otherwise be sent to the Russian battle. It would take a large-scale Allied invasion to move Hitler’s shift from the eastern theatre of war a sizable proportion of his huge army. The daring hit-and-run attacks of the commandos in the past three months have kept Nazi forces along the occupied coasts on the alert, but the German pressure on the Red armies will be eased only by Allied action and relaxation of several important harbors and a long strip of the French or Norwegian coastline.

The warmth of the Nazi reception to the British command raids has convinced the British that key points are strongly held by German troops and batteries. Since June, 1941, the British have been building a new line along the shores of Norway, Denmark, Holland, Belgium and Occupied France. British losses in an invasion of the Continent would not be light. Britons who argue against such a move are likely to find on February 10th that Hitler’s declaration on February 9th will have to be taken to heart by the framing of the front against the Axis. They remind their countrymen that Britain has been saved thus far by Russian courage and by the staggering Russian casualties since 1941.

Vandals Upset Spokane Indians 7-2; Meet Lewiston Normal Today

Driving in seven runs behind the combined six-hit pitching of Jack Newell, Tom Woods, and Hank Crowley, the Vandal baseball squad notched its second victory of the season yesterday, upsetting Spokane's Indians, professional team, 7-2 on MacLean Field. Saturday the Idaho diadochmen defeated Erb's Hardware of Lewiston 8-3 and tied them 6-6 in a doubleheader.

This afternoon the Vandals will wind up their pre-conference baseball season with a double header against Lewiston Normal on MacLean field. The Vandals will play a return game with the Loggers Saturday at Lewiston. Both games are here scheduled for seven innings. First conference play for Idaho is slated for Seattle against Washington's Huskies next week.

A three-run Idaho outburst in the first inning proved sufficient to defeat Spokane, defending Western International League champions. Singles by Dale Clark and Irv Konopka brought home the Vandal runs after Bob Jones had walked and Gerry Pederson had reached first and second on errors.

Clark Hits Homer

Spokane scored in the second inning on a walk, but Clark came back with a long home run into deep center field in the third inning. One more counter in the fourth and two in the fifth left the game for Idaho. Spokane's sixth tally came in the sixth when Fitzpatrick scored.

Newell started for Idaho, gave way to Woods in the fifth, who in turn was relieved by Crowley in the sixth inning. However, Hicks worked on the mound for Spokane, Bowman striking out seven Vandals. Newell was the winning pitcher.

Konopka took hitting honors for the contest, getting three singles and a double in four trips to the plate. Clark got a single and a home run in three times at bat, while Matt Lewis garnered two singles in four attempts. Fitzpatrick and Patton led the Indians with five hits between them. Fitzpatrick tallied both Spokane runs.

Park's Last Hit

Two hit bashing by sophomore Keith Parks paced the Vandals to their victory over Erb's Saturday. Lewiston never threatened after Idaho scored three runs in the game for Idaho. Spokane's sixth tally came in the sixth when Fitzpatrick scored.

Riflemen Complete Season's Firing

Idaho's sixth corps area championship rifle team last week finished firing record targets for the national ROTC matches, Lt. Col. Nelson said last night. The score, not yet been officially received, and the team does not know how it will finish in the contest, he said.

Instructor Nathan did not release the unofficial scores. Officials expect to arrive this week. The range will probably be closed soon, he said. Scoring and rifle pistol marksmen are firing in an inter-group contest this week.

The second inning. Pederson had three hits in five trips to the plate. Second contest was called at the eighth of the second with the score 2-0. Despite the three runs, Woods had a triple and a home run in three times at bat.
