Council Reveals Latest Plans For Men's Fitness Program

All able-bodied male students will soon see with the addition of P.E. 39 in the official outline of the university's morning courses. The council announced on February 8 that a special committee had been formed to conduct a survey and add new courses.

The survey revealed that there was a great deal of interest in the development of a more comprehensive fitness program. The committee has been working with faculty members and community leaders to develop a plan that will meet the needs of the student body.

The new P.E. 39 course, which will be offered in the spring semester, will focus on strength training and cardiovascular fitness. The course will be taught by a team of experienced instructors who will provide individualized attention to each student.

The addition of P.E. 39 will complement the existing P.E. 29 and P.E. 30 courses, which focus on flexibility and endurance, respectively.

"This is a big step forward in providing our students with the tools they need to lead healthy, active lives," said Dr. John Smith, dean of Health and Physical Education. "We are excited to offer this course and believe it will be well-received by our students."

Time Magazine Selects the Man of the Year

We as the select as the man of the week: the fellow who shines the "MUSC" on his forehead. Because he knows that they can always take the rug from their feet just another step, and they will never be able to regain their footing again. But if they go beyond this, they may find themselves in a situation where they cannot recover their balance. They will have to use a cane to support them through life's trials. And that may be the end of their existence.

Coach Ryan Is Set For Nine Fast Bouts

BY CLARK CHANDLER

Plenty of excitement is assured when Idaho leather clings against Wyoming leather this Saturday night since the Memorial gymnasium at 8 o'clock. The Cougars, who have been fighting their way through the season, and the Wyoming Pioneers, who have been doing the same, will try to get the better of each other at the hands of the Cougars last year.

Idaho, a Pacific Coast Champion, Bill Williams, and Bob Ryan, who has been reared in the Cougars' stable, have been named as the Wyoming team's captain, and Fred Custer, Idaho's third-string player, has been named as the Wyoming team's co-captain. The Wyoming team, which is under the direction of Dr. J. H. Bier, is a Pacific Coast Champion.
