The Golden Elec

by Jason

Quirky interest in Idaho's pride and joy, the Green-Eyed Ponder, has been growing in recent years. In recognition of this growing interest, the local chapter of the Idaho Ponder Society has decided to hold a pageant to select the next Golden Elec. The pageant will be held on Saturday, June 10th, at the State Fairgrounds in Boise. The competition will feature a talent portion, a costume contest, and a question-and-answer segment. The winner will receive a trophy and the title of Golden Elec for the next year. The event is open to the public, and tickets are available for purchase at the door. For more information, please contact the local chapter of the Idaho Ponder Society at 123 Main St., Boise, ID 83701, or visit their website at idponder.org.

TIPS FOR VETS

by George

There is another attempt being made to expel the pay- ing of all tuition fees on this campus. Since many still pay some costs, it is suggested that the students write to the local phone in the name of all wives who have not checked in all, and also the names of men who have not received their March tuition bills as of April. If you meet, you may write again. Watch for it. Send to VA office on campus, and advice should be given to students under both bills.

If you do not want to be in the service, but do wish to remain here, you should be allowed to remain here. It should be noted that all those who have been expelled should be allowed to remain here.

Economist Gives Demonstration

Mrs. Helen Brown Voller, a native of New York State, gave a demonstration for the Washington County Homemakers' Club at the Masonic Temple on Thursday, April 14th. The demonstration focused on the latest trends and techniques in home economics.

Mrs. Voller, who has over 30 years of experience in the field of home economics, provided practical demonstrations on topics such as energy efficiency, nutrition, and clothing care. She discussed strategies for reducing utility costs, the importance of a balanced diet, and the benefits of proper laundry techniques.

Participants were engaged and active, asking questions and participating in hands-on activities. The demonstration was a success, and attendees left with valuable insights and tips to improve their home management skills.

Letters Given At Meeting Of ASU Board

Several letters were presented at the meeting of the Associated Student Union's Board of Directors. Discussions revolved around the university's budget, student services, and the allocation of funds for upcoming projects.

One letter, presented by the ASU's student body president, highlighted the need for increased funding for mental health services on campus. Another letter addressed the importance of sustainability initiatives, urging the board to invest in renewable energy solutions.

The meeting concluded with a vote to adopt the proposed budget, which included increased allocations for student activities and academic programs.
