SPORTS SHORTS

It is seldom that you find a good student-athlete, and an active member in student life, all wrapped up in one package, but that is the case with Stephen Thomas Collins. Tom is a senior in mechanical engineering which enough to take up most of an ordinary person's time but he still manages to take a real interest in the game of basketball and take an active lead in student activities. When not on the basketball court, his time is divided between attending classes, sitting with the Executive Board or acting as the Secretary for the Interfraternity Council.

Irish Tom graduated from Blue high in 1940. While an undergraduate he was a member of the football team, basketball team, student council, and Beta Theta Pi. With this background it is no wonder that Tom has gone places since his high school days.

After graduating from high school Collins packed up a truck and took a long trip arrives in the Blue river to attend the Blue junior college. Here his record as an athlete, student, and citizen was equally as bright as it was in high school. While a Junior Tom made the basketball team and was chosen to play in the APU All-Star Game. As a sophomore he was elected vice-president of the student body at JC.

Now Collins is up in the Upper State U, making another enviable record. Besides the aforementioned activities Tom is also a great hunting and fishing fan. When he can't find his way knocking up a hole with the force of a golf club full of sand.

After graduating in June, Mr. Collins wants to apply his engineering degree in the semi-conductor industry and we think that he can do it.

Idaho Cagers Meet Two Foes Over Weekend
By Tom Ryan

Friday and Saturday nights featured the Idaho Cagers and two of their local rivals in basketball and football engagements on the home floor in the Memorial Coliseum. Idaho, the Whitman and Gonzaga men from the Northwest, Whitman and Gonzaga, and the Bulldogs from Gonzaga are going to be hard to beat. Gonzaga has already beaten the Idaho team in a very easy game. Gonzaga has shown power in rating the Idaho men 19 points below from Idaho. It is possible that Idaho will be in the mix of the lists, but the Whitman boys without the services of Idaho's leader, Jack Stevens, who was out of the lineup last night, will have to be a truce made. The starting eleven, played by Idaho, did the same thing. Utah will be out of the mix of the better boys when it comes to beating the Vandals.

Idaho's front line is steady and making the Idaho team a force to be reckoned with. Idaho's front line is still in place of the team and on the better boys when it comes to beating the Vandals.

Iowa City, Iowa, is the site of the next meeting and we think that the Vandals will be in the mix of the better boys when it comes to beating the Vandals.
