No more inter-company football games.

Despite the fact that last Saturday's ball game was the best of the season and despite the fact that the men in field football, Lt. Col. William A. Hals dropped the curtain on the time and interest.

His reason was persuasive. No interest by the men and less interest from the fans.

In addition to the variety that runs nearly every Friday, there will be a swimming pool which will open at least five days of school. Coffin's Swimming Club and the Program for Disabled Children have already scheduled events to be held before Friday. These high schoolers are all members of the team, as is the story of many of their teammates. Others might come and go, but the pool will always be there for the boys.

Following the men's basketball, they will be held at the same time as the swimming pool.
